VOL. XLI. NO. 40

WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, APRIL 7, 1922

PRICE SEVEN CENTS

MUSICAL SERVICE AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Mr. Socrate Barozzi, Violinist, Mr. Hans Werner, Viola, and Mr. Johan Langendoen, Cellist, will give the following program at the Musical Service in the First Congregational Church Sunday evening at 7:45:

Andante Religioso ..... Thomas
An Album Leaf ..... Wagner
Intrada ..... Debussy
Intermezzo ..... Grieg
Chanson Celtique ..... Mozart
Adagio ..... Paderewski
Menuet ..... Brahms
Adagio Cantabile ..... Liszt
The Voice of the Chorus ..... Choir

Dr. Richardson will speak on "What Shall We Do With Christ." The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

Dr. E. Russell Murphy was operated on Saturday at the Charlesgate Hospital. When serving in the army abroad, the Doctor received an injury to his neck, and it is to relieve this trouble that the operation was performed. He will be confined to the hospital for another fortnight.

The following important recommendations of the S. B. P. Committee are to be voted on at Monday night's Town Meeting. We recommend them for careful reading by all citizens.

5. That the Town vote to acquire the parcels of land between Main street and the Parkway, recommended in the Committee's mail report dated Mar. 1, 1922, as the site for a Junior High School and to erect the building.

6. That the Selectmen be authorized and directed to petition the Legislature for authority of the Town to borrow and issue notes and bonds for the sum of $400,000, additional to the sum already authorized, in excess of the present borrowing capacity, such amount to be expended for land and the erection of a Junior High School.

7. That the Selectmen be directed to insert in the warrant for the Annual Town Meeting in March, 1923, an article under which the Town may appropriate and issue bonds for the acquisition of the land recommended as the site of the Junior High School and the erection of a Junior High School building thereon.

4 NEW SCHOOLS

Town Votes to Erect Wyman, Gifford-Mystic, Rumford and Chapin Buildings. Another Session Next Monday Night to Decide on Junior High School

On Monday night the Town of Winchester voted by an overwhelming majority, 547 to 22, to proceed with the recommended purchase of four new graded school sites and the erection of four new buildings thereon at an expenditure of $540,000. The matter of a Junior High School site and building was not acted upon directly, but will be taken up and discussed at an adjourned session of the meeting to be held next Monday night.

The meeting also voted for the appointment of a building committee of five members, one to be a member of the School Committee and chosen by it, and the other four to be appointed by the Moderator, to proceed with the building of the new schools, the sum of $500 being appropriated for the expenses of this committee.

The four schools to be erected are the Chapin and Wyman to be erected during the coming summer, and the Gifford and Mystic to be completed in the year 1923. These four schools, replacing five present schools of similar name, are all to be erected upon new sites. The Wyman school will be erected upon Church street on what is known as the Shattuck estate, just west of the Winchester Chambers. The Gifford-Mystic will be erected on Main street at the south corner of Madison avenue. The Rumford will be erected at the foot of Hemmingway and Canal streets. The Chapin will be erected on land lying between Swanton and Harvard streets on the north and south, and between Florence and Chester streets on the east and west, this site calling for the cutting through of a new street between Chester and Washington streets, giving direct access to the new school from the latter thoroughfare. No provision was made regarding the disposal of the present school sites.

We again call our readers' attention to the article on Junior High Schools printed in last week's STAR. In view of the important discussion scheduled for Monday night's Town Meeting, every citizen should inform himself on this matter.

CALUMET OFFICERS NOMINATED

The nominating officers of the Calumet Club have presented the following list of nominations for officers of the club for the ensuing year to be voted upon at the annual meeting to be held Saturday evening, April 15th.

President—Wilbur S. Locke.
Vice-President—John A. Macdocks.
Secretary—Fred H. Farham.
Treasurer—William E. Priest.
Board of Governors for 3 years—William H. Bowe, Herbert G. Etheridge, Herbert J. Saabye.

The nominating committee included Messrs. J. Alfred Dolben, William S. Olmstead, Henry Weed, Herbert J. Saabye, Samuel E. Perkins.

WHIST PARTY

The Knights of Columbus Hall was the scene of a very pretty and successful whist party conducted by the Rum O'Misit Klub last Monday night in aid of St. Mary's Parish. Whist was enjoyed by 200 guests until a late hour, when suitable prizes were awarded to 25 successful contestants. The Cake Sale following the whist helped immeasurably to swell the Fund and all are looking forward to another such Party in the near future.

POP CONCERT

Teel's Band will furnish the music for the Pop Concert and Miss Alva Boyden who was so enthusiastically received when she sang at the Calumet Club will be the soloist. Her charming personality and beautifully modulated voice lend themselves especially to an occasion like this. Tables may be had from Mrs. O. C. Sanborn, tel. 120; Miss M. Alice Mason, tel. 1171.

ENGAGED TO WINCHESTER MAN

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald G. E. Street of Brookline, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Miss Frances Geraldine Street, to Earle Brandon Goldsmith of this town. Miss Street attended the Capen School at Northampton and also the Walnut Hill School and has been one of the younger active members of All Souls' Lend-a-Hand Club.

Mr. Goldsmith is a graduate of Winchester High School. During the World War he served for 16 months as sergeant major with the 23d Engineers and saw active service in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne drives. The wedding will take place in June.

TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS

As Mrs. Alfreda V. Grady (Miss Freda Mobbs) of Lynn was driving her touring car up Washington street last evening at about six o'clock, she lost control of the auto and ran into a tree in front of the residence of Mr. Alex MacDonald. The car was overturned and badly wrecked. Mrs. Grady received a cut on the cheek and the infant daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Cowan of West Lynn, who was in the car, had two teeth knocked out. The injured occupants were taken into the McDonald house and the police notified, the ambulance being sent to the scene. The injuries of the two were not serious, however, and the ambulance was not used.

According to report, Mrs. Grady was accompanied by her infant daughter Aileen, and Mrs. Cowan and her infant daughter Mary Ellen. When Mrs. Grady attempted to pass something to her daughter she lost control of the car. The front end of the car, a Chandler touring car, was badly wrecked.

This morning about eight o'clock as James Conley, night man at the Winchester Garage, was delivering Mr. John E. Livor's new Buick coupe to him at the Winchester Chambers, he could not make the turn at Wildwood street. The car struck the curb stone and then hit a tree, smashing the wheels and wrecking it badly. Conley was not injured.

WILLIAM K. BLODGETT

Mr. William K. Blodgett, long a well known resident of this town, died at the Winchester Hospital on Wednesday of injuries resulting from a fall at his home on Main street several weeks ago. He was 79 years of age and is survived only by one brother, Mr. H. J. Blodgett of Brookline. He was born in Boston and was the son of John K. and Ann (Shaw) Blodgett.

Funeral services are to be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the church of Epiphany the service will be conducted by Rev. Murray W. Dewart and the interment will be in Wildwood cemetery.

FINANCE COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Moderator Ives has appointed the following Finance Committee for the ensuing year:

J. Harper Blaisdell
Celeste W. Burton
J. Frank Davis
James F. Dwinell
Marshall J. England
Arthur S. Harris
Daniel F. Higgins

James P. Maguire
Raymond Merrill
Lionel A. Norman
Wallace V. Plummer
Francis E. Smith
Robert M. Stone
Clarence P. Whorf

BASKETBALL

The answer comes in the score of last night's game. 45 to 27 tells but faintly how completely the St. Mary's champions outclassed their opponents. Man for man the popular and younger team overshadowed their older but less efficient K. of C. representatives.

Mathews, Winer, Murphy, Kendrick, Tansey and Flaherty starred for St. Mary's, while Hockey, one of St. Mary's substitutes and Budreau played for the K. of C. team. The verdict was a popular one and the least said about the game the better for the Knights of Columbus.

The St. Mary's Catholic Society's motto has been "Do all things well and well by everybody." They refrain from comment on their humblest foe.

To the victors belong the spoils and to St. Mary's basketball players all glory belongs for their uphill fight against many odds all season, this their first as a unit upon the basketball court. The boys thank their followers and promise their word (and their word is as good as their game of basketball, i. e. excellent) that next year will find them a bigger and more experienced team, battling any and all pretenders and as in this season past, emerging real champions which means clean yet hard high-class basketball performers. This is our swan song, "We thank everybody."

REV. M. W. DEWART DREW TREMENDOUS CROWDS

According to a dispatch from Pittsburgh, Pa., to the Churchman, Rev. Murray W. Dewart of the church of the Epiphany, who held a series of noon-day services at Trinity Church in that city, preached sermons that were unusually successful. The dispatch read in part:

"The Rev. Murray W. Dewart of Winchester, Mass. was a recent speaker and drew tremendous crowds. Friday, his last day, even the balconies were filled. His interpretation of the text, 'Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father who is in heaven,' gave his hundreds of listeners a thrill and joy which they will not soon lose."

Frank Ralph of Oak street reported to the police that as he was driving his auto down Washington street at 1:25 a. m. Monday morning he stopped near the Jewish cemetery and assisted a party of autoists in effecting repairs. While so engaged some member of the party picked his pockets and robbed him of $19 or $20 in cash.

Citizens and Tax Payers of Winchester:

Are you aware of the fact that by the vote of 547 out of a total enrollment of 4611 voters the Town has assumed a debt of $540,000 which means that every man woman and child in Winchester has had added to his or her debt to the Town an average of $55.00 each.

For the family of four this means $220

"	"	"	"	six	"	"	330
"	"	"	"	eight	"	"	440
"	"	"	"	ten	"	"	550

which will have to be paid with interest (on installments) every year for the next twenty years.

Five hundred and forty thousand dollars is practically all the Town is allowed to borrow. It is the intention of the School Building Committee at the Town Meeting to be held next Monday evening to obtain a vote authorizing them to apply next year for permission to borrow $400,000 more, thus adding to the debt of every man woman and child in Winchester an average of $40.00 or a total of $95.00

If you are indifferent or don't care how your debts are incurred and piled upon you or how the money is expended stay away, but, if you want your taxes kept down, and Winchester's policy kept sound and in line with practice of past years, be present and help by your voice and votes to keep Winchester in the front ranks of the Towns in this Commonwealth that are Wisely, Sanely and Conservatively Managed.

DALLAS LORE SHARP

A very attractive entertainment was given last Thursday evening in the High School Assembly Hall, under the management of the Teachers' Association, and the Education Committee of The Fortnightly. A short, but very charming musical program given by Miss Holt, soprano soloist, and Miss Caro, pianist, was followed by a Humorous Lecture "The Magic Chance" by Dallas Lore Sharp. He considers that Life gives us all the Magical Chance, and our future depends upon whether we have wit and courage to know and accept it, or whether we turn it down.

He illustrated the point with the life of Richard Henry Dana, who had Harvard College, the Dana family and Boston traditions to fight against when Life gave him the Magical chance, but he turned them all down, and took his trip on the sea, with the result of one of the greatest sea stories ever written, "Two Years before the Mast." He brought back something new and daring. Bret Hart went out with the Fortyminers but he stopped at Poker Flat by the way, and from that Magical chance gave us "Luck of Roaring Camp." Jack London was another who dared and won. He told of a trip from Skowhegan, Maine, "Where they raise spuds enough to feed Boston and all the rest of dear old Ireland." The trip measured by the price of gasoline, and on which all connections were made on time, missing all chances of the magic of adventure. Life, he says, is as fresh and young as it ever was, the great things have hardly been started. There is the same chance to find the Land of Romance there has always been, only we must find it for ourselves.

On Friday morning March 31, Mr. Lewis Parkhurst gave a talk to the pupils of the senior and junior classes on government, especially explaining the workings of the Legislature.

The following awards have been given this week to pupils of the Commercial Department of writing fifteen minutes on an Underwood typewriter:

Hazel McKenzie—52 words, bronze bar.
Bronze bar, Nellie Ralph—42 words.
Jessie Moffets—42 words, bronze medal.

Bronze medal, Martha Salice—42 words, bronze medal.
Martha Crowley has also obtained a certificate for writing 30 words. With this she has secured a hundred percent of the pupils in the senior typewriting class have obtained an international award. Of these the highest speed was attained by Gwendolen Windle who wrote an average of 67 words for ten minutes.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The next regular meeting, April 10th, is the annual meeting, polls open at 1:30. Prof. Edward Howard Griggs will give a lecture on "For What We Live." Harold S. Sawyer of Malden, violinist, will play. Tea will be served.

After the entertainment there will be a short informal reception to the new officers.

A talk on Italian Lace Work will be given at the home of Mrs. W. S. Doane, 22 Lakeview Road, by Mrs. Louise E. Chimes, on April 12th at 2:30. All club members interested in this work are cordially invited to attend.

The last meeting of the Literature class was held on Monday. For the past two years this class has taken up the work of cotemporary authors in England and France. This meeting, in care of Mrs. E. E. Thompson, was one of the best of the season, a resume of what had been done, with short reviews of the latest books written by these same authors, including "Mary Stuart" by Drinkwater, "Undying Fires" Wells, "Thirteen Travelers" Walpole, "Council of Seven" Snaith, "Chair on the Boulevard" Merrick, "To Let" Galworthy, and "Mr. Proback" by Arnold Bennett. Much discussion followed over the cup of tea, and all agreed it had been a season of much pleasure, and profit.

Buy a flower from the girls and help the New Hope Baptist church fund.

PAGE—WELLS

Miss Dorothy Ellen Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jay Wells of Stockbridge road, Scituate, and Mr. Eben Blake Page of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Page of Everett avenue, were united in marriage on Tuesday afternoon, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents at four-thirty by Rev. Ernest Barber, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Scituate.

There was a large attendance of friends from this and other places, both of the young people having a large circle of acquaintances. Mr. Edwin Clapp Lincoln of East Weymouth and Harvard University, was best man, and Miss Olive Page, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Esther Page and Miss Mary Joslin of this town and Master Jack Page was train bearer. The bride was married in a dress of white satin beaded with pearls, and her tulle veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and swansonia. The maid of honor wore lavender silk and carried pink sweet peas, the two bridesmaids being in pink silk and carrying lavender sweet peas.

A reception followed the ceremony, the couple being assisted in receiving by their parents. The ushers were Messrs. Horace E. Martin of Cambridge, Jeffrey Richardson of Brookline and Herman E. Wells, J. Donald Wells and Alden R. Wells, all of Scituate. The bride is a graduate of Cornell and Mr. Page is a Bowdoin '21 man.

Following a southern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Page will make their home in Cambridge.

CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

Rev. John W. Suter, Sr., will preach the sermon on Palm Sunday, and at the service on Good Friday evening the Rector will preach.

OPPORTUNE TIME FOR INVESTIGATION

Editor Winchester Star,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Mr. Wilson:

From an item in issue of the Star of March 31st, I note that we have at the present time an "Acting" Supt. of Streets.

I presume this is the result of a growl directed against one of our public servants almost continuously since his coming to our town.

It would appear to most of us that we have in Mr. Clarke a very efficient public servant, as is evidenced by the present condition of our streets in comparison with those of our neighbors.

Still we may have been and are continuing to be deceived, and I believe it an opportune time for an investigation into the real facts of the case, as is evidently intended by this action on the part of our Selection.

Surely a man of Mr. Clarke's ability, or rather supposed ability, cannot continue to give us his best efforts while this undercurrent of criticism is going on, and so let us have the full story for the basis of such criticism at once, and the people of Winchester fully informed whether or no we have an efficient or deficient servant in Mr. Clarke.

I am quite sure that he will gladly welcome such investigation and cheerfully abide by the results, and certainly the citizens of Winchester are entitled to know if they are obtaining their money's worth, or otherwise, in the employment of Mr. Clarke.

Very truly yours,
Amasa Harrington

THE MUSIC GARDEN

The Music Garden held its regular meeting on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. H. T. Bond. A very pleasant evening was spent, devoted to the work of Mendelssohn. A paper upon his life bringing out the great value of his tone pictures which needed no words, was given by Mr. Carter. Members of the club gave the following program:

1. Songs without Words, No. 50 The Orchestra
2. a) Cast thy Burden overboard, Elijah b) He Watching over Israel, Quartette
3. Songs without Words, No. 47 Mrs. Jones
4. O Rest in the Lord, Mrs. Dunham
5. Lift Thine Eyes, Elijah
6. Jerusalem, Ladies Trio
7. Songs without Words, No. 22 Miss MacLellan

A final number of trio for strings and piano.

DINNER NEXT WEEK

The annual dinner of the Calumet Club will take place at the club house next week Saturday night, April 15th, at 6:30 o'clock. All seats must be reserved by the members on or before next Thursday.

Waterfield Lodge 231 I. O. O. F. will confer the second degree on a class of candidates Monday evening, April 10, 1922. All Brothers are cordially invited to attend.

The Friendly Glow

DURING the last two years I have been asking for suggestions for the improvement of Edison Service.

In that time we have received not more than a dozen letters of criticism, and hundreds of letters of commendation.

We feel, however, that the public should know us better; and to that end the "Friendly Glow" advertisements now will tell more of the story of our Company as a public utility, and the part it plays in the growth of Greater Boston.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

April Showers

The whimsical, freaky sister of redoubtable Jack Frost?
Lo, how she smites the clouds with her capricious sword, sending rain, rain, even more rain upon our unsuspecting heads. In the morning our umbrellas flourish. In the evening they are cut down and withered. And so she withereth father's newly pressed suit, mother's Easter finery and daughter's pretty Spring pumps. She spares not the linen out of doors, soaking garments on the line. Her tears of rain are but tears of fiendish laughter. She cares not for she must reign, reign, reign. Why not let her rain out of doors while you reign within by sending your laundry to us? She cannot reign or rain in our institution.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Triumph is satisfying only when it leads to further victories.

Most of the perspiration comes to the fellow who started last.

Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these: "An empty bin."

When in doubt mind your own business.

A man doesn't have to have much money to have friends, nor be broke very long to lose them.

A tramp has one big advantage over an automobile—you can't puncture his tire.

We bet the fish are biting.

Take the bill out of the billboards.

There must be something the matter with our Winchester restaurants —with these nightly society dinners.
There ought to be a day or so allowed to recover from them.

It was our friend "Bill" Olmstead, we believe, who advanced the idea of putting rubber bills on the woodpeckers. Has he ever gone further into the matter? We recommend for his consideration a scheme for removing the caws from the crows.

It is a peculiar fact, but we always have some of our voters who can never get the correct motion to be voted upon at the front of their mind
—notwithstanding Moderator Ives' (seemingly unnecessary) clear and concise explanations.

Some people say you can't squeeze a number eight foot into a number three shoe; likewise that you can't buy four sites and build four schoolhouses for $540,000; furthermore that mill construction is not fireproof construction; and so on ad finem.
How about bungalow types.

There seems to be only one thing to do. Change the fire alarm boxes and keep the numbers secret except to these residents who are in each district. Even then we cannot stop the autos from following the apparatus—and there are plenty around for that purpose. It would be an awful thing if the firemen drove that ten-ton pump of ours through one of these auto jams.

About a week ago two men had an urgent S. O. S. call. It was "discovered" that $40,000 more than the S. B. P.
Committee called for was needed to build and equip the Chapin School.
If this committee later on should happen to find need of an overdraft of a larger or smaller amount for each of the other three schools, how could we get by without making a big dent in that $540,000?

If quite a number of our fellow citizens are doubly taxed to educate their children at the parochial school, and pay it cheerfully, as we are told, why may not some "specialist" suggest that the Town give these overburdened taxpayers a rebate by appropriating a generous sum for the support of their school?

The Rumford people are shaking hands with themselves. No one in that district even hoped to draw anything out of the prize package. And here they are, near the head of the list!
As old Grandma Simpkins used to remind us in the days of long ago:
"You cannot most always tell what you least most generally expect."

Alas for the poor old Washington School! The S. B. P. Committee told us that "the building should be abandoned as soon as possible." Not even a hand was thrust into the educational grab-bag. It is said that one taxpayer in this section by the name of Crisco Gungipne, is so peeved at the slight that he threatens to carry his four children to Boston in his Packard and educate them at a well known private school.

Our S. B. P. Committee is composed of able and honest citizens whose ideals and integrity are unquestioned—always have been and always will be, even though they may not need our say-so to add to the recognized fact. It appears to be our mistake, in assuming that there might be one or two of our residents who could be misguided. Americanism, and that sort of thing, you know. Of course it is a paper's privilege to let any rumor go uncorrected. We have heard that silence gives consent. So we again commend and defend the labor and standing of our S. B. P.
Committee.

Of course, difference of opinion is regrettable in everything except love —and not always in that. To sum it up, we all—or most of us—have individual minds. Now we heard this winter of the terrible misfortune which would be ours if we placed a school building on a main street. We know how our police send officers to protect the Gifford scholars. And then we vote to place two of the most traveled streets of our town. No doubt the S. B. P. Committee was

SPEAKING OF STRIKE INSURANCE

A printer was wrecked on a desert island in the Pacific Ocean, and was slowly starving. Each day he walked the beach and vainly searched the horizon for a sail. Then he had an inspiration. He decided to write a message on a piece of paper, place it in a bottle, and cast it adrift, in the hope that some vessel would find it floating and pick it up and come to the rescue. Being a printer, he had the bottle. He went down into his pocket after a piece of paper on which to write the message and all he found was a fire insurance policy. He startled to read it, and found enough provisions in it to last six months. Hurry up, Willie; unchain the dog!—[N. E.
Printer.

MONDAY EVENING

Certain citizens have a chance once a year at the annual Town Meeting to unload all their emotions. They cannot well help it. They know their legal rights and are not slow to take advantage of them. So it was on Monday evening the tired taxpayers were obliged to put their patience and good nature to a severe test. Still everything came out better in the wash than we predicted to our readers. We would have been thankful to have begun the program with two or three schools. Inasmuch as the ways were well greased and the road was clear, it is perhaps as well that we voted for four buildings.
If we get a competent building committee and they use some skill in management, we shall come out all right.
The Town can well afford to take this bold step. They will cost big money, but we must get rid of these Civil War school buildings.

THOUGHTFUL BRIEFLETS

Perhaps you never bought a city bond? If you ever have, you know that the most important selling argument is the "relation of the city's debt to its legal limitation. The lower such percentage is, the greater the stress laid upon the desirability of the bond. Money talks.

Suppose the Town of Winchester had a fire and our High School burned down! We would have to petition the Legislature to get the money to rebuild it. Suppose the Legislature was not in session! We couldn't build. Do you ever keep a fund on hand for the doctor?

Think of the children! Is the Town of Winchester going to let the simple matter of a few dollars stand in the way of giving its children a proper education? How could anyone be so mercenary! You hear these remarks often lately. Did you ever hear the good old axiom "spare the rod and spoil the child?" It applies in more ways than one.

When you bought your car did you seek a brand new model, or an old established make? The Junior High School has only recently been innovated. Wait awhile and let the other fellow do the experimenting.

It is said that a movement is on foot to reconsider Monday night's vote and then present a motion to place the whole school matter before the voters in ballot form. We want and need new grade schools. Let well enough alone.

Haste makes waste! Is there real need of hurrying through a $400,000
Junior High School?

ONLY TWO MINUTES FOR THIS

The first thing to happen after an important Town Meeting is a certain amount of reaction. Of course, it has come this time. Before several intelligent taxpayers reached home on Monday evening they were ready to vote to reconsider. First aid was applied. Very simple, but effective. It was ten hours of sound sleep, a hearty breakfast and a real smoke.

Only one of these reactions appeals to us. It is this. Certain citizens of long experience in building operations, and also skilled in handling large financial affairs, have put their feet squarely down and tell us in no uncertain language that four suitable and up-to-date elementary school buildings such as the vote calls for, cannot be built and properly furnished on the proposed sites for any such sum as $540,000. These taxpayers do not claim to be imported experts and specialists, but are merely hard-headed, practical men of large affairs. Their reasons for their statements are too obvious even to mention. Here is food for thought. Especially for the average taxpayer who is trying hard to figure out how he is to get by on his Government and State income taxes, to say nothing about his semi-annual interest on his house mortgage, his premiums on his insurance policies and other assessments which torment him in his attempt to keep up with the procession and have a few dollars for occasional domestic emergencies. Let us think of these things. At least do it before we are asked to vote to pledge the Town, directly or indirectly, to add $400,000 more to the debt to build, equip and maintain a so-called "transition" school, known in present day parlance as a Junior High School. We have had enough diplomatic "arrangements," private conferences and caustic personal criticism for one school campaign. Let us all take a rest. Let us get down to brass tacks next Monday evening, vote as our conscience may dictate and adjourn this town meeting. According to the report of the Building Committee we are to thresh this whole Junior High School business out at the March meeting in 1923.

THAT ABSURED RUMOR

A member of the S. B. P. Committee called this week at the office of the Star. He says that he feels hurt because we referred to the rumor in our last week's issue that one or more members of this committee had been influenced by pecuniary consideration in working out their school problem. We were told on good authority that a few weeks ago a meeting was held at a certain place in this town to discuss the school question. Our informant told us in apparent good faith that some one at that meeting grew a bit excited and hinted that a deal was on with certain members of the committee based upon certain pecuniary considerations. Since this member of the committee called on us we have taken pains to investigate this absurd rumor. We called to our help a business man of sound sense and staunch integrity, known as such to almost every man and woman in the neighborhood where the alleged meeting took place. This gentleman denies point blank that any such meeting took place and that no such remark was ever made in public.
We believe with this gentleman that this rumor was based upon some foolish, jocose remark, made by some thoughtless individual. This is only typical of the numberless rumors and gossipy yarns some people delight in sending broadcast during any super-heated town meeting discussion. We sincerely regret that this worthy member of this committee should have felt hurt, because we only aimed to hit this silly rumor a solar plexus blow. We do not always approve of some steps taken by this building committee, but we, as well as all other good people in this town, recognize the sterling worth, the patient, hard work, and above all the unblemished reputation of the men and women who make up this long suffering and nervous distracted committee.

BARNUM WAS RIGHT

Good friends! Of course we are.
What newspaper could exist on any other basis? We like the Baptists, the Methodists, the Congregationalists.
We think a lot of the Legion, the Nursing Association and the old folks at the Home. If our friend and neighbor Murray Dewart leaves us, we'll regret it as much as anyone. We want our position clearly set forth. Our business is largely advertising, and like all business enterprises we have certain rules and customs to govern our charges and dealings. Of course we stretch our rules and satisfy all our friends! The only ones not satisfied (and our late friend Barnum has stated that all of them are not satisfied all of the time) are therefore ourselves. All of which goes to show that it is hard to charge for advertising all these little affairs wherein money is to be made, even though it is one of our rules. The orchestra, the decorator and the caterer, furnishing music for the ear, color for the eye and satisfaction to the inner man, tion, but the Editor, alas, furnishing only advertising, should, we know, give that little necessity without thought of fee or cost. All of which again goes to show how fortunate the Editor is to have so many friends.
Why not? We are, to be sure, a public character, almost a necessity—if we don't over estimate our importance.
But the office devil knows his Saturday night's pay envelope is sure to be ready for him with a certainty far superior to the Editor, and it does look as though there is a fly in the ointment sometimes—especially after that little job of printing, another part of our business,—goes to Bill Jones, who charges little or nothing to be sure, but who still does not deal in free advertising. There used to be a bit of poetry, a pasted slip on the back of the office door, long cherished and often published, referring to the history of a man. It recounted the payments on his life, from the first visit by the doctor to the last visit by the undertaker, and one and have a common ground for remunera-al received their fee except the editor, who heralded his birth, his achievements through life, and lastly his death—all willingly and sincerely; for nothing but friendliness, and not always that. All of which means, as we might have said at first, that we really haven't enough yet to retire on and we feel it our right sometimes to charge for the commodity which we sell—advertising, be it fair and just. We'll do our best to enthrone to your pet charity; and rise nobly to friendship's ties; we'll try and train our mind to recognize instantly the subtle difference between your advertising and the coarser kind which Sam Smith the grocer pays real money for, realizing of course, that Smith makes his living on its results and you don't. So don't bother to tell us you are not adding where the tickets may be bought, so it will not come under our paid advertising rule, take it for granted that we know that the society has no publicity fund, and don't inform us that we have to keep our linotypers busy on something anyway and it might as well be your news (?) as anything else. We know all those things every Saturday—fifty-two times a year.
And—to say it all over again—we agree with Barnum once and a while.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DINNER

The first annual dinner of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, formerly the Winchester Board of Trade, was held on Tuesday evening in Lyceum Hall with an attendance of nearly 75 members and guests.
President George T. Davidson presided and among the invited guests were the members of the Board of Selectmen. A very attractive menu was served by caterer Randall, during which there was community singing and a program of piano selections.
At the close of the dinner President Davidson made a few remarks relative to the past year's activities of the organization and the annual meeting was held. The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and accepted, the latter report showing the organization to be in a prosperous condition.

The nominating committee presented the following list of officers for the coming year, which were unanimously elected:
President—Edmund C. Sanderson
Vice-President—George F. Arnold
Secretary—Thomas H. Barrett
Treasurer—J. Albert Hersey
Executive Committee—Charles A.
Lane, Herbert Seller, George T.
Davidson.

An interesting entertainment followed the meeting, a program of music and dry humor being given by Miss Velma Balcom, pianist; Miss Nan Synott, soprano, and Dr. Willard
Scott, chamber topics and stories.

Among those who attended the dinner were the following:
A. B. Allen, George Arnold, George Lockman, John Lynch, Charles C. Main, William McLean, Frederick MacDonald, Percival Metcalf, Nathaniel Nichols, Samuel Perkins, John Pinedo, William Priest, Thomas Quigley, Peeler Randall, Herbert Seller, Albert H. Seller, Dr. Richard Sheehy, Richard Stone, Charles Symmes, Fred Wilson, Fred Scholl, Lyman Flanders, Fred Chandler, Fred Waldenyer, Charles Mook, John R. Gutierrez, W. E. Johnson, John Mead, Frank Chandler, Denton Randall, Wm R. McIntosh, David H. DeGouray.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

An alarm of fire was rung in Wednesday morning at 4.10 for a blaze at Beggs & Cobbs tannery. The fire originated in a closet in the split shop, the closet having been used for clothes. The sprinkler equipment of the factory not only held the fire, but had it extinguished by the time the department arrived. Box 42, the private box at the factory, was sounded for the blaze.

MRS. ABIGAIL FOSTER GRAY

Mrs. Abigail Foster Gray, 85 years of age, mother of Mrs. George E.
Willey, died at her daughter's home yesterday morning after an illness of 12 years. The funeral services will be held at the residence on Wildwood street Saturday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. R. Perry Bush of Chelsea.

Mrs. Gray was a native of Danvers.
She had made her home with her daughter here for the past 15 years.
Her husband, Samuel F. Gray, died in December. She is survived by three daughters: Mrs. George E. Willey, wife of Chairman George E. Willey of the Board of Selectmen; Mrs.
William Richardson of Danvers; Mrs.
Lawrence Goldthwaite of Dunstable, and two sons, Rev. F. A. Gray of Bath, Me., and Mr. Arthur H. Gray of Water-town.

The interment will be in Danvers.

Miss Harriet Cowdry fainted Monday when on Mt. Vernon street near McLaughlin's store. She had the misfortune to sprain her ankle when she fell. She was attended by a physician and taken to her home on Pine street.

Dr. Ralph A. Manning and wife entertained the Mystic Valley Osteopathic Society at their home, 77 Church street, Winchester on Wednesday evening. Following important business, special technique was demonstrated by Dr. Ernest A. Fessenden of Wakefield and Dr. Frank C. Nelson of Malden.

REPORT OF RUMMAGE SALE

To all those who so kindly contributed or assisted in any way, and to the members of the Winchester quota of the Frances Jewett Repertory Club who worked so loyally to make the rummage sale a success, the President, Mrs. John C. Abbot extends warm thanks, and sends the gratifying report of net proceeds of about $1600.

The growth in support of the Repertory Ideal, and the splendid progress of the club for the fiscal year just closed, make it a comparative certainty that Boston is still to be the home of this Repertory Theatre, with its attendant course of dramatic instruction. Winchester is proud to claim among the 1400 members of the club, one founder member, and three life members and one builder member.

Mrs. W. Holbrook Lowell

Miss A. Laura Tolman left yesterday for her farm at Harrison, Me., where she will remain until fall.

COUNTY FORCES TO WIN BIG VICTORY

Have Endorsed Rep. Norman's Bill for Creation of Commission to Supervise State and County Prisons

ENDS AUTOCRATIC POWERS

An Early Hearing is Expected on Measure Which Will Be Referred to Joint Ways and Means Committee.

By placing their stamp of approval on a bill drafted by Rep. Edwin G. Norman of Worcester, the County Commissioners and Sheriff's Association of Massachusetts have taken a step which virtually insures a complete victory for the County forces over the movement for State control of County penal institutions as recommended by Governor Channing H. Cox and the special committee of the legislature which investigated the penal institutions of the Commonwealth last year.

The bill will be introduced in the House of Representatives this week and Speaker B. Loring Young has agreed to its immediate reference to the Committee on Ways and Means and there is every expectation that an early hearing date will be set.

The new move on the part of the County forces is in no wise a compromise. Rep. Norman, who is one of the dissenting members of the special legislative committee investigating penal institutions thoroughly believes that State institutions require fully as much reformation and careful supervision as do the County penal institutions, and has provided for this in his bill which this week received the endorsement of the County forces.

The provisions of the bill deprive State Commissioner of Corrections, Sanford Bates of every atom of the sweeping autocratic powers the present law invests in him and places this power in the hands of a Prison Commission, of which the Commissioner of Corrections will be a member ex-officio.

Moreover, the bill provides for a supervising power on the part of the counties over all penal institutions, as well as over their own houses of correction and jails, which is a feature the County forces had not previously sought.

According to the draft of Mr. Norman's bill, a Prison Commission of five members would take over the powers now invested in the Commissioner of Corrections and this commission would constitute a Department of Correction. The personnel of the commission will include one sheriff, one county commissioner, a State Commissioner of Corrections, a woman experienced in dietetics, and a Justice of the Superior Court.

The Commissioner of Corrections would be a member ex-officio, the sheriff, county commissioner, and the woman member of the Commission are to be named by the Governor and the Justice of the Superior Court will be designated by the Chief Justice.

The bill is a distinctive progressive measure and has received the hearty endorsement of experts in penology who have reviewed it, and contains several sections which provide for humanitarian rules and regulations of the most advanced nature.

It is generally understood at the State House that a majority of the members of the special commission which investigated penal institutions have signified their willingness to accept the Norman bill and, according to those who know, there is not a shadow of doubt but that the members of the joint Ways and Means committee are heartily in favor of this bill and stand ready to report it out of committee "ought to pass."

This means that nothing more will be heard of the voluminous bill of fifty-four sections providing for absolutely state control and direction of county penal institutions which was filed as part of the report of the special committee of the legislature.

There seems to be little doubt in the minds of the legislators but what the Norman bill will pass both branches by a sizable majority.

Although the measure is quite contrary to anything which Governor Cox Commissioner Bates, members of the Massachusetts Civic League, and others would be reformers and philanthropists desire, there is little probability of any veto by the Governor.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Report of Mr. Kingsley's Address and Excerpts From the Junior High School Manual

Editor of the Star:

A comparatively small but very appreciative audience gathered last Saturday evening in the Town Hall to hear Mr. Clarence D. Kingsley, State Supervisor of Secondary Education on the subject of the Junior High School. Schools of this type are multiplying throughout the State and where the plan has been put in operation there seems to be no disposition to return to the old status, he said. It has been found that where the 6-3-3 plan has been adopted children who ordinarily would have left school as soon as possible, have prolonged their education and a larger number are entering the High School than under the 8-4 plan.

A Junior High School may be defined as a school adapted to the needs of pupils of approximately 12-15 years of age. Its distinctive role is that of a transition school to bridge the hazardous and objectionable gap existing under the 8-4 plan between the elementary school and the High School to a bridge buttressed so firmly in the aims, method and content of instruction and in the character of the school organization. Mr. Kingsley likened the Junior High School to a bridge buttressed so firmly at the ends that the pupil passing over encounters no jolt. As a transition school, the Junior High School should introduce gradually new subjects, the departmentalization of instruction should be increased only as rapidly as pupils can profit by it; pupils should be advanced in subjects in which they are successful, and in case of failure, repetition of only such subjects should be required as are indispensable as a foundation for future instruction needed by that pupil. Thus pupils are helped to ascertain their own aptitudes, interests and abilities. Those who would head for college will pursue work directed to that end, those who are "hand-minded" may be guided into commercial, domestic, or agricultural channels according to individual capacities. Development of power rather than merely the acquisition of knowledge is now recognized as the primary end of school training.

The common complaint of the High Schools has been that pupils come to them not knowing how to study. It is now generally recognized that there must be specific instruction in study methods. Giving such instruction is one of the primary obligations of the Junior High School. With this work properly done at this point, there will be a resultant increase in the efficiency of the Senior High School. In the seventh grade or first year of the Junior High School, the teacher must be a large factor in the activity of the class period. The chief function of the teacher is to stimulate and guide the thinking process, but he or she must always keep in mind the progress of the group and of the individual. The child should be thrown upon his own resources more and more in order to develop self-reliance and independence, but he should never be allowed to get beyond his depth by reason of too difficult an assignment. Before the completion of the Junior High School course, the growing confidence and power of the pupil will make possible an increasing amount of independent study both in school and at home and will make easy the transition to the study requirements of the high schools.

All pupils take English, Social Studies, Mathematics and Science as "constants" throughout the three years. The "variables" or electives are the foreign languages, consisting of Latin, French, Spanish and German (no school should attempt to offer a large number of languages than it can offer effectively), practical arts which may include manual training, home economics, agricultural pursuits, shop work, commercial subjects such as bookkeeping and typewriting. The fine arts should include music, freehand and mechanical drawing. Physical training is required by law.

It is obvious that the success of a Junior High School depends largely upon the building provided. It is clear that adequate provisions should be made for boys' shop work, home economics, physical training and assembly exercises. Mr. Kingsley emphasized the importance of a good library to accustom pupils to the best literature. He also made a statement regarding the salaries of teachers employed in the Junior High School. Teachers should receive salaries based on their qualifications, regardless of the schools in which they teach.

Remuneration depends upon the amount of time given to scholarly preparation through normal and college courses. Preliminary preparation will need to be supplemented by a continued study of problems connected with this type of school.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Lady Astor Will Be at the Baltimore Convention

Lady Astor who will attend the convention of the National League of Women Voters at Baltimore, April 20th to 28th, states that she will say to the convention that the women of England and America with their common conception of citizenship and morality could achieve any reforms that they set out to accomplish.

Many brilliant women from all parts of the world are to be present, assuring that this conference-convention will be one of the great international events. From Latin-American countries come Senorita Margarita Conroy of Peru who made a name for herself in Red Cross work during the war; Mrs. Carmen de Penillos, an editor of a Peruvian magazine; Mrs. Emma Lopez de Garrido of Cuba, who organized the first woman's club in Cuba and Senorita Pactoriza Flores who is the first woman from Ecuador, and possibly the first woman from Latin-America to hold the degree of Ph.D. from an American university.

Give Citizenship Play
Mrs. Frederick P. Bagley will have charge of the production of her witty and instructive play, "How Maggie MacTaggart Gained Her Citizenship" which the Massachusetts League of Women Voters will give at the house of Mrs. Franklin W. Hobbs, 128 Beacon street, Boston, Tuesday, April 13 at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Hobbs, whose work as chairman of the Membership Committee has been of such great value to the league, will add to the pleasure of the occasion by serving an informal tea after the play.

NONE BUT REGISTERED VOTERS MAY ATTEND

Editor of the Star:

It has been called to my attention that at the adjourned session of the Town Meeting held last Monday evening there was present on the floor at least one person who was not a registered voter. My informant quite naturally would not give the name of the person, who was a woman, otherwise I should write this letter to her direct. It seems that she did not attend through inadvertence or ignorance, but has commented upon her cleverness in getting by the checkers at the door. The matter would not have been so serious had she not, I am informed, taken part in a standing vote on the question of the schools. Naturally, in complying with the new law regulating attendance at Town Meetings, the checkers at the door are obliged to take the risk of some such thing as this happening or else actually use the check list in the case of every individual entering the hall. With the large number of persons attempting to enter the hall in the last fifteen or twenty minutes, the procedure would be a great inconvenience to the voters.

I do not suppose the person in question actually intended to do anything crooked. Probably she thought it was more or less clever and a good joke on the checkers. I desire, however, to give notice that if in the future I learn of the names of any persons who are successful in getting by the checkers I shall notify the selectmen and the police for them to take such action as they deem proper.

Yours very truly,
Fred'k Manly Ives,
Moderator.

The regular meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton Home League will be held Thursday, April 13th, at the Home, 701 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, at three o'clock. Tea will be served and the Home open for inspection.

Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Whitten of Central street are the parents of a daughter, Lois, born at the Winchester Hospital last Thursday.

YESTERDAY

(Written for the Winchester Star.)

Thou art sleeping, Yesterday! in wakeful sleep,
And cold are the shadows around thee, that fall
While memory, a mourner, bends lowly, to weep.
Full many a tear of regret, on thy pall,
And close by Yesterday's side, too, does Conscience retrace
Thy thoughts, words and actions still vivid and warm;
And she starts to think, that no hand can efface
The failures and faults that thy hours deform.
And that none from the books, in the archives on high
Can one leaf of the deeds therein registered, tear;
She knows she must meet them, when time, too, shall die
And the day of the Lord, their decisions declare.
Ah! said in the light of that day seem the cases
And pursuits of ambition, of pleasure and pride,
And sad are the wrecks seen, of souls by those mares,
Engulfed beneath the billows of Sin's darkening tide.
What, then, will avail men the laurels of fame?
Or how will appear then, these scores of human strife?
What though men have gloried in Christ's holy name
If who borne not His cross, or have lived not His life?
For deep meditation and serious thought,
How will it become us, these hours to give—
Lost our spirits, at last, to perdition be brought.
Or in living in pleasure, be dead while we live.
Let us search well our ways; let us lift up
And from Time's fleeting footsteps some wise lesson learn;
Death is throwing around us his unerring dart,
And we haste to the barne, whence we never return.

—Eugene Portman Willard

THE SOUL'S DESIRES SATISFIED

(Written for the Winchester Star.)

Souled is thy wing,
Wandering and suffering and desolate soul,
Thy keen and piercing glance has dimmed with tears,
Bewildered with the floating mists of time,
Misted oft-times by lights that falsely gleam,
Thy royal birth unheeded, mingling low,
With beasts that perch—divine as they are—Mournful and sad would be the song that tells
Of stricken spirit of thy down of death,
But for the sweet, reflected beam, that falls
From God's own word, to guide the darkened paths.
Thou sorrowing wouldst retrace, as long-lost one,
Return once more the parent road to greet,
Thou shalt be satisfied! His image fair,
Broken, defiled and ruined once by sin,
Again shall be restored, the soul's desires,
Vast though they be as ocean's utmost depths, Shall all be filled, the Eternal is thy God.

—Eugene Portman Willard

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

The automobile has taught us a lot about the thing we call "depreciation." When some of us bought our first car for a thousand dollars, say, we kept track of the gasoline and oil we used and congratulated ourselves that the upkeep was not as bad as we had thought.

Pretty soon, however, we needed new tires and a few repairs—all maintenance expense. And then in about three years we got ashamed of the old rattle box and considered ourselves fortunate to sell it for $300. What became of the $700 difference. We charged it to depreciation.

The merchant has it in shelf-worn goods. The newspaper owner has it to the extent of about ten per cent annually on his plant. Your gas company has it in the wear and tear and breakage of mains, meters, machines and other apparatus.

It is by recognizing depreciation as a fixed charge that we are able to constantly substitute new equipment for old and so give you the service you demand.

Articles of white metal, such as chains, rings, etc., may be made to appear like gold by this simple process: Boil one pint of water and stir into it two ounces of finely powdered sulphur. Stir well, and boil up the liquid once again. Next add one ounce of dragon's blood. Filter through a fine cloth to remove any solid matter that remains from the sulphur. The articles to be colored are placed, with the liquid, in a pan provided with a close-fitting lid, and boiled for about 15 minutes, at the end of which time the objects will have taken on a fine gold color.

VITALITY! VITALITY! VITALITY!

You Must Have It to keep Your Job, Your Friends Your Happiness

Thousands of thoughtless people needlessly let themselves run down in health. The day comes when, with a terrible shock, they suddenly realize that they are permanently broken in health. For your own sake keep well. If you feel weak or run down do not sleep well or are nervous and have a poor color, don't wait until it is too late. Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken with your meals for a few weeks will restore your good health, give you renewed strength and vitality for your daily work. The healthy life is the only happy life—do not let it slip from you. For thirty years Gude's Pepto-Mangan has been helping people who were run-down back to good health. It was made famous by the medical profession. Sold by druggists in both liquid and tablet form.—Advertisement.

John Dixon's Daughter

By ROSE MEREDITH

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Miss Mamie Smith left the post office and stepped down the village street with eager feet. Her faded eyes were fixed on Emeline Taylor's little brown house, and with the enthusiasm of the born gossip she was picturing the cozy warmth of Mrs. Taylor's sitting room, and hoping that the old lady was all alone.

"I've got to know about this postal card—she's so close-mouthed, it's a wonder she would let me stop for her mail. But I suppose Mittle Weed can't be trusted, she's such a feather-headed piece to take care of a sick woman, if it is only rheumatism!" Her thin, pink nose quivered like an agitated rabbit's as she went into the yard and around the path to the side door entrance, where glass doors led into a neatly furnished sitting room where a white-haired woman sat in a deep cushioned chair.

"Well, Emeline, here I be, faithful as ever," greeted Miss Mamie as she opened the door and walked in. Her sharp eyes darted to the kitchen beyond, where Mittle Weed was clattering around in a heedless way, leaving untidiness behind her and creating agony in the soul of Emeline Taylor, the neatest housekeeper in the whole county.

"It's real good of you, Mamie," said the sick woman gratefully. "Some day I'm going to make it all right with you for all your kindness."

"I don't want anything," assured Miss Mamie, turning very red. "I'm always glad to do something for a sick neighbor, and you know I live next door. The 'Weekly Times,' a letter from Robin and a postcard—there, that's a nice bunch!"

Mrs. Taylor smiled in a tight-lipped way as she took the letters in her swollen hands. "Thank you, Mamie," she said quietly.

Miss Mamie's face fell. "Ain't you going to read Robin's letter? I'll be looking at the paper a minute and maybe there's some news you'd want to tell me."

Tossed It Into the Coal Hod.

"He is so busy—traveling most of the time—he doesn't have time to write much," defended Robin Taylor's mother.

"I expect his wife travels with him," ventured Mamie.

"Possibly," said Mrs. Taylor crisply.

Mamie rose to go. "I thought maybe they'd be coming down here."

"Some day," and Mrs. Taylor turned her head toward the kitchen. "You can make me some toast, Mittle," she called.

"Well, good-by," said Mamie, as she went out through the glass door into the pleasant old garden, neglected now that Robin was away and his mother was tied to her chair. The whole village knew more about her affairs than Emeline Taylor suspected.

They knew, somehow, that Robin had telephoned home from Chicago that he was going to marry "Doreen," and they knew that Mrs. Taylor had telegraphed him not to do it—and Robin had married the city girl; and although three months had passed his mother refused to forgive him or to see the young couple. He didn't even know that his mother was crippled with rheumatism, for she wrote to him faithfully every week, acknowledging receipt of the check he regularly sent her, though she never cashed the checks and never mentioned the name of Robin's unknown wife in her letters.

Lately she had formed the habit of putting his letters away unopened. The fact that he could write meant that he was well. Now she kissed his letter passionately and put it away with the others, but the postcard she looked at with interest. It showed the New York Botanical Gardens, and off on the sky line was an arrow in ink.

"We are keeping house here—you must come down and stay with us. Love to you, Doreen."

The arrow pointed to a tall apartment house.

"Sending her love to me," sobbed Emeline Taylor angrily as she tore the postal in two and tossed it into the coal hod by the drum stove.

"Mittle, is tea ready?"

Mittle Weed came scuffling her feet while her dark eyes, scanning the room, discovered the agitated face of her mistress, the unread letter clutched in her hand and the torn postcard in the coal hod. In a trice Mittle had moved a small mahogany stand beside the big chair, placed the little tray, with its steaming pot of tea, its plate of hot toast and dish of quince jelly, deftly spread a damask napkin over Mrs. Taylor's folded hands, uncovered the sugar bowl and cream jug, and, picking up the coal hod, vanished into the kitchen.

Here, alone, she drew out the torn postal and studied it with pitying eyes. "That girl ought to be here looking out for his ma! If I had a mother-in-law—" Mittle wagged her untidy head and pulled some letter paper from a corner cupboard.

Ten days later Mittle startled Mrs. Taylor by giving notice and leaving at once. "You can easily get some one else, Miss Taylor," said the girl, stubbornly, when her employer protested that she could not stay alone. "I know a girl who would come and live with you."

"Who is she?" snapped the old lady. Mittle didn't hear. "I'll send her around tonight, Miss Taylor," and the door closed behind her.

"Ingratitude!" muttered Emeline Taylor as she sat there alone, helplessly bound to her chair.

At 5 o'clock came a knock at the door.

"Come in," she quavered.

A girl came in. She was not very tall nor so very pretty, but she had a fresh, colorful face, with bright brown eyes and ruddy brown hair; her pretty hands were capable looking and her dress was neat and dainty.

"Mittle Weed said you wanted some one to help you," she began. "I am not afraid of hard work."

Emeline Taylor smiled in a wintry way. "You look as though you would be pleasant to have around—but, what is your name?"

"I am John Dixon's daughter," said the girl slowly. "My father calls me Johnny."

"John Dixon's daughter?" Mrs. Taylor regarded her curiously, dreamily. With the name came echoes of a girlhood romance, the smell of day lilies drenched with dew, the sound of a whip-poor-will, a man's deep sigh—that was all. "John Dixon's daughter"—she had always heard of Dixon as a very prosperous farmer—why did his daughter go out to work?

"Would you care to have me stay?" asked the girl.

"Yes—I am all alone," admitted the older woman bitterly.

A week later Mrs. Taylor was feeling better—so much better she could forgive Robin's marriage—so she took out all his unread letters and perused them. When she finished the last one, she looked closely at the tiny photograph it contained. Then her eyes lifted to the serene face of John Dixon's daughter, who was sewing in the sunny window.

"Doreen!" she said softly.

The girl looked up guiltily. "Oh—you know!" she breathed. "I had to come after Mittle wrote to me and said you were ill and alone—we did not know—and I have taken your only son away from you, and I hoped you would learn to love me—"

Mrs. Taylor's arms were around the slender young form. "I need you, my daughter," she whispered, "and I need Robin—and poor Mittle in the kitchen. I need you all!"

In some unaccountable manner Miss Mamie Smith took the entire credit for the reconciliation.

Pigs Mothered by Men.

An account of strange adoption comes from an Alberta (Canada) reader. He says that a hen on his deceased brother's farm in Ontario adopted some young pigs. The sow had farrowed in one end of a log barn to which she had access, and close to a hen that was sitting on some rotten eggs. After the little pigs came, some of them used to crawl under the hen for warmth, so she seemed to think the whole bunch were as much her's as the sow's. She would go around with them during the day and when night came would sit on as many as she could cover. It was amusing to watch her antics after the pigs grew too big for her mothering instinct.

Feed Garden Plants.

If your garden was not made very rich at planting time, feed it as you go along. This is easily done by scattering commercial fertilizer between the rows and working it into the soil with a hoe or rake. The rain will soon wash it down to the roots. There is less waste by this method than when all the fertilizer is applied early in the spring, and the plants respond quickly. Use a balanced fertilizer for most crops, but nitrate of soda for lettuce and other leafy vegetables. Take care, however, that it does not come in contact with the plants themselves, for it will burn them.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Not a few Winchesterites see all the glories of the world in the ages that have gone by. The time when their grand daddy traveled 20 miles to mill and carried their grists upon their backs, was the golden age of the settlement. The homespun flax and tow were the "purple and fine linen" of an independent yeomanry. The slow coach and the ox team were instruments of the satisfactory postal arrangements of a hopeful civilization. The owner of the venerable horse that rotated regularly, and became the copious fountain of bean porridge for the whole neighborhood was the envied capitalist, the Rothschild of his day. Men were "giants in those days," and their graces and virtues were as gigantic as their frames, or their fame. According to such judges, generosity, patriotism, heroism, exhausted themselves in the infancy of the world; and we are now left to drag out a wretched, suffering, dying life by virtue of that momentum which the jaded energies of a former period have imparted. In short, the natal hour of the race is regarded as the golden period of history, and the progress of man is but the growth of corruption. Now, there are two or three reasons why the past seems morally, though illusively, enchanting to the view. In the first place, its rugged features are softened by our remorse from them. "Distance lends enchantment to the view." It is like the softened features of a distant, though ordinary, landscape. The tufted foliage seems matted by a divine hand. The outstretching field becomes a beautifully shaven lawn; while the sparkling stream, meandering through the valley, flashes in the sunlight, like a silver cord binding into one whole the varied beauties of the scene. In like manner, nearer examination of the golden ages of history would reveal their asperities, bring out in bold relief their ruggedness, and disperse the illusions by which we are charmed. Another reason that gives the past undue attractiveness is found in the imperfections of history. History exalts individual virtues and single instances of generosity and patriotism into unnatural isolation, causing them to characterize the entire orbit of individual life, and to span the whole horizon of the glorified era. It sweeps away, by its authoritative condemnation, the cloud of contemporaneous meannesses and the dust of indifferent events. Thus the relative number and magnitude of the deeds we honor are enhanced, while the manifold elements by which their influence at the time was allayed, are dropped out of sight. A final reason that leads us unduly to glorify the past, is found in an opposite though co-relative tendency to give too little value to the examples of noble fidelity in the passing hour. While the heroism of the past is purified in the crucible of history from its original alloys, that of today must be judged in its rude unrefined state. Differences of opinion and partisan feelings, aided by our imperfect apprehension of existing facts, lead us to depreciate those very deeds which history will honor, and unduly to exalt those things which history will forget. Many a man is walking our streets today in self-conceit because he reflects the average of public opinion about him. And many another man is hailed at and despised because he sees events in the light of principles and judges them as they are. The fame of those shall decrease until it shall be engulfed in perpetual night, while the fame of these shall gradually evolve from the darkness and rise into the regions of everlasting day. We alone, therefore, who can withdraw from the world of passion and interest to the world of principle, can judge the passing hour upon its merits, and appreciate the glory of the opportunities which are hourly closing their doors upon us.

The only sort of citizens Winchester wants are those able to "make good." As we have said before Winchester is the best town in all creation in which to live and do business and if this is so then the best people on earth live here. Winchester demands men and women who will do something for Winchester—men and women who will do their best first and last. The following lines from the pen of that immortal American poet, Edgar A. Guest, are quite appropriate for citation here:

"This is making good in life: Being patient through the strife, Being glad that you can bear Now and then the touch of care Being cheerful day by day, Being careful not to say Bitter things which leave a sting This, for laborer or king, When the record's understood, Is the depth of making good."

"This is making good on earth: Being glad to prove your worth, Being kindly, being true, Doing what you find to do, Even though your strength is faint, Without whimpering or complaint: Doing little, doing much, With a brave and manly touch, Drawing water, hewing wood Cheerfully is making good."

"This is making good with men: Standing up to service when it were easier to stop, And to let the burden drop: Doing more than is your share, More than you were asked to bear, So, when finished is the test, You may say you've done your best This, in every neighborhood, Is the depth of making good."

The Spectator.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO PREPARE AND REPORT A SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM

6. That the Selectmen be authorized and directed to petition the Legislature for authority of the Town to borrow and issue notes and bonds for the sum of $400,000, additional to the sum already authorized, in excess of the present borrowing capacity, such amount to be expended for land and the erection of a Junior High School.

7. That the Selectmen be directed to insert in the warrant for the Annual Town Meeting in March, 1923, an article under which the Town may appropriate and issue bonds for the acquisition of the land recommended as the site of the Junior High School and the erection of a Junior High School building thereon.

8. That a Building Committee be appointed with power to make contracts and do all things necessary to carry out the foregoing recommendations.

Respectfully submitted, Special Committee to Prepare and Report a School Building Program, by Marcus B. May, chairman, Faith S. Dutch, Secretary.

ANNUAL CONCERT OF HIGH SCHOOL MUSICAL CLUBS

On Thursday evening next April 12th, at the Town Hall, the High School Musical Clubs will present their annual concert. Mr. Richard W. Frost, supervisor of music has carefully prepared a well-balanced program of four-part choruses including compositions by Schumann, Beethoven, Rubinstein. The chorus of 200 voices will also sing Gounod's "Gallia" a sacred cantata written during the siege of Paris. The soprano obligato and solo to this will be taken by Miss Edna Larson a High School Sophomore. Two other High School girls will also show their ability as soprano soloists.

As assisting artist Mr. Sernaub Thillous, Violinist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra will play two groups of solos. The tickets for this concert will all be sold at fifty cents each and the proceeds will be used to purchase orchestra instruments for talented High School Pupils.

ALUMNI ATHLETE COMMITTEE

An Alumni Athletic Committee has been formed in connection with a program to further athletics at the local high school. The committee grew out of an informal gathering held at the high school March 11. At this time several graduates of the school known to be interested in athletics were invited by Principal Thompson of the high school to meet with himself, Superintendent of Schools Faussey, Chairman, Guild of the School Committee, and Messrs. Higbee and Bond, faculty manager and coach respectively of the several high school teams. It was decided to organize a committee as named above and several subsequent meetings have been held.

It will be the province of the committee to discuss and determine athletic policies for the school, to assist in any way possible the faculty supervisor and coach of the teams, and in general, to act in an advisory capacity to the Athletic Association of the school.

The members of the committee are: James Nowell '95, chairman; Robert F. Guild representing the School Committee, Principal Edward E. Thompson and Messrs. Higbee, Bond, and Hartwell representing the high school, and the following alumni, Goddu '12, LeDuc '11, Maguire '14, Ordway '95, Penalligan '13, Russell '95 and Tuck '10.

EASTER LUNCHEON

The Annual Easter Luncheon will be held at the First Congregational Church, Tuesday, April 18th. Those who wish to reserve tables will call Mrs. Allan Wood, Winchester 276. ## Eighty-mile Precipice.

A member of the British expedition that explored Dutch New Guinea describes what may be the greatest unbroken precipice in the world. It runs, he says, for a distance of 80 miles from Mount Carstenz westward to the Charles Louis mountains. Its greatest sheer height is at Mount Leonard Darwin. The explorers were never in position to measure with the theodolite a sheer height of this immense precipice exceeding 6,500 feet, but from many views obtained of it while he was climbing, Captain Rawling has no hesitation in stating that the greatest perpendicular height is not less than 10,500 feet, or almost exactly two miles.

ALL ARE WELCOME

THE PURPOSE of introducing the motion to Reconsider the vote of April 3rd, to expend over a half million dollars in building four school houses without definite knowledge as to cost of Land and Buildings, was to refer back to the Committee the whole question with a request that they confine their recommendations at this time to two buildings--the Chapin and Wyman, and to procure plans and obtain reliable estimates of the cost of Land and Buildings.

I heartily favor New School Buildings, but the Town should proceed to provide them in an orderly and business-like manner.

The FOUR GRADE SCHOOLS

The Junior High School question is closed for this year — A more important question is NOT CLOSED

At the meeting of April third, the town by a vote of more than two-thirds, in a meeting which taxed the capacity of the hall, voted to build four modern-type grade schools within two years.

An attempt is now being made to destroy this act of the town by securing reconsideration of this vote by the appointment of a new committee to begin an entirely new investigation.

This attempt is founded chiefly upon propaganda to scare the citizens about the tax rate.

The costs of building given the town were upon careful estimates secured upon sketch plans prepared by the leading school architect of Boston. They may be considered reliable.

THE REAL TAX

THE actual effect upon the tax rate is an addition of but $1.71 per thousand dollars on property valuation spread over the twenty-year period, and this includes wiping out the principal and interest. If new buildings are not built a considerable part of this $1.71 will in any event be spent in further repairs, improvements and fire hazard protection to the old buildings.

1922 TAX RATE

COUNTING in all the appropriations made by the town at its recent meetings, including the proportion of interest for this year upon the bond issue voted for the purpose of building the four grade schools, including also the sums voted by the town in excess of the Finance Committee recommendations, and after deducting the anticipated shrinkage in state income tax received from the state, the tax rate in Winchester for this year ought not to exceed $22.75.

Last year it was $24.20.

Next Thursday Eve

APRIL 20

you MUST choose

EITHER FOUR ELEMENTARY SCHOOL BUILDINGS IN TWO YEARS (Chapin, Wyman, Rumford and Mystic-Gifford); or

NO NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS until some UNKNOWN future time.

We can therefore pay our proportion of the bond interest this year and hereafter and still retain one of the lowest tax rates in Massachusetts shown by towns or cities of our general class.

LAST WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENT IN THIS SPACE

said "every man, woman and child in Winchester has had added to his or her debt to the town an average of fifty-five dollars each, —which will have to be paid with interest (on installments) every year for the next twenty years."

THIS WRONGFULLY made it appear that the amount which would be paid over a period of twenty years would have to be paid EACH year. The statement should read (to be mathematically correct as applied to the population) that there would have been a cost of $2.75 each year together with interest.

I submit that this would be a small price to pay to transfer the children from grade school buildings which have been pronounced by every federal, state and educational expert who has visited them to be badly lighted, badly ventilated, unsanitary in equipment and unsafe as to fire hazard.

The Town Has Already Voted to Abolish These Buildings and Supply New Ones. The Attempt Is Now Made to Destroy This Act

ANNOUNCEMENT was made that in case reconsideration was voted that a new motion would be introduced to appoint a new committee for a new investigation to report at some future town meeting. This would strangle the vote of April 3.

If you want the children of Winchester in the elementary schools to be housed as quickly as possible in buildings which are well lighted, healthfully ventilated, protected from fire hazard, located more advantageously and having an adequate playground attached to each school, then come to the Thursday meeting and vote against reconsideration of the finest vote in favor of the children which was ever passed by the town of Winchester.

"GO WEST" SAID GREELEY;
"SPREAD OUT," SAYS
ELIOT

"How are the evils that go with city crowding to be avoided in the face of the increasing congestion of American cities?"

This, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society, is one of the major civic questions of the time, and it will become even more apparent when house hunting begins in the fall.

One answer to the question, the bulletin states, is given in a communication from Charles W. Eliot, who is quoted as follows:

"In order to cure the destructive evils of present urban life and the factory system, it will not be enough to restrict the vices, to diminish the pressure of poverty, to prevent destructive diseases, and prolong the average human life. The human environment must be not only negatively but positively improved; so that the whole people may have the opportunity to cultivate healthy tastes and interests to acquire just ideals of pleasantness and beauty, and to learn the value toward tranquil happiness of that living with nature which city congestion has within a single generation made almost impossible for multitudes.

"While the exclusion of bad influences needs to be unrelenting, the good influences—fortunately for crowded urban populations—need not all be incessantly in action. An occasional holiday in a city park or garden, a week-end in the country now and then, or a fortnight's vacation in summer may make deep and lasting mental impressions, and supply both children and adults with wholesome material to fill the mind and direct its energies for months and years.

"Hence the importance of better city and suburban planning, of public reservations of all sorts in city and State, and of national parks and monuments. All these modes of public action tell not only on the physical well-being of both urban and rural populations, but on the mental training of children and on the cultivation in the whole population of thoroughly healthy interests and uplifting enjoyments, both individual and social.

"The present evils of city life and the factory system—bad conditions which civilization has itself created—have developed their destructive forces in this country in spite of the schools and churches and of free political institutions and in spite of many happy influences from art, poetry, music, and the drama. Clearly, society needs to develop a new and better environment for the general life—an environment favorable to both bodily and mental health and to the attainment of genuine happiness—not of mere momentary excitements, pleasures, and gratifications, but of solid contentment, and the lasting satisfaction of life enjoyed in quietness and peace. What are the means of compassing this end?"

"The readiest means is good planning of city, town, and landscape—first applied to areas still open, and then gradually to areas already occupied in undesirable ways. The new planning must take into account the interests of the whole community, as well as the interests of individual owners, the social or collective interest always prevailing.

"The immediate objects to be sought are more light and air for dwellings, offices, shops, and factories, and thus a spreading out of cities; the transfer of factories to suburbs and to country sites along the lines of railway; the multiplication of playgrounds and open decorated areas, and above all the attachment of a piece of arable or garden ground to every family dwelling.

"The collective force of the community must further supply the means of making rural and landscape pleasures occasionally accessible to city populations by means of parks and gardens which illustrate all forms of open-country beauty and permit the occasional enjoyment by city families or larger urban groups of the outdoor pleasures which woods, shrubberies, gardens, and broad fields can give. All city dwellers greatly need these occasional delights, and Americans more than any other people; for they have become accustomed to an indoor life, and have come to rely on electricity as a substitute for sunlight, and mechanical ventilation as an equivalent for fresh air."

SAFETY FIRST

Last Friday morning one of Winchester's well known citizens, being anxious to board one of the morning trains, quickly grasped the handles of the car, but the train was moving faster than he anticipated. He was thrown off his feet and dragged a half car length. It is a wonder he didn't have his legs broken. It might have been on account of a good strong grip and presence of mind that he didn't lose his hold and be thrown under the train. Let this be a warning to other people not to try to board a train while it is moving.

TRUCK WENT THROUGH BRIDGE

A five-ton truck of Thomas Quigley, Jr., went through the second bridge of the new street across the pond beside the railroad Wednesday afternoon when delivering a load of ashes to the dump at that place. Fortunately the truck did not fall completely through the bridge, one rear wheel going through the planking and dropping the truck until the rear axle rested on the flooring. Mr. Quigley was notified of the accident and immediately had a gang of men on the job, the truck being unloaded, jacked up and run off on heavy planking.

The engagement is announced of Mr. F. Douglas Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Armstrong of Highland avenue, to Miss Eleanor Kathryn Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Richardson of Pine street, Philadelphia. The marriage will take place in June.

PROF. GEORGE GRAFTON WILSON WILL SPEAK IN WINCHESTER

Professor George Grafton Wilson will speak on "Recent International Readjustments" at the Guest Night of the League of Women Voters, to be held at the home of Miss Frances Elder, Myopia Hill Friday, April 21st at 8:15 P. M.

Professor Wilson is a publicist and authority on International Law, of world-wide reputation. He studied at Heidelberg, Berlin, Paris and Oxford. For twelve years he has been professor of International Law at Harvard University and the Naval War College. Just prior to the war, he was counselor for the American Legation at the Hague. During the recent Arms Conference in Washington, he was advisor to the American Delegation and took an important part in deliberations involving questions of International Law. He is an excellent speaker and the subject of his address is one of special interest at this time.

POP CONCERT

Miss Elva Boyden the soloist for the Pop Concert on Easter Monday, April seventeen was leading contracts with the recent opera at the Arlington Theatre, Boston. The Gypsy Queen in "The Bohemian Girl" and Siebel in Faust are among her many successes. Her voice is of a fresh clear timbre and her versatility, artistry, and simplicity together with a fine dramatic feeling have called forth the praise of many critics. The Committee feel a treat is in store for all who attend the concert. Tickets may be had from Mrs. O. C. Sanborn, Tel. 129; Miss M. Alice Mason, Tel. 1171.

STONEHAM THEATRE

The first person to be chosen for the cast of "The Three Musketeers," when Douglas Fairbanks began preparing for this production was George Siegmann who interprets the character of "Porthos," one of the three musketeers. This feature will be at the Stoneham Theatre beginning next Monday for three days. Siegmann is rated as one of the best character actors in pictures. He has also won fame for himself as a director, in association with D. W. Griffith. Some of his most notable screen appearances were also with Griffith. In "The Birth of a Nation," Siegmann played the part of Silas Lynch, a character role that will live forever. He has also been conspicuous in such Griffith features as "Intolerance," "The Great Love," and "Hearts of the World," and also played the part of Sir Sagamore in "The Connecticut Yankee," a part that has added considerably to an already strongly entrenched popularity.

Mrs. Martha Mason presided at the Conference and Luncheon of the Parent-Teacher Association of Massachusetts at Hotel Victoria, Boston on Friday last.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

As has been the custom for a number of years past, the April meeting of the Winchester Union will be held at the home for the Aged on Kendall street, Friday, April 21, at 3 P. M.

An attractive program has been arranged under the direction of Mrs. Richard Taylor and it will consist of readings and music and probably an amusing little sketch. At the close of the formal program light refreshments will be served and the social hour enjoyed. The home may be said to be 100% W. C. T. U., every member of the family being a member of the White Ribbon Band and all look forward eagerly to this annual reunion with the other members of the organization. Their friends and all others interested are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Last week on Tuesday was held the union meeting of the Western Missionary Society of the First Congregational Church and the Winchester W. C. T. U., when Miss Cora Frances Stoddard of the Scientific Temperance Federation interested many women present by her address on Christian citizenship and her knowledge of matters in the temperance field all over the world enabled her to speak with authority on conditions here and elsewhere, and to reassure those who doubt the success of the enforcement of the 18th Amendment by telling them what it has done in other places and what may be done by the Christian citizenship of Massachusetts which means both men and women who believe in observance of the laws.

EASTER LUNCHEON

The Annual Easter Luncheon will be held at the First Congregational Church, Tuesday, April 18th. Those who wish to reserve tables will call Mrs. Allan Wood, Winchester 276. There will be an entertainment after the luncheon. Tickets may be procured from the following committee: Mrs. Fred Kerr, tel. Win. 27; Mrs. Florence Seales, Win. 1006-M; Mrs. Chas. Green, Win. 1217-M and Parker and Lane, tel. 162.

ATTRACTIVE SALE

The attention of our readers is called this week to the attractive sale of house lots listed by A. Miles Holbrook. Mr. Holbrook has been commissioned to offer for immediate sale about twelve fine building lots at the Highlands. In view of the recent movement of land, coupled with the attractive figures set upon these lots, there is little doubt but what the sale will prove attractive to many home-seekers. All of the lots are of good size and handy to trains and trolleys.

Miss Eunice Jones of the Arnold & Colgate store was given a miscellaneous shower last week at her home in Woburn. She will be married to Mr. William Garrity of Woburn on Easter Sunday evening.

Have you bought your ticket for the Easter Luncheon.

FIRST BREAKFAST IN THEIR NEW HOME

The members of Winchester Council, K. of C., held their first Communion breakfast in the new home of the council on Vine street Sunday morning after receiving Communion in a body at the 8:30 mass at St. Mary's Church, celebrated by Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons. The breakfast was attended by over 200 members of the council and was served in the large assembly hall.

Grand Knight J. Chris Sullivan of the council presided and spoke briefly of the pleasure it gave him to see the council members assembled in their new home. The principal speaker after the breakfast was Hon. John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, who spoke of the necessity on the part of members of the Knights of Columbus to restore New England to its proper place industrially, and of the deplorable condition of Boston. Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald also gave one of his famous solos.

Rev. Fr. Joseph H. Quigley, assistant at St. Mary's Church, spoke in place of the chaplain of the council, Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of St. Mary's Church, who is away at present.

Francis R. Mullin urged an active campaign to raise a fund of $5000 additional to completely equip and finish the renovation of the council's home. District Deputy James Henehey of Woburn spoke on the work of the Knights of Columbus, as did Building Inspector Maurice Dinneen. Past Grand Knight C. T. Daly of Medford Council, K. of C., on the spread of materialistic influences and the necessity of a campaign to combat the materialists in the schools. Eugene P. Sullivan spoke on fraternity and Pres. Edmund A. Goggin of the K. of C. Building Association on the work of the association and the need of further funds with which to properly equip and complete the new home.

Frank Leonard, father of the late Augustus M. Leonard; ex-Selectman Patrick Noonan, father of the late William J. Noonan, and Richard P. Glendon, father of the late William F. Glendon, three members of the council who gave their lives in France during the World War, were guests at the breakfast and sat at the head table with the officers of the council.

Vocal selections were rendered by Thomas Farrill, Past Grand Knight John S. O'Leary, chairman of the breakfast committee, and Stanley Johnson. An orchestra, under the direction of Terrence Cullen, also played.

Miss Eva M. Palmer, teacher of mathematics at the W. H. S., spoke at the Teachers Mathematics Association last Saturday night in Boston. Her subject was "Algebra Talks."

George Munroe of Cross street was struck by an automobile driven by an unknown person in front of 252 Main street, Woburn, on Saturday. He was taken to his home for treatment. The driver of the car did not stop.

THE MEANEST WOMAN

Thomas Dreier printed the following in the April number of his publication The Vagabond:

The husband of the meanest woman I know was ill some time ago, so she went to a generous neighbor and asked him if he had a bottle of wine.

Always willing to be of service to either the sick or the healthy, the neighbor handed over a bottle of wine and the woman went away expressing her gratitude.

A few months later the neighbor planned to move to another part of the town, and the woman he had befriended went about the neighborhood telling everybody that so and so had a stock of liquor and wondering how he would be able to move it to his new house without breaking the law.

All this illustrates that possibly only for purposes of contrast some people have been put into the world to whom it does not pay one to be neighborly.

This woman reminds me of the three fellows who were picked up by a Winchester man one stormy night as he was coming up from the Cape.

Somewhere near Quincy one of them struck the generous man a blow on the head, which twisted the steering wheel out of the driver's hands and resulted in putting the car into a shallow ditch at the side of the road. The timely arrival of another car saved this man from being thrown out and having his car stolen.

Fortunately for those of us who like people, those who are unappreciative of generosity are comparatively few and far between.

A woman who will talk so as to invite trouble for a man generous enough to provide wine for her sick husband and the thug that will sand-bag a motorist who offers him a ride on a stormy night shouldn't be classed with human beings at all. They belong to the reptile family.

No man should be so cautious as to deny himself the countless pleasures that follow upon all generous actions.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Triumph is satisfying only when it leads to further victories.

Most of the perspiration comes to the fellow who started last.

Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these: "An empty bin."

When in doubt mind your own business.

A man doesn't have to have much money to have friends, nor be broke very long to lose them.

A tramp has one big advantage over an automobile—you can't puncture his tire.

Yes Violet, the underlying fundamental of our Town Meetings is "Pep."

That motion to dissolve was exactly seven days too late.

Goodness knows we need those four new schools.

Has anyone considered Manchester Field as a location for that Junior High? Plenty of play space and no grading required.

One citizen proposes that we turn our old school houses into dormitories for our teaching staff and relieve the housing shortage. That's a nice little bungalow down on Bacon street.

The worst of the storm is over. Now let's all get to work and make the inside of these new school buildings correspond in diligence and effort with the outside architectural beauties.

Won't someone propose some sort of a public reception in the near future to renew old friendships and have a sort of festive ceremony to bury the hatchet as it were?

The most effective knock-out blow given the Junior High School in the discussion was that given by our aged and highly respected fellow citizen, Mr. Charles E. Sweet. In a speech of only three minutes, he set forth the folly of building a half-million dollar school building on that narrow ridge of land overlooking the tempestuous Aberjona. Mr. Sweet is 83 years, and many years ago was the Principal of the Wadleigh School. He certainly has not forgotten in his old age to hit a solar plexus blow at what he held to be a weak spot in the discussion. As the Good Book tells us, "a word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

JUST A WORD

It is simple justice and fair play to Mr. May, our highly respected chairman of the S. B. P. Committee, to say that he assured the STAR in no uncertain language that neither he nor any member of his committee had anything to do, either directly or indirectly, with the publication or distribution of those offensive postal cards. We should say not!

THE BALLOT VOTE

Now that the Town has experienced its first overflow meeting and the anticipated condition wherein public interest has brought forth more voters than our Town Hall could accommodate has been realized, there is much talk and speculation regarding just what will be the outcome regarding action on the School Building Program. Outstanding in this curiosity and talk is the generally expressed opinion that the whole matter is now bound to be submitted to the voters in ballot form. Just what is the real situation. To take the first phase discussed, it may be said that the petition, or protest, sent to the Moderator during Monday night's session has no standing whatever. A condition wherein some of our voters would be refused admission to the hall was the basic point which induced the Town to adopt a new form of Town Meeting procedure, and provision for such condition has been made. Now at the first "school" meeting, that of last week, we had an attendance of 903 voters, of which 770 thought fit to vote. As there was room in our hall for 105 additional voters, the particular vote passed at that meeting, wherein the voters decided to erect four grade school buildings, was final so far as the balloting provision is concerned. This week for the first time, we had an overflow meeting. Some hundred or more voters could not enter the hall. It stands, therefore, that action at this last meeting is open for action under our newly accepted provisions provided at least 100 voters deem it advisable, and such action may be placed on a ballot for another vote. This, however, will probably not be done, for the only action of this meeting was to refuse to adopt the recommendations for the building of a Junior High School. Now what of the future—the meeting to come next week? We may assume, of course, that this is to be an overflow meeting and that any action taken by the voters present will be subject to a referendum after the meeting has been finally dissolved. If the motion for reconsideration already presented last Monday falls of passage next Thursday the motion may and probably will be submitted to all the voters for balloting. If reconsideration is refused on the ballot, then the vote for four buildings will stand, but if the balloting favors reconsideration then the original vote will be of no effect and another town meeting will be necessary if any money for school buildings is to be now appropriated. On the other hand if the motion to reconsider should prevail next Thursday, additional votes relating to the construction of school buildings may also be passed at the same time and all such votes will be subject to a referendum on one ballot. If the meeting next Thursday is not attended by at least 1000 voters, any action taken therein will be final.

WHAT TO DO!

That's the question which is occupying the minds of hundreds of voters in this town today. They must make up their mind before next Thursday night. For months we have been in the midst of heated controversy. Public opinion has been nearly evenly divided. We have been laboring under many minds. It is impossible under such circumstances to avoid personal feeling. A difference in opinion always results in criticism, and has in our important school question. We have all had our share, the STAR along with the rest. Some (and apparently the majority) have felt that we were right; others have not. But may we say, that although the occasion seldom arises, we always have and we always will, speak for the best interests of Winchester. We have not hesitated to do so in this instance. Some have felt that we should have remained neutral; that we should have put forth the STAR as a forum, only. This would hardly do; especially when some of our friends decided to create a "post card forum" of their own. So we are all in the same boat, few of us better, and none of us worse, than the rest.

What Have We Done?

We have appointed a committee to consider the matter and listened to their advice. We have heard the other side—largely through the STAR. We have had two town meetings, both undeniably representative; have voted to build four grade schools and voted not to take up or commit ourselves to a Junior High School.

What Is Ahead Of Us?

A reconsideration of our action—called, no doubt from worthy motives and actuated by high ideals. What does this mean? Another town meeting, probably a new committee, and another period of discussion.

How Shall We Sum It Up?

Our S. B. P. Committee recommended an entire program of five school buildings, built now and at once. Our Finance Committee recommended four of these buildings, built two now and two later. Neither carried its point. The result as voted eliminated a large part of the S. B. P. Committee's program and added only the factor of time to the Finance Committee's recommendation. Why not be satisfied?

Everyone Advocated Two Buildings

We failed to hear a voice raised against that. We are not going to assume the enormous debt proposed. We are going to appoint a wise and able building committee; one which will undoubtedly weigh all action and not overlook the possibility of delayed action should indications of liquidation or any other factor make delay advisable. We may still, at any time, call a town meeting and instruct this committee to hold up its program.

It Is Wise To Accept

In most instances, the decision of the people, and we have on record now such decision. It is for our voters to determine next Thursday night whether they desire to reopen this subject and thresh it all out again.

Let Us Accept

The two votes and unite in one purpose—to endeavor to build these much needed schools in a manner which will satisfy all and be a credit to our town.

LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE

We need quick, sharp and prompt action on this school question. The time is past for any more frenzied speeches. Specialists, experts and financial sharps are given leave to withdraw and take back seats. We have had enough of this vintage to nauseate the most pessimistic and hard-boiled town meeting attendant. The unlikely Junior High School campaign is dead as the historic smelt. Cremation has found another victim. Even the S. B. P. Committee has been thrown up the sponge. The Finance Committee, after their arduous services, have ceased to function and are watching the game on the side lines. And now comes the chance for the average voter to lend a hand in the scrap. The vital question is—how shall we vote to advance the best educational interests of the town? And now when the dove of peace and harmony is about to spread her wings, lo! and behold, a well known and influential taxpayer rises in his zeal and throws a wrench into the educational machinery. He urges his fellow citizens to vote to reconsider their action of April 3rd whereby 550 taxpayers voted to build four new and suitable elementary school buildings at a cost of $540,000. With all due respect for the opinion of a substantial citizen of the highest standing and business integrity, we cannot favor such action. The most careless taxpayer in town cannot complain that he has not had every opportunity to study the question from every angle. Twelve per cent of all our voters took the pains to go to the town meeting and voted for the four school buildings. They voted in good faith. We should honor and respect that vote. If the Moderator will give us a building committee of ability and practical experience in building operations, we shall soon have two new school buildings in the Chapin and the Wyman districts. In due time will come suitable buildings for the Rumford and the Gifford-Mystic districts. Say what you will, this town can well afford to take this step. Even if some financial panic or rapid liquidation in supplies or wages should postpone the work for some time, no harm would be done. Every voter who has had the highest educational interests of our town at heart should see to it that the vote recorded on April 3rd is not side-tracked. Let us stand by our guns. Let well enough alone. To vote for reconsideration is to invite all kinds of trouble and delay and hardships in the matter of providing suitable and sanitary buildings for our boys and girls.

STATEMENT FROM MR. MAY

Editor Winchester Star:—

May 1, through your columns, present the following statement on behalf of the Special School Building Program Committee.

In compliance with the vote appointing the Committee, the present school accommodations of the Town have been given long and painstaking study and consideration, and a building program has been presented to the town with appropriate votes for putting it into effect. In so doing, I believe the Committee has served its purpose and has performed the duty prescribed for it by the Town.

At the meeting last Monday evening, the Town decided to do nothing in respect of the Junior High School. So far as the Committee is concerned, this is final; and I speak the minds of all the members of the Committee when I say that no effort will be made by the Committee (and we sincerely hope that none will be made by other voters) to attempt to revive the Junior High School matter this year.

In reference to the four primary school buildings which were authorized by the Town, nothing has occurred to change our view that the Town acted wisely and with the best interests of the children at heart. We hope that no action will be taken to nullify the well considered vote to build the four primary schools.

May I not be pardoned in stating that the Committee has not criticized the motives or methods or misrepresentations of law and facts of opponents to a building program, or slurred those speaking against it, or even attempted to answer the unworthy reflections on the integrity of the Committee in its earnest endeavor to carry the tremendous burden placed on its shoulders, not by its own seeking, in bettering the school accommodations for the children.

In closing, let me repeat that the costs of the buildings (including furnishings and equipment and the services of architects, engineers and field superintendents) are based on figures furnished by Mr. R. Clifton Sturgis, one of the most prominent architects in the State and former chairman of the Boston School House Commission, which in turn are based on contracts let during the past few months. These figures are relied on by the Committee and we believe can be relied on by the Town. There is, therefore, no point in again referring the matter to the School Program Committee. Having given, unsparingly, time and effort on behalf of the Town for the past eight months, and having made its recommendations after mature consideration, the Committee feels that its labors are ended, and its members are unwilling to take up the burden anew.

Marcus B. May

STATEMENT FROM MR. IVES

April 12, 1922.

Editor of the Star.

Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

Since the discussion of the town meeting on April 3d with respect to whether the town would build four or two grade schools, quite a number of people have asked me to explain why I, as moderator, put to a vote the question of two schools first. So far as I can discover there seems to be a feeling that there is a tactical advantage or disadvantage in having a question presented first or last. I cannot see the difference myself, if the voters thoroughly understand the question upon which they are voting, be particularly careful in making clear the question upon which the town was voting. You, Mr. Editor, in an editorial appeared to think that my endeavors in this respect were very clear, but rather unnecessary.

But however that may be, I will explain as briefly as I may the reasons why I put the question as I did.

The original motion, concisely stated, provided for the taking by eminent domain or purchase of four parcels of land for four school houses, the appropriation by bond issue of $390,000 within the debt limit and $150,000 beyond the debt limit, the land proceeds to be expended for the land and for erecting the buildings. A motion was made by the finance committee to amend by substituting an entirely new vote. This vote provided for the taking by eminent domain or purchase of the same four parcels of land, the appropriation by bond issue of $400,000 within the debt limit and the appropriation of nothing beyond the debt limit, the proceeds to be used for the four parcels of land and for the building of two schools.

I never saw either motion until about fifteen minutes before the meeting when Mr. Pike presented both of them to me. Prior to that time I had advised Mr. Chandler of the school building committee that under the town by-law in the case of amendments involving sums of money the largest amount should be put first, but I told him I could not advise whether a particular amendment came under the by-law or not until I had seen it.

The town by-law not only provides that the largest amount shall be put first but also reads that an affirmative vote in favor of the largest amount shall be a negative vote on any smaller amount.

The by-law was intended to provide a method of readily and quickly settling the amount which the town would appropriate under the usual appropriations where the only question involved was the amount of money and the motion did not provide how it should be spent. The proposed amendment offered by the finance committee covered other questions than merely the amount of money—the principal one being whether there should be two schools or four schools built at the present time. When I read the two motions I at once saw that if I considered the by-law applied and put the school committee motion first on the ground that it was the larger amount, an affirmative vote thereon would commit the town to $540,000 and four schools and this amount could not under the by-law be decreased, except by reconsideration. It occurred to me that if the town chose $540,000 and four schools in preference to $400,000 and two schools the finance committee might then desire to offer a new motion of some amount between the two and provide, perhaps, for three schools. If I had invoked the by-law and put the school committee motion first on the ground that it was the larger amount, and that motion had been carried, a new motion to amend such as I describe could not have been made because an affirmative vote on $540,000 would under the terms of the by-law have been a negative vote on any smaller amount.

It will be seen, therefore, from this lengthy explanation that my ruling was based upon the fact that the amendment covered other things than sums of money.

I think too that there is some doubt as to which of the proposed motions provided for the larger amount. The finance committee's motion with respect to the amount of money to be raised within the debt limit was larger than the amount proposed to be raised within the debt limit by the school building committee. It was smaller in total and it was smaller with respect to the amount to be raised outside of the debt limit.

In my opinion the entire matter of the amendment was so complicated, because it involved other questions than what was the larger amount, that the only proper way to treat it was as an ordinary amendment, thus permitting the town to handle the question without embarrassment due to the words in the by-law, "and an affirmative vote thereon shall be a negative vote on any smaller amount."

I might add, if I have not already

CHAPTER I.

What the Butler Found
Marie, the parlor-maid, tossed her head indignantly. She jerked a thumb toward the stairs and the upper regions of the house generally.

"A nice lot," she cried. "Not one of 'em gone home. This joint ain't a fit place for a decent girl. I'll leave it at the end of the month."

The butler looked puzzled. He was, as all butlers should be, tall, portly, bald-headed and English. It is almost impossible to imagine an American butler. He glanced up the stairs, as though expecting the comparative gloom of the hallway landing to yield some sort of confirmation or denial of the girl's statement.

"Sure?" he inquired.
"Of course I'm sure." Indeed, Marie was vehemently so. "Didn't I peck in when I ken down? Dead drunk, all of 'em. And, oh, the smell! Like passin' a corner saloon in Seventh Avenue on a Saturday night before prohibition."

"Well, well," said the butler. "I'll just go an' see what the trouble is."

"Better ring up the Fire Station, an' get 'em to lend you a hose," snorted the parlor-maid.

The man turned on the stairs, apparently wishing to say something. But he repressed the words, whatever they might have been. Repression was a habit he had cultivated of late years. He walked on, treading with the remarkable lightness of step often found in big, heavy men.

The house was a Fifth Avenue mansion, but not typically so, since its architecture was simple and pleasing. It stood on the south corner of a cross-town street not far above the main entrance to Central Park, and its rooms were arranged in the shape of an "L," where the longer part faced the street and the shorter the avenue. In the intersection were the stair-case, elevator, and a series of bathrooms, linen-closets and store cupboards. A gallery gave access to the main rooms on the first floor, and the butler made for the spacious drawing-room, which had three windows facing west and two north. All of these opened on to a balcony, protected by a wrought-iron railing. The door was situated near the south wall.

The first whiff of air from the interior more than justified the parlor-maid's disapproving recollection of the week-end odors of certain parts of Seventh Avenue, although her sarcastic comment had, to some extent, prepared the butler for the extraordinary scene that met his eyes. The blinds were drawn, and clusters of electric lights shone through a slight haze of tobacco smoke. Mostly lying on the floor—three being sprawled awkwardly across a long dining-room table—were thirteen young men, all in evening dress, all apparently sodden with alcohol, and quite insensible.

Neither the parlor-maid's glimpse of this disreputable gathering nor her scornful description of it prevented the butler from being surprised and slightly alarmed. Never before had the members of the singularly-named Ace Club indulged in such an orgy. He knew at once that something out of the common had happened. Being a butler, his first thought flew to the quality of the liquor the revellers had imbibed, but, unless some uncanny chance had intervened, that question could not arise, as every bottle on the table came from one of the best-stocked cellars in New York, and bore a pre-war label.

Yet these well-dressed youngsters seemed to be helplessly intoxicated. Their stertorous breathing and abandoned attitudes gave first evidence of that apparent fact. Then the butler sniffed, not willingly, it is true, but rather with the air of an expert testing some suspected compound.

"That's neither champagne, nor whisky, nor brandy, nor any liqueur that I know of," he muttered. "I wonder what it can be?"

Naturally he sought a more wholesome atmosphere and a better light, there being few things on earth so thoroughly ghastly as an all-night debauch illuminated by electricity struggling against the beams of a summer morning's sun, even if these found but occasional chinks in dark blue blinds. So he rather hurried across the room to the nearest window overlooking Central Park, trying, as he went, to ascertain with sidelong glance whether or not Coleman van Cortlandt, his employer, was as utterly hors de combat as the twelve guests. Yes, so far as he could judge, van Cortlandt's plight was in no wise less creditable than that of any of his friends. Indeed, the host was stretched on his back on the hearth-rug, in front of a fire-place which stood between the two northern windows.

So the butler raised the blind and opened the window both above and below. He had closed the door when he entered the room. Hence, there was not a pronounced draught, but the rush of air was nevertheless wholesome and effective. He went to the second, or centre, window, but was brought up with a distinct shock.

In a large glass bowl, nearly filled with water, and standing on a high but narrow round table, was a plump gold-fish floating on its back—quite dead.

The butler uttered a most un-butler-like expression. This little creature had been his pet for many months. Mechanically his hand went to a pocket in the loose jacket he wore at that hour of the day. He brought forth a paper bag of ant-eggs with which he was wont to feed his tiny friend, which should now be darting in meteoric flight up and down and around the basin in anticipation of a speedy meal. But never again would those opal hues flash from the iridescent body. It was lying motionless, upside down on the surface of the water.

REV. MURRAY W. DEWART TO LEAVE WINCHESTER

Rev. Murray W. Dewart, Rector of the Church of the Epiphany for the past ten years, announced to the wardens and vestrymen of his church Sunday that he has decided to accept a call to Christ Church, Baltimore. He expects now to leave Winchester early next fall.

Rev. Mr. Dewart has had the call under consideration for some time. His departure will be a source of regret to a host of friends, not only in his own church, but throughout the town. During the War he served overseas as Chaplain of the 101st Field Artillery. He came to Winchester from St. James Church, Roxbury.

BECOMING A CITIZEN

One man entered the advanced class at the Chapin School this fall, having previously applied for the record from Washington, which is necessary before filing the application for "second papers." This record he had not received. Weeks went on, and he did not receive it. He gave up hope of getting it, and decided to let the matter drop. However, the teacher felt it was her place to help right here. Upon investigation, she located the difficulty, and after overcoming other difficulties—he seemed to have more than his share—she had all the necessary facts at hand for him.

In the meantime, he had been a faithful, earnest member of the evening class. A little over a week ago, he passed his final examination in Boston, and now will become a citizen. He frankly says the school helped him.

That is the purpose of the school. It is hoped more will find the school a service and a help to them, as they avail themselves of the opportunity to attend.

FISHERMEN ATTENTION!

Last fall the Aborigina Committee placed in the waters of the river at Manchester Field a quantity of adult brook trout. These trout were all carefully marked, and they were placed below the dam at the centre, so that it could be determined if these waters are capable of sustaining fish life.

It is the wish of your committee that you who are good sports catch some of these same trout and present them to the committee.

Prizes are offered for the first three persons bringing in the game. Aborigina Committee.

THE WOMAN'S LEAGUE MEETING

The Woman's League of the First Baptist Church met, on April 6, under the Social Service Department, for the regular sewing meeting.

There was a large attendance and many articles were finished. A delicious luncheon was served by the committee. Mrs. A. O. Weld, chairman.

NEW RESTAURANT TO OPEN

Announcement is made in this issue of the STAR of the opening of the new restaurant on Main street in the Brown-Stanton Block. This restaurant has created great interest, being apparently the first, first-class restaurant to be opened in this town.

The management announces April 19th as the opening date, specifying home cooking of unrivaled quality at moderate prices with the best of service.

Easter cards and novelties at the Star Office.

FIRE LIST

Fires during the past week were as follows:

Saturday—9:40 a. m., grass on Swan road at the rear of Miss Jessie Marsh's house.

Sunday—9:40 a. m., the family of Rev. S. W. Adriance of Mt. Pleasant street smelled smoke in the house and an investigation by the fire department failed to reveal any fire; 6:45 p. m., a still alarm was rung in for burning grass at Forest and Washington streets.

Monday—11:35 a. m., a grass fire at the rear of H. H. Nickerson's estate, 18 Grove street, called out the department; 2:15 p. m., a fire at the rear of Mr. E. C. Starr's residence, 17 Everett avenue, was extinguished; 8:20 p. m., a party of autoists notified the department of a grass fire at Forest and Washington streets, which was extinguished.

Tuesday—At 11:40 a. m. a telephone message from the residence of A. E. Boone, 19 Grove street, called the firemen out for burning grass. At 2:21 p. m. Box 7-571 was sounded for grass and brush on the Irwin farm on Ridge street.

Wednesday—At 6:10 p. m. a telephone message took the department to Woodside road for burning grass and brush near the residence of H. E. Gleason.

BIRTHS

A daughter, Dorothy, was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McMannus of 727 Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Price of 3 Winchester place are the parents of a son, born Tuesday.

A son was born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Doherty of 87 Wendell street.

RIPLEY HOUSE ENTERED

The residence of Mr. Frank L. Ripley on Main street was entered by thieves for the second time this winter last week. Entrance was gained by forcing a window. Investigation reveals that the only thing stolen so far as can be ascertained was Mrs. Ripley's wedding dress.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The presentation of scenes from the "Merchant of Venice" by a group of pupils on Thursday, April 6, was a very praiseworthy performance. The work of the whole cast including those who helped with the stage setting and the light was excellent. Malcolm Stewart's interpretation of Shylock was a remarkable performance for a high school boy, and showed much study of the part. Fred Cole as Launcelot Gobbo delighted the audience, and in his stage business and facial expressions showed real ability as a comedian. Much of the success and especially the smoothness of the performance are due to the efficient management of Malcolm Jones.

The High School Girls' inter-class basket ball games ended this week. To the surprise of everyone the Sophomores walked away with the championship. They played a remarkably fine game both in passing and shooting, and far out-classed the other teams.

The deciding game with the Freshmen was played Tuesday. The contest was close and exciting with the Sophomores more than two points in the lead. However, after a hard battle the upper class won by the score of 18 to 16.

The standing for the classes is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Juniors	1	2
Seniors	0	2

High School Baseball Notes

The High School baseball team will open its schedule tomorrow at Reading. The boys have been practicing for three weeks for this opening game and are in excellent condition for this time of year. Mathews will probably be Mr. Bond's choice for pitcher in the opening game.

On Wednesday, April 19th, Melrose High School will play at Winchester. This will be the first league game of the year for these teams, as both teams are unknown as far as this season is concerned, no forecast should be attempted, but with Mathews in the box the Winchester players should set Melrose a fast pace.

Mr. Bond has made a cut in the squad which now numbers 21 men. Mathews will probably be called on for most of the hard work in the pitching department. It is probable, however, that this year he will be relieved of his duties by Glenn Kendrick, Francis Tansey, and John McKeering who are showing good form on the mound. Kelly and Fitzgerald are quite evenly matched for the backstop position. Kelly is back at his old place at first base, but his batting eye is weak, and he will have to work hard, for Kendrick is showing him for the position. Second base is still undecided. Gigliotti, last year's veteran, has been unable to attend practice regularly, and as one or two second-string men are showing up well and attending practice every day, the situation is still unsettled. Captain Jeff Flaherty has been alternating between shortstop and his regular position in left field so as to have a man ready for the position now held by Foley. Joe Tansey is playing at third. There is room for improvement in his handling of grounders and in his running out of batted balls, but his throws to first are swift and sure and bid fair to cut off many a would-be base-runner.

In the outfield Captain Flaherty, Gray, F. Tansey, McKeering, and Winer are fighting for places, with Flaherty and Gray practically sure of their positions. Of course if Captain Flaherty is moved to shortstop it will make room for another outfielder, and McKeering and F. Tansey are improving fast in both velding and batting.

CALUMET DINNER TOMORROW NIGHT

The annual meeting and dinner of the Calumet Club is to be held at the club house tomorrow evening, opening at 6:30. A large attendance is anticipated and a most entertaining evening is promised.

Joseph Golden had one of his horses die on Main street Wednesday. According to report the animal suddenly staggered in the street and fell, being struck by an automobile truck at the same time. It is said that the truck, however, did not kill the animal.

In the first game of the season Winchester High lost to Rindge Technical School 5 to 2 on Manchester Field, Tuesday afternoon. The Winchester team has the material for a good team this season and under the coaching of Rufus Bond should develop rapidly.

It is of interest to note that the Town of Ipswich has petitioned the Legislature for the passage of an act to allow it to vote by ballot in the same manner as we in Winchester are allowed to do under our special provision. Evidently Ipswich voters regard our method of handling crowded town meeting as the best yet put forth.

Mr. Lloyd Goddu was hurriedly operated upon at the Beverly Hospital last Monday night for appendicitis. The operation was successful and the patient is recovering rapidly. Mr. Goddu, the son of Mr. Napoleon Goddu, married Miss Louise Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Alexander of Lakeview road.

Arrangements were completed Wednesday for the engaging of Mr. Thomas H. Lloyd as steward at the Winchester Country Club. Mr. Lloyd has served as steward at many prominent clubs, including the Beverly Yacht Club on Buzzards Bay. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Longmore, who have cared for the club for 19 years, are going to New Hampshire, where they have a farm.

Miss Irene B. Bedell, formerly a resident of this town, died at Arlington on Wednesday morning. She was 81 years of age. For many years she resided in the house, since torn down, at the corner of Washington street and the Parkway. She leaves no immediate relatives. Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at Hartwell's undertaking rooms, Arlington, at 1:30 o'clock. The remains will be taken to Forest Hills for cremation.

Monday was the hottest day of the Spring and the second hottest day of the weather Bureau has record of. During the larger part of the day the glass stood above 80, and for two hours during the early afternoon was at 85 in Winchester square. Tuesday was a warm day too, but an east wind during the afternoon rapidly cooled things off to more reasonable temperature.

There arrived here last Saturday a 3 1/2 ton Packard truck, equipped with a dump body and hydraulic hoist. This is to be used by the Highway Department. It is one of the many army trucks apportioned among the States and is loaned to the Town by the State Highway Department, being secured through the efforts of Selectman George E. Willey and Mr. Arthur A. Dean of the Highway Commission. This truck will prove a very valuable asset to the Highway Department in conducting its work.

TO SETTLE A CONTROVERSY

Mr. Editor:

In your last issue there was a letter from Mr. Harrington criticizing the Board of Selectmen for their action in appointing Mr. Clark acting superintendent of streets. Now I hold no brief from the selectmen, but Mr. Harrington, why not come out in the open and tell the citizens at large why you are so much interested in this appointment?

WINCHESTER AND ITS SCHOOLS

To the Editor of the Star:

At the last town meeting intentional discourtesy to say the least was shown in the debate to a member of the school committee and to others who had the temerity to suggest that perhaps Winchester ought to make as adequate provision for its pupils as progressive communities in other parts of the country do. But it is not necessary to cite what towns and cities west of the Hudson are doing to be convinced that Winchester has failed to keep abreast of the times in its school facilities and that such petty criticism is futile.

During the past half year the writer has had occasion to survey quite intimately a considerable number of the towns and cities in the Metropolitan district. I have yet to find one town which in general is as attractive as Winchester. But also I have yet to find one which has not built several, usually half a dozen or more, really impressive and modern school buildings. I have yet to find a town near Boston which is not proud and glad that it has at least a large proportion of really good buildings.

It goes without saying that these towns intrinsically are no better able to pay for these buildings than Winchester. I will not say that I have not seen buildings as poor as some of ours. I have. But I have not yet been in a town to study it which has not several grade or elementary buildings better than our best, the Wadleigh. Nor have these towns been afraid as we seem to be, to face the erection of several buildings at the same time. Likewise the majority of the communities which I have had occasion to describe have Junior High Schools and count them as features of recognized value. One community at least is erecting a Junior High School in a relatively undeveloped portion of the town, partly for the very purpose of bringing more quickly an increase in population to that section. To go a little further afield New Bedford has proved that if schools are planned first, families and taxable property follow inevitably.

Frequently reference is made to the Wadleigh School building as being our best primary structure. It is, but it is the best because of disgracefully poor competition on the part of our other primary buildings. When it was built it was good indeed. So we tend to think that it must still be good. At the town meeting it was said that one of the schools would be safe for three times its present life span. I do not doubt it. So also would the homes in which we lived 30 and 40 years ago when these schools were built or some of them. But we rightly choose to insist upon better standards than prevailed then in our homes. Are we going to refuse it to our school children? Surely our schools will stand for decades to come and the rooms are big enough for classes far larger than a teacher should have. We can use them longer. But why should we? Most of us could use our old automobiles longer but we don't, speaking broadly.

Winchester chooses to maintain roads that have won a reputation far and wide. Winchester has two good modern church structures. It is planning to build two more. It has greatly enlarged its golf club buildings. It has a new police station and fire house. It even has a rather good town stable. But we know its schools are not creditable to the town. We have known it for years, yet we propose perhaps to delay any real action for another year or more. We quibble about sites as though any site could be proof to all criticism. Every site proposed has been criticized. It is even urged that we should not build all four elementary schools because many streets are without sidewalks. But when it was proposed to spend money for sidewalks we were told that we should not do it because there were more important matters for the town to spend funds upon, such as schools. Are we to be condemned to chasing around a vicious circle?

To build four grade schools will mean more than doubling our present town debt. It will increase our taxes. But we do not hesitate to send our children to summer camps at a cost of several hundred dollars and we do it partly because our schools do not have modern facilities that we really recognize as being essential. Our tax rate is relatively low and at present our debt is also. Last night I made some comparisons with one particular nearby town. I found that we spend relatively more than this town for our roads, but far less both for our schools and our library. Even with an addition of $540,000 for four schools our debt will be far less than that of this town. Yet the town in question is proposing to erect a new high school and other municipal buildings. Have we in fact lost all courage and initiative?

It is claimed that we will have no increase in our High School enrollment. All experience shows that each decade more children in proportion go to High School. Our population has not increased rapidly during the past 10 years partly because of poor school buildings and partly because of war conditions. From 1910 to 1920 the greatest increase was in places very near to Boston such as Everett and Chelsea. In the last 10 years the increase has been in the next farther out, Medford, Arlington, Belmont and Watertown. The law of growth for Boston will bring the wave out in a future not far off to Winchester and towns in its relative belt. It is idle to believe otherwise, and to argue that a Junior High School will mean only a half filled High School building.

Boiled down the facts are clear. Winchester needs new schools. It has needed them for years. We know this to be true. We also know that we can and should afford them. All our other expenditures both private and public are out of keeping with the claim that we cannot at this time do the thing that we should do. As we drive by auto through surrounding towns we cannot but see that Winchester must make a poor impression upon the stranger who drives through ours so far as schools are concerned.

And sometimes the stranger might even be persuaded to come here, but he certainly will not if he is particular about schools for his children. James P. Heaton.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

There was a good attendance at the Annual Meeting last Monday, and the list of officers and chairman of committees, as given in last week's Star, was elected almost unanimously, the club year starts out with a spirit of cordiality and ambition which prophesies success.

The June Biennial will be held this year in Chautauque N. Y. The following ladies were chosen as delegates from this club, Mrs. Wm. S. Emerson, Miss Cora Quimby and Mrs. Pauline Buckley.

The yearly report of the Recording Secretary Mrs. Chester Smith, gave a very clear idea of the club work of the past season, and was listened to with much pleasure.

Our very efficient chairman of the Room committee Mrs. Apsey gave the last card party of the season on Thursday. Tickets were sold for twenty-five tables, ice cream was served, and the following ladies won very desirable prizes, Mrs. W. F. Prime, Mrs. Wm. E. Beggs, Mrs. P. C. Simon, and Mrs. Chester Smith. These card parties have been very successful, they will be looked for another season.

The Entertainment on Monday opened with violin solos by Harold S. Spaulding, a young musician of promise. He has warmth of tone, sympathetic expression, and a musical understanding. His selections were well chosen, and the accompaniments played by Mrs. Watkins, the chairman of the new Music committee, were of great value in his interpretation of the music.

The lecturer, Edward Howard Griggs, is always welcome in the Fortnightly. His subject "For what do we Live" was treated in his usual scholarly manner. Many of the beautiful ideas which he expressed in his optimistic idealism would be well for us to treasure in our minds as help in these troublous times of doubt and confusion. "One half of all the world knows accurately has been gained in the last one hundred years, and what the world knows everybody can know who will make the effort to learn." "Life means growth in knowledge and love, the humblest home may know all that love means." "Any faith by which one can lead a good life is thereby justified." "The gift of your best self is the most worth while thing you can give mankind." "Love does help even when one can do nothing, it changes the spiritual equation."

For the tea which followed the lecture, Mrs. Gamage, chairman of the Social committee arranged the tables in club colors, with the same artistic grace which has characterized all of our social affairs this season.

Much needed new seats have been erected on Manchester Field at the ball diamond.

TAKE GUDE'S PEPTO-MANGAN

It is the Safe and Reliable Tonic Used by Physicians for 30 Years

There are "new styles" even in medicines. A new "fad" comes, is popular for a while, and then fades out of public view. A remedy that has stood the test for thirty years must have remarkable merit and cannot be called a "fad." Such is Gude's Pepto-Mangan, originated by Dr. A. Gude over a quarter century ago, which has helped many thousands of people back to good health by improving the blood. Pepto-Mangan is an iron tonic. It contains iron in a special form easily absorbed by the system. It puts color into the lips and cheeks and improves the entire body by improving and enriching the blood. It is sold by druggists in both liquid and tablet form. If you want to be well and strong and look fine and healthy, take Gude's Pepto-Mangan.—Adv.

ST. MARY'S EASTERTIDE FESTIVAL

The members of St. Mary's Parish are looking forward with great interest to the coming Eastertide Entertainment and Dancing Party to be held in the Town Hall, Tuesday evening, April eighteenth.

The various committees, under the direction of Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons, have been working hard during the past few weeks and have spared no effort to make this the banner event of the season.

The decorations, Japanese in character, are to be the same as for the Pop Concert of the evening before. The entertainment will be furnished by well known artists of Winchester and neighboring towns. Dancing will be enjoyed until one o'clock, the music being furnished by Scribner's Orchestra.

Great interest is centered in the Hone Chest which is to be given away at this party.

NEW LODGE OF ELKS INSTITUTED MAY 10th

On March 27th dispensation was granted by W. W. Mountain, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks for the organization of a lodge of Elks in Winchester. The Deputy of this district has announced his intention to institute this new lodge on Wednesday, May 10th, at 6:30 p. m.

A meeting of those who have signified their intention of becoming charter members is to be held in Lyceum Hall next Tuesday, April 18, at 8 p. m., at which meeting all candidates shall pay their deposit. Brother Elks who are to transfer to the new lodge must make application to their respective lodges for a transfer or demit at once.

Other business is to be brought before the meeting, and as the time is short in which to prepare for the big meeting, a full attendance is desired.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SALEM WILDER

Funeral services for Mrs. Salem Wilder, formerly a well known resident of this town, who died on Tuesday at Winston-Salem, N. C., are to be held at the residence of Mrs. Wallace P. Palmer, 195 Forest street, on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Mrs. Wilder was 88 years of age. She resided here for many years, having made her home in Winston-Salem for the greater part of the last 20 years. She leaves no immediate family.

The funeral services are to be conducted by Rev. Henry E. Dodge of Everett, formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church of Winchester, assisted by Rev. Clifton H. Walcott, present pastor of the church. The interment will be in Wildwood cemetery.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

Wherever gas is obtainable—and that is nearly everywhere nowadays—the gas range has taken first place in the kitchen. With the advance in modern conveniences, oven insulation, equipment and sanitary construction, there is no method of cooking more efficient for all purposes than gas. Even in remote country districts many householders cook by gas, depending upon shipments of gas in tanks.

As for the big cities, who could imagine them without gas ranges. Try to picture one of our ten-story multiple apartment houses with an old-fashioned coal stove in each apartment and you will realize how revolutionary has been the effect of using gas for cooking.

Talk about the servant problem! Bad as it is for most of us, how much worse it would be if we lacked this sanitary and convenient means of obtaining heat at the moment it is needed.

The gas range has not only eliminated the irksome work of carrying and feeding fuel, but it has made possible cheerful, dainty, alluring kitchens in contrast to the dull and uninviting ones of a few years ago.

WINCHESTER ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER

Winchester Royal Arch Chapter, which has been working under dispensation since its institution last May, received its charter from the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Massachusetts Friday evening. The ceremonies of constitution, following a banquet at which a large number of Royal Arch Masons sat down, were performed at the Masonic Apartments on Mount Vernon Street by Most Excellent Curtis Chipman, Grand High Priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Massachusetts, assisted by a distinguished suite of Royal Arch Masons. The oration, tracing Masonry from the remote times when the Pyramids were built, was given by the Reverend R. Perry Bush, Grand Chaplain.

The charter membership list of Winchester Chapter contains the names of one hundred and six Royal Arch Masons of Winchester and vicinity, a number probably without precedent hitherto. Embarked in the list are the names of men prominent in the business and professional life of Winchester and Boston.

Under dispensation about two score Blue Lodge Masons have taken the capital degrees. Thus the Chapter starts out with a membership of nearly one hundred and fifty.

The officers who were installed at constitution are: Excellent Percy W. Witherell, High Priest; Companion Harris M. Richmond, King; Companion Ernest W. Hatch, Scribe; Companion Harry W. Brown, Treasurer; Excellent Amasa Harrington, Secretary; Companion T. Grafton Abbott, Chaplain; Companion John Challis, Associate Chaplain; Companion Harold E. Melzar, Captain of the Host; Companion John Maddocks, Principal Sojourner; Companion Maynard E. Wheeler, Royal Arch Captain; Companion Kingman P. Cass, Master of the Third Veil; Companion George H. Jenkins, Master of the Second Veil; Companion Benjamin F. Hartwell, Master of the First Veil; Companion William W. Earl, Senior Steward; Companion Arthur S. Hollins, Junior Steward; Companion F. Percyval Lewis, Organist; Companion Dana C. Pickering, Tyler.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL RETAINED

April 12, 1922
To the Editor of the Star:

Dear Sir:
Two rumors have been going about in the north end of the town that need to be corrected. One is that the Washington School will be done away with. The other is that children east of Washington street will be sent to the Chapin School, if present plans go thru. I wish to reassure parents in the district that so far as I know no such plans have been considered by the School Committee.

The plan is to retain the Washington School for pupils of that district, taking care of as many of them as the building will hold. Children east of Highland avenue not attending the Washington will continue to go to the Highland, Gifford, Prince and Wadleigh buildings.

Very truly yours,
John R. Fauser,
Superintendent of Schools.

THE NEW PALESTINE AND "GREATER JERUSALEM"

Palestine soon may take its place among industrial nations, and ancient Jerusalem may become a humming mart of modern trade, if projects in contemplation are realized.

One such project is that of building a tunnel from the Dead Sea to the Mediterranean, passing under Jerusalem, which would utilize the variation in levels to provide water power for stations along the way.

A second suggestion is to build a new industrial zone about Jerusalem, while the ancient city is preserved intact.

In this connection the National Geographic Society has issued, from its Washington headquarters, the following bulletin, based on a communication to the Society by John D. Whitings.

Few realize that the manners and customs which prevailed in the Holy Land in Biblical days are still unchanged, even after an interval of 3,000 years.

The present day villages are located, as a rule, either on the tops of hills, originally for protection, or near some spring or source of water. Many are built upon the foundations of dwellings whose origin dates back thousands of years. There does not exist a single example of a peasant village that has been founded in modern times.

Many have pictured Mary and Joseph, after arriving at the "inn" at Bethlehem, and finding no room, being forced to turn into some barn built of timber, with lofty roof, hay mows, wooden mangers, and stalls for cattle and sheep. Such a stable has been the subject of many medieval and modern artists, but it does not present a really true picture. Let us consider the old-style village home that is most common in the districts around Jerusalem and Bethlehem for that will give us a better idea of what happened on that first Christmas day.

The village streets are crooked, narrow and unpaved. As in many of the countries of the Orient, farmers live close together for protection, and not on their lands; therefore in the villages there are no open fields or gardens, but house is next to house, except for the small walled-in inclosures or sheepfolds through which one generally passes in going into a dwelling.

The house itself consists of one large room, usually square. The walls, from 3 to 4 feet thick, are built of blocks of stone roughly dressed and laid in mortar, roofed over with a dome, also of stone. The outside of this roof is covered with a coating of mortar made of clay, which, on being pressed with a small stone roller or pounded with a board, becomes hard and compact enough to shed the rain.

A steep, outside staircase, unprotected by any railing, is built up to the roof, for the surface must be repaired at times. The flat, open space of the roof also forms a handy place on which to dry figs and raisins, and during the hot weather the family may sleep there at night.

Entering the door, we find that about two-thirds of the space is devoted to a raised masonry platform, some 8 to 10 feet above the ground and supported by low-domed arches. This raised space, called, el mastaby, is the part occupied by the family, while the lower part is used for the cattle and flocks. A few narrow stone steps lead up to the el mastaby, and a couple of small windows pierce the wall, high up from the ground. These, as a rule, are the only means of admitting light and furnishing ventilation to the entire house.

On one side is an open fireplace, with a chimney running through the wall and terminating on the roof, often in an old water jar, whose bottom has been knocked out, and so becomes a sort of smokestack. Many houses have no chimneys at all; small holes through the wall, or the windows, furnish the only exit for the smoke which on winter days fairly fills the house.

The furniture is very simple—a crudely decorated bed chest, a straw mat, or heavy woven woolen rug which covers part of the floor and mattresses with thick quilts and hard pillows, which at night are spread on the floor. The cooking utensils are few in number—one clay cooking pot, a couple of large wooden bowls in which to knead the dough and a couple of smaller ones used to eat from.

Having inspected the dwelling portion, which at once is kitchen, storeroom, bed-room and living-room, we descend the steps into what the natives call the stable.

Below the el mastaby, or raised platform, just described, among arches so low that a man can scarcely walk erect, are the winter quarters of the goats and sheep. To shut the flocks in, these arched entrances are obstructed with bundles of brush used as firewood for the winter. The rest of the floor space, which is open to the ceiling, is devoted to the few work cattle and perhaps a donkey or camel. Around the wall are primitive mangers for the cattle, built of rough slabs of stone placed on edges and plastered up with mortar.

Often the owner makes a small raised place on which he sleeps at night to keep better watch over the newly born lambs, lest in the crowded quarters some get crushed or trodden down by the older ones. Here he often sleeps by preference on a cold night, for he says the breath of the animals keeps him warm.

CALUMET AFTERNOON WHIST

The Ladies' afternoon whist held at the Calumet Club last Friday, April 7th was most successful.

There were 23 tables of players. The prizes were won by the following ladies: Mrs. Herbert Goff, Mrs. J. B. Pendleton, Mrs. W. H. Mulholland, Mrs. A. S. Hollins, Mrs. C. E. Young and Mrs. H. A. Goddard.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. R. H. Perkins, Mrs. A. E. Knight and Mrs. F. H. Farnham.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Edwards are the parents of a daughter, born last week at the Winchester Hospital.

We clean—we serve—we please. Let the phone carry us the order. Halliday's, Winchester 528.

GIBBS WAS FED, ANYWAY

Judging by the following article which appeared on the first page of the April number of The Vagabond, one of Thomas Dreier's publications, Winchester is not such a cold, chilly place. It is quite evident that some of our citizens have a real genius for hospitality:

On a raw sort of a day in the winter, with the ground covered with snow, Gibbs Mason, the illustrator, came out from Boston without telling us that he was coming. On that day we were bumming around Boston with the Blunts, eating expensive meals at expensive hotels and enriching the theatre ticket agencies, so we were not around to give Gibbs the welcome he deserves.

He peeked in the windows, but was frightened away by what looked to him like an electric burglar alarm, so after wandering around the house, trying to get a good view of the lake which he might imprison in his sketchbook, he walked on down the street, where he was greeted by one of our neighbors.

This neighbor led Gibbs into the old barn out of the cold, wet snow and told him to work away in that dry place.

When the sketch was finished, Gibbs took it over to this neighbor's house and—well, let Gibbs tell the rest of this story:

"Well, they both raved over it and asked me to come back into the kitchen. Wouldn't I like to have some tea? No, I prefer coffee, but don't bother to make any especially for me, as I'm not thirsty or hungry."

"Well, you know you can't lie to a woman and get away with it—not every time; so before I knew it there was bacon sizzling in the skillet on the kitchen stove, and coffee in the making right before my eyes, and I had to warm my feet at the grand entrance to the oven, all the time that sketch was being discussed and commented upon as the most wonderful thing."

"They had eaten some time earlier, so I was to discover that only one plate was set at the table in the dining room and, in addition to the bacon and the coffee, there was a big boiled potato and a bigger gob of baked beans (this last after I had been asked if I liked baked beans) and some nice peaches."

"There were apologies for such scanty fare, but I was assured it was all they had, because they had been caught by the holiday without any provisions and had themselves to be satisfied with a pick-up dinner."

"I enjoyed it all, ate it all to the music of conversation by Mrs. and of the violin by Mr. (he made the violin with his own hands, and it is a fine looking instrument and he can play it very well.) They both played together, violin and piano, while I whistled for an hour or two after the eats. Then, it being still some time before I could get a train back to Boston, I volunteered to make a portrait sketch of Mrs. with the same color pencils, and we had much pleasant conversation while I sketched for another hour or so, getting a good likeness of Mrs. in colors which was very much liked. Then it was time for me to go and get my train."

Just think of all that hospitality being extended to a stranger right here in our somewhat conservative town of Winchester! Gibbs will store this away in his book of memories and will give thanks to the immortal gods that we were not at home."

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

There is a great deal of truth in the saying, "He that withholdeth corn" shall be cursed. We do not make reference particularly to the curse of an uncharitable conscience, for he is cursed in a double sense. While the inner man is grading him, the cries of those in distress enter his darkest retreats, and causes his guilty soul to tremble at its own littleness and degradation.

Not every Winchesterite that gives is blessed. It must be the liberal giver. There are those to whom the words of Pollok apply with more than common force:

"On charitable lists, these triumphs which told The public ear who had in secret done The poor a benefit, and half the aims They told of took themselves to keep them sounding."

He blessed his name, more pleased to have it there Than in the Book of Life."

The Winchesterite that gives only to be called a giver—only to have his charities published to the world, gives where giving is no virtue at all, and takes his givings, in the majority of cases, from the very earnings of those to whom he should give, gives to the intent that he may boast of it in his next exhortation to the less aspiring, but better part of his neighbors, is a long way from being a liberal giver and though his unholy pride may find gratification in hearing the comments of the interested amongst his fellowmen, his acquisitiveness will cause him more disturbance than enough to balance the favor.

What a vast distance there is between such a man, and "The man of great benevolence, Who pressed these closely to his glowing heart. And to thy gentle bidding, made his feet Swift minister, of all mankind, his soul Was most in harmony with heaven as one Sole family of brothers, sisters, friends. One in their origin, one in their rights To all the common gifts of Providence, And in their hopes, their joys and sorrows one. He viewed the universal human race. He needed not a law of State, to force Grudging submission to the law of God; The law of love was in his heart alive: What he possessed, he counted not his own. But like a faithful steward, in a house Of public aims, what freely he received, He freely gave; distributing to all The helpless, the last mite beyond his gift. Temperate, sumptuous, and reckoning still the gift But justice, due to want; and so it was: Although the world, with compliment not ill Applied, adorned it with a fairer name. Nor did he wait till to his door the voice Of supplication came, but went abroad, With food as silent as the starry dew, In search of misery, that proved unseen, And would not ask."

The Spectator.

"THE HOUSE OF PERIL"

Thirteen Men Around a Table—Twelve Unconscious, One Strangely Killed—A Strange Odor in the Air—Why Did the Criminal Kill the Goldfish?

The great grief of Detective Furneaux's life was that people invariably refused to believe that he was a detective, upon first acquaintance. It was only after his extraordinary experiences in solving the mystery of "The House of Peril" that he received the recognition due him. With the physical agility of "Old Sleuth," he combined much of the mental acuteness of Sherlock Holmes. Yet he had many qualities, combined with a gift of humor, in which he differed from both these famous predecessors.

Furneaux, by the way, is the hero of the most thrilling detective story of this generation. He is the dominating figure in Louis Tracy's sensational new detective story, "The House of Peril," publication of which begins in next Sunday's Boston Post, to be continued each day thereafter until completed.

The editor of the Post was "tipped off" to the extraordinary fascination of this story before it had ever been submitted to any publication either here or in Europe. A trusted representative was sent to read the manuscript. He wired back:

"The best detective story I ever read!"

The Post paid a very large sum—many thousands of dollars—for the privilege of introducing this story to its readers before it should appear anywhere else in book or magazine form. Further, to show how highly the Post values this prize, arrangements were made with the brilliant artist, Frederic Dorr Steele, whose pictures of Sherlock Holmes are familiar all over the world, to illustrate "The House of Peril," especially for the Post. Those illustrations, in themselves, make the publication a noteworthy event.

Those who have read the manuscript of Mr. Tracy's story predict that it will make as great a "hit" with the story-loving public as did A. Conan Doyle's "Study in Scarlet." The reader is introduced in the first chapter into the room where the "Ace Club" has indulged in a night of revelry. Around a table were the forms of thirteen men. Twelve of them were unconscious. The thirteenth was dead—mysteriously killed. A strange odor filled the air, in a bowl there floated a dead goldfish. Here is mystery enough to stir the pulse of the most jaded reader of detective fiction. Not alone in the plight of the thirteen men around the table, but in the unique touch of the apparently trivial episode of the bowl. In the words of the discoverer of the extraordinary scene: "I am forgetting the goldfish. Poor thing! Why should it have been killed, too?"

Those who desire to follow the unfolding of this drama will find the

Why the $10.90 USCO is better than just a $10.20 tire

On November 10, 1921, the 30 x 3 1/2 "USCO" was marked to sell for $10.90.

This odd and closely figured price was the lowest quotation ever made on any tire of known standards.

A genuine pioneering step by the makers of U. S. Tires.

Now comes a lot of different $10.90 tires being rushed into the market. "Special" tires. "New" treads.

Unfamiliar to look at—with perhaps an atmosphere of having been made to meet the price.

But the "USCO" still occupies a place by itself. A good old standby on millions of cars for years. Better than it ever was.

Still putting the emphasis on honest quality, even if it does sell for only ten dollars and ninety cents.

The $10.90 tire with the record of a proven product.

The tire that people still buy for the dignity of its quality regardless of the low amount they pay.

TOWN REJECTS JUNIOR HIGH

Big Vote Turns Down Project -- Move Made to Reconsider Action on Four Grade Schools -- Next Session to be held Thursday Night -- New Votes Planned

Last Monday night, for the first time in its history, the Town of Winchester experienced a town meeting wherein all of the voters desiring to take part could not be admitted to the hall. About 100 disappointed men and women were barred from entering, much to their dissatisfaction. To voice their feelings they dispatched by Chief of Police McIntosh a written protest to the Moderator over the condition.

This feature, in itself a decided novelty in town affairs, created little interest, so important was the matter under discussion inside the hall. Excellent speeches were made by prominent gentlemen, interest and wit ran high and the voters were keyed up to excitement pitch as the final decision on the much advocated and equally condemned "Junior High" was reached.

The meeting voted by an overwhelming majority not to entertain thoughts at this time of erecting the building. By an equally large majority it voted not to dissolve after this matter was settled, and had the motion presented to reconsider the vote of last week to build four grade schools been put before the meeting, it is unquestioned but what action to that end would have been equally emphatic.

would come next year, at which time a two-thirds vote would be necessary to pass it. He desired to learn how the Town regarded the matter for the benefit of legislative action. He spoke on the present school conditions, largely with reference to the present Wadleigh building and reviewed the situation in general.

For the Finance Committee Mr. Edward H. Kenerson stated that his committee opposed any action tending at this time to advocate a Junior High.

Chairman Robert F. Guild of the School Committee then introduced Mr. William A. Barber, and the majority of those present had their first acquaintance with our new school committeeman. Mr. Barber opened by thanking the voters for their recent support at the polls and cited his experience in qualifying him to discuss the subject. He did not agree with Mr. Kenerson, nor the Editor of the STAR, and took decided exceptions to the address on Junior High Schools by Mr. L. C. Ward before the superintendents' meeting of the National Educational Association, recently printed by the STAR. He illustrated his advocacy of the Junior High by incidents occurring during his teaching experience and outlined the fundamental principle of the matter.

Mr. Hall Drives Home a Point

desire to vote on the subject. Mr. Laraway had such a feeling, although he stated that he had enjoyed the meeting fully as much as he would have a movie show—and at much less expense.

Mr. Clarence A. Warren made a last appeal for the school and short remarks were made by Mr. Charles E. Swett and Mr. James Fitzgerald in opposition, after which the question was put, being lost on a yea and nay vote.

At this point Chairman May moved to dissolve, his motion being greeted with cries of "no" from various parts of the hall. An attempt was made to argue the matter, but Moderator Ives ruled that it was not debatable. A yea and nay vote was taken, the Moderator of the speakers were rather long-winded and would have undoubtedly have pressed their point home more favorably had they shortened their debate. Nevertheless the average voter felt well repaid for the three hours spent in consideration of this important matter.

TOWN MEETING APRIL 20

Editor of the Star:

Be sure and come down—the water is warm—boiling. I believe the conservative, sane, well-wishers of Winchester's best interests will come to the front and tell us "why." I have asked "why." The Committee has not answered. They simply tell us our school buildings are rotten or worse, and that we must build when and where they say, and insist in forcing their views. I believe they have done their job "well." I also believe that the citizens who do not see things just as they do should have a fair chance to express their views without being called to order by a school committeeman or suggestions from the boss to adjourn. When I want to adjourn or dissolve I will say so plainly and loud enough to be understood.

I am in favor of spending a large sum of money in the near future for school buildings. I want it done in a sane, business-like manner. I want the experience gained in building one school to count for something toward building the second, third, fourth, fifth, and so on. Experience has taught me this is good practice.

What community could give enough time to this large rush job to assure the best results? They tell us our High School was not built right. I remembered how the committee labored from cellar to roof. They gave their time cheerfully. Likewise the Mystic, Chapin and Wadleigh. Suppose they had all been built at once! Details and economy would be lost sight of.

Build, but why not sanely.

J. A. Laraway

PATRICK NELSON

Patrick Nelson, an old and respected resident of this town died at his home, 253 Swanton street, on Tuesday in his 78th year. He was a native of Ireland and had spent the last 53 years of his life in Winchester. When a young man he followed the trade of a currier, but for 25 years he was employed by the Highway Department, being pensioned by the town a year ago. His wife, Mrs. Annie Kelley, died three years ago, and he leaves no immediate relatives.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at St. Mary's Church, conducted by Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons. The pall bearers were Messrs. George Nelson of Woburn, John McCarron, John Cassidy, Patrick Doherty and Mark Kelley of this town and Michael McLoughlin of Roxbury. The burial was in Calvary cemetery.

SELECTMAN WILEY APPOINTED FUEL ADMINISTRATOR

In accordance with the request of the State Fuel Administrator, sent to the Selectmen this week, the Board has appointed chairman George E. Wiley Fuel Administrator of this town for the period of the coal strike. There is now no control of prices or distribution for either anthracite or bituminous coal. Therefore as a precautionary measure fuel administrators are being appointed throughout the State to act during the temporary emergency.

In spite of any artificial stimulus that coal prices may receive from speculators or interference with production, immutable economic pressure will result in lower prices for coal. The public should bear this fact in mind and not hoard coal at the present time; hoarding will result in distress to some people and ultimate financial loss to all.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Inspector of Buildings has issued the following permits for the past week:

W. L. Hanson. Foundations for new wood frame dwelling on Kenwin road, 34x24 feet.

Caroline H. Dow of 319 Main street. Extensive alterations and renewals to houses at 331 Main street and on Herrick street.

Mrs. Flora Bishop of 43 Washington street. Steel garage at same address, 8½x8½ feet.

WINCHESTER SAVINGS BANK

The Annual Meeting of Corporators of the Winchester Savings Bank will be held in the banking rooms, Wednesday, April 26, 1922 at 7:45 o'clock p. m., to elect Trustees and Officers and to transact such other business as may legally come before the meeting.

H. WADSWORTH HIGHT, Jr., April 14th, 1922. Clerk.

RED CROSS

The Knitting Committee report that 44 pairs of stockings and 8 sweaters have been handed in to Headquarters this month.

Mrs. Herbert Maynard who is chairman of the Sewing Committee reports that twenty-five layettes have been made this month by Sewing organizations and individuals.

CALUMET LADIES LOST

Five ladies of the Calumet Club rolled against five ladies of the Middlesex Club of Arlington this week. The Winchester ladies won in the first string and were beaten in the second by six, Arlington winning the total.

The Calumet team was as follows: Mrs. Flanders ..... 98 98 87 Mrs. Faussey ..... 99 84 78 Mrs. Newman ..... 80 78 61 Mrs. Simonds ..... 88 91 78 Mrs. Johnston ..... 83 90 84

As it now stands, another session of the meeting will be held on Thursday evening, April 20th. At that time further consideration will be given to the motion to reconsider the grade school vote.

Not for many years has Winchester experienced such an interesting Town Meeting. As early as 7 o'clock voters were at the Town Hall eager to secure points of advantage to witness and hear the proceedings. Before nine o'clock the hall was filled, the count at the door showing that the full 1008 persons allowed by law under the fire expressing himself as an advocate of "pep"—the latter meeting with the distinct approval of his hearers as applicable to his new position.

Mr. Charles N. Harris declared that the motion before the meeting could not legally be carried out. According to his views, supported by the statutes, the shortening of the senior High School course was a fundamental error and contrary to law. He stated this to the Moderator, but unfortunately Mr. Ives, evidently feeling willing to trust to Mr. Harris not to create a riot, had left his post, for deciding for the year. This was immediately questioned and a standing vote was taken, this showing that the meeting did not wish to dissolve by 567 to 295.

Mr. Barber's Point About "Interest" Was Demonstrated in Chairman May's Expression

Mr. Preston Pond had been on his feet when the motion to dissolve had been made, and he was now recognized. He offered a motion to reconsider the previous vote for the four grade schools, stating that if this was done, he would offer a motion referring the matter back to the committee to report on the erection of two schools only. His proposed motion follows:

VOTED:—That the subject matter of obtaining locations for and the building of new elementary schools be recommitted to the special committee heretofore appointed by the town "for the purpose of preparing and reporting upon a comprehensive school building program," with instructions to take the matter under further consideration, and especially to limit their recommendation at this time to the acquisition of land for two new school buildings only, to wit: the Chapin and the Wyman schools, and with further instructions to obtain architect's plans and specifications, and definite estimates thereon, from reliable contractors, as to the expense of erecting such buildings. For this purpose the sum of $2,000, is hereby appropriated to be expended by said Committee for necessary expense incurred by it in conforming to this vote. Said Committee shall report at the next town meeting to be held.

The hour was 10:45, and as soon as Mr. Pond had finished speaking, a motion was made to adjourn. This created a discussion on the date to be selected, it being necessary to consider the few open dates available for the hall, Thursday evening, April 20, was decided upon, and the meeting adjourned.

Taken all in all, the meeting was one of the most interesting ever held in this town, marked throughout by excellent and witty arguments, but with no acrimonious discussion. Some regulations had entered. It was then that Mrs. Frances T. Conlon sent to Moderator Ives her written protest, signed by 25 voters, at not being allowed to enter and participate.

Many long speeches were made and the applause was at times deafening; the mere mention of a "Junior High" being sufficient to excite animated approval without regard to the conditions under which it was used. In fact some of the speakers had only to arise to be greeted with a salvo of clapping. From indications the presidential conventions will have nothing on us in the future, and we may within not many years hear of this or that popular speaker being applauded by the hour.

Chairman May of the special building program committee opened the meeting by introducing a motion to the effect "that it is expedient that a Junior High School House be erected for 7th, 8th and 9th grade scholars in accordance with the report of his committee; that the site advocated be determined upon as its location; that the Selectmen petition the Legislature for authorization to borrow $400,000 outside the debt limit, and that they further insert an article in next year's warrant for action to build the school."

He spoke at length, explaining that his motion was only a sense of the meeting vote and that actual action and although the speaker was somewhat nonplused, he succeeded in making his point clear to his remaining hearers.

It was at this point, 9:10 o'clock, that the protest was received from the disgruntled voters outside the hall who were refused admission.

Mr. Alfred S. Hall was a witty and interesting speaker in opposition to the school, and Mr. Herbert A. Wadleigh, in illustrating the per capita debt and the relation of our town debt to that of other towns and cities, banded figures and facts about as a pitcher throws a base ball. His argument was convincing, however, and in fact it appeared from the start that the meeting as a whole was against committing itself to this school, and could a vote have been reached earlier in the meeting much time would have been saved.

Prof. Charles Zueblin, recently returned from the West, advocated the school in no uncertain terms, citing the architectural advantages to be derived by placing it on the proposed site with one level on the street and another on the lower land at the rear. He was followed by Mr. Joseph F. Ryan, another advocate of the school.

At this time, 10:25 o'clock, signs of impatience began to be manifest, and the meeting showed its increasing

"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
THE SCIENCE OF RIGHT LIVING"

Lecture by

Prof. HERMANN S. HERING, C.S.B.

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Last Friday evening, at the Town Hall, Prof. Hermann S. Hering, of Concord, New Hampshire, delivered an able and scholarly lecture on the subject "Christian Science, the Science of Right Living," under the auspices of the local Christian Science Church. The speaker held the close attention of his audience throughout the lecture. He was introduced by Mr. Geo. R. Townsend, First Reader of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Winchester who spoke as follows:

Friends: In order that our thoughts may be prepared for the message which is to be conveyed to us this evening I shall quote briefly from the writings of Mary Baker Eddy the Discoverer and founder of Christian Science.

On page 255 of S. & H. with KHS we read: "Eternal Truth is changing the Universe. As mortals drop off their mental swaddling clothes thought expands into expression. Let there be Light is the perpetual demand of Truth and Love, changing chaos into order and discord into the music of the spheres." We are here this evening seeking Light. Let us keep our thought attuned to be receptive to Truth that we may enjoy its harmonies.

It seems important that we should further understand that Christian Science is presented to us without religious prejudice. This is evidenced by the following statement from Mrs. Eddy's book The First Church of Christ, Scientist and Miscellaneous on pages 270 and 271 we read "I love the prosperity of Zion, be it promoted by Catholic, by Protestant, or by Christian Scientist." It is of comparative little importance what a man thinks or believes he knows; the good that a man does is the one thing needful and the sole proof of rightness.

It is my privilege to extend to you a cordial welcome in behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist in Winchester under the auspices of which this lecture is given and it is with great pleasure I present the speaker of the evening, a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Mass., Prof. Hermann Hering, C. S. B. of Concord, N. H.

Since Christian Science, as discovered and founded by Mary Baker Eddy, is being so generally recognized as an instrument for good, it will be interesting to know what this Science teaches regarding the unrest, evil and suffering so prevalent in the world today and to hear what solution it has to offer for them. We are deeply concerned to discover the cause of this untoward condition and to learn if possible of an adequate remedy for it, as well as to find what part each one of us plays in the situation, to what degree we are responsible for it, and to what extent we can aid in alleviating and healing it.

At the outset it should be recognized that the world is an aggregation of individuals, hence world conditions are but the composite product of the lives and mentalities of its people, and of their habits of thought, their ethics, their ambitions and their resultant conduct.

Thus the character of human living is an essential factor in the world's condition and it follows that this can be improved only as the lives of its people are improved. It is this phase of the question to which we shall give special attention by analyzing the Science of right living, together with the Principle and law involved, in order to see how these may be demonstrated in human activities.

Recipe in the Bible

It is evident that all which really is has Principle, basis, cause, law and that right living involves obedience to Principle, government by motives based upon truth, justice, equity. Since God made all that was made and pronounced it good, it follows that obedience to God's Principle, means obedience to good. It is also evident that in order to do right we must know what right is, and this cannot be known without knowing what God or good is, therefore, in order to obey Principle, one must know God even as Jesus and his disciples knew him.

St. Paul writes: "For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."—(Rom 8:2)

The Bible contains many clear and definite statements of the healing law of the gospel in its relation to every form of evil thinking and living.

Have you ever thought what this world would be with all its sin, sorrow, suffering and sickness removed? And have you ever realized that an understanding of the teachings of Christ Jesus, with strict adherence thereto, would bring about this heavenly condition? This should be evident to all Bible students.

Sold for Grace Crosby Whitney of Winchester the old Fifth Estate, situated on Grassmere avenue, and bordering on Wedge Pond and comprising two lots of land containing about 30,000 sq. ft. with remodeled colonial house and stable thereon. The purchaser is Georgianna A. Sayward, formerly of this Town.

Also sold for Isabella Fifth two lots of land lying between Grassmere avenue and Wedge Pond and adjoining the above described Fifth Estate and containing about 19,350 sq. ft. of land, the purchaser being Georgianna A. Sayward.

Sold for Harold L. French et al., Trustees of Boston, a lot of land containing 12,000 sq. ft., situated on the corner of Warren and Copsey streets to Bessie E. Cloutman of Winchester, who plans to immediately start the erection of a modern, colonial house for her own purposes.

Sold for the East Weymouth Savings Bank, thirteen lots of land situated on Washington, Forest, Bell and Orient streets, to Mr. Carl Larsen of Winchester, who plans to make some improvements to Bell and Orient streets and offer said lots for immediate sale, reserving a few of them on which he may begin shortly the erection of some new houses.

All of the above sales were made through the office of A. Miles Holbrook.

HOPE CHEST AWARDED AT EASTER FESTIVAL

Over 1000 persons attended the Easter-tide festival of St. Mary's parish Tuesday night at the Town Hall in aid of the parish fund. Rev. Fr. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church had charge of the affair assisted by a committee of which Henry Maguire was chairman, and Miss Helen Doherty, secretary. The decorations were oriental in character and were the same as those used at the pop concert in aid of the Winchester Hospital on Monday night.

The special feature was the awarding of the hope chest valued at $1000 and from which about $2000 was realized for the parish fund. The hope chest was won by Miss Florence Lyons, aged 16, of Porter street, Woburn. In addition to the sum of about $2000 realized from the hope chest, over $500 more was realized from the festival for the fund. Miss Margaret Maguire was chairman of the hope chest fund committee. The chest treasures included a ton of coal, barrel of flour, cord of wood, and many hundreds of useful and fancy articles donated by the parishioners.

A feature of the evening's program was the presentation of a substantial check to Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of the church.

The concert program included readings by Miss Elizabeth Coleman, too dancing by Miss Alice Nelson, violin solos by Miss Katherine Rossley, soprano solos by Mrs. Mary McGrath, Misses Alice Nelson and Annie Nelson, sketch, "A Bachelor's Reverie," by a group of young people of St. Mary's parish; soprano solo by Mrs. Madeline Jackson, solo dance by Miss Katharine Trainor, specialty act by Peter Holland, soprano solo by Miss Mabel Coty, reading by Miss Edith Rebenacker, violin solo by Joseph Kilcoyne, an opera singer from California.

Refreshments were served by a committee of 50 women. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Mothers' Association will meet in the High School Assembly Hall, Wednesday, April 26, at 3 p. m. Prof. George Johnson of Harvard University will speak on "Playgrounds." Mrs. Clarence Dunham will sing, and a social hour will follow the program. All mothers and teachers are cordially invited. Bring your neighbor. This is an informal, neighborly association, and we want to know you. Little children may be left in charge of a kindergarten.

Remember the day and hour.

Trial by Jury.

Trial by jury antedates Alfred the Great. That monarch organized juries of 12 men, but even earlier six Welsh and six Anglo-Saxons acted as a jury in disputes between the Welsh and Saxons.

WINCHESTER AVIATOR DEAD

Lieut. Earle M. Randall, Son of P. H. Randall, Killed in South

News was received on Monday night of the death earlier in the day of First Lieut. Earle M. Randall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perley H. Randall of this town. Lieut. Randall was flying at Quantico, Va., and while maneuvering in practice with another airplane the two collided and fell, both aviators being killed.

Lieut. Randall was flying a Fokker and Private Joseph J. Dooghe of Chicago was a passenger. Duncan W. Lewis of Memphis, Tenn., was in a Voight, one of the fast and easily maneuvered types in the military service. Lieut. Lewis, according to accounts, ran into Lieut. Randall.

Both airplanes were preparing to engage in what is known in military flying circles as a "dog fight," that is, a combat between two machines. Both were fast and of the so-called pursuit type, as distinguished from bombing airplanes. The Fokker took off first and was circling the field, preparing for a climb to the prescribed altitude for the contest, in which each airplane was to seek to outmaneuver the other.

Just as Lieut. Randall was returning from the first lap around the field Lieut. Lewis took off. His machine climbed rapidly, overtaking the machine of Lieut. Randall just ahead. It is doubted whether Lieut. Randall knew Lieut. Lewis was going toward him.

Lieut. Lewis was seen shooting his airplane upward in a desperate effort to avoid a collision, but it was no use. The wings of the Voight machine tore through those of the Fokker, and both lunged to the side, fatally crippled.

There were near the hangars one hundred or more Marine Corps officers and enlisted men, together with a few civilians, who saw the crash. Instantly they realized that the pilots of both machines were fighting for their lives and for the one chance in a thousand that they would be able to make some sort of a landing without a crash.

Lieut. Randall's machine's upper wing was so badly crumpled that the airplane got out of control, plunging in the direction of some telephone wires strung along one end of the field. Had the wires not been there it is possible he would have accomplished a landing, crashing up the airplane, but perhaps escaping with his life and that of his passenger.

When the airplane hit the wires, which were torn away, the machine crumpled to the ground, the occupants lying within taken out of the tangled mass, but died within half an hour without regaining consciousness. Private Dooghe was killed instantly.

Meantime, at another corner of the field, Lieut. Lewis was fighting for his life, his Voight also fatally crippled, the left wing hanging limp, like that of a bird which had been shot. It was impossible for him to get the machine on a straight line. At a terrific speed it shot forward and into a section of the barracks occupied by the personnel assigned to the flying field.

Lieut. Lewis was killed instantly. The machine was a total wreck. That portion of the barracks which he hit, of flimsy wood construction, crumpled under the force of the airplane, which was going 100 miles an hour.

The accident happened just before 4 o'clock, almost at the close of a day packed with the most intensive battle practice. Both pilots had been up before during the day in the same machines. They had been engaged in the same sort of practice they were starting out for when the accident brought them to the ground.

Lieut. Earle M. Randall was 25 and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perley H. Randall of 15 Lloyd street. He was a graduate of Somerville high school and of Massachusetts Agricultural College with the class of 1917.

He enlisted in the marine corps during the world war and was commissioned at Paris island and sent to France in command of a battalion which served at the front. After eight months with the army of occupation, he was returned to America, and for a year was on duty in Haiti. He then joined the aviation corps and was detailed to duty in Florida.

He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Denton W. Randall and Roy R. Randall, and a sister, Margaret E. Randall. Lieut. Randall was engaged to be married to Miss Eleanor Barker of Portland, Me.

The remains were taken to Peak's Island, Me., where services were held yesterday afternoon, the interment being at that place.

WINCHESTER HIGH BEAT MELROSE

Base ball opened here Wednesday afternoon, Winchester High playing Melrose High on Manchester Field. The local team won 5-0. There was a fair attendance at the game, which was played under adverse weather conditions, the cold, raw afternoon not being favorable to either player or spectator. Winchester played a strong game and the work of the school boys was very favorably received by the fans.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SUNDAY A. M.

Rev. James Shepard, president of the National Training School, Durham, N. C., will speak Sunday morning on "The Colored Race in American Life." Dr. Shepard is Worshipful Grand Master of the Colored Lodge of Free Masons for the State of North Carolina and a speaker of exceptional interest. Mr. Chidley will conduct the worship.

Has Bettered Humanity.

Every heart that has beat strong and cheerfully has left a hopeful impulse behind it in the world and bettered the tradition of mankind.—Stevenson.

HIGH SCHOOL MUSICALS

Under the supervision of instructor Richard W. Grant, the regular spring musicals of the High School clubs was given before a large audience in the Town Hall last Thursday evening. The program was excellent and well rendered, as is always the case with Mr. Grant's pupils, and the audience was most enthusiastic over the work of the boys and girls. The soloists were Miss Mary Whittington, Miss Helen Raynor and Miss Catherine Case, a special solo with obligato being rendered by Miss Elinor Larsen.

Mr. Charles A. Lane observed the opening of the fishing season Saturday by displaying a fine half-dozen trout at the Calumet Club during the evening, the result of a few minute's sport before breakfast.

Mr. George B. Whitehouse has started the erection of a house at the corner of Norwood and Central streets. This is the first house which Mr. Whitehouse has undertaken to build for several years. He has previously built a number of attractive residences on the west side.

What is thought to have been the actions of a gang of hoodlums gave rise to a tale of the hold-up of a late electric car coming over from Arlington last Friday night. "Tim" Green was in charge of the car. According to his report to the police three men were concerned in the affair, which occurred near the Country Club. They pulled the trolley from the wire and pounded on the door. A passing auto gave Green an opportunity to get his trolley back on again and start his car. The police of Winchester and Arlington visited the scene, but found no trace of the men.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Mildred C. Foreman entertained a number of friends at her home on Tuesday evening of this week. The rooms were decorated with orchid and yellow crepe paper, jonquils and roses. A buffet luncheon was served and each one received a dainty little basket of Easter eggs. Hidden among the candies was a card announcing the engagement of Miss Jessie M. Dearborn to Mr. Arthur M. Hazen, of Mont Vernon, New Hampshire.

Among those who enjoyed the surprise were the Misses Mildred Gurney, Arnette Belcher, Constance McIntosh, Edith Johnson, Marie Davis, Gladys Clarke, and Mrs. Alice (Hamilton) Huber.

FORD RAN INTO ELECTRIC

There was a bad auto accident Wednesday night at 10 o'clock at the corner of Washington and Cross streets when a Ford sedan rammed a one-man electric trolley. The trolley was driven by motorman Samuel Haholow of Malden. Christopher Marter of Dorchester, driver of the sedan, was taken to the Winchester Hospital and treated by Dr. Ordway for bruises and cuts and a badly sprained wrist.

The electric was Stoneham bound and the Ford came out of Cross street. The sedan was badly wrecked, the left wheel, mudguards, top and glass being smashed. One window in the electric was broken. Marter was accompanied by his wife, who escaped with a bad shaking up.

PRETTY MAY SOCIAL FUNCTION

From all indications the May party and dance of The Winchester Laundries' Mutual Benefit Association is to be a very pretty social event. The committee in charge are sparing no effort and pains to make this affair a most enjoyable one.

The Town Hall has been especially engaged for Thursday evening, May 4th and a happy time is anticipated.

A limited number of tickets has been placed on sale at the offices of The Winchester Laundries, Inc. for the public. To those who enjoy dancing and good music this pretty social event cannot but help to appeal.

BACON STREET BRIDGE ON WAY TO SETTLEMENT

It is stated that the Committee on Ways and Means of the Legislature has reported the building of the new Bacon street bridge on the basis of 25 per cent of the cost to be borne by the State, 25 per cent by the County and 50 per cent by the Town. This matter has yet to be passed by the Senate, but it now appears that the recommended apportionment will stand.

POLICE GOT TEN QUARTS

The Winchester police got 10 quarts of moonshine rum Wednesday when they raided the premises of M. J. Flynn at 29 Richardson street. The officers searched for an hour and a half before they found the cache underneath a chamber floor. The case will come up in the Woburn court Monday.

GLASS 22 LAST NIGHT

A decided cold snap arrived in full force last night after a cold, raw day. During yesterday a sleet and hail storm was experienced and early last evening there was quite a snow flurry. During the night the glass went down to 22 degrees and at six this morning registered 28.

Moon Opens Philippine Plants.

The light of the moon when it beams down strongly in the Philippines will cause the leaflets of various legumes to open and spread out nearly as much as they do during the day sunshine. F. C. Gates of the Kansas State Agricultural college told the Ecological society at Toronto. At twilight the leaflets normally fold up for the night.—Science Service.

FOUR SCHOOLS STAND

Motion to Reconsider Fails Two-Thirds Vote—Matter May Go on Ballot and Another Town Meeting Called

The original vote to build four grade school houses in this town, two this year and two next year, on the selected sites, stands today. A motion to reconsider, based upon the appointment of the committee, although voted 584 to 377, failed, it being necessary to have a vote of 641 to carry it, out of the 961 citizens voting. This action was taken at last night's town meeting.

It seems very probable, in view of the opposition voiced at last night's meeting that the matter will be again submitted to the voters on a referendum ballot, although this has not been verified.

Many of those present at the meeting thought that either way they voted, for or against reconsideration, the question of how we would build the four schools—one each year or two this and two next year—would be placed on a ballot anyway, and as this was stated by speakers on both sides of the question, it looks as though the first test of our new rules for town meeting procedure will be tried out. As it was, those who favored the building of one school each year, were unquestionably in the majority, but not enough to overcome the opposition and secure the necessary two-thirds of the meeting.

The meeting was the largest of the series yet held. At 8:05 the hall was filled and the police notified the Moderator to that effect. In opening it was stated that if Mr. Preston Pond would give consent to withdraw his proposed motion read at last week's session, the following motion would be offered:

ARTICLE 36

(Building Committee Vote)

MOVED: That there is hereby established a committee, to be known as the School House Building Committee, and hereafter called "The Committee," to consist of five citizens, qualified voters of the town, one of whom shall be a member of the school committee chosen by it, the others to be appointed by the Selectmen.

Its members shall have no financial interest, directly or indirectly, in the construction of any school house, or in any contract relating thereto. Any member of the committee may be removed by vote of the town at a meeting called for the purpose.

If the member of the school committee shall cease to be a member of the school committee, he shall cease to be a member of "The Committee." If a vacancy thus occurs or if for other cause, the member of the school committee shall cease to be a member of "The Committee," the vacancy shall be filled by choice of the school committee. Other vacancies shall be promptly filled by the remaining members of "The Committee."

"The Committee" is hereby authorized and empowered to procure, determine, and approve plans for, and to erect, equip, and furnish primary school houses upon the several parcels of land determined as the situations of new school houses to be called the Chapin School, the Wyman School, the Rumford School, and the Gifford-Mystic School, the purchase or taking of which has been authorized at this meeting, substantially in accordance with the reports and recommendations of the committee appointed, pursuant to a vote of the select town meeting held June 23rd, 1921, to prepare and report to the town a comprehensive school building program, and for such purpose to expend the money appropriated therefor at this meeting, and to make and execute on behalf of the town all contracts pertaining to the same.

"The Committee" shall undertake and carry to completion as soon as may be the construction of one of these schools, beginning in the year 1922, and shall undertake and carry to completion the construction of one of these schools each year following, until all four schools have been completed.

It shall keep a record of its proceedings and in the first of January of each year, and upon the completion of its duties shall report in writing the condition and progress of the work under its charge, and furnish a detailed statement of receipts and expenditures in relation thereto.

The sum of $500 is hereby appropriated to defray the cost of printing and other necessary incidental expenses to be incurred by the committee.

This proposed motion took up the matter in the following manner at variance to the original vote of April 3d. It provided for the appointment of four members of the building committee by the Selectmen instead of the Moderator, and the building of one school each year for four years, instead of two this year and two next. It left the other features substantially the same, including the sites of the proposed buildings.

Interest now centers upon the referendum ballot, which may contain two votes—one on the Junior High School and the other whether or not the Town desires to reconsider the appointment of the building committee. The Junior High School will undoubtedly be omitted, it having been stated by its supporters that they are satisfied at the decisive vote against it last week. The appointment of the building committee carries with it the instructions pertaining to the erection of the buildings, so that if such reconsideration is carried on a ballot, the citizens may determine thereafter whether they desire the schools yearly or two and two. A vote on the ballot for reconsideration will mean another town meeting.

Following the opening of the meeting a vote providing for a penalty provision in the recently accepted bill-board act was carried.

In opening the school question

TICKET AGENT SHOT

Murdered in Office at Railroad Station Last Night

Ralph W. Brewster, night ticket agent at the B. & M. Station, was shot and killed last night by persons unknown. He was shot through the heart, presumably about 10 o'clock. Apparently no attempt was made to steal anything in the ticket office and it was not until some time after the body was found that it was learned that he was the victim of foul play.

Brewster was seen at 9:30 when he met the outward train arriving at that time. About 10:10 one of several men who were waiting in the station for the 10:36 inward train went to the ticket window to purchase a ticket. Not seeing anyone inside he looked over the window shelf and saw the agent's feet protruding on the floor. Going to the window in the women's part of the station he could see Brewster lying face down under the window.

This man telephoned to the police from the station, and at about the same time Frank E. Rowe, Jr., went to the station and notified the officers. Chief DeCourcy of the Fire Department and officer Hogan in the square reached the scene together. Being unable to enter the office through the door, they ripped off the wire grating at the window and DeCourcy climbed in.

It was then thought that Brewster had died from a hemorrhage, his falling on his face being the cause of the blood. Dr. Bennett was called, and immediately upon examining the body found that a bullet wound through the heart had killed the man.

A search revealed that four shots had been fired. One evidently went high and passed through the bottom frame of the window in the women's side of the office. Possibly this shot hit Brewster, for he was shot once through the mouth. Another shot evidently killed the agent, while still another was fired low, striking the floor. Three bullets, of .32 calibre, were found, one being just outside the office, another on the office floor and the third in the body of the victim.

Owing to the fact that the 10:36 train had departed and the men who were waiting for it went on it before it was discovered that the man had been shot, no one could say who was in the station at the time the body was first discovered, although some of the men there had been waiting for some time so far as known.

Latest views on the case hold that someone knocked on the door of the ticket office and when Brewster opened it shot without warning. His falling as he did, under the shelf of the ticket window, prevented anyone from noting the body without looking over and down. No one has been found who heard any shots during the evening.

Brewster was 26 years of age and resided at Pittsfield N. H., with his wife and three children. He was second trick man at the station here and had held the job only since April 2d, taking the place of John A. Loranger, who was transferred to the signal tower. He boarded in Woburn, State, railroad, County and local police officers are working on the case.

RADCLIFFE RUMMAGE SALE

WINCHESTER BOY WINS MASSACHUSETTS DANCING CHAMPIONSHIP

The Dardanella Trio of Medford and Winchester held its third annual dance at Pitman Academy on Monday evening, April 17th. One of the largest crowds of the season being present.

The contest for the Massachusetts' eccentric acrobatic dancing championship was won by Ormsby L. Court of Winchester, present title holder of the New Hampshire and Rhode Island titles, over Francis Penette of Malden and John Libby of Charlestown.

The committee included Vincent Murphy, Joseph Pine and James O'Loughlin, assisted by the Misses Isabella Hurley, Loretta Murphy, Mildred Doherty, Josephine Jordan, Helen Lord, Josephine Fay, Grace Gifford, Marion LaFayette, Rita Maurice and Francis King.

BOX 231 RUBBISH FIRE

The alarm of fire at 1:10 a. m. Tuesday morning was for a rubbish fire at the estate of E. J. O'Hara on Mystic avenue. A telephone message was sent to the fire station at about one o'clock regarding the fire, which had started up, the chemical truck responding. While the firemen were at work on the blaze, a woman returning from the Pop Concert saw the blaze and rang in the box.

The fire apparatus was also out during the afternoon of Monday, a rubbish fire on Everett avenue needing attention, while on Sunday afternoon at 2:47 o'clock the chemical truck was called out for a grass fire at the rear of Mr. F. N. Hawley's house on Cambridge street.

AUTO ACCIDENT FRIDAY

Following the accident of last week at the corner of Church and Wildwood streets, another smash occurred at that dangerous corner Friday, when a Cadillac sedan owned by Mr. Cecil H. Cummings of Ravenscroft road and driven by Louis W. Bean of Stoneham, was in collision with a 3½ ton truck driven by John Carpentieri of Medford.

The truck was turning into Wildwood street, according to report, and the sedan, in passing, was forced over the curb onto the sidewalk. The sedan was badly damaged, having a broken running board and smashed mudguards, and both doors smashed. The truck was not injured and no one was hurt.

April Showers

The whimsical, freaky sister of redoubtable Jack Frost!
Lo, how she smites the clouds with her capricious sword, sending rain, rain, even more rain upon our unsuspecting heads. In the morning our umbrellas flourisheth. In the evening they are cut down and withereth. And so she withereth father's newly pressed suit, mother's Easter frock and daughter's pretty Spring pumps. She spares not the linen out of doors, soaking garments on the line. Her tears of rain are but tears of fardish laughter. She cares not for she must reign, reign, reign. Why not let her rain out of doors while you reign within by sending your laundry to us? She cannot reign or rain in our institution.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The business meeting begins promptly at 2:30.
Following this is the Style Show, arranged thro the courtesy of William Filene's Sons.
Apparel suitable for various occasions and ages will be displayed by living models.

J. Albert Wilson, organist at the Church of the Epiphany and Richard Grant, supervisor of music in the schools will both attend the Music Supervisors' Conference to be held in Springfield, Mass., next week. Mr. Grant and Mr. Wilson will go over the road together by auto.

MILLIONS OF DEAD LETTERS

Almost 20,000,000 undeliverable letters go to the Dead Letter Office annually, and are there opened to ascertain the names of senders. If you had just remembered to put your return address in the upper left-hand corner of the envelope (not on back of envelope), you could have felt sure of its prompt return to you without sending it to the Dead Letter Office. It costs 3 cents to get a dead letter returned. Do you see the advantage of a return address on the envelope?

Mrs. William F. Edlefson gave a bridal luncheon yesterday noon in honor of Miss Irene Lord, who is to marry Mr. Franklin Lane on June 3d. There was an attendance of 15 friends of the bride-to-be.

MRS. ROBERT FAY

The sudden death of Marion Rudd Fay, wife of Mr. Robert Ervin Fay of 36 Park avenue on April 15th came as a shock to her many friends. Mrs. Fay was taken suddenly ill with pneumonia on Saturday, April 8th. The night before, apparently in good health, she attended the choir rehearsal at the First Congregational Church, of which she was a member. She was a devoted wife and mother and her husband and two sons, Marshall Howe, aged 15, and Robert Wallace, aged 9, have the sympathy of their many friends. Mrs. Fay was born in Chelsea, and lived there until her marriage in 1904. She came to Winchester in 1908.

Funeral services were held at her late home on Monday, April 17th, and were conducted by Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Reading. The Schubert Male Quartet rendered several appropriate selections.

The floral tributes were many and very beautiful, notable among them being pieces from the church, the choir, Men's Club, Winchester Boy Scout Council, officials of Exchange Trust Co., directors Exchange Trust Co., employees of Exchange Trust Co. and many friends and neighbors in this town and Chelsea.

On Tuesday the interment was at Pine Grove Cemetery, Westboro, Mass. The committal service at the family lot were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Moses of the First Congregational Church of Westboro. Mrs. Fay was 42 years of age. Beside being survived by her husband and two sons she leaves two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. C. Edward Carpenter of Norwich, Conn., Miss Nathalie C. Rudd of Minneapolis, Minn., Mr. Allen T. Rudd of Malden, and Mr. Charles H. Rudd of Lexington.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Games Now on Last Lap at Calumet Club
Mixed bowling matches are now on their last lap at the Calumet Club. Monday night saw team O win two points and teams K and Q each win three. Teams J, I and P were losers. Owing to the Pop Concert many bowlers were absent, and consequently the scores ran low. Mrs. Jacobs was high for the ladies with a string of 92, while Mrs. Morton rolled 87 and Mrs. Snow 80. Mr. Smith was the only gentleman to roll over 200, making 203 for his two strings, with 109 for high single. Mr. Corey rolled a single of 108.

POP CONCERT

Annual Event Draws Larger Attendance Than Ever

The annual pop concert, this year of an oriental nature, drew the largest attendance in its history on Monday evening when it was held at the Town Hall. As in past years, this charity for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital, was arranged for and put through by a committee of ladies, to whom all credit for its success, both socially and financially is due. The committee included Mrs. Oren C. Sanborn, Mrs. C. A. Mason, Mrs. William A. Lefavour and Miss M. Alice Mason.

This year the decorations were in keeping with the idea of the Orient, the hangings and flowers and table favors carrying out this idea. As usual the decorative scheme was a big feature and called forth much praise. The music was by Teel's Band, with Miss Elva Boyden soloist and Mr. Ormsby Court dancer. A most attractive program was given.

The hall was particularly attractive, a large canopy of blossoms being suspended from the roof in the centre of the large hall and blossoms and lanterns covering the small hall. The balconies were in red and white, as was the stage.

The serving was in charge of Mrs. Lillian T. Mason, she being assisted by a corps of young ladies in kimono costume. This group included the Misses:

Charlotte Brooks, Marion Smith, Jean Ryan, Margarette Merrill, Betty Fessenden, Caroline Drisko, Ruth Perkins, Ruth Brooks, Katherine Price, Hazel Paine, Lura Putnam, Harriet Hawes, Esther Carrier, Margarette Bradford, Madeline Robinson, Gilvan Skillings, Alice Webster.

The candy was sold by a group of young ladies in mandarin coats, and included the Misses Georgianna Watters, Phyllis Fitch, Esther Lombard and Ruth Whittington.

Placed about the hall were 114 tables seating from four to eight couples, and among those who attended and had tables were the following:

Mrs. Batchelder, Mrs. O. C. Sanborn, Mrs. C. A. Mason, Mrs. H. Sanborn, Mrs. G. Proctor, Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. T. Freeburn, Mrs. F. Reynolds, Mrs. E. Young, Mrs. E. Tutein, Mrs. C. Grecco, Mrs. MacAlman, Mrs. W. M. Cole, Mrs. W. F. Witherell, Mrs. P. Witherell, Mrs. W. Badger, Mrs. M. England, Mrs. H. H. Perkins, Mrs. H. Brown, Mrs. A. Hollins, Mrs. Geo. F. Chapin, Mrs. W. Flanders, Mrs. H. Bridger, Mrs. Nelson Davis, Mrs. C. Symmes, Mrs. F. Rogers, Mrs. G. Kimball, Mrs. A. Dow, Mrs. W. Weston, Mrs. F. Avery, Mrs. E. B. Horne, Mrs. Geo. Heintz, Mrs. C. R. Main, Mrs. S. Simpson, Mrs. J. Johnson, Mrs. M. A. Jones, Mrs. C. Jennings, Mrs. H. Norton, Mrs. E. Smalley, Mrs. M. Godson, Mrs. W. Simonds, Mrs. W. Dotten, Mrs. D. Kelley, Mrs. W. Dutton, Mrs. T. Abbott, Mrs. Joe Downs.

MRS. MARY T. NICHOLSON

Mrs. Mary T. Nicholson, wife of Mr. William Nicholson, superintendent of the town Tree Department, died at her home on Washington street last Friday afternoon after a long illness. She was 59 years of age.

Mrs. Nicholson was a native of Gloucester and had been a resident of this town for the past 20 years. She leaves besides her husband one daughter, Miss Lillian Nicholson, and a sister and two brothers residing in Gloucester.

The funeral services were held at the residence Monday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Reading, a former pastor at the First Congregational Church of this town. There was a beautiful display of floral tributes and attending the service was a delegation from Victoria Rebekah Lodge, of which the deceased was a member, who carried out the ritual service. The remains were taken to Gloucester for interment, where a service was held on Tuesday.

CAPT. JOSHUA R. PIERCE

Capt. Joshua R. Pierce, aged 85 years, died last Friday morning at the home of his nephew, Mr. William P. Pierce, 51 Cutting street. He was a native of North Truro and for many years followed the sea, being an old-time fisherman. He went to sea at the age of nine years and during his life captured many of the fine old fishing vessels including the "Mary Greenwood," which he commanded when 21 years of age. He was a member of the Marine Lodge of Old Fellows of Provincetown. He was a descendant of the early settlers on the Cape and had retired from active work 20 years ago.

Funeral services were held at Provincetown on Saturday, the interment being at that place.

Mrs. Harrison Parker, who has been spending several months with her daughter, Miss Eugenia Parker, in Honolulu, Hawaii, is on her way home and will soon arrive in Winchester. Miss Parker, who is teaching school in Honolulu, will remain there for several months, before returning to her home.

Don't fail to hear Prof. Wilson of Harvard at the annual Gentleman's Night of the Winchester League of Women Voters to be held at the home of Miss Frances Elder, Friday evening, April 21 at 8:15.

EACH MONTH HAS FLOWER TO CARRY ITS REAL MESSAGE

Suggestions Show What Should be Sent to Present Meaning

It takes a true linguist to "say it with flowers"—and say it properly. One who considers sending flowers to a friend by way of greeting, or in an expression of love or friendship, often finds himself in a quandary as to what is proper to send.

Each flower has a message all its own. Flowers of any sort are welcome, but there are certain flowers for certain times and knowing just how to "say it with flowers" gives an added zest to the use of them.

The following suggestions as to how best "to say it with flowers" are contained on a card prepared by the Sweetheart Flower Shop.

Speak of Faithfulness
January is the month of carnations, which stand for true friendship. February is violet month. These, according to the language of flowers, speak of love and faithfulness.

Lillies are inseparably connected with the month of March and have always stood for purity and sincerity. Daisies come with April and reflect beauty and innocence. In May come lilies of the valley, murmuring a confession of love.

June is the month of roses. These stand for fond remembrance. With July come gladioli, which are said to symbolize beauty in retirement. The tuberoses of August, are humble, love's kiss.

Elegance and confidence is symbolized by the cosmos, September's flower. Dahlias, breathing loyalty, are linked with October. The chrysanthemums that November has made popular carry a message of love and devotion. In December, orchids, suggest deep thoughts, dignity.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

The workman who is continually watching his watch should be watched.

Prices seem to be having as hard a time reducing, as some of our women folks have.

Grace Darling at the oars in the old days, was some different sight than some of the girls you see at the wheel now a days.

Why should a sailor in these fashionable times go out to see, when there is so much to see right here in town.

He who shows courtesy reaps friendship, try it.

Now for the Committee.

Winter still lingers in the lap of Spring.

If you have ever visited our railroad station around 10 p. m., you must admit that it is not a particularly cheerful place.

It has been noted that at our overflow town meetings there are some present who have voted twice, once on each side of the question put. Such a condition was suspected last week, but several noticed it last night, and the question has been brought up how such a circumstance affects the votes taken.

It has been gradually growing upon us that the B. & M. should adopt the policy of confining its trains to its station limits and not infringe upon our busy crossing. We are all glad to see the Railroad come back to its old ten and eleven car trains, but why thrust them upon us so prominently? Our crossing is so large that there may be room for the fire apparatus to cross at the north end to be sure; still the largest amount of all traffic uses the southern end. We feel that the station platform makes a better place for passengers to alight than the center of our square.

It was with a pleasure that our Representative, Mr. Richard B. Coolidge can understand, that we noted last week that the Joint Judiciary Committee of the Legislature voted in favor of a bill providing for compulsory liability insurance on automobiles. Those of us who have been run down by crazy, drunken drivers doubtless also approve, especially

TUESDAY EVENING a lady said to me, in the presence of her husband who was considering more insurance, "I do not want my husband to take more insurance, 'I don't like the idea.' I simply quoted what I have said in this space before, 'all wives do not believe in Life Insurance, all widows do.'"

Our medical examiner telephoned me this morning that her husband passed a fine physical examination.

WILLIAM W. HILL, Agent

Phone Main 5760 Winchester 418

when said driver as in our own instance, escapes with a $5 fine and leaves a damage bill of over a thousand dollars unpaid behind him. The automobile driver who cannot afford to carry liability insurance, should not be allowed to own or drive a car.

SAVINGS BANK LIFE INSURANCE

Savings Bank Life Insurance announces a net gain of more than three million dollars of business in force during the last twelve months,—the total amount of business now in force being $18,000,000 as compared with $15,470,000 one year ago. This represents insurance on the lives of more than 34,000 persons, and the premium income is now at the rate of nearly half a million dollars a year.

No solicitors are employed by the Savings Banks, but the work of propaganda is carried on by the State, and offices are maintained at 207 State House, Boston, where information and literature is at all times available to persons interested. Any person between one and 65 years of age, resident in Massachusetts, is eligible to apply for the insurance.

BUILDING PERMITS

The inspector of buildings has issued the following permits for the week ending April 20:

George B. Whitehorse, Lane Bldg., Wood frame dwelling at No. 17 Norwood street, 36x22 feet.

Clarence M. Perkins, 99 Cross street. Concrete milk room, 14x25 feet.

Wallace P. Palmer, 195 Forest street. Wood frame dwelling on Kenwin road, 34x24 feet.

Mrs. B. C. Cloutman, 1 Calumet road. Wood frame dwelling at Copley and Warren streets, 42x37 feet. Also wood frame garage at same address, 20x22 feet.

Margaret S. Lawson, 296 Washington street. First Class garage 34x18 feet.

LEGION MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Editor Winchester Star,

Dear Sir:

During the past week the local post of the American Legion has been conducting a membership campaign. The endorsed letter has been sent to all former service men and women who are on our mailing list and who are not members. Many families have moved to Winchester since our list was made up and we hope through the Star to reach every one who is eligible.

Marshall J. England,
Chairman Committee on Membership.

Dear Comrade:

The Winchester Post of the American Legion extends to you an invitation to become a member. The Legion's purposes are set forth admirably in its Constitution:

"For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:

"To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one-hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, State and Nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

The Legion has no aims, policies or activities not covered by this preamble. The purpose of the Legion is thus two-fold: Service to its country, and service to its comrades.

The organization is exerting all its influence and strength to the end that all ex-service men, especially the disabled and their dependents and the dependents of those who made the supreme sacrifice, shall receive that just and fair treatment which they have reason to expect from a patriotic and liberal country.

In serving the country, the organization is endeavoring to keep alive that spirit which induced all to respond to the country's call in time of need, even to the extent of being willing to make the supreme sacrifice. This is being done by assisting in the maintenance of a one-hundred-per cent Americanism, based on fair play and a square deal for all.

Your town has made available and is helping to maintain a home for local Legionnaires at 84 Washington street. You can drop in most any time, and enjoy a visit with your old comrades. Post meetings are held monthly, and always some high-class entertainment is provided. The entire expense is only $3.25 a year.

It is your privilege to "join up." Use it. There is no red tap. Sign the enclosed application now, and mail it today.

Respectfully,

Committee on Membership and Credentials,
Marshall J. England
Louis E. Goddu
Daniel L. Hanlon

FOUR SCHOOLS STAND

Chairman Kenerson of the Finance Committee stated that a compromise was in order not to recommend the matter back to the special committee as proposed by Mr. Pond, but to take up the second section of the vote of April 3d referring to the appointment of the building committee, and he read the proposed motion and asked that Mr. Pond withdraw his motion. This Mr. Pond did.

Mr. Davidson opposed withdrawal of Mr. Pond's motion on the ground that the north end of the town was not provided for by the schools contemplated, children there being widely scattered over long distances. Mr. Parkhurst then moved to lay Mr. Pond's motion on the table, which was done. He then made a strong speech in favor of the one-school-a-year plan.

The fight for and against reconsideration then opened up in earnest, the speakers lining up as follows:

For	Against
Finance Committee	Mr. May
Mr. Parkhurst	Mr. Dutch
Mr. Laraway	Mr. MacDonald
Mr. Vinson	Mr. Craughwell
Mr. Pond	Mr. Rowe
Mr. Rich	Mr. Warren
Mr. Fitzgerald	Mr. Russell
Mrs. Woodside	Mr. Snyder
Mr. Abbott

Several of these speakers arose several times. Strong speeches were made by Mr. Parkhurst and Mrs. Woodside, and so far as could be determined for the first portion of the meeting, the voters, or at least the feminine portion, were willing to vote for whatever side a speaker advocated after he finished talking. Towards the close, however, there was an unmistakable decision in favor of reconsideration, or more properly, for placing the matter on a referendum ballot, as both sides stated that they were willing and desirous of doing so.

The school situation therefore stands today that we build four grade schools on the sites heretofore selected, building two schools, the Chapin and the Wyman, at once, and the other two, the Rumford and the Gifford-Mystic, in 1923.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

To the Boy Scouts of Winchester: Winchester Council has engaged Lt. Col. Charles Wellington Furlong to give in Town Hall on April 25th his lecture "The Passing of the Old West" illustrated with lantern slides and motion pictures. The committee has decided to give prizes as follows:

To the scout selling the most tickets—$5.00 in scout equipment.

To the troop selling the most—$10.00 for their troop treasury.

For each ten tickets sold—one ticket free.

The proceeds from this lecture will be used to provide entertainments for the scouts and it is hoped we may be able to fill the hall.

Troop 1

The first of a series of ball games between Troop One and Troop Four resulted in a victory for Troop One by the score of 7 to 6.

The attendance at meetings the past few weeks has been at high mark, from twenty-five to thirty-two scouts being present. Six new members were admitted at the last meeting and all scouts are rapidly equipping themselves with uniforms and making good progress in scouting. Scout Nichols is a big asset as troop bugler.

Troop 3

Last week the members of Troop III were given a pleasant surprise at their meeting. A dinner was being held in the church vestry and there were not as many present as had been provided for. Therefore when the chairman of the supper heard that there was a husky troop of thirty Boy Scouts up stairs he sent out an S. O. S. call to them for help to come down and help get ride of the extra food. The Scouts wish to thank him for calling upon them for help. The Scout Motto is "Do a Good Turn Daily."

After "the feed" there was a contest between the different patrols in the troop. The events were a quiz on the tenderfoot test, a bandaging contest, fireman's lift and stretcher races, and a drill competition. The Bear Patrol, under P. L. Leslie Ste-Buffalo Patrol, under Marshall Fay, won with 14½ points and the came second with 10 points. Mr. C. A. Burnham, a member of the Council acted as judge.

Speaking of contests, Troop III is out to win the inter-troop contest. Come on out EVERY ONE of you fellows and get busy! That's the way we'll win!

Troop III is planning to have a paper chase for vacation week. It will be held at the regular meeting which will be held at 2:45 P. M. Thursday. Everybody out for a good time.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS PRACTICE STUNTS FOR EXHIBITION

On April 28th the boys of the High School gymnasium classes will offer a program of bigger, better, and more thrilling stunts than were shown last year. New features have been added which will make the evening's program a pleasing entertainment for young and old. There will be mass activities in which the ensemble movements will include exercises of effort, skill and endurance. In addition, there will be a maze run, the intricate figures of which will not only appeal to the sense of beauty but will also cause one to wonder how the participants are ever going to disentangle themselves. Tumbling of various degrees of difficulty, from the most elementary grade to the advanced tumbling such as one sees on the stage, will feature one part of the program. Thrills will be the order of the evening. Leaps and vaults over the vaulting box and the parallel bars will be included among the interesting and spectacular numbers.

A REST FOR THE DYING SOUL

(Written for the Post-Telegram)

In every flower which opens to the sun—
In every leaf which flutters in the breeze—
In every shrub, even to the lowliest one,
And the tall oak the waving forest trees,
There seems a voice—proceeding forth from these
To man, and echoed round as seasons roll,
And he that runs the record plainly sees,
It is written on Nature's living scroll,
Tells man secure a Rest, for his undying Soul.
The golden cloud which decks the Summer's sky
With glorious beauty, and then melts away—
The evening shadows as they quickly fly,
And the last beamings of the God of day—
The sparkling stream which hurries on its way,
All have a language, and their voices tell,
"Secure ye pleasures which shall never decay."
Our breath—our pulse the countless numbers swell
With calls of God to man, since our first parents fell.

GOVERNOR COX ATTENDED

Large Gathering Present at Calumet Dinner and Meeting

The guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Calumet Club held Saturday evening was Governor Channing Cox, who was present and spoke before over 200 members and guests of the club. The affair was one of the most successful affairs staged this winter, being the banner night for the men of the club.

The dinner opened at 6:30, the hall being taxed to its capacity to care for the seating of the big crowd. An attractive menu was served by Schiehuber of Lynn and President Wilbur S. Locke presided. Seated at the head table were the officers of the club and a large number of the past presidents.

Governor Cox arrived just before the close of the dinner, being enthusiastically greeted. The business meeting was postponed at the close of the dinner and the Governor made a short address, economy in State administration being the key note of his speech, a saving of five and a half million dollars last year to be followed by a saving of at least two million this year. He sounded a warning regarding the rapidly increasing municipal expenditures, and gave his opinion that Massachusetts could still continue to give to her citizens advantages not enjoyed by any other state in the Union and yet cut down the taxes by judicious government and careful expenditures. The first step in this direction, he said, has already been made, when last year the State operated for the first time on a budget program. Although for many years Massachusetts had led in the manufacture of textiles, other states in the south were rapidly coming forward and constantly increasing their output. The shoe and leather industry also, was in danger of being curtailed. The Governor's remarks were eagerly listened to and he was accorded a big ovation at the close.

The election of officers resulted in the following unanimous ballot: President—Wilbur S. Locke. Vice-President—John A. Maddocks. Secretary—Fred A. Farnham. Treasurer—William E. Priest. Directors—William H. Rowe, Herbert G. Etheridge, Herbert J. Saabye. An entertainment followed the business meeting, a program of instrumental music, songs and dancing being given by Miss Elizabeth Otto, pianist; Miss Rose Chapman, soloist; Miss Olga Cappuccino, violinist; Eileen Kelly, singer and Dan Casey, stories and imitations.

Among those who attended the dinner were the following:

CLEMENT WILLIS CURRIER

Clement Willis Currier, who for nearly 60 years was in the produce business in Boston, died Sunday aged 73, at his home, 350 Broadway, Somerville. He had been ill about three months.

He was born in Winthrop, Me., March 17, 1849; came to Somerville in 1866 and lived there until 1890. From 1890 until 1904 he lived in Winchester. In the latter year he returned to Somerville and had been there ever since. For the last 15 years he was employed by E. E. Gray Company, Blackstone street, Boston.

Mr. Currier was a member of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange for approximately 50 years, a member of Lafayette lodge of Masons and of the First Congregational Church, Winchester. He is survived by three sons, George B. Currier of Pelham Manor, N. Y.; Clement W. Currier, Jr., of Melrose and Warren M. Currier of Los Angeles, and two sisters, Dr. Mary B. Currier-Woods and Miss Della L. Currier, both of whom lived with him in Somerville. The funeral was held Tuesday at 2 P. M., and the Rev. David Fraser of the West Somerville Congregational Church officiated. Burial was in Willowdale cemetery, Winchester.

EASTER LUNCHEON

The annual Easter Luncheon of the Mission Union Society held at the First Congregational Church last Tuesday was a great success. The entire arrangements were in the hands of Mrs. William Edlefson whose wonderful executive ability is well known to Winchester people.

The church vestry surely "breathed the breath of Springtime" with its decorations of yellow and lavender; forsythia, which hazel and iris were used in banking the mantles and centre table, while the centre pieces of the small tables were a birds' nest with the eggs and mother bird. Much praise is due Mrs. B. T. Morgan and Miss Alice Joy whose, painstaking efforts made this decoration possible.

A very able committee prepared a delicious collation which was served by the young ladies of the church under the direction of Mrs. H. T. West.

At its conclusion the guests were delightfully entertained by some of Winchester's talented artists.

Mrs. Edlefson had arranged and written a dialogue the characters including a mother and her two daughters, who had been away from home; the one studying music, the other elocution. Upon their return they gave a parlor entertainment for their mother.

The charming mother was beautifully portrayed by Mrs. William Hill, president of the Mission Union, while her two daughters, Mrs. Newell K. Morton, and Miss Brenda Bond, left nothing to be desired.

Dressed in Spanish Costume, Mrs. Morton sang "L'Amour est un Oiseau Rebelle" from Carmen. These two finished artists then gave the following selections alternately:

Dressed in Irish Costume, Mrs. Morton sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" Dressed in Japanese Costume "Un Bel Di Vedrum" from Madam Butterfly. The quality of her voice and her gracious manner could not fail to please any audience.

Miss Brenda Bond read "Happy Is the Bride the Sun Shines On"; "Spring Time", an encore; "The Highly Colored Sketch" by Marjorie Benson Cook and the "Frenchman's Version of Adam and Eve".

All were admirably given and the dialect selections were most entertaining and showed great talent.

The closing number was Annie Laurie sung by the Mother and her daughters, followed by the singing of Auld Lang Syne by the audience. Mrs. Grant accompanied for all the musical selections.

WHIST POSTPONED

The Whist Party which was to have been conducted on April 20, by the Catholic Daughters of America, has been postponed until Tuesday evening April 25 in White's Hall.

A Message to People in Poor Health Who Want to Be Well

If you are in poor health merely from a general run-down condition, get some Gude's Pepto-Mangan of your druggist and take it with your meals for a few weeks or until you feel right again. Pepto-Mangan is a wonderful tonic and blood-builder and is very pleasant to take. It does not act like a miracle. Its effects are gradual, but real and sure. It contains iron in a form easily digested and absorbed by the system. For thirty years Gude's Pepto-Mangan has been used by physicians as a tonic for run-down people. Don't continue to be weak, nervous, and headachy—take Gude's Pepto-Mangan and restore your good health. Thousands have been helped back to health by it—you can be benefited if you will accept this truth and act now. Sold in both liquid and tablet form.—Advertisement.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

Conversation overheard in a grocery store:

Customer: "Haven't got much money left—just paid my gas bill and you know what that means."

Merchant: "Sure do. That almost breaks a fellow nowadays."

Funny how such statements go unchallenged. For as a matter of fact, the average bill for gas service, or the bill for combined utility service, is the smallest necessary household expense there is!

Gas service is about the least expensive item in the housewife's budget; yet the average housewife could not do without it. And the same thing is true of the other essential public utility services. They are said to be second only to the two-cent postage stamp as the cheapest commodity purchasable by any man, woman or child.

The statement that a gas bill "almost breaks a fellow nowadays" is silly talk to those who know that the American people spend more for cigarettes and soda water than they do for gas service.

WINCHESTER WINS, 5 TO 0

Winchester High opened the season on Manchester Field, Wednesday afternoon by whitewashing Melrose High, 5 to 0. Winchester scored through the triple of Tansey in the first and again in the fifth inning through errors. Three runs in the sixth resulted from pitcher Matthews' double, errors of Melrose, another double by Kendrick and a single by F. Tansey.

The all around good playing of the Winchester Team delighted Coach Bond and he feels confident of turning out a winning team this season.

NO FISH IN RIVER

Mr. Marshall Symmes reported yesterday that he had fished the Aberjona River during the holiday in hopes of finding some indications of the trout which had been planted there last Fall. He says that he could find no signs of the trout, although he did find one or two dead shiners, evidently washed out of Weize Pond into the foul waters of the river, where they gave up the ghost. It appears that the trout did not long survive in the sewage of the river.

"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE THE SCIENCE OF RIGHT LIVING"

When looking, therefore, for a solution of the world's problems, need one look further than to an understanding of the teachings of the Master? Did he not set a standard of right living upon a divine basis which he declared he made it possible for all to follow? Did he not heal all manner of evil and disease through divine power and did he not teach his followers to do the same thing? Is it not evident then that Christian living involves not merely right ethical or moral conditions, but right physical and mental conditions as well; health, harmony and wholesomeness in every direction?

Christian Living Includes Healing

We thus see that Christian healing is undoubtedly an essential element in Christian living. From the inception of Christianity, however, only a few have accepted fully our Master's teachings, caught their spirit and manifested this Christ spirit in healing works notably the early Christians who, during the first three centuries of the Christian era, did such marvellous healing, and led such self-sacrificing and consecrated lives, until the time when Christianity was engulfed in formalism and its vital spirit was quenched. One reason why so many do not believe in Christian healing is because it is difficult for the human mind to see and admit that a mere mental effort, such as prayer, faith, and right thinking, can bring about a physical change. Yet this is what our Master's teachings and his practice involve.

It is evident that Christ Jesus considered this healing work an indispensable factor of his ministry; indeed he made it a test of Christian discipleship, for he said, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also;" a statement which clearly means that he who is a Christian will be able to heal spiritually. Moreover, he made no distinction between the healing of sin and of disease. He said, for example, to the impotent man whom he had healed of a serious physical condition, "Go and sin no more, lest a worse thing come upon you," unmistakably implying that the disease had been due to sin, and definitely stating that continued indulgence in sin will result in a worse form of disease.

Healing Understood Spiritually

Since, therefore, Christian healing is such an integral element of our Master's Christianity and is thus essential to the demonstration of Christian living, it is important to understand it. The Bible says that spiritual things must be spiritually discerned, and since Christian healing is accomplished spiritually, no other means being used, it is evident that it can be explained, understood and demonstrated only spiritually, that is, from a spiritual basis. Physical science and medical science cannot possibly explain the healing work done by Christ Jesus and by his immediate followers, nor by Christian Scientists today, for these opposite methods have nothing whatever in common.

Since all have been educated to look at things materially, and since it is impossible to understand Jesus' teachings and works from that basis, it is evident that a new point of view must be obtained, one, that is to say, apart from the physical, and therefore in the realm of the Christianly metaphysical or spiritually mental, for it is evident that his healing work was all accomplished mentally.

In gaining this new viewpoint it may be necessary to engage in a line of thought to which some have not been accustomed. Therefore I must ask such to be patient and indulgent while this new viewpoint is considered.

It is not, of course, the purpose here to attempt to prove that healing was accomplished by Jesus and by his disciples or that it is accomplished today by Christian Scientists, since this fact is already well established. The endeavor will be to explain away some of the difficulties involved in accepting it and to show the possibility of healing the world's miseries through spiritual means.

Nature of Human Existence

First it is necessary to make a brief analysis of the nature of so-called human existence in order to gain some understanding of what constitutes human consciousness, that we may learn what it is that mortals seem to be, what the world appears to be in which they seem to live, and what the conditions which are to be overcome, for then, and then only, can be seen what is involved in Christian healing and in the demonstration of the Science of right living.

A moment's thought will show us that mortals are conscious of existence mentally and only so, for everything that enters into their life, all activities and experiences, enters it mentally through some action of thought, for do they not think what they see, hear, feel, smell or taste? We are conscious only of mental impressions presenting themselves as mental concepts which are accepted as existence. Thus it is seen that human existence is wholly mental.

From this it follows that the condition and state of human existence is largely due to that of human consciousness. This conclusion, moreover, cannot be avoided when we consider existing differences in personal characteristics, in educational bias, environment, association and experience, and see what a widely varying sense of existence these differences produce in different individuals. For example, two persons may live in a home,—one may think it very beautiful and comfortable, and wish to remain in it, while the other is unhappy and wishes to move away from it,—the same home. In every-day experience we learn that no two members of any group of persons, if asked their impression of any incident appealing to the material senses, will give similar accounts. Each one can give only his own mental impression.

Human Existence Relative

Indeed, it is a demonstrable fact that no two persons see the same object exactly alike. The lenses of people's eyes are all said to be slightly different, which results in different images being thrown upon their retinas; and more especially the quality of the perceptive faculties is very different. Each person always sees only his own concept. In other words, we experienced mental impressions, the character of which is largely due to that of our own mentality, and these impressions are accepted as human existence. Therefore, what is called the material universe is for each one of us but a material concept of the universe, an individual impression of it, the way it appears through the five physical senses. And as it is never exactly the same with any two persons, obviously this material sense of the universe is not absolute but is relative, variable, impressionistic.

Prof Einstein, in his theory of relativity, has proved through mathematical computation and physical experimentation, that material existence is relative, that the mass, or quantity of substance, of an object, for example, is dependent upon its velocity, that the universe is conceptual, and that we see all things from our own point of view or our "frame of reference," as it is called mathematically. He claims, moreover, to have proved that time and space are purely relative, which means that they have no absolute existence. It is true that many agreements have been made in education,—a yardstick, for example, is an accepted measure of length,—but the yardstick seems very different to a child from what it does to an adult.

Physical Sense Testimony False

Since the five physical senses play so important a part in the formation of so-called physical sense of existence, it is necessary to analyze them in order to determine whether they can be depended upon. In the case of sight, for example, if one looks at a straight railway track, the rails seem to converge, but this appearance is not true, for they are parallel. A large house seen in the distance appears to be a small house, but this again is not true. Such examples prove that the sense of sight testifies falsely and requires corrections and explanations before intelligent concepts can be formed.

So also in the case of hearing, echoes and sounds in the distance are deceptive until they are explained and corrected. In the same way it is well known how often we have been and how easily we can be deceived through the other senses, the senses of touch, taste and smell.

Now if a business man has five employees whose daily reports he cannot accept without making many corrections and allowances, will he have implicit confidence in these employees in every other respect? Certainly not, for we know how hard it is ever to believe a person again who has misled us once. Then is it sensible or logical to have such implicit confidence in the testimony of the five physical senses when it is known that they testify falsely all the time? Should we not rather be eager for further corrections that we may not be deceived by them at all?

It is very important to see that the five physical senses cannot perceive truth; consequently, anything that is true. For example, suppose two persons to be looking at a mathematical computation, one understands mathematics and the other does not. Would they both see the truth involved by simply looking at the physical figures with their physical eyes? Certainly not, for mathematical truth can be seen only through mathematical understanding, and those who do not have this understanding cannot see this truth, no matter how long they may look at the figures.

For the same reason, the five physical senses cannot perceive absolute Truth. They cannot, in other words, see God, Spirit, Mind, Soul, Love,—they certainly cannot see Principle, for Truth can be seen only through the understanding, spiritual understanding,—a faculty entirely apart from physical sense. If, therefore, the five physical senses cannot see Truth, it follows conclusively that what they do see is not true.

Mental Nature of Existence

Those who have studied physics and chemistry, have been taught that any material object may through mechanical, chemical and electrical processes, be reduced to a mere form of energy,—to infinitesimal units of electrical force vibrating with great velocity. Since then a material object is an aggregation of units of force, nothing else having entered into its composition, it must be simply force. Mrs. Eddy writes in her text-book: Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, (page 484), "Physical force and mortal mind are one." Therefore, any material object is wholly mental.

Those who have studied psychology and philosophy know that the only evidence of the existence of a material object is a mental concept. Thus so-called material consciousness experiences various mental impressions appearing as objectified mental concepts and these constitute what is known as material existence, there being no other evidence of its existence whatsoever. Thus we see that not only is such existence wholly mental, but also that everything that enters into it is mental and even that matter itself is but a mental phenomenon.

It is very important to recognize this mental nature of mortal existence, for otherwise it is impossible to understand the teachings of Christ Jesus, and especially his healing work.

In the initial step thus far taken no reference has been made to the teachings of Christian Science, except the one brief quotation which has been introduced from Mrs. Eddy's text-book. I have simply called your attention to, or reviewed, if you please, what is common knowledge, that is, what everybody knows or can know by going to school, by reading, and by thinking along the lines pointed out. It is true that I have correlated this knowledge in perhaps an unusual way, but this has been done for the purpose of showing the mental nature of material existence, which any one can convince himself of through simple human reasoning based upon common knowledge.

Appreciating the difficulty involved and realizing that Christian healing is an essential element of our Master's Christianity and is vital to the demonstration of Christian living, an endeavor should be made to understand this particular point a little more clearly. Therefore, a few of what seem to be points of greatest difficulty will now be considered, and some of the teachings of Christian Science introduced.

Matter Not Substance

First, the universal belief in matter as substance, which hinders the apprehension of the unsubstantial nature of matter as taught in Christian Science, and which makes it so difficult for many to accept Christian Science. This difficulty causes many to say that Christian Science may be very helpful for mental or nervous diseases, but cannot possibly be successful in organic or structural diseases, a position in which, of course, they are wrong.

Now what is substance supposed to be? It is that of which things are made, that which gives them their being, their body, their structure, and so on, and that which prevents them from being destroyed. The dictionaries define substance as that which is substantial, that which has real, lasting, perpetual existence; that which is actual and not illusory, from which it follows that real substance must be that which is indestructible and permanent. Does matter come up to these specifications and requirements? Is it not a fact that all material things can be destroyed, and, if let alone, will they not naturally decay and disintegrate? Does this not prove that matter is not substance, since it has no lasting, perpetual existence?

It was shown a moment ago that an apparently substantial material object could be reduced to a form of energy; though even this, it should be remembered, is mainly a theory. Then is such a material object actual or illusory? If the physical scientists themselves do not know what a physical object is, and they certainly do not, may we not doubt their theories regarding it? Then if matter is not substance, what is it? Is there anything that is indestructible and eternal? Yes, Truth. Take, by way of analogy, the mathematical idea that two and two make four. This is mathematically a true idea with real, lasting existence. Therefore, this idea is substantive, for the fact that two and two make four cannot be destroyed. It is also evident that truth is that which makes things what they are, gives them their being and prevents their being destroyed. Thus it is seen that truth is substance, and therefore wholly mental, and that eternal, indestructible, real substance, is divine Truth, the divine actuality, the infinite Being. Mrs. Eddy teaches that Truth is spirit and that this divine Spirit, which is infinite, indestructible, eternal, is real substance, the substance of which God made all "that was made," is, in fact, that which constitutes all real being. It is this infinite, indestructible, divine substance of Spirit, Truth, which is counterfeited by the finite concept called matter, but which exists entirely apart from matter.

Appearance Not Real

Another point of difficulty lies in the finite, dimensional appearance of things which certainly makes them seem very real. Let us look at this also from a mathematical angle. Take, for example, the mathematical idea of quantity, seven. There is but one seven, and all may have that one by knowing it. This seven can be used just as much as may be needed or desired and it will not wear out, neither can any one be deprived of the use of it. It is everywhere and one cannot go anywhere in the universe and not find seven, showing that it is a universal and omnipresent idea; it is wholly mental; it has its own individuality and identity, because it cannot be confused with anything else; it is indestructible as idea; no element of time or space is involved in it for it does not take any time for seven times one to make seven, and we can remain in one place and know all there is in mathematics, a fact which illustrates the great verity that all there is of truth is present everywhere, this being a fundamental characteristic of infinity, in which there is neither space nor time, since the finite is no part of the infinite.

This mental idea, seven, is represented to finite sense by means of a finite line, which is called a figure seven and which is learned as a seven. Obviously this is not a seven at all, but a representation, a counterfeit, an imitation seven,—a mere symbol,—imperfect and unstable, which gives no correct concept of the quantitative mathematical value everywhere present. Furthermore, whatever may be done to the numeral, will not affect the idea, for even if the numeral is destroyed, it can be reproduced. Now there is very nearly the same relationship between the finite, material concepts of the physical universe and the infinite, spiritual ideas of God's universe as there is between the figure seven and the idea seven.

Mrs. Eddy has been much maligned because she has called attention to this great fact. Yet we know that if we look at a man through a piece of bent glass we shall see a deformed man, and if we do not know any better, we shall think he is a deformed man; whereas, if we get a look at the man apart from the glass we shall see that he is a normal man. That is precisely what Mrs. Eddy has done for us. She has shown us God as He is, also the real man and the real universe, so that we can understand that the finite, distorted concepts obtained through the five physical senses are not real.

Attention must here be called to the fact that mathematics, the human concept of the science of numbers, is not spiritual. It is here used simply as a stepping stone from the concrete to the abstract, to make it easier for some to reach the metaphysical.

Matter Not Life

Still another point of difficulty is the belief, or claim, which merely means the demand made upon us for belief, that there is life in matter and that life depends upon matter. Let us examine the question for a few moments. It is a fact that one of the fundamental characteristics of real life is continuity of existence. In the light of our analysis, can this be predicated of matter? Does it not appear that all material things begin, live for a span, die, decay, disintegrate? Is not this indeed the recognized routine of material living? But is this really living at all? Obviously it is not.

If matter had life, would it not sustain itself? Then since all that is material dies, decays, disintegrates, does this not prove that matter has no life? If matter cannot sustain itself, how can it sustain us? When we eat matter food, do we eat life? Do we not eat what is dead? Then can we get life from its opposite, death? Can we get light from its opposite, darkness? Is it sensible then, for it certainly is not logical, for us to depend upon matter for life when it has no life to give us? Are we not leaning upon a broken reed when we do so? The chemical action which results from the eating of material food, and which produces a certain electrical activity called physical life, is really not life at all, since it has no continuity of existence. Then if matter is not life what is?

God is Life

The Bible declares, and frequently implies, that God is our life. In the Bible it is also stated that "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." (Matt. 4:4), and Jesus said that he came "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." (John 10:10.) Now what is that life? Since God is, he is Truth and continues to be. What God creates is, is true and continues to be. Therefore, truth is continuity of being, and it follows that Truth is Life, and Life is Truth. Consequently real Life is divine Truth, the great I Am, immortal, infinite, conscious being God.

"A gallery gave access to the main rooms on the first floor, and the butler made for the spacious drawing room, which had three windows facing west and two north. All of these opened on to a balcony, protected by a wrought-iron railing. The door was situated near the south wall.

"Mostly lying on the floor—three being sprawled awkwardly across a long dining room table—were thirteen young men, all in evening dress, all apparently sodden with alcohol, and quite insensible.

"Then the butler sniffed, not willingly, it is true, and rather with an air of an expert testing some suspected compound.

"That's neither champagne, nor whiskey, nor brandy, nor any liqueur that I know of," he muttered. "I wonder what it can be?"

"In a large glass bowl, nearly filled with water, and standing on a high, but narrow, round table, was a plump goldfish, floating on its back—quite dead.

"The butler was thoroughly scared now. He hurried to the upper end of the room and knelt by his master's side, lifting his head and speaking to him.

"Wake up, Mr. Van Cortland!" he said, quite loudly. "Wake up, sir! It's nearly half-past seven."

"The sound of his own voice was almost affrighting. It seemed wholly out of place in that room of awe. Then as gently as he had handled the goldfish, he lowered Van Cortland's head to the rug, for his young employer would not wake up in this world. He, too, was dead. There was no doubting it. Eyes, mouth, lips, were eloquent witnesses of the great silence.

"After a pause of breathless horror, the butler nerved himself to conduct a hurried examination of each of the remaining occupants of the room. He assured himself that they were alive, but insensible. They reminded him of men under the influence of an anesthetic, and the conceit added to his distress. Pulling himself together, in the manner of one accustomed to military drill, he stepped over the body of one of the revellers, and stretched a hand toward a decanter half filled with liqueur brandy.

"But he drew back.

"No," he muttered. "That won't do. This is no time for Dutch courage. God only knows what will happen if I make a mistake now. I must keep my head clear until this affair is out of my control for good and all."

"Again he glanced around the room. Beyond the raising of the blinds and the quickly abandoned effort to restore Van Cortland's consciousness, he had literally touched nothing, he assured himself. Nothing, except—

"By jing!" he said. "I am forgetting the goldfish. Poor thing. Why should it have been killed, too?"

"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE THE SCIENCE OF RIGHT LIVING"

The Bible teaches further that God is the Creator; therefore He is Principle for Principle is basis foundation, cause, origin. Principle is that which is, that which manifests itself as idea, the basis of all law and right action. Therefore Principle is absolute, self-existent, dependent solely upon itself, independent of all else, unaffected by any modifying conditions or influences. Since God is Life, Life is Principle, and is absolute, depending solely upon itself, upon its own immortal being, independent of all else and unaffected by matter or by any condition, state or belief of matter.

Even as mathematical truth is not affected by anything which may be done to the figures, so the real life of man cannot be disturbed by what may be done to its material appearing or symbol. Life is therefore neither in matter, nor of matter. It is God's very being and nothing else.

The Bible declares through St. John that "God is Love," therefore real life is divine Love, and thus we see that there is but one infinite, eternal, divine Life which is indestructible Truth, absolute Principle, immortal Love.

Real Life Bases Right Living

Now which would we rather have if we were given the choice? The unsatisfactory, uncertain, mortal belief of life, or the perfect, divine, immortal Life? We really are given that choice, and we should never lose sight of this fact, for whether we believe it or not, God made man in His image and likeness, therefore man reflects the divine Life, and we have only to awaken to this truth to experience the blessings it involves.

How then can we do this? Once more reasoning by analogy from mathematics, we know that when we think rightly of the multiplication table, that is to say, when we become conscious of its truth, then we know it, we reflect it and it is ours by reflection; we have it because we know it. Similarly, when we think rightly of God, then we become conscious of divine truth, then we know divine Life, we reflect it, it is ours by reflection; we have it because we know it. What said Jesus,—"This is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." Therefore, according to Jesus, knowing God is real living, and since Mrs. Eddy has made it possible for all to know God aright and to know rightly His Son, Christ Jesus, we can begin here and now to have in us the spirit of Life which was in Christ Jesus, as St. Paul declares, a state of consciousness which is indeed needed so badly today.

What a great change would take place if all were to begin to reflect that divine Life and to live in obedience to Principle, instead of believing that there is life in matter and depending upon it! Would it not make a great change in the whole world if all would just begin to have that Life and to live it? Would it not eventually solve all the world's problems?

The Science of right living is, therefore based fundamentally upon the knowing of what real Life is and on the living of that Life. There is no other way of demonstrating Christian living. Mrs. Eddy has made it possible for all to begin to do this and Christian Scientists testify gratefully to the fact that they have begun to know that Life and have already experienced great blessings therefrom, and they are rejoicing at its infinite possibilities.

The knowing of what real Life is has a very marked healing effect to which attention should here be called. Suppose, for example, a man were on a sick bed, having been given up by many physicians, pronounced incurable and with no further material remedies available, hopeless, helpless, despairing, gazing perhaps into the dark, dismal cavern of an uncertain beyond. Suppose now that some one were to bring to that man a glimpse of his real life, telling him of this one infinite, eternal, divine Life which is Truth, Principle, Spirit, Love, the Life which is the life of man and which matter cannot possibly take away from him. Might not that man begin to listen, and as he listens would he not turn away from belief in material dying to belief in spiritual living? Would not his eyes brighten as a consequence, the color return to his cheeks, activity be resumed and the man be healed? Thousands have been healed in just that way, many of them while reading Mrs. Eddy's text-book, wherein she makes this point so very plain.

Healing A Mental Process

It was shown a moment ago, that human existence is wholly mental and that the conditions of this existence depend largely upon the condition of consciousness. Does it not follow then that with a change of consciousness, will come a change in the condition of existence? The body is just as mental as the rest of human existence, and fear, anger, and other strong emotions produce very decided and apparent effects upon it. A mortal's selfhood, his consciousness of being, is obviously mental. Therefore, his body, which is the embodiment and externalization of his mentality is mental.

Discordant conditions of the body are therefore due to discordant conditions of human sense, and it can be readily seen that, if the light of the Christ truth is brought to bear upon the dark, despairing consciousness of a sick, sinning, dying mortal, it will illumine it, brighten it with the divine light and tint it with the divine hues—a spiritual change which will be manifested as harmony of body as well as of mind.

Having thus come to see that so-called human existence and all that it includes is really humanly mental, one can begin to grasp the logic of the conclusion that all true healing of both evil and disease must be a mental process.

According to the Scriptural accounts, the healing wrought by the Master and his disciples was accomplished through mental or spiritual means alone, that is through some action of right thought. Christian Science healing is brought about in the same way. In both, the healing Principle and law are recognized as mental, and we will, therefore, consider briefly the nature of divine Mind and of true Mind action.

Christian Science teaches that Mind is much more than mere human thought or limited consciousness since it includes the cause and manifestation of all true existence. Real Mind, infinite consciousness, is the divine Being, which expresses true ideas and constitutes all reality; the intelligence and creative Principle and substance of the universe; the omnipresent good; the basis of all manifestation and right thought; the absolute Truth. Real thinking is therefore the activity of real Mind.

Discrimination Necessary

Since the human sense of mind is finite and is externalized as material discord, it is manifestly evil, and it is necessary to make a clear distinction between the Mind which is Truth and wholly good, and the consciousness which claims to embrace both truth and error, good and evil, between that which is actually real and that which only seems to be so. To become conscious of a sense appearance, furnishes no evidence of the reality of the appearance, as is illustrated by the vision of a mirage.

Truth is fundamentally infinite in quality, in quantity, in presence and in power. Therefore, all that is real and true is indestructible, everywhere, and eternally perfect. Human sense concepts resulting from matter and mortal belief involve limitation, uncertainty, discord, and death. This illustrates the difference between the actual and the seeming.

Again, the infinite is not an aggregation of the finite, it is not composed of finite quantities. Infinity can never be reached by adding together dimensional particles. The result obtained by such a process is always finite. Neither can the infinite be divided into finite particles, or be expressed in finite quantities, for the infinite is the direct opposite of the finite and since reality is infinite, the finite must be unreal.

It is possible then to distinguish between real Mind, which is infinite, immortal, spiritual, and which expresses itself in perfect, indestructible, harmonious ideas, and the so-called mortal mind which includes the belief in matter, evil, limitation, disease and death. This latter therefore is not real Mind, but is a false concept of mind, and hence its suppositional activity is not real thinking.

Real and Unreal Creation

The first chapter of Genesis gives an account of the creation in which God made all that was made and pronounced it "very good." The second chapter gives an entirely different account of creation based upon finite dust, a creation which is the result, as is stated therein, of the rising of a mist, and which is the exact opposite in every particular of the creation presented in the first record. As it is evident that both of these accounts cannot be true, and since the first describes the complete, perfect, divine creation, it follows that the second must be false because if the original creation was complete there could be no place for a second one.

The Bible relates that Adam fell into a deep sleep, but it does not say that he ever awakened, and Mrs. Eddy calls this second record the Adam-dream, and mortals the Adam dreamers. This second record is based upon the belief that there is substance, truth and life in matter, a belief which, in our analysis, has been shown to be impossible.

St. Paul called this material sense of existence the "carnal mind" and he says that it is "enmity against God," or, in other words, God's opposite, His absence. Does not this show that infinite God never created it, since He could not create His unlikeness, His enemy. His absence? Good cannot create its opposite, or absence, evil. Therefore, the beliefs of the carnal mind have neither place, presence, nor power; any more than has the schoolboy's erroneous belief that two times two make five, which is simply a false concept, having no existence.

Mrs. Eddy calls it mortal mind because of the very evident mortal nature of everything included in it, and in order to distinguish it from the immortal, perfect, divine Mind.

It follows then that the real universe is the expression or manifestation of the infinite, divine mind and partakes of the spiritual nature and quality of this Mind. The real, divinely created man, the image and likeness of God as he is defined in the first chapter of Genesis, is the expression of Mind, Spirit, Life, and Love, whom God pronounced good and to whom He gave dominion over the earth. Mortal man, defined in the second chapter of Genesis as created out of the dust of the ground is but a human corporeal concept of the mortal or carnal so-called mind.

Revelation Scientific

Mrs. Eddy did not reach her conclusion regarding the unreality of matter and the false nature of material existence, through human reasoning, as we attempted to do in the beginning of our analysis. This knowledge came to her through revelation. She saw that because there is one infinity of Spirit there is no place for its counterfeit, matter, even though a false sense may attempt to claim otherwise. Since there is one infinity of good, there is no place for its reversal, evil. Because there is one infinite, divine Mind,—one infinite, divine Life,—there can be no opposite.

The divine actuality is the scientific, spiritual basis on which all Christian Science healing is demonstrated, and upon which Mrs. Eddy established her Church and her Cause. The Scriptures, spiritually understood, reveal this truth, but Mrs. Eddy first stated it in scientific and metaphysical terms which, when understood, make it possible for anyone to begin to demonstrate it.

Consequently a very sharp line must be drawn between what God made and what He did not make, between the infinite, divine actuality and the finite, human seeming; in other words, between the real and the unreal. Unless this differentiation is clearly made, thought is not spiritual, for Spirit is Truth, and we cannot think spiritually unless we know Truth.

Healing a Corrective Process

Thus it is seen that Christian Science healing is fundamentally a corrective process wherein the falsity of discordant material conditions becomes evident from the basis of absolute Truth. It involves knowing divine Truth, recognizing human error and applying Truth to the error. It is evident that if divine Truth comes into consciousness, a change will be brought about, right concepts will be established in the place of wrong concepts, and harmony will be externalized. Knowing that sin is not real and that God's man has no sinful appetites and is not the slave of passion nor the victim of vice, but that man is the idea of God, reflecting divine Love and governed by divine Principle,—this heals the sinner.

It is helpful to know that error has no location, a fact which may be illustrated by recognizing that two and two do not make five anywhere. Also that we can never know error;—we can never know, for instance, that two and two make five; we can only believe that they do. We can know only Truth. If therefore we become conscious of Truth, the error naturally disappears.

It should be clearly understood that although Christian Science denies matter by revealing its unreality, it does not destroy the sense of existence. The denial of matter does not produce a blank, for matter cannot be effectually denied until the substance of Spirit begins to be apprehended.

How Truth Heals

It is often asked how and why Truth heals, that is, why healing follows the thinking of Truth, and especially how it heals others to whom it is declared and about whom it is known, since in Christian Science healing there is no transfer of mortal thought through mental suggestion or hypnotism.

Now by its very nature Truth is individual, since it has its own distinctive, complete, indivisible character which identifies it. Therefore it can express only itself, its own nature and character, namely, that which is true and truthful. Truth being infinite Principle, it is power and expresses itself with power, and since there is no power in error, error cannot resist the power of Truth. It is because of this essential quality and property of truth, by which it always expresses itself and identifies itself, manifesting its own being in truthfulness, that a mathematical truth corrects any mathematical error to which the truth is applied.

In a similar way, a metaphysical or spiritual truth applied to a human error, corrects that error because of the self-expressing property of Truth, whereby it always identifies itself when it is brought into action, and by this essential property of self-identification, it corrects error and establishes what is true and harmonious. A Christian Science treatment, or the scientific application of divine Principle, consists fundamentally of the clear knowing of the nature of God and of the real man, and the consequent perception of the unreality of matter and evil. It involves an analysis of that which is to be healed, an intelligent discernment of the mental causes of the trouble, and a correct application of the antidoting divine Truth which corrects and removes these supposed causes. It is not, therefore, a mere repetition of words, but it is a scientific mental process, the reflection of divine Love through spiritual knowing, which demonstrates the healing.

Denial of Matter Essential

It is an obvious fact that no one can be sick, miserable, sinning or dying were it not for the belief in matter. Hence, the great need of awakening from this illusion in order to be freed from the false bondage. Mrs. Eddy requires the First Readers in all Christian Science churches and societies to read from her text-book at each Sunday service, her scientific statement of being which includes a declaration of the unreality of matter; a requirement which constitutes a very timely reminder, and one which should be kept in mind always.

In one of my later interviews with Mrs. Eddy, she emphasized strongly the need of recognizing the mesmeric nature of matter. This has moved me to include an analysis of the subject in all my lectures, and in calling your attention emphatically to this subject, I feel that I am carrying out her wishes. We need to see that this belief in matter is the veil of the flesh which hides spiritual reality, and which must be rent before spiritual truth can be rightly seen and spiritual healing demonstrated.

Human Consciousness

It can now be seen that all aches and pains and misery are really not material at all but are merely false mental phenomena which have their seeming existence in the human consciousness, as Mrs. Eddy calls it. Hence it is in this consciousness that they must be healed through knowing the truth. Anyone can begin here and now to think what is right, true and good, and thus to neutralize the wrong. Mrs. Eddy has revealed absolute Truth and good. It is, therefore, possible at any time to detect what is not true and not good by comparing it with her divine standard. The truth can be applied to the error, to neutralize it and cast it out, and thereby gradually will be accomplished what St. Paul indicates when he says, "put off the old man with his deeds," which means the Adam-man the dust-man, the man typifying the false belief that there is life, truth, intelligence and substance in matter. Then, and not until then, can be put on the "new man," the real man, the Christ man, the man created in the image and likeness of God, by knowing the truth about this man. Thus we can begin here and now, to be transformed by the renewing of our mind, as St. Paul puts it, that is, by the renewing of our human consciousness.

When a man seems to be "down and out" he is as though he were in a deep, dark hole. If we speak to him and tell him how beautiful it is above we may catch his ear but unless we appeal to him in a way that reaches his human sense he is likely to remain in a hopeless state of mind, not believing that he can ever get out. What that man needs is a ladder which will reach down to his grasp, that is, something which he can get hold of and by means of which he can climb out. This saving power is the Christ, the divine Truth coming to the human consciousness through Christian Science, with which anyone can begin to work out his salvation, his deliverance from evil.

This human consciousness according to belief includes a sense of materiality and evil as well as of spirituality and good. It includes a sense of both right and wrong, both truth and error. It conceives of matter, of discord, of death, and yet can begin to perceive Spirit, harmony, life. It is the consciousness of the every-day man wherein he feels that he may be healed by the Christ, Truth; the consciousness wherein reformation and regeneration take place and to which Jesus appealed in his healing and teaching. Here it is that salvation is to be worked out; here that good can be brought to bear upon evil to destroy it; here that Truth can meet error and correct it. It is the consciousness which can begin to know God. Thus the Christ awakens us from the Adam dream.

Concerning this consciousness, Mrs. Eddy writes: "... the heavens and earth to one human consciousness, that consciousness which God bestows, are spiritual, while to another, the unilluminated human mind, the vision is material." (Science and Health, page 573.) She also writes:

"... sin and disease lose their reality in human consciousness and disappear as naturally and as necessarily as darkness gives place to light and sin to reformation. Now, as then, these mighty works are not supernatural, but supremely natural. They are the sign of Immanuel or 'God with us'—a divine influence ever present in human consciousness..." (Science and Health, page XI.) Think of it! A divine influence always present within, which makes it possible to be healed and saved, by having the Christ, Truth come to consciousness and there develop spiritual understanding, through right knowing and right living.

Mary Baker Eddy

Is it any wonder that Christian Scientists love Mrs. Eddy as they do and are so grateful to her, not only for her great discovery but because she has made it possible for them to begin to demonstrate its truth, to begin to understand Jesus' teachings and to experience his promises? Her uplifted human consciousness was so closely allied to God through simple goodness, that she was enabled to perceive the divine idea—the nature of spiritual being—and this vision of perfect God, perfect man, perfect being made her the discoverer of this hitherto unknown Science underlying all true existence. Her one great objective through many years was to know God, to find the infinite source of good, to understand the true nature of being, that healing might come to burden-bearing humanity. Her single-mindedness untempered by the world, undimmed by the weakness of the flesh, undaunted by the enmity of evil, held her true to her ideal and brought her to the longed-for goal, the demonstrable working understanding of the Christ-method, with unmistakable signs following.

The marvel of these modern times is not, the phenomenal rapidity and variety of material development, but the spiritual appearing to the transparent thought of one pure-minded woman, of the Christ, Truth, revealing the universe of infinite Mind and its ever-present reflection.

Christian Scientists recognize Mrs. Eddy as the discoverer and founder of Christian Science because of her preparedness and because they have been able to demonstrate the truth of her teachings. This latter fact is a very important point, because any one can prove its truth for himself. When a school boy proves that two times ten is one hundred he virtually proves that a thousand times a thousand is a million, although this latter quantity may be beyond his mental grasp. So Christian Scientists in demonstrating simple fundamentals—rove the truth of Mrs. Eddy's entire revelation. In what an unfortunate position then is a person who declares that the teachings of Christian Science are not true, when he himself could prove that they are true, if he only would.

Because Mrs. Eddy has revealed the wonders of infinite Truth, Christian Scientists recognize the fact that she must have understood divine Mind, God, in a transcendent degree, and hence was far more capable than any one else of declaring what should be done with her Church and her Cause. They are eager, therefore, to know what she teaches and advises in order that they may be benefited by the wisdom of her superior spiritual understanding, an understanding so far above their own.

Her Writings Her Interpreter
They are seeking the revelation as the revelator has given it knowing that their safety lies in doing this. They study Mrs. Eddy's writings very thoroughly, and more carefully than ever before, in order to make sure, by securing an interpretation of them directly from her own words, that they are really gaining a correct understanding of them, and are thereby avoiding the great danger of misinterpretation by some uninspired human thought. Mrs. Eddy needs no interpreter other than her own words.

In pursuing this study, Christian Scientists use very largely her two concordances, books which contain nearly all the words in her writings. If they wish to know what Mrs. Eddy's thought is regarding any question or if they are seeking light upon a problem of their own, upon some disputed point, or upon some religious teaching, they look up in these concordances the words involved, read and ponder the use which Mrs. Eddy makes of these words in all her books, carefully study the meanings with which she uses them, and make accurate differentiation between the human and divine; then they invariably receive a scientific, spiritual thought which will be a satisfying one to them if they are honest, if they are really seeking the revelation.

Do we not see then, why Christian Science is truly the Science of right living? It involves the knowing of Truth which is the Principle of right living, the recognition of the deceptive character of matter and evil, the cause of wrong living, and the operation of the divine healing law, the law of divine Principle, which makes the healing of all evil tendency possible. This is established moral and physical health, thus is inculcated a true love for God, for His Christ, and for man, and thus is bestowed the blessing resulting from Christian living.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." (Phil. 4:8.)

By thus reflecting divine Truth and Love, we have begun to heal ourselves to help others and to benefit the whole world.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY

On May 12th, the Winchester Hospital will open its doors to celebrate the second Annual National Hospital Day, commemorating the 102nd birthday of that great pioneer of nursing, Florence Nightingale.

A year ago the leading hospitals of the United States and Canada established this "Day" and entertained over a quarter of a million people demonstrating to them just what modern hospital service means. Three hundred of these from this section were guests of your Winchester Hospital. This year it is interesting to know that this movement for the education of the public concerning hospitals and hospital service has crossed the ocean to England and even Australia.

One of the finest and most humane products of our civilization is the modern hospital. Among these your Winchester Hospital ranks with the best. It is working to capacity every day and believing it will interest you to see it in operation it extends to the general public of Winchester a most cordial invitation to be guests of the hospital from 2 to 4:30 p. m. on May 12th.

Tea will be served in the nurses' home and motors will meet guests to take them to the hospital and return at stations to be announced later.

INNOVATION FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

President Edmund C. Sanderson has announced a new idea for the regular meetings of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce commencing next Tuesday, May 24. This is to replace the regular evening meeting by a noon luncheon followed by a brief instructive talk on interesting matters.

This idea has proved very satisfactory in several cities and towns and President Sanderson believes it will be a pleasing change for the local organization.

At the luncheon next Tuesday, which will be held in Lyceum Hall at 12 o'clock, there is to be a moving picture exhibit furnished by the New England Tel. & Tel. Co.

BACON STREET BRIDGE TO BE BUILT SOON

The Legislature passed the bill for the building of a new bridge over the Aberjona River on Bacon street Tuesday, the appropriation of the cost to be borne is 25 per cent by the State, 25 per cent by the County and 50 per cent by the Town. It is estimated that the bridge will cost about $28,000. It will be a concrete arch with stone facing and carry a 60-foot roadway. Preparations are underway for an early start in the work upon the ratification of the act by the Senate.

NEW TRAIN TIME MONDAY

The new train time on the railroad will go into effect Monday with the change in Massachusetts time. Patrons of the railroad should not forget that railroad timetables will show all trains arriving and leaving one hour earlier than our Massachusetts time. Convenient pocket timetables, arranged on Massachusetts time, may be obtained of the Winchester Trust Co.

The trains will run in general on the present schedule, there being only one change on the outward trains and that being in the arrival time. In the inward schedule the 1:06 p. m. will leave at 1:08; the 2:20 at 2:23; the 3:20 at 3:31; the 10:36 has been discontinued and a new train will leave at 11:27. It should be noted that the 10:39 p. m. inward train leaves as usual. Sunday trains for Boston show a slight change in that the present 5:44 train will leave at 5:39; the 8:03 at 7:54 and the last train now leaving at 10:29, will leave at 11:34.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

A most interesting lecture was given in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, April 25th, by Lt. Col. Charles Wellington Furlong entitled "The Passing of the Old West." An audience of about five hundred people were present when President Merton P. Stevens of the Boy Scout Council took the platform and in a most appropriate introduction presented Colonel Furlong to his audience.

The inspiration to the speaker of active Boy Scouts in our town occupying the front seats led him to remark that the scout movement in Winchester was certainly full of pep. He spoke to the boys of the activities of the scouts as he had seen them in all parts of the world, gradually referring to scouts he had seen in Constantinople, Turkey, and also a troop of Spanish Boy Scouts whom he had met climbing one of the large mountains in the Canary Islands. The scout movement to him was very interesting and he told the boys to be manly boys and not to grow up to be boyish men, that the forming of character and standards which they were taught as scouts were well worth the time and effort put into the scout activities to help them fill their place in our country.

The lecture of the evening was a chapter taken out of the history of the Old West and its telling was a most dramatic and thrilling narrative. The beautiful colored slides of different scenes throughout the West on the plains and cattle ranches held the undivided attention of the audience. The moving pictures which had been taken at the famous Round-Up at Pendleton, Oregon, certainly made one hold their breath and feel for the safety of the participants in these vigorous contests, in which cow boys, cow girls and Indians took part.

The lecture was distinctly American in its subject, spirit and character and was an inspiration to every one that attended. The daring and skill as shown by these men who helped to develop the West in its making certainly calls for the admiration of everyone for the men who were pioneers in this country.

The narrative as told by Lt. Colonel Furlong covered a period of almost two hours and can be considered as fine a lecture as has ever been the opportunity of our young people to hear in our home town.

Lt. Colonel Furlong has now written of his experience in this Western country in a book entitled "LET 'ER BUCK." This book can be obtained at book stores and would make most interesting reading for young and old and a most ideal gift for boy or girl scout for Christmas or birthday.

The lecturer was obtained through the Entertainment Committee of the Scouts who are to be congratulated in obtaining such an interesting speaker, this Committee consisting of Mrs. F. C. Alexander and Mrs. L. M. Crowell.

The Winchester Boy Scouts' swimming team scored 43 points as follows: John Martin, 13 1/2; William Martin, 12 1/2; Raymond Bartlett, 6 1/2; John Kenerson, 6 1/2; Arvard Walker, 5 and Henry Knowlton, substitute, beat the swimming team of Troop 8, Cambridge 43 points to 17.

The features were the allround work of John Martin; the speed swimming of Wm. Martin who won two firsts; the beautiful diving of Raymond Bartlett; the long distance swimming of John Kenerson who won the 100-yd. swim in fast time and the underwater swimming of Arvard Walker who swam 83 feet under water, a great feat, winning that event.

The Cambridge team wants a return match.

Troop 1

Governor's Proclamation—John Davey
Talk on Forest Protection—Joseph Flaherty Violin Solo—Thomas Gagliotti Arbor Day Poem—Gwendolen Wendle Singing—School

Certificates for speed and skill in typewriting have been awarded this week to the following members of the second year class.

From the Remington Company—Michael Connolly, average 30 words for 10 minutes. From the Underwood Company—Mary Stone, average 34 words for 15 minutes, Joseph O'Connor 35 words for 15 minutes.

Members of the Senior Class studying American History under the direction of Mr. Hall visited Boston, Thursday and very much enjoyed the opportunity to see the State House and the workings of the Legislature. Their schedule ran about as follows:
9:06 train from Winchester.
10:00 Assembly in "Hall of Flags."
10:15 to 12:00 Visit with the Governor, tour of State House under the able guidance of Civil War Veteran, Mr. Hall of Arlington, Council Room, Senate and House, State Library, and certain executive departments, special historical objects.

Between 12:00 and 2:00 the class divided into groups to visit Committee hearings, and Court House, where municipal and superior courts were in session. 2:00 to 4:00 Observation of legislative process in House and Senate.

The chief object of the trip this year was to observe the legislative process and the departmental work. The demonstration of the boys' classes in physical training under the direction of Mr. Higbee will be held tonight at eight o'clock in the Town Hall. This shows the regular class work, but promises to have many interesting features.

GUESTS' NIGHT OF THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Annual Guests' Night of the League of Women Voters arranged by Mrs. Bradley, Chairman of Legislation and her able committee, and held at the home of Miss Frances Elder on Myopia Hill, Friday evening proved both pleasurable and profitable to a large number of members and their guests. In introducing the speaker, Mr. George Grafton Wilson, head of the Department of International Law at Harvard University and counsel at the Peace Conference at Washington, Prof. Zueblin paid a beautiful tribute to Mr. Elder. (Mr. Wilson held the same position at the Washington conference that Mr. Elder held at The Hague Conference.) As he developed his subject, World Politics, Mr. Wilson gave a graphic picture of the whole political situation. He spoke of the problems of the conference as only one in personal touch with those about the conference table could.

The address was followed by a most delightful social hour in which all enjoyed the generous hospitality of the hostess and the genial fellowship of friends and neighbors.

AUTO STRUCK TREE

The fine old elm tree in Church street at the Winchester Trust Company figured in another accident Tuesday night when it was struck by a Buick coupe. Fortunately the tree was not injured. The coupe was owned by Theodore Learned of Everett and was driven by William J. Wright of the same city. It was badly wrecked. Wright had no explanation to offer for the accident.

WINCHESTER MOTHER'S ASSOCIATION

The regular monthly meeting was held Wednesday afternoon in the High School Assembly Hall.

The following by-laws were presented by the committee previously appointed and were accepted by the members present.

Article I Name.
This Association shall be called the Mother's Association of Winchester, Mass.

Article II Object.
The object of the Mother's Association shall be to help Mothers in the training of their children by helpful, informal talks, and to bring parents and teachers together, in order that a closer relationship between the Home and the School may be established.

Article III Officers.
The officers shall be a President, 2 Vice Presidents, a Secretary and a Treasurer, also an executive board, consisting of two representatives from each church and two members of the Teachers Club. These officers shall be elected annually.

Article IV Membership.
A mother, teacher or any woman having supervision of children may become a member of the Association by the payment of the annual dues of twenty-five cents.

Article V Meetings.
Meetings of the Association shall be held on the third Wednesday of each month, excepting when holidays occur on that date and in July and August when all regular meetings shall be omitted. A special meeting may be held at any time at the call of the President or a majority vote of Mrs. Clarence Dunham rendered three solos, followed by the speaker members of the Executive Board, for the afternoon. Prof. George Johnson of Harvard, whose subject was "Playgrounds."

Play is a great factor in the life and physical development of a child and Prof. Johnson showed the progress made in playgrounds since the beginning of this century and of the great benefit derived from them.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the Social Committee, Miss Perham and Miss Weeks presided at the table which was artistically decorated with the spring flowers.

NOT IN ISSUE

To the Editor of the Star:

In view of the various discussions and various votes, it may be helpful to the citizens to know that on the proposed referendum the following questions are NOT in issue.

1. Borrowing beyond the debt limit. This was settled by the two-thirds vote of April 3rd; not reconsidered; not subject to referendum because at the session of April 3rd no voters were excluded.

2. Sites. Unanimously approved by School Building Program Committee and by Finance Committee and settled by two-thirds vote of session of April 3rd; not reconsidered; not subject to referendum (see above).

3. The type of building, whether one or two stories, etc., left as always to the new Building Committee (to be appointed) to decide after full investigation with its own architects and builders.

4. Washington and Highland Schools. There is no proposal pending and cannot be until a new Committee is appointed to investigate and report on sites, estimated expense, etc., unless the School Department takes the matter up and reports.

5. Junior High. Already rejected by vote on April 10th, is in no way connected with the proposed referendum.

6. Total cost or total tax on any given property over the twenty year period of the bonds. This remains the same under the vote for four buildings in two years as it would have been under the proposal for four buildings in four years. W. D. Sullivan.

FUNERAL OF LIEUT. RANDALL IS HELD

Many Pay Tribute To Victim of Quantic Tragedy

Funeral services for Lieut. Earle M. Randall, a victim of the Quantic tragedy were held from the Peaks Island Church last Friday afternoon. The edifice was filled with the relatives and friends of the family and a profusion of beautiful floral emblems were grouped around the casket which was draped with the National colors.

Rev. Allan MacNeill, an uncle of the deceased, a Presbyterian minister of New Jersey, and who served overseas preached a most impressive sermon.

The pall bearers, a platoon of officers from a local fort accompanied the remains to the grave in the family lot at the island cemetery where at the committal service every honor was paid the deceased.

SURPRISE PARTY

The Winchester Country Club was the scene of a pretty surprise party last Friday evening. The party was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Longmore by a group of young ladies who are present or past employees of the club.

The popular couple who have been connected with the club for many years, were presented with various articles of household furnishings, and a splendid evening's entertainment was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Longmore are soon to retire from active service at the club to take up their residence at Eastport, Me.

ATTENTION HIGHLAND DISTRICT

Editor of the Star:

Since the town meeting it becomes more and more evident that there is confusion in the minds of many of the voters, as to the real status of the present situation. We are facing a referendum vote, which many in the Highland District think may bring them some measure of relief. This is not so, for if there is an affirmative vote for reconsideration, it only means throwing the whole subject matter of the appointment of the Building Committee and the matter of time of constructing the four buildings, already voted, back for debate in a future Town meeting.

The Town meeting is dissolved and without the calling of a new meeting no building committee can be appointed. Result, we have voted to issue bonds, selected sites and ordered the Selectmen to sell these bonds and purchase the sites. Without a building committee the business stops and we have no schools built.

All that another Town meeting, if it is called can do, is to appoint a building committee and possibly dictate the period in which the buildings shall be constructed.

Now from the standpoint of the people of the Highland District any delay in this building program would seem to materially affect our chances to secure proper school accommodations. It is a self-evident fact that the Town as a whole is committed to the building of the four proposed schools and for the present are in no mood to consider the Highland District. The fate of the Highland District seems locked together with that of the Junior High School project, which is dead for this year.

Result, if the present committee vote stands we will have the four schools in two years. If the referendum is passed it may be four years or more before the Highland District can secure consideration.

It therefore is to the best interest of the Highland District to register a solid "no vote." I shall vote against reconsideration feeling strongly that this district will be served the sooner by such a vote.

Sewall E. Newman.

ELKS HAVE BIG TIME MAY 10TH

The newly formed Winchester Lodge of Elks will be instituted in the Town Hall on Wednesday, May 10th, at one of the biggest observances of its kind to take place in this section. Preparations are being made to care for 1000 visiting Elks. It is anticipated that members of the order will attend from every lodge in the State, the work being followed by a banquet and entertainment which will occupy the evening from 6 until 12 o'clock.

The new Winchester lodge will start with a charter membership of 85 members and a waiting list of as many more. State and national officers will be present, together with the entire suite from Woburn Lodge, which includes many Winchester men.

As the affair is strictly for the order, no visitors will be allowed to attend unless they are Elks. The banquet will be served by Schlehuber of Lynn and the entertainment will be given by some of the best artists in the State.

The local committee of arrangements is as follows:

Fred D. Clement, chairman; James Hinds, George T. Davidson, James J. Fitzgerald, T. Price Wilson, Fred H. Schell, Charles Ferrar, Charles J. Harold, Arnold Whittaker, Maurice Dinneen, George Harrold, Michael J. Dennen.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY

Do you know that the average sick person spends less than one third as much time in a Hospital as did his father? This interesting information came to light in connection with the arrangements of a program for National Hospital Day by your Winchester Hospital Day Committee, who in glancing through some old hospital statistics discovered that in 1894 the average stay of a patient in a hospital was nearly 40 days, 39 days and 12 hours to be exact. Today the average length of stay is 13 days, 1 hour and 26 minutes. These figures show in a graphic way just how much the hospitals have improved the service they render their communities.

Those who visit the Winchester Hospital on National Hospital Day will learn many other interesting facts in connection with present day hospital service. The Winchester Hospital is co-operating with other progressive institutions throughout the United States and Canada, England and Australia in a movement to acquaint the people with the real meaning of hospital service and to give them some idea of the great variety of equipment and the large personnel of highly trained executives, scientists, medical men and nurses required to treat the sick and injured.

The Winchester Hospital is working with the National Hospital Day Committee, Chicago, and has the endorsement of President Harding, Surgeon General Cummings of the United States Public Health Service and other leaders of public life in this important work of presenting to the public real facts concerning the hospitals place in the community.

SUMMER TIME MONDAY

The schedule of summer time will go into effect on Monday, the clocks being moved forward one hour Sunday night.

At the election of the Boston Parliamentary Law Club, held yesterday at the Hotel Victoria, Boston, Mrs. Emma P. Buckley was elected recording secretary, Mrs. Arthur E. Sanford, treasurer, Mrs. Herbert T. Maynard a member of the directorate and Mrs. H. W. Hildreth a member of the 1923 nominating committee.

$500 REWARD

Selectmen Make Offer for Slayer of Ralph Brewster

A week's work by State, railroad and local officers has failed to uncover the mystery connected with the murder of Ralph W. Brewster, night ticket agent at the Winchester railroad station, which occurred last week Thursday night. At their meeting Monday night the Board of Selectmen voted to offer a reward of $500 for the capture and conviction of the murderer.

Brewster was found in his office shot through the heart and the mouth. Two other shots had been fired at him which did not take effect. The only clues the police have had to work on are the four bullets which were evidently fired from an old fashioned .32 calibre revolver and a grey cloth hat picked up near the walk outside the station.

This hat bore a New Hampshire maker's trademark and efforts were made during the week to locate or find the owner but without success. Another hat, a green felt, was found between Winchester and Wedgemere on the railroad and was claimed by Mr. Walter W. Rowe, who stated that it was blown off as he passed from one car to another on an inward train.

It seems generally the opinion that Brewster was shot when he opened the door of his office. Some think the affair was an attempted hold-up and others a case of revenge. Brewster being shot in place of some other man.

Although nothing has yet come of their work, the officers are still making every effort to find the murderer.

WILLIAM H. WELDON DEAD

Mr. William Houghton Weldon, aged 69 years, for many years a well-known tailor of this town, died at the Winchester Hospital on Monday after an illness of two days. For a considerable time he had been in failing health, although able to attend to his business.

He was a native of Moncton, N. B., and had made his home in this neighborhood for the past 30 years, living for a time, many years ago, in Woburn. He was twice married, and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Harriet Weldon. He also leaves one son, Chester R. Weldon, and two stepdaughters, the Misses Ruth R. and Amelia M. Morrill. He was an Odd Fellow and a member of Waterfield Lodge of this town.

The funeral services were held from the rooms of the Methodist Church in Waterfield Building yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. A. B. Gifford, pastor of the church. There was present a delegation of Odd Fellows and business associates. The burial was in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

WANTS JANITOR SERVICE RETAINED

Editor of the Star:

The school board and others connected with the school are contemplating a change in Janitor service. Especially in regard to the High and Prince Schools. It seems to the writer of this article that they should let well enough alone and if they don't know why the service should stand as it is the writer will be glad to inform the school authorities at any time. Furthermore instead of interfering with these two schools why not dig with the entire janitor service and the case of schools and then after this investigation we probably would not hear so much about sanitary conditions and bad conditions of schools.

Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of St. Mary's Church, received $2000 in the purse which was presented him last week at the Eastertide Festival.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

At the business meeting which preceded the regular fortnightly meeting, the following ladies were appointed as delegates to the Mass. Federation of Women Clubs to be held in New Bedford, May 23, 24, 25, by invitation of the New Bedford Women's Club: Mrs. Frank W. Cole, Mrs. Florence Scates, Reporting delegates, Mrs. William Hall, Mrs. Arthur E. Gates, Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott, Mrs. H. F. Simon.

The chair called attention to the Fortnightly Cook Book which has just been issued.

The following committee chairmen were appointed:

Social, Mrs. J. C. Kerrison.
Hospitality, Mrs. Ernest Keepers.
Courtesies, Mrs. Frank Cole.
Printing and Year Book, Mrs. A. W. Toppan.

Soldiers Welfare, Mrs. W. S. Emerson.

Room, Mrs. Lillian S. Mason.

Membership, Mrs. E. C. Sanderson.

Conservation, Mrs. A. W. Mudge.

Transportation (Club service exclusively), Mrs. Bowen Tufts.

Press, Mrs. George D. Cline.

The entertainment, a fashion show was contributed by William Filene's Sons, directed by Miss Harriet Ainsworth of Winchester, who called our attention to many interesting and important facts concerning dress.

The ladies were advised to plan carefully the spending of the clothing allowance—favoring quality rather than quantity and variety.

Three important points were—to find the personal asset and emphasize it, make our liabilities, assets and judge our own need.

Miss Ainsworth put especial stress in the need of pressing the garment and attending to the shoe, before it had lost its original line.

The popular colors are white, blues and browns, while midnight blue combined with beige is favored for either afternoon or informal evening affairs.

House or porch dresses of cretonne, crepe or gingham are simple and most attractive.

Skirts for evening wear are a trifle longer with an irregular hem line. The evening gown is sleeveless.

The sport suits were both pleasing and practical, the cape suit being generally preferred for street wear and the knickers for the more strenuous sports.

By special request a graduation dress for the young miss was shown with front apron effect which could be converted into a cape if desired.

Miss Ainsworth concluded the program with a poem which began, "Thank God for Frills." This very unusual entertainment was like an exhibition of beautiful pictures, with the underlying importance of a lesson in the art of dressing.

The courtesy of the Filene Company was appreciated and enjoyed by the members of the Fortnightly.

Mrs. Knight, at the piano, furnished music during the program.

Tickets can be procured for the Annual May Party to be given at Town Hall on May 6th by the Unitarian Church from Mrs. W. S. Doane, 22 Lakeview Rd. Tel. 697.

Oxford St: A letter was received from H. E. Ayer, 55 Portland street, Boston asking the Board concerning the necessary steps to be taken to have Oxford street laid out and built according to Town requirements as he is contemplating developing land on both sides of this street for a distance of approximately 720 ft., from Wildwood street. The matter was referred to the Town Engineer for report and an estimate of the cost of doing work required.

Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co. (Fares): Mr. Wm. J. Stevenson appeared in regard to obtaining a one carfare charge within the limits of Winchester. Board will investigate the matter.

The meeting adjourned at 9 P. M.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

FRANK M. WHITE

Mr. Frank Merrill White, one of the older residents of this town, died on Sunday, April 23. His ancestors had been identified with this locality since the time of the earliest settlements here, one of them having obtained a grant of land from Charles Town. He was the son of the late Samuel Bartlett and Susan (Merrill) White, and was born in Winchester, August 21, 1854. With the exception of a few years when as a child, his parents lived in Boston, he had spent his entire lifetime here.

Upon the completion of his education in the town schools, he entered the leather business then conducted at Lowell by his father, and after gaining experience, formed with his father and others, the firm of White Bros. & Sons. After a successful career of some years, he and his father withdrew and purchased in Boston, a Fancy Leather and Bookbinding Supply business, which later was incorporated as White, Son Company. He had been successively Vice President and Treasurer of that Company, holding the latter office at the time of his retirement some years ago.

He had always been actively identified with the First Congregational Church, holding various offices therein; as a Mason, was a member of the William Parkman Lodge, and Hugh DePayen Commandery K. T., and was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution. He was the son of the late Samuel B. and Susan (Merrill) White. He married on Oct. 5, 1881, Mary Blanche Folsom of Lowell, who together with a daughter, Mrs. Gardner D. Pond, and sister, survive him.

Funeral services were held at the family residence, 1 Lagrange street, on Wednesday at three P. M., at which the Rev. Dr. Cyrus W. Richardson officiated. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Alice F. Symmes Society. Annual meeting with election of officers and committees, radio concert and dancing, refreshments. Bring a friend. Met-calf Hall, Wednesday, May 3, 1922 at 7:30 p. m.

FOUR SCHOOLS MAY BE EASILY BUILT

To the Editor of the Star:

After the discussion at the last session of the town meeting, it must be clear to all that the cost to the tax payers of the four elementary schools will be approximately the same, over a period of twenty years, whether built in two years or four. The only remaining argument for the four-year program over the two, seems to be that mistakes made in one building may be avoided in subsequent buildings. This argument might be persuasive if the buildings were to be of the new and complicated Junior High type, or if the interval between the completion of the first and the beginning of the fourth building were to be 10 years instead of not over two and one-half years.

Elementary schools are comparatively simple in layout. Nearby towns and cities have constructed many such school buildings within recent years, embodying the latest educational ideas, and their experience and mistakes if any may be as easily learned by us as if those buildings were in our own town. Much if not all of the detail is standardized, and the problem is largely one of fitting a building to its particular site. It seems to me extremely unlikely that an able committee, examining the latest schools in neighboring towns, and receiving competent professional advice—perhaps employing different architects for the different buildings—will make serious mistakes, or mistakes so obvious as to be recognized in so short a time.

If any weight should be given to this argument, it is, it seems to me greatly over balanced by the disadvantages of keeping three-quarters of the elementary pupils in the old buildings for a longer time. The four-year program, delays the completion of the Chapin School an additional year, the Rumford School until 1924 and the Mystic School until 1925—perhaps a year later in each case. But assuming that the Wyman could be completed late this year, and the Chapin late in 1923, this four-year program means that no pupil now above the third grade in the Rumford district, and no pupil now above the second grade in the Mystic-Gifford district will ever have the advantage of attending a new building.

This is too great a price to pay for the very doubtful advantage of delay. If we are to have new buildings let's have them without unnecessary delay, and treat all districts as nearly alike as possible.

Personally I believe that new school buildings will stimulate home-building to such an extent as to offset all the cost. If so the sooner we build the schools, the better.

Respectfully,

James Sidney Allen.

UNITED STATES POST OFFICE

May 1st to May 6th has been designated by the Postal Department at Washington as "Postal Improvement Week," during which time the public is cordially invited to visit the local office and inspect the methods of stamping, sorting, tying up, and routing, letters and packages. Children will be welcome if accompanied by teachers or parents. All school teachers are strongly urged to make us a visit and cooperate with the department by transmitting such knowledge as they may acquire to their pupils. The postal department cannot be made 100% efficient without the hearty cooperation of the public.

The best time for the teachers to make such visit is before the morning session or after the afternoon session, when the Postmaster will be glad to welcome them in person.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only?

At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

April Showers

The whimsical, freaky sister of redoubtable Jack Frost!
Lo, how she amites the clouds with her capricious sword, sending rain, rain, rain upon our unsuspecting heads. In the morning our umbrellas flourisheth. In the evening they are cut down and withereth. And so she withereth father's newly pressed suit, mother's Easter finery and daughter's pretty Spring pumps. She spares not the linen out of doors, soaking garments on the line. Her tears of rain are but tears of fendish laughter. She cares not for she must reign, reign, reign. Why not let her rain out of doors while you reign within by sending your laundry to us? She cannot reign or rain in our institution.

TOWN TEAM BASE BALL

The Winchester Base Ball Association has been reorganized this spring with the intention of placing on the field a strong local team for the coming season.

Mr. James Hinds finds it impossible to serve again as President, but remains on the Board of Directors as an interested member.

Mr. W. E. Priest has been elected President with Mr. G. W. Tilley as Vice President and Mr. R. W. Hatch as Secretary, Treasurer.

The Board of Directors is composed of the following: H. A. Hatch, Wm.
Nicholson, James Hinds, John Mead, and F. L. Waldmyer.

Mr. John Hanlon, who acted as Manager last season, has been secured to serve again this year.

The Town will be canvassed for funds to insure a successful season, and it is hoped that all those who are interested in having a good ball team to represent Winchester this summer will contribute.

W. H. S. BASEBALL

The Winchester High Baseball team won its third victory Tuesday, April 25th by defeating Watertown High 12 to 2 on Manchester Field.

Each player on the Winchester team played a consistent game but the pitching of Joe Mathews featured.
Joe who is probably one of the best pitchers in school boy ranks, struck out 16 Watertown players and allowed no hits.

Winchester drove out six hits, among which were homers by J. Tan-sey and Gray, a triple by Melly and a double by Flaherty.

Watertown was outclassed throughout the whole game.

BOWLING DINNER MAY 12

The usual dinner following the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club will be held this year on Friday evening, May 12th, the tournament ending on Thursday next,
May 4th.

At the dinner, which will be served by Schleuber of Lynn, the bowling prizes will be awarded to the winners and a dance will be held.

THE GIRL UPSTAIRS

Another enjoyable evening in Metcalf Hall occurred last Friday April 21st, when the Junior Girls of the Metcalf Union presented a two-act play entitled "The Girl Upstairs." The various characters in it were admirably portrayed by those taking part, each one receiving many words of commendation from those present.
Much credit for the successful presentation of the play is due Miss Annette Mason for her fine work as coach.

At its close, there was dancing to excellent music and refreshments served.

A good sum was netted for the treasury of the Metcalf Union to be added to the French Orphan Fund.

The following was the cast of Characters:

Georgia Craven, an artist... Barbara Watters
Estelle Henley, an author... Ruth Bowe
Cecily Denver, an actress... Sylvia Parker
Florence Mason Jessop, society woman.

Mrs. Mehltable Jenkins... Marietta Barnes
Maurie, her maid... Caroline Drisco Daisy, the girl up-stairs... Frances Mason

WINCHESTER HIGH AGAIN WINS

Winchester High won its third consecutive game and its second league game on Tuesday afternoon when it defeated the strong Watertown High nine 12 to 2 in a no-hit game. Joe Mathews fanned 16 men and only two runs were scored on him, one through a base on balls and the other by a fielder's error. Features of the game were home runs made by Tansey and Gray.

The "Sons of Brown in Boston and Vicinity" is the alumni organization which is presenting the cup.

WINCHESTER HIGH BEAT STONEHAM

Playing its second game on another raw, cold afternoon, Winchester High again came out victorious, beating Stoneham High handily Saturday afternoon 4 to 1. Notwithstanding the weather there was a good crowd at the game, and Winchester early made its superiority manifest by making three runs in the opening inning.

It is reported that out of 350 pupils attending the School of Secretarial Science at Boston University, but two received this month the mark of A plus, one of these being a Winchester girl.

Burning grass on Highland avenue near Mr. Herbert Wadsworth's residence occupied the attention of the fire department Tuesday evening. On Wednesday forenoon grass near the residence of Mrs. W. D. Miller at 569 Washington street necessitated an alarm and at 11:40 a grass and brush fire at the rear of the Marchant house in Rangeley called out the firemen. At 11:52 a. m. Box 62 was rung in for a fire in the bulkhead at the house at 268 Highland avenue, occupied by Mr. Ralph E. Sexton. No damage occurred at these fires.

HAVE ASKED REFERENDUM

Voters Want Reconsideration Placed on a Ballot

Papers were filed with the Town Clerk Tuesday signed by 285 voters of the town asking for a referendum vote on last week's town meeting action wherein reconsideration of the previous vote to appoint a building committee for the four new grade schools was refused. These voters believe that the schools should be erected one at a time instead of two this year and two next year. The committee vote carried with it instructions to this effect.

If the referendum is allowed and is carried, the Town voting to reconsider, another town meeting will be necessary before any work on the schools is started. The Selectmen have in their hands the petition and will act upon it at their meeting next Monday night. As the matter is subject to all sorts of rumors and many different interpretations, the Town counsel has been going over the situation during the week. It seems now apparent that a referendum vote will be held under the recently enacted law for our town meeting procedure.

A special town meeting will probably have to be called in the near future anyway to allow the Town to act in the matter of the new Bacon street bridge, and very possibly this school question will be taken up at that time.

ITALIAN THREATENED TO SHOOT

Mr. James W. Russell, Jr., thought he was going to be the subject for a murder hunt Tuesday morning when an Italian threatened to shoot him at the farm near the Medford line. Mr. Russell acceded to the Italian, who was roaming through the extensive farm land accompanied by two dogs and a bicycle. The Italian had little to say of a printable nature, although able to throw a good line of abuse. Mr. Russell ordered the man off the premises; whereupon he produced the barrel of a rifle from one part of his clothing and the but end from another, and putting the two together made as though to take a pot shot at the proprietor.

Although Mr. Russell's courage was good, he was unarmed, and thought discretion the better part of valor. He therefore took the path to the home fireside, where he telephoned to the police. A quick trip to the scene resulted in the arrest of Carlo Arelia of Malden, who was taken immediately to the Woburn court and fined $25—a very gentle reminder that he should not carry a rifle and threaten to kill anyone. It is assumed that Carlo was shooting squirrels. At any rate, he was doing $10 more than exceeding the speed limit.

MRS. GEORGIANNA HUNTER

Mrs. Georgianna Hunter, aged 83 years, died at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Harold A. Gale, on Sunday. She was a native of New Haven, Conn., the daughter of George and Sarah Ann Gilbert and the widow of George W. Hunter. She had lived her home in Winchester for the past seven years.

During her residence here she was active in the Church of the Epiphany, the Red Cross, the Fortnightly and the Ladies' Friendly Society. She leaves three grandchildren, Mrs. Gale, Mrs. Edward F. Harmon and Mr. F. Gilbert Vaughan of Chicago.

Funeral services were held at the residence on Wednesday, Rev. Murray W. Dewart officiating. The remains were taken to Mr. Auburn for cremation and will be interred at New Haven, Conn. today.

THE FORTNIGHTLY
Secretary's Report

The Fortnightly has completed another year of varied social, instructive, entertaining and philanthropic activities.

Fourteen regular meetings, including two public meetings, and an extra evening performance of dramatics have been held with an average attendance of 325.

At the annual meeting, the program was furnished by Miss Finch, who gave a delightful interpretation of the play "Miss Hobbs."

On April 25th, Professor Elizabeth F. Fisher of Wellesley College gave a lecture explaining and describing our natural resources such as coal, petroleum, water, etc., and advisability of conserving them to the best advantage.

At the last meeting before the summer, Crawford Adams, violinist, always a favorite with the Fortnightly, gave the program, about half of his selections being request numbers from the floor.

The first meeting of the fall was a Rainbow Reception. After the entertainment given by Miss Winnifred Stackpole, reader, and the Dean Trio, the reception followed. Each member having been tagged with a bow of colored ribbon, was requested to make acquaintance with other members wearing the same colored ribbon. This proved to be a very happy way of promoting sociability.

On Nov. 14th Dr. David D. Vaughn spoke on American Ideals, and even if we could not agree with all he said, it was a very forceful enjoyable lecture.

The last meeting in November was an unusual one from the point of weather and illumination. It was the day of the famous ice storm, which ruined so many of our trees, and the Music Committee, under the most adverse conditions gave the entertainment, consisting of "Lullabies of the Nations" in costume, concluding with an Ellis Island sketch, written by Mrs. Gilpatrick. Having no electric lights, lanterns and flashlights gave what illumination there was.

There were two stereopticon lectures during the year; an illustrated lecture on Porto Rico, with music on native instruments, given by Byron William Reed, and a most interesting and beautifully illustrated lecture on the Scenic Wonderland of America by Henry Warren Poore.

Dec. 19th was the fortieth anniversary of the Fortnightly and two founders, three honorary members, and nine past presidents were present. There was orchestral music and several solos sung by Herbert Wellington Smith. The guests of honor received, refreshments were served and three large birthday cakes were cut by the past presidents.

Deborah Knox Livingstone gave a lecture on "The Open Door" presenting the many opportunities which are especially open to women in the era in which we live.

The club, having voted not to have the club luncheon in January, Miss Marjory Moody, a most charming singer, sang several groups of modern songs, and in the absence of the expected reader, Miss Doris Paine a guest of the afternoon gave three original monologues.

This was the only instance during the entire year when there was any change from the program as scheduled in the yearbook.

The play given by the Dramatics Committee this year was a strong and amusing one: "Mrs. Bumstead-Leigh" and an added interest was the fact that our past president Mrs. Bond took the principal role.

Almost everybody is interested in Moving Pictures, and Miss Amy Sacker gave a talk on her experiences as Art Director in Moving Picture Studios to a very quiet and absorbed audience.

Whether intentional or not, the best was saved for the last and the only criticism heard about the wonderful concert by thirteen Symphony Players and Miss Perkins, Harpist, was that the program as given was too short.

Under the continued management of Mrs. Apsey, first vice president, The Fortnightly room in the Lyceum Building has again proved itself exceedingly useful to the club, practically all the various classes, board meetings, rehearsals, etc., being held there.

The financing of this room is as follows:

Candy Sales	$ 63.50
Card Parties	45.00
Preserves, etc.	17.40
Miscellaneous	15.00
Gifts from Committees
1920 Civics Com.	12.50
1918 Thrift Com.	15.00
Conservation Com. Cake Sales	128.02
Dramatic Com.	51.75
Music Com.	28.00
Education Com.	32.75

With this amount the running expenses have been paid, including monthly rental of $22.00 and light and gas. Also furnishings have been purchased for the room and cupboard, and a balance of $130.00 will be left for the next year.

As the upkeep of this room has absorbed about all our extra energies and cash, nothing has been done this year towards the Fortnightly building fund, but last year the Dramatics committee cleared $421.55 too late to be inserted in the year book, and this sum has been added to the Fortnightly building fund.

This year a new need was met by the Fortnightly in its work for soldier welfare for ex-service men, cooperating with existing agencies, Mrs. Mason, second vice president and her committee cleared nearly $400.00 by a cake table at the Legion Fair in October.

The Soldier Welfare Committee with Mrs. Emerson Chairman, made weekly visits to hospitals, giving friendly interest in both material and sympathetic ways, cooperating with the Red Cross in special cases. In February this committee with the assistance of the Winchester Legion, prepared and conducted a sale of articles made by ex-service men in hospitals. Governor Cox honored us by his presence, and goods to the amount of over $3,000.00 were sold.

The immense amount of work done by the various committees can be honored in this report by only the briefest tabulation.

The Art Committee conducted two trips to the Art Museum, where luncheon was enjoyed, followed by lectures on tapestries and lace.

The Civics Committee report the distribution of clothes donated by club members to the town's needy through the medium of the school nurse, overseers of the poor and Visiting Nurse Association. It supplied funds for the purchase of eyeglasses for those children who were in need of them. In conjunction with a special committee appointed by the town, an open meeting was held for the improvement of the Aberjona river. Three talks on current events have been given during March by Mrs. Grace M. Poole.

The Conservation Committee has conducted eight cake sales towards the support of the Fortnightly room. The exercises in connection with the awarding of the prizes for the Conservation Essay contest were followed by a lecture on "Our Native Birds and their Habits."

The Courtesies Committee has written notes of condolence, sympathy and congratulation, and sent flowers. Eight members have died during the year, one a past president and very active member in the club, Mrs. J. Arabelle Punchard.

Mrs. Punchard's daughter has given her mother's collection of Fortnightly year books to the club. Mrs. F. B. Jordan obtained the few missing ones, so that the Fortnightly has now a complete set of year books on file.

The Education Committee of the Fortnightly has cooperated with the Women's League of Voters in holding three socials for the Americanization class of the Chapin School, donating chairs, cake and music. With the Dramatic Committee, they planned and managed the Fortnightly Day at the Copley Theatre in December. During the winter, a psychology class was held with Miss Pauline Allen as teacher.

A sale was held in the small town hall in March, under the State Department of Education, Division of the Blind, when $57.76 was realized for the benefit of the blind.

Cooperating with the Teachers' Club, a delightful evening was spent with Prof. Dallas L. Sharpe as speaker, and the proceeds donated for the support of the Fortnightly Room.

The Home Economics Committee gave a picnic to the Health classes of Rumford and Chapin Schools at Spot Pond in June. The Fortnightly Cook Book has been arranged by this committee and will soon be on sale.

The members of the Legislative Committee presented four bills, both sides being ably presented. After their presentation, the club endorsed two of the bills. A most successful class in parliamentary law was held, for which thirty three members registered.

The Literature Committee has held six well attended meetings studying "Contemporary Drama." As a social half hour during which "tea was served" followed each meeting, they added to the cheer and friendliness of our club.

During the past year the Membership Committee has presented 73 applications for membership in the club. 10 of these names have been added to the regular list of members and 63 have been placed on the waiting list.

The Music Committee has furnished music for the regular meetings when requested. A musicale and tea was held at the home of the chairman. This committee has bought 250 copies of our Federation song, "America, the Beautiful" for the club. They have placed a piano in the Fortnightly room for the club year, have conducted a class in aesthetic dancing, and have given fifteen dollars for the purchase of Victrola records for the schools as a reward for good work in music.

The Press Committee has given our club the proper publicity in the STAR and Boston papers. The Finance Committee has continued the satisfactory Budget system. The club year book prepared by the Printing Committee had the club seal embossed in gold on its cover. This club seal was designed and adopted last year.

The Social Committee has served four teas during the year, two of which have been receptions with elaborate decorations. There have been many novel touches and innovations in food served.

At Christmas time the Social and Hospitality Committees had a very successful dance and cabaret in our old Town Hall, which was lavishly decorated with Christmas colors. With the proceeds of this dance these two committees have purchased and presented to the Fortnightly a ninety inch Cluny Tablecloth, and two silver urns.

The Federation Secretary has kept us informed as to Federation conferences and meetings. The club has been represented in the State Federation by Mrs. George H. Eaton, Mrs. A. F. Woodside, and Mrs. H. E. Wellington. The Corresponding Secretary has sent out 561 communications during the year.

The Philanthropy Fund Donations for the year are: $20. Fortnightly Room, Winchester Hospital; $50. Winchester Home for Aged People; $25. Near East Fund; $10. Builder Memberships; Frances Jewett Repertory Theatre; $25. Chinese Famine Fund; $50. Soldier Work; $100. Milk for School Children; $5. Children's Hospital; $10. Boys and Girls Athletics; $100. Visiting Nurse Assn; $10; Museum Fine Arts; $5. Mass. Child Labor Committee.

Signed,
Maude G. Smith, Recording Secretary.

Magdalen Hymn at Bryn Mawr.

The American adoption of a certain time-honored Oxford custom annually spans the Atlantic with a bond of fellowship. On May day, Magdalen students gather to sing the Hymnus Eucharisticus, written in Latin by Dr. Thomas Smith, a fellow of St. Mary's, Magdalen college, and set to music, in 1685, by Benjamin Rogers. Five hours later, 3,000 miles away, the seniors of Bryn Mawr college, Pennsylvania, in white dresses and academic caps and gowns, climb the tower stairs above Owl gate, and standing behind the crenellated parapet, face the east and repeat the beautiful hymn.

KRONSTADT, BUILT TO PROTECT PROVES MENACE

Kronstadt, famous Russian fortress, where the revolt against Bolshevism started early in March, and where a committee is reported to have formed "the Kronstadt government," is the subject of the following bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society:

What Gibraltar is to the entrance to the Mediterranean, and what Heligoland before the fortunes of war caused its dismantling was to the entrance to the Kiel Canal, Kronstadt has been for more than 200 years to the eastern end of the Gulf of Finland, the northeastern arm of the Baltic. One of the most heavily fortified islands in the world, it was considered the impregnable guardian of the mouth of the Neva and of Petrograd, then St. Petersburg—capital of the Russian Empire.

Both a City and a Fort

Kronstadt may mean either the group of mighty forts or the town, with a population of 65,000 before the war, which lies behind them. But the town, for nearly half a century has been of little importance aside from that which it attained directly from the presence of the forts, the barracks, and the naval base. It has long been the seat of the Russian naval units, the greatest of the Russian naval units.

Kotlin, the island on which Kronstadt is situated, lies about 16 miles west of Petrograd with no land intervening. About 12 to 15 miles from the city the north and south shores of the Gulf of Finland approach each other most closely, being less than 10 miles apart. Within these points the waters of the Gulf of Finland are called Neva Bay. Marking the outer extremity of the bay in the middle rise the guns of Kronstadt.

Some of the forts are built on the tip of the island nearest Petrograd, while others, built on piles, flank them. On the closest point of the north mainland are the batteries of Lisi Nos. Six or seven miles north of Lisi Nos is the Eastern border of Finland, and just short of it are other powerful batteries. These are known both by the Swedish name, Systerbak, and the Russian name, Sestroyezsk. Closer still to Kronstadt, a bare three miles away on the south mainland, is the town of Oranienbaum where there are more guns and in addition barracks.

This chain of forts hems Petrograd in and protects it on the sea side. But it is obvious that they can with equal ease be used against the city or against each other if they fall into opposing hands.

Canal Ends Commercial Importance Neva Bay is very shallow, and in the early years of the existence of St. Petersburg Kronstadt was its port. The cargoes were transported to and from the island in lighter draft boats. In 1888 a deep canal or narrow channel was completed, extending through the bay from one of the mouths of the Neva river to the roads of Kronstadt. This made it possible for most of the ships trading with Petrograd to go directly to wharves in the city. Since the completion of the canal the commercial importance of Kronstadt has not been great.

Though Peter the Great, creator of St. Petersburg, founded Kronstadt to protect that city of his dreams, and though the czars that came after him added to its strength with he same end in view, the fortress has been the scene before this of movements against the city and the government. During the unrest in Russia in 1905 and 1906 which was really the forerunner of the revolution that finally deformed the czar in 1917, one of the most dramatic incidents was the rising of the garrison of Kronstadt in August 1906. The notorious secret police were aware of the plot, and the mutineers found themselves without arms facing loyal troops brought in from a distance the day before the uprising. The unarmed rioters were shot down by the hundreds in the courtyards of their barracks.

Birthday Cake Candles.

The custom of placing candles on a birthday cake—one for each year—comes from Germany. The Germans placed a thick one in the center, called Lebenslicht, the light of life. Only he or she who declares his or her birthday may put out the light of life; it is unlucky to do so by any other member of the family. The lights are symbols of life and its portions the years. For persons advanced in years one candle must be lit, as otherwise too many would be required.

What Kind of a Battery Would You Sell?

Would it be a cheap battery that the manufacturers wouldn't stand back of?

Or a high-priced battery that made no attempt at economy?

Or a sound, well built battery that sells at a fair price and that gives the most miles of uninterrupted service per dollar, as does the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery?

Experience has proved our wisdom in choosing the Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation.

Gas Man

Some people question our sincerity when we urge our customers not to waste gas. "Why should you care?" they say. "The more gas people waste the higher the bills are and the more money you get."

To those unacquainted with the facts this sounds reasonable enough, but nothing could be further from the truth. The good-will of the public is our best asset. We want satisfied customers. It is easy to see, therefore, that a friendly customer with a small bill is more to our advantage than a customer with a big bill who thinks he has been overcharged.

Of course we can not regulate the amount of gas that you use, but we can and do urge you to take care that your consumption does not exceed your actual needs. In other words, we want you to obtain complete satisfaction from your gas service. Could anything be fairer?

2 years—Mrs. D. F. Higgins, Mrs. O. C. Lane, Mrs. Arthur Whitney, Mrs. B. T. Wild.
3 years—Mrs. George Apsey, Mrs. F. W. Cole, Mrs. J. P. Dabney, Mrs. D. F. High.

Chairman of Sewing Committee—Miss M. W. Studley
Chairman of Flower Committee—Miss Isabel Andrews
Chairman of Music—Mrs. H. G. Etheridge
Chairman of Dramatic Committee—Miss Dorothy Kerrison
Chairman of Tea Committee—Mrs. A. B. Carhart
Chairman of Religious Intelligence—Mrs. Stillman Williams
Chairman of Post Office Mission—Mrs. W. E. Cummins, Mrs. Richard Derby
Chairman of Cheerful Letter—Mrs. Arthur Whitney
Chairman of Luncheon Committee—Mrs. Alfred E. Knight
Ladies' Friendly Visitor—Mrs. Frank T. Barnes Housekeeper—Mrs. George Goddu.

The Society has had this year an increase of 22% in its membership. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Annual Report of the Ladies' Friendly Society for 1921-22

Good wishes for the prosperity of the Ladies' Friendly Society, as expressed in the Secretary's report of last April have certainly come true. Since then we have grown in membership from 212 to 258.

Surely the appointment for the first time of a Membership Committee Chairman has proved its value.

Two other new officers have added their chairmen to the Executive Board, that of Ladies' Friendly Visitor and the Luncheon Committee. The society has held five regular luncheons, four of which were in connection with the alliance meetings. The Holiday Bazaar in December was arranged for the day of the Christmas luncheon.

For this December sale, 335 pieces were made at the sewing meetings. The year's program planned seven regular sewing days. Nine were held. Sewing has been done for the Winchester Hospital, the children's Mission, the Visiting Nurse Association and the Red Cross.

On these sewing days, Mr. Reed has often spoken and tea has sometimes been served.

On Luncheon days, while we still sat about the tables, we have enjoyed good speakers and fine music. Those who have favored us are Mrs. W. I. Lawrence, Dr. and Mrs. Joel H. Metcalf, Rev. and Mrs. George H. Reed, Mrs. Charles E. St. John and Mrs. George Root. At the Ladies' Friendly supper we heard our neighbor clergymen, Rev. C. H. Walcott, of the Baptist church, and Rev. A. B. Gifford of the Methodist church.

At the alliance meetings we heard Rev. A. L. Hudson of Dorchester who spoke on Mormonism, and Rev. Dudley Hays Ferrill of Lynn who spoke on Living up to our Traditions. The musical afternoon which occurred on guest day, when over fifty visiting presidents and officers from neighboring towns and churches were with us was a most enjoyable event. Mr. Charles P. Scott gave an organ recital with Jessie Dozier Richardson, soloist.

Other artists who have made our programs delightful are Miss Mabel Wingate accompanied by Mrs. George Lochman, and Miss Phyllis Tutein accompanied by Mrs. H. G. Etheridge.

The annual parish supper, a special parish supper and meeting, a box supper and entertainment under the direction of the Hospitality Committee and the May Party, were all enjoyable and profitable occasions. Receipts from the May Party and December sale were $994.

Mrs. Whitney with her committee has earned $105 for the Social Service work. The society has given $50 to the Social Service Council; $55 to the Unitarian Church in Transylvania; $5 to the Children's Mission; $25 to the Minister's Pension Fund; $25 to the Winchester Unitarian Sunday School; $10 to the Good Will Fund; $25 to the Star Island Fund; $15 to the American Unitarian Association Hospitality Fund for anniversary week; $100 to Appeals; $2 Director's Travelling Fund; $20 to the Cheerful Letter Committee; $20 to the Post Office Mission.

To the housekeeping supplies have been added a large coffee container and eleven new table cloths.

This record would be incomplete should it fail to note the passing this year of a lifetime worker in the Ladies' Friendly Society, and in the larger field of the Unitarian faith. In the memory of Miss Alice F. Symmes, who knew her will always feel the uplift of her cheerful spirit, her loyal support of high purpose and her kindly interest in all our undertakings.

With an ever widening view of work to be accomplished and opportunity to be grasped let us look forward to a busy, happy and helpful year to come.

Respectfully submitted,
Martha B. Drisko, Rec. Secretary.

SCHOOL PUPILS IN ART EXHIBIT

The children of the Winchester public schools have made an exceptionally good showing in a collection of school drawings now on exhibition at the Boston Art Club. Over three thousand drawings from the children of New England were received and from these six hundred were chosen for the exhibition. Twenty-four of the six hundred were done by Winchester pupils.

About six weeks ago the Boston Art Club sent out the following notice:

"The Boston Art Club will hold an exhibition of Watercolor or Colored Chalk drawings by New England Children, April 19 to May 6, 1922."

"Not school drawings of still life but the imaginative drawings that a child makes for his own pleasure. For instance, a child makes a drawing of Spring. The figure of Spring with flowers in her hair walks along leaving behind her a world of bloom; before her the bleak bare world of winter. Another child makes a drawing of Noah's Ark. It is a wonderful boat flying the American flag and evidently propelled by steam. We do not mean that we want drawings on these subjects but want the child to choose his own subject."

"We want to find out if we have any imagination as a people." This exhibition is open to the public each week day between the hours of eleven a. m. and five p. m.

MICHAEL NELSON IN BAD ACCIDENT

Mr. Michael Nelson of Cross street was badly injured last Friday afternoon in a peculiar accident at the Cross street railroad bridge. It appears that Mr. Nelson was driving a wagon under the bridge, which has very little head room as the street dips under the railroad tracks. When under the bridge the king pin of the wagon pulled out, and as the load was at the extreme rear end, the wagon tipped up, carrying Mr. Nelson with it. He was wedged in between the front of the wagon and the top of the bridge, the toe iron of the wagon resting across his face with the back of his head against one of the girders.

Two men on the bridge waiting for a train heard the accident and ran down and attempted to rescue him but were unable to do so until assisted by Mr. Justin L. Parker and Mr. W. E. Johnson of the Parker & Lane Co., who came from their office nearby.

The police were notified and Dr. Brown was called, Nelson being taken to the hospital in a passing auto. He was found to be suffering from a broken jaw and a very bad wound on the face. He is 59 years of age. Latest reports are that he is expected to recover from his injuries.

CALEB A. SANBORN

Funeral services for Caleb L. Sanborn, a former widely known construction engineer of Boston, were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Herbert E. Stone, 3 Edgell road, where he died Sunday following a week's illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Sanborn was born at Tuftonboro, N. H., on Jan. 12, 1843, son of Jefferson and Martha (Leavitt) Sanborn. He was a direct descendant of John Sanborn of the hamlet of Sanborn, Warwickshire, Eng., who was among the early colonists who came to this country in 1620 and settled at Hampton, N. H.

Mr. Sanborn came to Boston when 18 years old and took up the business of steamfitting and contracting. He was connected with firms in Boston and Chicago and in 1872 became associated with Braham, Dow & Company of Boston, as a constructing engineer. He remained with this concern up to five years ago when he retired. In 1874 he married Elizabeth A. Savor, who survives.

In 1882 he removed to Somerville and became interested in politics, serving on the board of aldermen in 1890. He was a member of Howard Lodge, I. O. O. F. of Charlestown, and National Lodge, A. F. A. M. of Chicago. For the past 10 years he had made his home with his daughter in Winchester.

THINGS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Mr. William M. Smith, a well-known resident of this town for many years, has opened a real estate and insurance office.

Randall's week-end specials have made a decided hit in town. It is not always easy to decide just what to take home to the family for Sunday sweets and these suggestions solve the problem nicely.

It should be noted that the Edison Company has inserted a card in the STAR giving the name and telephone of its district manager, Mr. F. E. Randall. This card will be printed weekly for the benefit of the company's patrons.

Kimball & Earl report a busy season. Their excellent work in the automobile repair line has not only been very satisfactory, but has created for them a host of friends. "Billy" Earl and Reuben Kimball not only know automobiles, but they know how to care for them when they work on them.

The Hersey Hardware Co. is advertising weekly many important articles which you should have about your house. Little labor saving devices are necessary in every home, and at this Spring season their stock contains just what you want and need.

One of the finest Winchester homes to be placed on the market this Spring is the residence of Mr. Sherwood Hall on Glen road. Mr. Hall, who is leaving town on account of new business connections, spent a lot of money on his estate, and he expects to dispose of it at a sacrifice.

Noble's Milk, introduced here last year, has made a big hit in Winchester. All residents are familiar with the blooded herd of cattle at the farm of Mr. John C. Haartz on Cambridge street, from which this fine milk comes.

It is said that the long expected building boom has started, and in anticipation of what is coming, many people are now buying their land for a homestead. A. Miles Holbrook, who has long dealt in real estate in this town, is offering some particularly attractive house lots at this season.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Everybody in Winchester has heard of the "lounge lizard" but not everybody has heard of the new word by which this species is called. This very unpopular member of society is now known as a "pipsqueak." We thank the good Lord that we are not a "pipsqueak" and rest assured in our position that every sound minded man and woman will agree with us that the individual who dances every night, week after week, is the sort of a fellow who never brings anything to his work but "the morning after," and can never under any circumstances develop into a success. Personally The Spectator is not a dancer, never was and never expects to be one but we do wish to immortalize that men who do indulge in dancing ought not to dance every night and when they do dance go home at least before the hour of midnight, so as to get it a good night's rest and be physically in condition for the work of the day to come. Decent young women here in Winchester and elsewhere will frown on the "pipsqueak." And even should there be no frowning at all, surely the name should have a deterring influence.

Many a young student of law has pondered over Furman Sheppard's saying that there never was a perfect crime, that some detail is always neglected. One of the odd stories of 1922 is that of two offenders in a community less than a thousand miles from Winchester who stole a cash bag and would have escaped, only a hole in the bag let coins drop in the mud and the trail led to their abode. This is finely suggestive of the legend of the children banished from home who let crumbs fall in the forest and so wended their way back again.

Forty years ago the survivor of the crew of the Nancy Bell claimed to have acquired the personalities of those whom he had eaten, but his list is short beside that of Einstein, the prohibition agent, who has played the roles of grave digger, musician, football player, pedler, iceman and several others. As a picture show attraction he may eclipse the Einstein of science.

Winchesterites may have read in papers of the winter just closed some very readable articles on wood fires in cold weather. It might have been noted, however, that these comments on a subject of general interest have been confined to the daily papers of our large municipalities and that in all probability the only wood burned by the writers is the matches used to light the corncocks that furnish the editorial inspiration. Doubts arise as to the qualifications of these writers to fully cover such a burning question. So far as the lore of the woodpile is concerned, only those who have wintered upon northern farms are entitled to be numbered among the cognoscenti: The conversion of the forest primeval—or of second growth into perfect fuel is a science and an art. The science may be acquired from a book on forestry; the art has come through long and arduous contact with the axe handle and the handle of the cross-cut saw in the forest, and in the good old days necessitated also the use of the buck saw in Winchester's back yard and still in use here in cases.

The Spectator.

RECEPTION TO MISS CRAWFORD

The First Baptist Church will give Miss L. Jennie Crawford a reception in the Church, Tuesday evening, May 2nd.

Miss Crawford who has been for several years medical missionary at Suifu, West China has recently returned on a furlough. She is a Winchester girl and is well remembered by many residents of this town.

A cordial invitation is extended to all Winchester friends of Miss Crawford to attend this reception and greet her before she leaves Winchester again.

First to establish the $10.90 price—"Usco"

THE makers of U. S. Tires made this announcement last November—

"Hereafter the price of the 30x3½ 'Usco' is $10.90."

The lowest price ever quoted on a tire of quality reputation and standard performance.

And now, with the opening of Spring, there seem to be quite a number of "New and Special tires" coming into the market in the $10.90 price range.

Perhaps you are wondering just what there can be either "new" or "special" about these tires.

It can't be the $10.90 price—"Usco" established that five months ago.

Nor quality reputation and standard performance—for it takes more than one full season for any new tire to demonstrate where it stands in quality and value

With so many tires rushing into this $10.90 price field (now that the season promises business from the American car-owner), it is worth remembering that "Usco" showed its good faith by announcing this price last fall.

The same intent to serve that has made "Usco" a standard value for years.

The "Usco" Tire was never better than it is today—with its established quality, its time-tested performance, and its price closely figured in tune with the times.

RED CROSS

Is it definite to everyone what Junior Red Cross means? Day by day school children all over the United States are demonstrating that Junior Red Cross means "service," "helpfulness," "lending a hand." At home, in school and in their own communities, they are performing acts of thoughtfulness which help to make the world a better place to live in. The spirit of unselfish service is the Junior ideal.

There is great opportunity to show this spirit of service to the foreign children or children of foreign parents who have recently arrived in the district. It is the duty of American boys and girls to make these children feel at home.

The Junior Red Cross has done much to show their sympathy for the Soldiers and Sailors who are still in the hospitals not yet recovered from injuries received during the war. The Juniors have sent them cards, scrapbooks, and other remembrances showing these men appreciation for what they have done, and also showing them that the Juniors all are backing them in their patient waiting for recovery.

This is the Report of Winchester Junior Red Cross Auxiliaries of last month.

1. Number of school auxiliaries organized during the month 0.
2. Number of auxiliaries existing at end of month 9.
3. New members enrolled during the month 1.
4. Number of members in auxiliaries 1296.

The several auxiliaries report the following work:

Picture scrap books for sick children.

Story scrap books.

Children's dresses made in sewing class for the Juniors.

A bag of discarded clothing (mended and usable).

A collection of Easter cards for the use of the disabled veterans.

Letters sent to be forwarded to Italy.

Letters sent direct to France (Ecole Mixte de Lantefontaine).

The following list is the Allotment of Foreign Projects which the Junior Red Cross of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Rhode Island have been asked to support.

Albania—Tirana Vocational School.....	$2,500
Belgium—Playground at Charleroi.....	1,400
France—Bagnat Playground.....	3,000
France—Playground Extension.....	600
Italy—Playground at Rome.....	1,500
Italy—Aid to schools and homes for children.....	4,000
Italy—Playground at Florence.....	2,000
Montenegro—Podgoritz Home School.....	500
Undesignated contributions.....	4,000
	$20,000

The "Magic Palace" for example is what a hundred war orphans call their new home school at Podgoritz, Montenegro. Before the "Magic Palace" came to Podgoritz the streets of the city were filled with sad eyed, intelligent boys and girls, clad in dirty, ragged clothing. Doorsteps, vacant houses and caves on the banks of the Moracci River were their sleeping quarters at night. Now these little orphans have the opportunity of living new lives of cleanliness and industry.

BEST "PREP" SCHOOLS

That the public high schools are doing an excellent job as fitting schools—a better job, on the whole, than the private schools that devote their entire time and attention to getting boys and girls ready for college entrance—has been attested frequently by college authorities who have had a chance to ascertain the facts from observation.

Among the latest institutions to put its stamp of approval on the high school product is Princeton University. A report of this year's freshman class at Princeton for the first semester, shows the boys who came from high schools averaging higher in scholarship than those coming from private schools.

Enough testimony of a similar kind has been offered by other universities to make the case reasonably clear. It has even been hinted by no less authority than Dean Briggs of Harvard that the average student with high school training exhibited somewhat stronger moral fibre than the student fitted in a private school.

There are high schools that fall down on their job, of course. We hold no brief for such schools or for the communities that fail to demand better ones, but we do submit that it is unfair to condemn the administration of a public school without careful inquiry for its failure to get somebody's Jenny or Tom past the college examiners. The chances are strongly in favor of the high school having done its part more faithfully than Jenny or Tom, or perhaps their parents, did theirs. [Boston Traveller.]

WEEK-END FIRES

On Friday forenoon at 10:35, the fire department was called out to extinguish a grass fire in Rangeley at the rear of the residence of Mr. A. C. Seymour. At 2 p. m. a brush fire near the residence of Mr. F. F. Wolley, 6 Fells road, again called the firemen out.

Sunday afternoon, amid great smoke and much excitement, the chicken coop and goat shed of Carmine Tofuri at 4 Summer street was consumed. It is thought the fire may have started from locomotive sparks, but when it was discovered in a quantity of hay in the goat shed it had gained considerable headway and was sending out a big lot of smoke which covered that part of the town. The firemen made short work of the blaze, once they reached the scene, but the two small buildings were burned to the ground.

OPENING OF K. OF C. HOME

The public is cordially invited to attend the opening of the new K. of C. Home at 22 Vine street, on Saturday April 29, from 2 to 10 p. m.

May Party, Town Hall, Thursday evening, May 4. Winchester Laundry Mutual Benefit Association. Tickets at the Laundry, at 55 cents.

HERE AND THERE

An interesting play called "Here and There" is to be given in the Town Hall this Saturday Evening at 7:45 o'clock by the pupils of the Wadleigh and Prince Schools.

Each home-room group of children in both buildings is preparing under the direction of their home-room teacher a part of the program. The whole program is under the efficient direction of Miss Mary H. Barr. We assure you the play is very interesting and well worth seeing. Those interested in productions by children we hope to see at 7:45 p. m. sharp at the Town Hall to encourage the girls and boys taking part.

PARENT-TEACHER CONFERENCE

The first conference of Parent-Teacher workers held in Winchester, and third in this council district is scheduled for May 16th. With its able chairman, Mrs. Stillman P. Williams, a representative committee from the Wadleigh-Prince P. T. A. is making arrangements to receive the visiting association from the near-by towns.

Each of the council districts of the state, according to the plan of the Massachusetts P. T. A., is expected to have an annual conference under the direction of its own council. The ten P. T. associations of Medford, Stoneham, Wakefield, Woburn, and Winchester are grouped in one district and have as council Mrs. Earl William Smith of Arlington, who has been familiar with P. T. work ever since the beginning of the Mass. Association.

The conference will call together representatives and members from all its associations to discuss methods and ideals. In order to get a wider range of ideas several outside speakers will be introduced, but many of the discussions will be led by members of the various associations.

The sessions will be held in the afternoon and evening in the High School Assembly Hall. An automobile ride and a supper have been planned for the visiting delegates who attend both sessions.

Our own townswoman, Mrs. Edward C. Mason, President of the Massachusetts P. T. A. for a second year will greet the assembly during the afternoon session.

If our outlook can be broadened by this conference to align us with the Annual Convention, Mass. P. T. A., which meets early in October at Gloucester, and with the Annual Convention, National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association, Tacoma, Washington, May 8-12, we shall have made further advance toward an ideal parent-teacher relation.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Delightful weather, albeit a trifle cool, made possible a good attendance at the annual social meeting of the Winchester Union held in the Home for Aged People on Kendall street, last Friday, April 21. By rare good fortune every member in the Home was able to be at the meeting and to enjoy the company of their fellow members. Mrs. J. C. Adams presided at the brief business session, which was devoted almost entirely to plans for a membership drive soon to be launched. The desire is to double the membership and an effort will be made to reach the goal within the next year or two. A cake sale is also planned, announcement of which will be made later.

Mrs. Cayting led the devotions and following the business session a delightful musical program was presented by Mrs. Marian Taylor and Miss Jean McLellan. This was especially enjoyed by the ladies of the Home and an added pleasure was given them by Mrs. Forsythe who presented each with a box of candy, following a custom of several years standing. Light refreshments and a social hour closed the entertainment of the afternoon.

Tuesday, May 23, the Middlesex County Convention will meet in Melrose and members are asked to reserve the date as an effort is to be made to have a large delegation from Winchester.

Those who remember our once active member, Mrs. Mary Nicholson, will be sorry to learn of her passing away after a long and trying illness. Always faithful and helpful as far as her strength permitted she was one whom we may well hold in grateful memory. "She hath done what she could."

Announcement

O'Brien's Dyspepsia Mixture Now But A Dollar!

It is with pleasure that we announce a reduction in the price of this wonderful Stomach Medicine—O'Brien's for Dyspepsia.

Made for the past twenty-five years by Mr. D. P. O'Brien in Woburn, this dyspepsia remedy has been such a remarkable success that it is now acquiring nationwide distribution.

To the people of this vicinity, it needs no introduction but, in order that you have a clear understanding why O'Brien's is reduced in price, this explanation is made: Because of the incorporation in Camden, N. J., there is a larger organization, new laboratory, and the opportunity to produce it at less cost through quantity production.

Mr. D. P. O'Brien is still interested in the company and you have his personal guarantee that there is no reduction in quality.

Think It Over!

Winchester should proceed with care in the School Building Program and should Reconsider the vote of April 3rd to borrow and expend Five Hundred and Forty Thousand Dollars in two years. (It will likely be a much larger sum). If this vote is not reconsidered the result will be four school buildings under construction at the same time.

At the Town Meeting, April 20, after full discussion, Reconsideration was favored by 584 voters, including the entire Finance Committee, out of a total vote of 961, a majority which clearly indicates that the voters do not favor the plan to RUSH the big Building Program.

We advise a more careful and deliberate procedure for the following reasons:

1. Construction of one building each year for four years would enable the Committee to concentrate their whole time and effort upon one project instead of four, with increased efficiency and more careful consideration of details as a result.

2. It would avoid quick decision and the rushing of architects and contractors which is always wasteful and broadly uneconomical.

3. The Town could probably finance the whole program without borrowing outside the debt limit.

Winchester will very likely have to invest over One Million Dollars in School Buildings in the next few years. It would be a calamity if serious error were made in locations of buildings—errors from which the town would suffer as long as the buildings stand. Schools we must have, but let us have them right. Avoid mistakes by taking ample time to study every move.

We do not ask you to pledge your vote; no one should expect you to surrender the privilege of keeping an open mind, and the liberty to vote as you think right when the last word of discussion has been presented. The best solution may not yet have been offered;—"It is often the last key in the bunch that unlocks the door!"

"MRS. GORRINGS NECKLACE" LOST

The strongest, most dramatic play ever given by our "Winchester Players" will be produced in the Town Hall Friday evening May 12th under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. C. for the furnishing of the new Parish house fund. This is a play that the famous "Mary Moore" starred in so successfully in London and New York.

Our people have opportunity to show their real ability in it and they are certainly proving that we have a very professional cast.

Mr. Fullerton Vose of Boston in the part of David Cairne is an actor of much dramatic ability, the emotional part he plays is interpreted in a very realistic manner. Our best people are in this cast and do not miss this "Greatest of All" our plays. Tickets at Star Office.

Mrs. Gorrings' loss was great. A diamond necklace worth so much. It took "Some nerve" to even touch.

Detective Harry's sure to find. This lovely necklace with clasp behind. Kenneth, Alden and Sherman too. Will all love David before their through.

Nancy sees the "funny" side. Una's patience is sorely tried. Brenda's true right to the end. Ruth is also Winnie's friend.

We'll see it all on Friday night. May twelfth's date, keep it in sight. Put on your hat, get in your car. To get your tickets at the STAR.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LUNCHEON

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce held a luncheon in Lyceum Hall on Tuesday noon, attended by 100 merchants and business men of the town. President Edmund C. Sanderson presided. Following the luncheon a series of stereopticon and moving pictures was shown by the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co., illustrative of its plant and work. Views of the local exchange, with many familiar faces, were thrown on the screen, together with pictures of a number of the larger exchanges and activities connected with supplying and maintaining the materials and supplies used by the company.

President Sanderson is planning to hold a luncheon once each month, and is now preparing for a special program for the next meeting.

Four New Schools — or No New Schools — or When?

On April third at a town meeting attended by more than nine hundred citizens, with none excluded, two votes were passed, after unlimited discussion, by a majority of more than two-thirds.

The First Vote provides for a bond issue of $540,000 to be used in acquiring four specified parcels of land and erecting thereon four school buildings, namely, the Chapin, the Wyman, the Rumford and the Mystic-Gifford.

The Second Vote provides the necessary machinery of a Building Committee who are to erect these four schools, as follows: "The Committee shall undertake and carry to completion as soon as may be the construction of the Chapin and Wyman schoolhouses, and in the spring of 1923 shall undertake and carry to completion the Rumford and Gifford-Mystic schoolhouses."

The Adjourned Town Meeting of April Twentieth

At this April twentieth town meeting the Finance Committee recommended a reconsideration of the second vote for the purpose of offering a substitute motion. The chairman of that committee read a motion which he said he proposed to offer provided reconsideration of the second vote was passed by the town meeting. The town meeting refused reconsideration. If the town meeting had voted reconsideration, and if the Finance Committee motion had been offered and passed, the effect would have been twofold: First, to change the method of appointing four of the five members of the Building Committee from appointment by the Moderator (as it was originally voted on April third) to appointment by the selectmen. The appointment of the fifth member of the Building Committee was in both instances to be made by the School Committee. Second, to spread the building of the four new schools over a period of four years instead of a period of two years, as voted by the town on April third. After, however, a full evening of debate at the town meeting of April twentieth, the meeting refused to reconsider the second vote of April third even though it was apparent that a large number of the citizens mistakenly thought they were voting for a choice between the April third vote of the town and the motion to be offered by the Finance Committee.

THE APRIL THIRD TOWN MEETING VOTE FOR FOUR SCHOOLS IN TWO YEARS THEREFORE REMAINS UNCHANGED.

A third attempt is now being made by the opponents of the already adopted Special Committee programme for four grade schools. They hope to accomplish this by a town-wide ballot. For this purpose they have filed a petition under the legislative act which permits an appeal to the ballot to rescind any action taken by any Winchester town meeting which does not furnish seating capacity in the town hall to every voter who desires to attend the meeting.

THE PETITION IS INTENDED TO AGAIN ASK THE TOWN TO RECONSIDER THE REFUSAL TO RECONSIDER.

WHAT WILL BE THE EFFECT IF THIS THIRD ATTEMPT TO REVERSE THE VOTE OF THE APRIL THIRD TOWN MEETING FOR FOUR GRADE SCHOOLS IS SUCCESSFUL?

The instant effect of a successful reconsideration vote will be to destroy the first and second votes passed on April third, except that the selectmen are still authorized and instructed under the first vote to acquire the four sites which are recommended both by the Finance Committee and by the School Programme Committee and by vote of the town. The building of the four schools is dependent on the second vote to provide the means to carry out the terms of the first vote. Therefore, to reconsider and so destroy that second vote will destroy the machinery by which the schoolhouses are to be built. Therefore, a destructive motion only is before the town at this time.

A fifth town meeting must be called after this ballot vote is taken, provided reconsideration prevails, for the purpose of planning anew. At such a town meeting any motion or any amendment relating to the enlargement or abridgement of the school programme may be offered, and if passed may effectively destroy practically all the work that has been accomplished up to this time. The door is thrown wide open to defeat the entire school programme. There is no assurance that the substitute motion which the Finance Committee announced they intended to offer would be accepted by the town. Other and very different motions may prevail.

A portion of our citizens earnestly desire reconsideration because they prefer to vote against building any grade schools at this time. Others desire to build but a single school and leave the entire question open for future consideration beyond one grade school. Still others would prefer to build a junior high school and defer building all grade schools until the junior high school had been completed. Still others prefer a separate girls' and boys' high school. There are groups who would change every site selected for the four grade schools. Therefore, any and every amendment which appeals to any citizen can be placed before the fifth town meeting if reconsideration prevails.

The Tax Question

Taxes are substantially unaffected by any difference between the vote of April third and the substitute motion which the Finance Committee would have offered on April twentieth had reconsideration then prevailed. The same total of bonds is involved; the same sites are approved by all official committees. The only differences would be in the rapidity with which the building programme might be executed and in the method of appointing four of the five members of the Building Committee. THESE ARE TOO SLIGHT DIFFERENCES TO JUSTIFY FRIENDS OF NEW GRADE SCHOOLS TO PERMIT THEMSELVES TO BE DIVIDED.

Time It Will Take to Build Four Grade Schools

In view of the present need for improved grade school accommodation, the School Program Committee recommended building two schools each year for two years. This was approved by the town. Several weeks' time has now elapsed, and much more additional time will be lost. It, therefore, appears improbable that the program will be executed in less than three years. There is nothing in the vote to invalidate it if more than two years are taken to execute the plan. There is no penalty attached to delay; therefore the advocates of a slower building program will apparently realize their preference in any event.

Our Present Buildings

Our present grade buildings are badly located with respect to school population and are inadequate. The result is that large sections of the town are deprived of kindergarten space. Many children have long distances to travel to reach school. In many ways the efficiency of the schools is impaired and the expense of administration increased. No successful American manufacturer would risk delay in eliminating such inefficient and wasteful units in his plant. The worst school in town as a school unit is the Prince School, built for a high school in 1865 and now used by all sections except the Chapin section. This building embodies all that a school building should not be, yet cannot be abandoned and the expense of its administration eliminated, and the large value of its site realized upon until the completion of all four of the proposed grade schools. If replacement is delayed, further considerable sums must be spent on the six buildings which these four will replace.

Relatively few people realize that in case Winchester should pull down its principal elementary buildings and replace them in duplicate with entirely new material so that they would be at the outset clean, sound and sanitary, yet the State of Massachusetts would not permit the buildings to be occupied by the school children of Winchester. They represent in construction a lack of ventilation and of light and a fire hazard not permitted by the present school building standards of the state. They are, therefore, inferentially condemned by the state law.

They have also been condemned by the expert opinion of every authority who has examined them during the three years of special investigation of our school building situation.

Town Opinion

IT WOULD APPEAR CERTAIN THEREFORE FROM ALL THE VOTES WHICH HAVE BEEN TAKEN THAT IT IS THE OPINION OF THE TOWN BY A LARGE MAJORITY THAT THESE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS SHOULD BE REPLACED AND THAT THE TOWN IS BY A LARGE MAJORITY AGREED UPON THE SITES.

BOTH THE FINANCE COMMITTEE AND THE SCHOOL PROGRAM COMMITTEE AND THE VOTERS OF THE TOWN AGREE UPON THE MODERATE ADDITION TO THE TAX LEVY WHICH THE REPLACEMENT OF THESE SCHOOLS WILL ENTAIL.

PROPERLY TO EXECUTE THE PROGRAM, WE SHOULD DO IT WITH THE LEAST UNNECESSARY DELAY. THIS CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED BY REFUSING AGAIN TO RECONSIDER THE VOTE OF APRIL THIRD. A Building Committee will then be appointed and the work will go forward.

We, therefore, urge all friends of adequate, healthful and safe elementary schools

SHALL THE PEOPLE TAKE A CHANCE?

Boston, Mass., May 3, 1922.
To the Editor of Winchester Star:
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:

Shall the town on the proposed ballot reconsider its recent vote in favor of four Elementary Schools? I voted for the Special Committee's program, and I favor this program above any other suggested. However, my real interest is in new buildings, and I am not unduly concerned about details. If we consider, are we at all certain to get a comprehensive plan substituted for the existing plan?

After reconsideration a Town Meeting would be held. The debate would open at 7:45 P. M. but the end no man could predict. Presumably we should have an overflow meeting, resulting perhaps in a second town ballot in June. As the above meeting developed, the disintegrating forces of opposition would warm up to their work. The inevitable discord would gather new force through the recent uncalled for slight to our independent Moderator, Mr. Ives. The many points of view on the general issue would doubtless be once more presented to the voters. We have the citizen who believes that there is no pressing need for new buildings, who has 200 so far as to mention the need of new sidewalks along with new school buildings, and who has no interest in the unanimous advice of experts. We have a gentleman of persuasive tongue who believes we should not rashly adopt even the Finance Committee's proposal, but should vote separately on each proposed school location.

We have a man who is deeply interested in Education, but whose speeches breathe a spirit of opposition to any constructive plan.

We will hear again from one whose district is not getting a fair deal, and from another who does not want to be rushed off his feet by the Special Committee. We, perhaps, will not hear from those who do not want new schools at any price, but they will be there just the same.

Once reconsideration is voted, all these conflicting elements must be reunited, if we are to succeed in doing away with our present completely inadequate buildings.

Shall the people who want action and want it now, take the chance?

Yours truly,

Augustus J. Boyden

A Ford truck owned and operated by George N. Rogers of Reading struck an electric light pole at the corner of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets Monday, breaking off the pole. The truck was damaged but the driver escaped without injury.

NO EVIDENCE IN BREWSTER MURDER

No evidence has yet been secured in the murder of Ralph W. Brewster, the ticket agent at the B. & M. railroad station. Brewster was shot on the night of April 20th while in his office at the station. During the intervening time many clues have been run down by the police and daily papers. The matter remains as much a mystery today as ever, although many people hold the theory that the agent was shot in an attempted holdup, the wouldbe thief losing his nerve after killing Brewster and running away without stealing the money he sought.

During the past week the police have conducted exhaustive investigations at Pittsfield and Manchester, N. H., where Brewster formerly lived and was employed, but none of this work has brought anything to light to support a theory that he was murdered in revenge or under a mistaken identity Wednesday. An inquest was held at Woburn, at which all persons having any connection with the case were called and questioned.

BRIDGE BILL PASSED

The bill for the construction of a new Bacon street bridge over the river was passed and signed by the Governor this week, the apportionment of the cost being the same as previously announced—50 per cent by the Town and 25 per cent equally by the County and State. The passage of this important act has been due to the efforts of our Selectmen, Representative Richard B. Coolidge and Senator Lewis Parkhurst, all of whom have spent much time in the matter. It is estimated that the cost of the bridge will be in the neighborhood of $38,000 and that it will provide for a 60 foot roadway.

UNION MEETING

On Thursday, May 11th, from 10 to 4, the Woman's League of the First Baptist Church will hold a union meeting of the Social Service and Missionary Society. The ladies will sew in the morning and a program will follow in the afternoon. Luncheon at 12:30.

Miss Lucy Glendon, night operator at the Western Union Telegraph office at the Star Building, was taken suddenly ill while on duty Monday night and taken to the Winchester Hospital, where she was immediately operated upon for appendicitis. She is recovering nicely.

PARENT-TEACHER CONFERENCE

Third Conference of the 17th District, Massachusetts Parent Teacher Association and Annual Meeting of the Wadleigh-Prince P. T. A.

The annual meeting of the Wadleigh-Prince P. T. A. will be held Tuesday, May 16th at 7:30 p. m., in the High School Assembly Hall just before the evening session of the conference.

The Councilor of this district, Mrs. Earl W. Smith, Arlington, is sending programs of the Conference to the other associations in Medford, Wakefield, Stoneham, and Woburn, members of which will be our guests.

Invitations have also been issued to the organizations of Metropolitan Boston by the State President Mrs. E. C. Mason, Grove street, Winchester.

Mrs. Mason, now resident in Winchester over 6 years, has been in touch with the State Branch of the National Congress of Mothers and P. T. Association since its inception 12 years ago. While living in Bedford, she was President of the local branch for 4 years and also served on the school committee. Later, she held the office of secretary of the state Board until her election as President. In addition to her duties as chief executive, Mrs. Mason is editor of the "Bulletin" published monthly at 8 Grove street by the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher Association, Inc.

TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

Notice was issued this week of a special meeting of the Winchester Unitarian Society to be held on Monday evening, May 8th, at 7:45 o'clock at the church. Two important matters are to be considered, including the purchase of the Shepard property adjoining the church, which will be used for a parsonage, and the acceptance of memorial windows for the church.

FORMER WINCHESTER MAN DEAD

Alfred Clarke, a mechanical engineer and inventor, and the man who installed the famous Lick telescope, died last week at his home at Walpole, N. H., after a brief illness. He returned a week previous from Saratoga, Fla.

Mr. Clarke, who was 74 years old, was a native of Leicester, Eng. As superintendent of a cotton mill at Lowell, Mass., he invented and perfected a cotton picking machine now in universal use.

He went to work when he was 12 years old, and was apprenticed to George Stevenson, the famous English locomotive builder. Later he entered the employ of a concern which manufactured marine engines. He worked by day, and in the evening attended school, where he showed a special proficiency in mechanics, mathematics and chemistry.

Mr. Clarke came to America when he was 25. His first position in this country was as chief engineer of the Bradley Fertilizer Company of North Weymouth. He devised many improvements in the company's machinery.

In 1878 he became superintendent of the Kilton Machine Company of Lowell, and while with this concern, perfected several patents on cotton machinery. Eight years later he accepted a position in Cleveland, returning soon to New England to become associated with Arthur E. Childs in the founding of the Light, Heat and Power Corporation of Boston, and shortly became affiliated with others in acquiring light, heat and power plants throughout the State. He became president of various illuminating and power companies.

Mr. Clarke was a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, B. A. A. Vesper Country Club, Winchester Club, and William North Lodge, A. F. & A. M. He was married in 1880 to Miss Lucia E. Whiting of Cambridge.

Mr. Clarke came to Winchester about 18 years ago and resided on Sheffield road, when that fine residential street had only a half dozen homes. Mr. Clarke resided there for about ten years, finally selling his home to Mr. Charles B. Wyman, the restaurant man of Boston and moving to Walpole, N. H., where he bought an extensive farm as well as a fine home in the center of that town.

When Mr. Clarke bought the place on Sheffield Road, the old Middlesex Canal ran behind his place and he saw the possibilities of development of the land as a fine garden. With much difficulty he finally got a claim and started to develop the rear of his place into one of the show places of Winchester. Others who lived on the street followed Mr. Clarke's example and now the street is one of the finest in the town, due to his seeing ability to look ahead.

Mr. Clarke is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. McLaughlin of Australia, whose wedding took place here.

Mr. Clark was also president of the Arlington Gas Co., for a number of years.

MR. CHIDLEY TO PREACH FINAL SERMON

Next Sunday morning at the First Congregational Church, Mr. Chidley will preach his final sermon before leaving for Quebec where he sails for Southampton, England. He expects to return, after a Mediterranean cruise, the first week in September. Dr. Richardson will preach on Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock, the evening service to be held in the vestry.

Speaking of Profits:

THE Edison Company is not allowed to make profits as that term is often understood.

Under the supervision of the State Department of Public Utilities, it must furnish a high quality of service at as low a cost as will cover expenses—including a fair return on the stockholders' investment, and a reserve sufficient to meet emergencies, as for example the December sleet storm.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

WINCHESTER WON FROM ARLINGTON

Winchester High won its fifth consecutive game last Saturday afternoon by defeating Arlington High 2-0 on the Spy Pond field in an exciting and well played game. A passed ball by Scanlon, Arlington's catcher, enabled the local boys to put two runs across in the second inning and Mathews pitching led his team in the lead through the seven following innings. Mathews struck out 13 men.

WINCHESTER WINS AGAIN

On Tuesday of this week, Coach Bond took his charges in hand and went to Reading where they easily defeated the local High School by the score of 4 to 1. Mathews' pitching was again the feature of the game.
This makes five straight victories for our boys, and they hope to repeat on Saturday when they meet the strong Woburn High School team. Woburn and Winchester are, at present, tied for the league lead, and the winner of this game will be, in all probability,
the league champions.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

When in company, watch your tongue.

You may know a man pretty well by just knowing the people he knows.

Some of the chauffeurs about back up against the curb stones as if they had previously been employed by the government to test armor plate.

Some men think greatness is to hold a town office or have a pull in town affairs.

When with the family, watch your temper.

When you are alone, watch your thoughts.

In reading the vote to be offered on the referendum ballot it should be remembered that "passing" the "vote" (voting yes) is equivalent to reconsideration. To refuse to "pass the vote" (voting no) means that the town desires to refuse reconsideration.

It has been suggested that some of the numerous woods fires of this spring have been deliberately set. It certainly looks suspicious in some instances. Fires originating after dark, well into the woods, do not have the appearance of accident or carelessness. The fells, thus far, have been wholly free from fires where bordering on Winchester, due, it is claimed, to our system of policing. It might be a good idea for the arranging of a policing system of a similar nature in all of the woods bordering our town, this to be for the period of the few weeks of dry spring weather only. Certainly the prevention of one good fire would pay the cost of such protection, and the arrest of some of these careless persons who are credited with starting the fires might have a good effect.

The STAR has nothing to say on the coming referendum ballot on the proposed and already voted school houses. The Town has already signified on two occasions its readiness to build the schools and its willingness to build them "two and two." We believe the proper way to have undertaken the job was one school at a time. Our common sense tells us so. On the other hand this part of the program does not begin to fall so far short of our opinion as some other phases of the situation which are equally accepted by our citizens. If the fight is to be continued, we cannot help but wonder where the endless chain may stop. It seems as though we should get together and unite on something.

CONFUSION OVER THE BALLOT

There is and probably will be, much confusion over the ballot vote to be held Monday, May 15th, on the school question. The wording of the vote tends to create such confusion and the many opinions expressed regarding what the vote stands for tends to further increase it. Many people state that it is to be a "town meeting," tending to create the impression that this is an open meeting for further discussion of the question.

In the first place, this is a ballot vote, conducted along the same lines as our town meeting election in March. There is to be no discussion or open meeting in the evening.

In the second place the ballot is to decide whether the Town desires to reconsider its previous vote whereby it decided to appoint a building committee to erect four school houses.

This building committee vote carried with it specific instruction to the said committee. It directed it to build two schools this year and two schools next year and it also stated how the said committee should be appointed (by the Moderator).

That is all that is to be voted upon. The vote of the Town to appropriate money and purchase the four sites is not affected. That vote is passed and done for—so far as this ballot is concerned.

Now the reason why the ballot is worded as it is, is because the Town has already acted upon this same question. In the first place it recorded the vote. Then a motion was made to reconsider. This was lost, (not by a majority, but on the required two-thirds necessary to reconsider), but on the evening it was lost voters could not enter the hall who desired to do so, and this gave the right to question the (second) vote, whereby reconsideration was lost. We are now to decide whether this vote not to reconsider was what the majority of the people want.

If the voters decide not to reconsider, the committee will be appointed and the schools built according to instruction. If the voters decide to reconsider, there will be no committee to erect the schools and it will then be necessary to call a special town meeting to provide for a committee and to instruct it in its duties.

The "motion rejected at the town meeting held April 20" was a motion to reconsider "the vote passed on April 3d, providing for the appointment of a committee to carry out the school building program." Therefore

The Federal Trade Commission estimates the people of the United States spend annually in admissions to the "Movies," one billion, four hundred and sixty million dollars ($1,460,000,000).

The amount of insurance premiums collected on the total business in force including industrial business, by the entire 272 Old Line Life Companies in the United States in 1920 was $1,467,990,594.

"What do you think of that?"

WILLIAM W. HILL, Agent
The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company
79 MILK ST. Boston
Phone Main 5760 Winchester 418

if "the motion rejected" is "passed," reconsideration is in order. If it is not passed, reconsideration is lost.

HERE AND THERE

From the chorus number at the beginning to the little good-night lullaby at the end, the two hundred Wadleigh-Prince pupils who presented "Here and There" Saturday, April 29, did themselves great credit and gave to the big and interested audience a thoroughly enjoyable evening. Dorothy Brown, after the opening chorus, told in brief the story of the play and the order of the various numbers forming the program.

Mary Carr, as the little invalid, and Katherine Shultis, the Lady of Mystery, through whose magic gift Mary was able to call visitors from far and near to her, introduced one group after another. First came a dozen seventh grade girls in Japanese costume, who sang sweetly "Three Little Maids from Japan" from "The Mikado." Then a group of seventh grade boys gave a stirring dramatization of the Swiss story of William Tell. They were ably assisted by an energetic group of market women calling their wares. Fourteen little sixth-graders in Dutch costume won much applause in their Dutch dance with its odd steps and exaggerated action. A group of eighth grade French students gave a very pleasing and much appreciated rendering of "La Lecon de Francais." It was hard to believe that "La Soeur," L'Inspecteur and Suzanne were only eighth grade pupils of French. The little play was the picture of an Alsatian school during the visit of the Inspector and was ended with "La Marseillaise."

Thirteen seventh grade girls with bright Spanish head-dress and girle gave a spirited Tambourine Drill concluding with a Spanish dance by Betty Sweetser. The British Isles were shown by two eighth grade rooms with a full eighth grade chorus. It included the Irish jig, danced by twelve girls with green capes and hair bands, "Men of Harlech," two Scotch dances, the Highland Fling and Highland Schottische and an ensemble number "Rule Britannia." After these visitors from "Far" had departed a "Live" number class of eighteen seventh grade boys marched on, making by their formation arithmetical signs and processes ending in a very live little military drill which brought much applause as the boys formed first the letter W, then P for Wadleigh-Prince. A history class from the eighth grade gave a brief, impressive pageant "American Ideals" with interspersed chorus numbers.

Wearied by her many visitors Mary asked to be taken to the Land of Nod and Maribel Vinson recited "Wyndken, Blinken and Nod" as a prelude to "When the Little Children Sleep," sung by twelve sixth grade girls and boys with their electric candles. With the whole two hundred pupils on and in front of the stage the audience joined with the children in "America."

All of the accompaniments were played by seventh and eighth grade girls:—Eleanor Healey, Dorothy Brown, Muriel Edwards, and Elizabeth Linscott.

The boys and girls were very anxious to make enough money to get a much-needed piano for the Wadleigh and were very happy in the accomplishment of their object.

MRS. GEO. SCHUBARTH

Mrs. Geo. Schubarth passed away on her 57th birthday, May 2, at the Rhode Island Hospital, after a sudden illness. She was for many years a well-known resident of Winchester, and very active in social circles. She is survived by her husband and daughter Eleanor (Mrs. A. C. Bentsen of Conimicut). Also three sisters, Mrs. J. Auld, Mrs. E. Wilson and Mrs. Geo. Hobson. The funeral services will be held at her home in Conimicut, R. I., on Thursday, May 4th at 3 o'clock; and the remains will be taken to the Lowell Cemetery, Friday. The Rev. Robbinette, of the Grace Church, Providence will officiate.

As He Figured It.

Donald has reached the age where his presence at social affairs is much in demand. Recently he was invited to a birthday party and mother was giving him final instructions as to etiquette. "What will you say," she asked, "if they ask you to have something that you like?" "I would say 'thank you,'" was the reply. "And what would you say if you did not want any?" "Well," said the young hopeful, "I would say 'No, thank you, but I don't think I'll have to say that.'"

CALUMET BOWLING ENDS

Two Ties To Be Rolled Off in Tournament

Last night's matches completed the scheduled tournament in the mixed bowling contest at the Calumet Club. As a result of the standing, two ties must be rolled off, the first between teams B and K to decide the winner of third place, and the second between teams D and G, to decide which of these teams partakes of the annual dinner without paying. Last night's scores did not affect any of the winners.

The tournament closes as follows: 1st team prize. Won by team R. Mr. and Mrs. George B. Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jennings, Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Speedie.

2d team prize. Won by team N. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Aseltine, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pecker.

3d team prize. Tie between team B. Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smalley, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Crafts, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Heaton, and team K—Mr. F. A. Parshley and Miss Parshley, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Snow, Mr. and Mrs. N. K. Morton and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith.

The individual prizes for lady with best net average and lady with best gross average, are not to be announced until the bowling dinner, Friday evening, May 12.

Following is the standing of the teams:

RAVENNA SHRINE OF DANTE AND RELIQUARY OF ROME

"Many a mean place marks the shrine of a great man; but in Ravenna crowds are honoring Dante in a city as nearly unique as the singular genius of that poet," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Its geographical position once rendered it an "impossible City of the Sea" and preserved it as a "Pompeii of the Byzantine Era." Its present interest is associated with the 600th anniversary of the death of Dante who is buried there; but its permanent significance lies in the fact that it was "the death bed of the (Roman) Empire and its tomb."

Ravenna is the Hamlet of Italian cities. To its isolation and solitude it owed the presence of the emperors of declining Rome, and the same quality has preserved the mystic spirit of the four centuries, the fifth to eighth, which it alone typifies.

How Geography Made Ravenna

Recall that the Apennines cut across the upper part of the Italian boot from Genoa to Rimini, just north of Ravenna. There the range turns south, short of the Adriatic. Ravenna therefore has a strategic position in relation to Cisalpine Gaul, the Italian peninsula and the Adriatic.

This position, in conjunction with its inaccessibility made the little town of Gallia Cisalpina, Caesar's rendezvous to plot with Roman adherents while he campaigned in Gaul, into the mighty Ravenna, where Honorius first established an imperial residence, Odoacer set up a kingdom, and Theodoric the Ostrogoth finally established a Versailles of the medieval world.

Ravenna was inaccessible because it was laid out along canals among marshes. The tide was the sanitary agent. The principal complaints in this respect were against flies and frogs and an inadequate water supply. One writer reports, "We were thirsty in the midst of the waves." Martial wrote:

"That landlord at Ravenna is plainly but a cheat,
I paid for wine and water, but he serve wine to me meat."

The Brooklyn of Europe

Architecturally Ravenna is the Brooklyn of Europe. Its churches are unique because they exhibit the threefold influence of Roman, Byzantine and Christian art. A dozen or more of these edifices are counted of high artistic and historical merit, and about them entire volumes have been written. No place affords such an opportunity as Ravenna to study the years just before and after the break-up of the Roman Empire. Ravenna long had passed the zenith of her influence and power when Dante spent the last years of his life there. He was the invited guest of Guido Novello, lord of the city, whose patronage of art and letters kindled a flicker among the members of the city's great past.

Byron's Description of Dante's Tomb
It is paradoxical that in a city noted chiefly for its architectural treasures the ashes of its most famous resident should repose in a shrine described by Byron "a little cupola more neat than solemn." Byron, it will be recalled, lived at Ravenna in 1820-21 during the time he was enamored by the Countess Guiccioli.

AUSTRIAN TYROL WHICH WANTS TO BE A PART OF GERMANY

Austrian Tyrol, the most mountainous part of Austria, which voted unofficially recently to join itself to Germany, is described in the following bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society:

Tyrol is a second Switzerland, about equally mountainous, though not quite so well known to the tourists of the outside world. Still, as the home of snow-capped peaks, deep valleys, and sturdy, yodeling peasants, it had its meed of fame among those who search out the beauty spots and quaint localities of the world. And to the Austrians themselves it was the pleasure-ground par excellence. In the care-free days before the outbreak of the World War 350 Tyrolean health resorts and recreation centers were listed. Emperor Francis Joseph, who was an ardent mountain climber, had a summer palace, at Ischöl in Tyrol, and at other places in that mountainous region he maintained hunting estates and lodges which he considered the finest in Europe.

Tyrol Only Half Pre-War Size

But Tyrol of today is far different from the Tyrol of ten years ago. Then the region under Austrian control extended far south of the main crest of the Alps almost to the plains of northern Italy. This southern region was known as Trentino to the Italians and was one of the most important parts of 'Italia Irredenta.' When the victorious Allies wrote the Treaty of St. Germain which closed the war with Austria, the Italian border was moved north to the position claimed by the Italians for centuries; and so more than half of the old Tyrol was lopped off.

The present Austrian Tyrol is a region of approximately the area of Connecticut and with a population of less than half a million. While the old southern Tyrol, on the south slopes of the Alps and exposed to the sunshine and warm winds of Italy, has a rather mild climate, the part which has remained to Austria, north of the high, rugged mountains, has rigorous climatic conditions. In some years hardly a month is free from frost, and heavy snow covers much of the ground for seven months of the year. The pasturing of cattle on the Alpine meadows is the principal industry, but sparse crops of rye and oats are raised throughout the arable portions of the country.

The main water-shed of the Alps which now marks the southern boundary of Tyrol is the linguistic as well as the logical geographic boundary. To the south, even under Auspicious in which Italian predominated, was the language in general use. To the north, however, the country had been thoroughly Germanicized since the fifth century. The doorway between these Latin and Teuton worlds is the Brenner Pass, famous since the Roman legions used it in passing north to conquer the barbarians. Since 1867 a railroad has traversed it.

RECEPTION TO THE SENIORS

The Junior reception to the Seniors which took place in the Assembly Hall last Saturday evening, was notable in that it was a radical departure, in many ways, from the precedent set by previous classes. The decorations were very attractive in their simplicity, presenting a marked improvement over the abundant creations of past years. Especial gratitude is due Mr. Chas. F. Brown whose expert advice and contribution of decoration material effected the success.

Mr. Brown is the father of Miss Pauline Brown of the Junior class. Such cooperation from the parents is most gratifying. The decoration committee was composed of the Misses Pauline Brown, Elizabeth Comstock, Audrey Goddu and Mr. John Kenerson. Their efforts and achievements are deserving of the highest commendation.

Mrs. Goddu, mother of Miss Audrey Goddu of the Junior class, loaned a garden arch which was set on the stage in front of the orchestra making a very pretty effect.

Arnold and Colgate, Inc., were the caterers. The refreshment committee consisting of Messrs. Joseph Ryan and Clinton Mason did well in selecting them. The punch secured by the committee was consumed in great quantity.

The dance orders and tickets were attended to by the Misses Marion Breen, Barbara Pike and Catharine Murphy. The dance orders were simple and attractive, displaying the class emblem.

Messrs. Thomas Gigliotti and Stanley McNeilly served as music committee. They obtained Perry's orchestra, which rendered exceptionally fine music. Mr. Gigliotti played with the orchestra.

Mr. Edward Wheatley and Miss Dorothy Smith formed an incidental business committee.

At 8:30 the opening march formed, and the matrons, Mrs. Breen, Mrs. Goddu, Miss Parker and Miss Perham received. The dancing and conduct was of a high order. The participants seemed to take upon themselves a certain responsibility. This was commented upon by the parents who were spectators. Mr. Arthur French and Miss Dorothy Aseltine took the lucky dance. They were enthusiastically applauded. At almost exactly 11:00 the time scheduled for the finishing, the closing march formed. There was no confusion, and no spirit of rebellious nature was shown as has often been the case in past years.

The whole affair was most satisfactory in every respect, and those who had a part in the management deserve much credit.

The play "Mrs. Goring's Necklace" will be presented in the Town Hall, Friday evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Society. The proceeds of this play are to be used in furnishing the new Parish House.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

May 1, 1922.

The Board under suspension of its rule 1 met at 7:00 p. m., all present. The records of the meeting of April 24 were read and approved.

Licenses 1922 (To Carry Fire Arms): A letter was received from the Chief of Police stating that the statute gives the Board of Selectmen the right to delegate some person to give licenses to carry revolvers. As this authority has been granted to the Chief in the past the Board voted to give him this right, and the Clerk was instructed to so notify him.

Street Lights (Spot Light): A letter was received from the Edison Electric Illuminating Company acknowledging receipt of the Board's order relative to the proposed spot light to be installed in the centre of the Town. The letter states that the company will make formal application to the Superintendent of Streets for a permit to make the necessary street opening to carry out the proposed work.

Miscellaneous Inquiries: A letter was received from the Selectmen of Groton, Mass., asking for information regarding the action taken by the Town of Winchester relative to advertising bill-boards. The Clerk was instructed to send the Selectmen of Groton a copy of the vote passed at the recent Town Meeting relative to this subject.

Town Meetings (May 15, 1922): A petition was received from the required number of registered voters of the Town of Winchester requesting in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 32 of the Acts of 1922 that the following motion, rejected at the Adjourned Session of the Annual Town Meeting of March 6, 1922 held on April 20, 1922 be submitted to the voters of the Town for ratification or determination by official ballot:

MOVED: That the vote passed at the session of the Annual Meeting on April 3d providing for the appointment of a committee to carry out the School Building Program be reconsidered.

A letter was received from the Town Clerk stating that the petition was filed with her on April 25, 1922 and a certificate was received from her stating that she has examined the petition and found the same to be correct, and that the 237 signatures on the petition were the names of registered voters in the Town of Winchester.

The Board signed a warrant calling for a Special Town Meeting to be held on Monday, May 15, 1922 to vote on this matter. The polls are to be opened at 45 minutes after 5 o'clock in the forenoon and may be closed at 30 minutes after 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The meeting adjourned at 10:35 P. M.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

BOYS' GYMNASIUM EXHIBITION

On Friday, April 25, the second annual exhibition of the high school boys' gymnasium work was held in the Town Hall.

When this new high school feature was introduced last year, it met with great response. This year a still more elaborate and spectacular exhibition was presented and the five hundred people who packed the balconies and the sides of the hall showed their appreciation of a real treat.

The regular exercises, apparatus and stunt work which are a part of the high school gymnastic training were presented in an efficient and polished manner. The revelations of the nature of the games, whose titles appeared on the program as "Passing the Buck," "Baby Carriage Race," and "Tin Lizzie Race," was an education in itself.

The work of the Levesque and the tumbling and Indian Club demonstration of James Paige, former captain of the Brown University Gym team, were especially fine.

The purpose of these exhibitions is to raise the money needed by the boys in buying the equipment for their athletic teams. This year, due to the fine cooperation of the boys in selling tickets, $100 was cleared.

In short, the exhibition was in every way, a most successful piece of work. Such an affair should certainly be made a permanent part of the program of school events. Mr. Higbee is to be congratulated on the results of his work.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WHEN YOU GRADUATE?

Do you know just what the Nursing Profession has to offer the young woman of today in the way of opportunities for service?

Do you realize that the nursing profession is growing probably faster than any other owing to the increasing knowledge of the public concerning the value of a nurse?

Do you realize the demands for special nursing service, such as public health nursing, social service nursing and many other new developments of modern nursing?

There are more than 20 specialties which graduate nurses are taking up and the demand far surpasses the supply of trained women.

The Winchester Hospital invites the young women of Winchester to come to the Hospital on National Hospital Day, May 12th, from 2 until 4:30 P. M., and have tea at the Nurses Home and see for themselves just how our young student nurses live, what a student nurse's day means, let them show you the baby ward and the Diet kitchen, the operating room and the wards and tell you all the things you perhaps are wondering about in connection with a hospital training school. Bring your mothers with you for they will be interested more than you in the work you are thinking of taking up. Perhaps you are not now thinking a bit about that far away day when you will have graduated from High school and will want to do something worth while. If that is so, all the more you will want to come and see if the inside of a fine hospital does not offer you something to think about and if that great field of nursing open to you if you choose, does not give you a thrill and make you want to some time be a part of it.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

We want you to limit the amount of gas you use to your exact needs. Here are a few ways to do it:—

If you are boiling water, do not heat a quart when a pint is enough. When the water comes to a boiling point and you wish to keep it there, it is not necessary to leave the gas on full to do so. Turn it down. Water violently agitated with a tremendous heat under it is only escaping in the form of steam.

"A watched pot never boils," they say, because in watching it you remove the cover and part of the heat escapes. Keep the covers of utensils on when it is possible and have covers fit properly.

Always light the gas after, not before, you have placed the utensil over the burner. Also turn out the gas before, not after taking the utensil off the range. In the course of a year, this little rule in itself will well repay your care.

LETTER FROM HONOLULU

Honolulu, Hawaii,
April 11, 1922.

Editor of the Star:

The country villa of the late Queen Emma is now open to the public as a museum, having an exhibit of furnishings, pictures and personal effects just as used by her; the estate is up in the Nuuanu Valley and when it was built about 70 years ago, was well into the country, but now this valley contains some of the finest homes and most beautiful grounds in Honolulu, and being several hundred feet above sea-level is a little cooler than the town, and commands lovely views of mountains, ridges, crevasses, the city, and the broad and blue Pacific.

Emma Naea was the granddaughter of John Young, an Englishman living in the Islands in the time of Kamehameha I, about 1800, so that she was not of pure Hawaiian ancestry; her pictures indicate that she was dark and handsome, and history relates that she was well educated and of exceptionally noble character.

Her husband Kamehameha IV reigned from 1854 to 1863, passing away at the latter date in his 30th year leaving no children; the royal couple had one son born in 1858, titled "The Prince of Hawaii"—this child died at the age of four years; the story is current that he possessed a very violent temper and on an occasion when he was particularly rampant his father poured cold water over him, this induced brain fever which resulted fatally; the King was so stricken with remorse at the result of his punishment, and sorrow for death of his only child, that he failed from that time passing away within a year. This hasty and imprudent act had a very important effect upon Hawaii's future; had the King and his son lived there would have been no Kalakaua dynasty which was not a credit to the Islands.

The Queen's country home previously mentioned, is of wood, one story in height—the rooms are large, high studded and rectangular—resembles Mt. Vernon on the Potomac. When the Duke of Edinburgh was en route to Hawaii in 1869 in H. M. S. "GALATEA," Queen Emma had an addition built on for his occupancy, this is a very large apartment extending the entire width of the mansion—here he received Hawaiian royalty and was lavishly entertained by them. A fine picture of him now adorns the wall of the room and in the reception hall are engravings of his mother and father, Queen Victoria and Prince Albert.

There are two pianos, one an old fashioned square type made by Collard & Collard, London, and the other a fairly modern baby grand made in Dresden, Germany; doubtless these instruments have contributed to many and varied forms of entertainment, though now mute and no longer tuneful.

The royal bed is a wonderfully beautiful and elaborate creation from Hawaii's handsome mahogany (koa wood); the crude lumber was sent to England and there hand carved in the famous pineapple pattern—its width is fully ten feet, thus having at least twice the capacity of the ordinary double bed—at that period the better class of Hawaiians were not openly polygamists, though this bed would have met the requirements of the average Mormon.

The royal china is exhibited in a glass case and is in a splendid state of preservation—rather heavy white ware with a modest blue decoration; in another cabinet are shown the Queen's wedding dress presented to her by Queen Victoria of Great Britain, white shoes, lace handkerchief and lace shawl, and the Prince's christening robe.

The King's masonic regalia is bright and fresh in gold and brilliant red, but his royal blue uniform is much the worse for wear and sadly stricken by the ravages of time and the pestiferous moth; old photographs, sheets of royal stationery, chamber-ware, books, kahilis, feather leis, and table silver are also exhibited, and the little boys knife, fork and spoon were displayed in the original plush case, stamped "Shreve, Stanwood & Co., Boston, Mass." The photographs were especially interesting to me, giving an intimate and almost personal contact with these monarchs, princes, and princesses, who reigned and flourished more than half a century ago; in most cases the execution and finish are quite crude, and the poses stiff and rural in appearance, while the fashions of that era as shown from life in these pictures, are really ludicrous and frequently ridiculous.

In the grounds is a handsome conservatory built of volcanic rocks and roofed over with glass; the present display is limited to a fine assortment of ferns and begonias, but doubtless in the halcyon days of its royal owners there were many rarities to be seen and admired. Another item of interest is a grass house, the native home of 100 years ago, but now nearly obsolete.

Like the illustrious Robert Louis Stevenson I enjoy writing in the freedom of the great out-of-doors, but right there the comparison ends—in 1889 he made a temporary home in Honolulu, residing at what is now 2863 Kalakaua Avenue, Waikiki; here, under the shade of a broad, spreading hau tree, he wrote his novel, "The Master of Ballantre." This variety of tree is quite a common sight, but a novelty to the new-comer because of its shape; at the height of about 15 feet it sends out many lateral, close growing branches with broad green leaves, forming a most welcome and heavy shade—if these horizontal limbs are given vertical support, the spread is far reaching indeed; the hau at his former home is in fine condition and the supports are neat iron pillars, painted in dull, blending green.

As these lines are penned I am seated upon clean sand formed of granulated coral and shells, reclining in the shade of a row of iron-wood trees, and clad in an abbreviated bathing suit; before me lies the vast Pacific breaking upon the beach within 25 feet of my seat; the gentle, balmy breeze is fragrant with the breath of the sea, and must be purity itself, coming directly from the ocean where there is no land in that direction nearer than 1000 miles. For about a half mile, or perhaps a little more, there extends from the shore a coral reef or floor, upon which the average depth of water is six to ten feet; at the outer end of this protecting reef the drop into the depths is very steep as is usual in all volcanic islands; the waters covering the reef are resplendent in shades of blue according to the slight varying depths, and the character of the bottom, the shade of turquoise predominating, but the deep water beyond is a dark, intense blue resembling liquid laundry bluing.

The temperature of the air is 78° and that of the water 75°—this with the cleanest of sand and wonderfully transparent water, make an ideal combination for bathing—the usual early morning temperature at this season is 68°, and at noon 76° to 78°; a delightful breeze is almost as dependable as the rising of the sun, and these islands are indeed a paradise of fair skies, sunshine, fruits, flowers and scenery; blessed with an equable and salubrious climate, untouched by fog, frost or chill, hurricane or earthquake, rarely visited by thunder and lightning, free from snakes, malaria, fevers, humidity, and soft coal soot and smoke.

On shore fairy-like scenery with a wealth of color, and in the sea, marine gardens as luxuriant as those which take their growth from the soil, displaying the shrubbery of the sea, where in place of the birds, are a multitude of highly colored, opalescent fishes resplendent in beauty, and often strange and grotesque in shapes.

Few island groups, if any, are so isolated in situation as these Hawaiian glimpses of heaven. The following will illustrate the remoteness from neighboring lands;—to the East lie the coasts of California and Mexico, about 2200 miles away; to the South are tiny coral atolls none nearer than approximately 1000 miles, and islands of any note in this direction are fully 2000 miles away; to the Southwest are the Philippines with Manila 4800 miles; to the West and Northwest the Continental coast of Asia, and Hong Kong 5000 miles; and the Islands of Japan 3500 miles; to the North the bare Pacific stretches away for thousands of miles; but this remoteness from other lands is greatly offset by the proximity to important trade routes, and this group has been very aptly termed "The Cross Roads of the Pacific"—steamers call at Honolulu regularly on their routes to and from Australia, New Zealand, Manila, Fiji, Samoa, Tonga, Tahiti, China, Japan and the mainland of North America.

HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Home for Aged People in Winchester was held at the Home on Kendall street Monday evening with the usual large attendance. The following officers were elected:

President—Preston Pond
Vice Presidents—Marshall W. Jones, Mrs. Leonore P. Cummings, Stillman T. Williams.

Secretary—Charles M. Harris
Treasurer—F. Nelson Hawley
Auditor—Ernest R. Eustice

Director, for one year to take the place of Mrs. Cummings, who becomes a Vice President—Mrs. Jennie C. Gates

Directors for two years—Frank E. Crawford, Mrs. M. Blanche White, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Dennett, Mrs. Barbara R. Fitch

The nominating committee included Miss Edith Swett and Mr. Harry C. Sanborn.

The following report was submitted by the directors:

The Directors of the Home for Aged People, pursuant to the requirements of the by-laws, herewith submit their annual report to the Corporation for the year ending April 30, 1922.

At the present time there are ten inmates of the Home. They are Mrs. Elizabeth Anna Hemingway, Mr. Hiram W. Folsom, Miss Augusta Peach, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Davies, Miss Ella C. Abbott, Mrs. Susan Caroline Brazier, Miss Della G. Wood, Miss Carletta L. Davis, Miss Mary L. Cobb and Miss Adeline A. Sinclair.

Two of the inmates have died during the past year, viz., Mrs. Mary W. Page on November 18, 1921 at the age of 88, and Mrs. Janet Lytton on December 8, 1921, at the age of 90.

On December 6, Miss Mary E. Cobb was admitted to the Home, and, on January 1st, 1922, Miss Adeline A. Sinclair was also admitted.

Several applications for admission are now on file awaiting action by the Directors when accommodations for additional inmates are available.

During the year, the Home has been the recipient of a legacy of $1000. from the estate of Mrs. Charlotte B. West of Winchester, and of another legacy of $500. from the estate of Mrs. Maria S. Thompson of Medford, widow of the late Abijah Thompson, formerly of Winchester.

These legacies, in accordance with a policy established some years ago, have been added to the permanent capital fund.

Living donors have also, from time to time during the year, generously remembered the Home.

Noteworthy among the gifts received was an upright Chickering piano-forte which was presented by the St. Faith Chapter of the Church of the Epiphany.

The Home was also bountifully remembered by its friends on Donation Day which was held on Wednesday, November 16.

Three new life memberships have been created during the year, while the sustaining membership so called, composed of members who pay $5. annual dues, has been increased by about one hundred and thirty-two and the contributing membership by about two hundred and forty-two. By the help of these membership dues, the annual revenue of the Home is increased by some $1100.

This gratifying accession to our membership is due to an energetic canvass made by certain of the Directors.

Of course, the real significance of such membership is the manifestation of a spirit of helpfulness in the maintenance of the Home, and the Directors feel that they rightly interpret this large increase as an encouraging token of interest and determination that the Home shall not lack for adequate support.

In April of this year, Miss Harriett E. Richards who for three and a half years has been the able and efficient Matron of the Home, was obliged, by reason of ill health, to resign her position, and her resignation was regretfully accepted by the Directors.

In her place, they have secured the services of Miss Mary C. Campbell, who for several years last past has been a resident of Winchester.

In conclusion it is gratifying to report that the health of the inmates, considering their age, is good, that a spirit of content and cheerfulness prevails, that the Home has been prudently and economically managed, and that every reasonable provision has been made for the comfort and safety of the inmates.

For the Board of Directors.
Preston Pond, President.
Charles N. Harris, Secretary.

ELKS INSTITUTION WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Preparations Made to Care for 1000 Visitors

Preparations have been made by the committee in charge of the institution of the new Winchester Lodge of Elks to care for 1000 visiting Elks. This is all that can be accommodated in this town. It is anticipated that many Elks will not be able to attend the exercises, which will be a keen disappointment to the local body, but no hall able to accommodate a larger number is available here.

The program will open at the Town Hall at 6:30 and the exercises will begin at 7, at which time the doors of the hall will be closed and no others admitted. Sixty members will be initiated after the lodge is instituted and the new organization will start with a charter membership of 85, and a waiting list which has already reached 100.

The program of the evening includes music by a band, an entertainment by prominent New England artists and a collation.

MISS FRANCES TEARE

Miss Frances Teare, aged 72 years, sister of Mrs. Annette T. Ferguson of 2 Summit avenue, died last Friday. She was a native of Woburn and the daughter of Philip and Margaret (Nichol) Teare. Funeral services were held at the Winchester home on Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. H. L. Pickett, pastor of the Woburn Unitarian Church. The burial was in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

MYSTIC VALLEY SCHOOL BASEBALL LEAGUE STANDING

The Winchester and Woburn High School nines are still in a top tie in the Mystic Valley Interscholastic Baseball League series, although the Winchester outfit has won three games to one for Woburn. Neither has been defeated to date. Melrose High comes third with one game won and two lost, and Arlington High and Watertown High are trailing, neither having won a game.

Only two league encounters are booked for this week, both coming next Saturday afternoon. Woburn High will play at Winchester, and Arlington High will journey to Wakefield.

COMMITTEE ON SCHOOLS ANNOUNCED

Town Clerk Mabel W. Stinson received notice last week of the formation of a committee of citizens who favor the adherence to the vote passed at the recent town meeting calling for the erection of four new grade school buildings, two this year and two next year.

The notice of the formation of this committee, as filed with the Town Clerk, reads as follows:

In accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, notice is hereby given of the formation of a committee, the purpose of which is to sustain the votes passed at a session of the Annual Town Meeting held April third, 1922.

The names of this committee will be "Winchester Grade Schools Association."

GUATEMALA: LAND OF UPHEAVALS AND PROGRESS

A condition of upheaval, not necessarily from political causes, is nothing new to the Republic of Guatemala. This country has wonderfully rich and fertile soil and its climate rarely is equaled," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

The City of Guatemala, which is now being gradually rebuilt, was the scene of one of the most violent earthquakes known in Central American history. This earthquake extended over several months during the latter part of 1917 and the early months of 1918. It began November 17, 1917. On Christmas night in the parks of the city, beneath a full moon in an untroubled sky, the populace huddled watching in fear and misery their homes, the trees, and the earth as well, creep, wriggle and twist.

On the night of January 24, the moon again beamed from a cloudless sky upon these people as they saw nearly every remaining edifice in their city tumble in whirlwinds of dust. The tremors seemed to center under the very city itself, and spectators have said that they feared that the earth would give away and a volcano form in the very heart of the city. Houses and bell towers crumbled, water mains were broken, the sewage oozed up in the streets, and, in the cemeteries, skeletons were shaken out of their coffins.

One can take a steamer from New Orleans and in three days reach Puerto Barrios, on the Gulf of Amatique, along the sunny eastern shores of the country, where stately palms wave in greeting.

Along this seacoast and farther inland large banana plantations cover thousands of acres. This one comparatively small country raises for its own and the outside world's consumption about ten million bunches of bananas a year. The valley of the Motagua River is considered one of the most densely vegetated regions of the world.

But the most important crop of the state is coffee. Upon the slopes of its mountains, 1,500 to 5,000 feet above sea level, these fields of trees in full bloom, with their wealth of fragrant white blossoms, are indeed a beautiful sight. And equally beautiful are they when the berries have become a bright red. As soon as the coffee beans are picked, they are pulped to prevent fermentation in the pulp, which would stain them, after which they go into great fermenting tanks, where they remain from 24 to 48 hours, in order to take off the sweet, gummy substance on the hull. Then they are washed and spread to dry in the sun. After the last fine silvery skin is taken off, the coffee is ready for the market. In 1916 Guatemala produced about 90 million pounds of coffee.

A fascinating land Guatemala is too, with its dense tropical forests covering more than a million acres, whose giant trees are linked together by trailing vines above a gorgeous carpet of orchids, waxen begonias, the peculiar blossoms of the plantain, and scarlet poinsettias.

For centuries the country was the home of the Maya-Quiche Indians, whose history reads like a romance. At Quirigua are located some of the most remarkable ruins to be found in the Americas. Many queer old monoliths, resembling, to some extent, Egyptian obelisks, from the top of which gigantic faces stare at the intruder, still stand in an excellent state of preservation, as well as many rocks carved in the shapes of animals, by an ancient people. Excavations in the vicinity have revealed the ground plan of what must have been a remarkable and imposing temple.

In the mountains of Southwestern Guatemala live pureblooded Indians who have won admiration of travelers for their physique, cleanliness and scrupulous honesty. One visitor tells of trying to buy a ring from an Indian girl who refused to sell because the jewel was not pure gold, and she did not wish to sell a stranger an imitation!

These Indians wear beautiful shawls, with no fringes, dyed in brilliant colors. When brought to this country specimens have withstood repeated washing, and the colors have retained their marvelous lustre.

Mrs. Alice Gormley, head district nurse of the Winchester Hospital, has returned to her duties after a visit of several months in Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

MILK CHART FOR MARCH 1922

Published by the
WINCHESTER BOARD OF HEALTH

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

THINGS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Winchester has one of the best savings banks in the State. It is the oldest bank in town. There is no better nor safer place for you to leave your money and let it work for you. Frank H. Knight, druggist, conducts an up-to-date store. He is recommended as a most obliging merchant, and his store reflects his endeavors to serve the residents of the town.

No doubt you, along with the rest of us, are looking forward to the approaching vacation season. Our residents who visit the mountains or sea shore should not forget that they can have all their baggage checked direct from their home to their cottage or hotel by simply phoning Kelley & Hawes—174.

Mr. Frank H. Drummond, the general proprietor of Winchester's well-known market, is receiving many compliments these days on his fine meats. Mr. Drummond knows good meat—and sells it.

The Arlington Gas Light Co. has done a big business for the month closing Saturday. Their advice to install and renew your gas range has been taken seriously by many people who are not in favor of a hot summer kitchen.

The Winchester Co-operative Bank places its new series of shares on sale this week, and incidentally a bunch of investors who bought some shares 12 years ago received a check 200 times larger than their first payment. A dollar share reached $200 in just about that time. A pretty good investment!

Winchester housewives are expressing considerable satisfaction over the complete electrical supply store we have here. C. E. Sanderson can be depended upon to keep it just one jump ahead of any in this vicinity. He reports a big business in vacuum cleaners this week and has ordered a large supply of electric irons in preparation for the coming hot weather.

Those old awnings we see about town sometimes can be replaced right here at home. A. E. Bergstrom of Thompson street does a good job at right prices.

Did you ever hear an auto fan who did not have something to say about his tires? And did you ever hear that man (or woman) omit giving an opinion on United States tires? You buy them to Oscar Hedtler, and they not only carry you farther but ride you easier than any we know of.

The firm of S. B. Goddard & Son, who opened attractive offices in Lyceum Building last year, can give you expert advice in all insurance matters. It's a good idea to know how much insurance you ought to carry; likewise how to place it. This firm can help you.

Everyone travels by auto these days. When your friends drop in late in the day after a long trip do not forget to recommend the Central Garage. It has plenty of room for the car and is handily located in the center.

That Mr. Thornquist a Piano Tuner whose advertisement appears in the Star is very painstaking and thorough in his work, his prices liberal and not excessive. Once a customer always a customer. Give him a trial.

PROBATE AND OTHER COURT NEWS

Mary A. Chamberland of Winchester has been appointed as guardian of Jeremiah B. Dolan, aged 20, of Winchester by Judge Leggat of the probate court. She has given a bond of $4000. The estate is valued at $2500, all in real estate.

The will of Mrs. Minette V. Newman of Winchester who died January 14, has been allowed by Judge Lawton of the probate court. Minette D. Newman of Winchester, a daughter of the deceased, has been appointed as executrix and has given a bond of $100,000. The estate is valued at $50,000, all in personal property.

The estate of Charles G. M. Boyd of Winchester is inventoried at $79,432.49; $43,032.49 in personal property and $36,400 in real estate.

The estate of Alice F. Symmes of Winchester is inventoried at $16,338.29; $6338.29 in personal property and $10,000 in real estate.

The will of Patrick Nelson of Winchester who died April 11 has been filed. It names Michael McLaughlin of Roxbury as executor. No valuation of the estate was given. After a number of private bequests he divides the residue of his estate between the following institutions: The Home for Destitute Catholic Children, Boston; the Working Boys Home, Newton; the Little Sisters of the Poor, Boston; the Holy Ghost Hospital for Incurables, Cambridge; the St. Vincent de Paul society of Winchester and the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, Boston.

The will of Richard L. Bowser of Winchester who died December 22, 1921, has been filed. It is dated October 30, 1906 and names his sister Sarah F. Bowser of Winchester as executrix. No valuation of the estate was given.

Edward R. Sherburne of Winchester has been sued for $10,000 in an action of tort by Frank W. Dunbar of Winchester. He alleges that on July 9, 1921 while walking on the parkway in Winchester, he was struck by the defendant's automobile and was severely injured.

WINCHESTER OPPOSES PAYMENT OF ONE-TENTH

Winchester was represented at the hearing held at the State House Tuesday on the proposed new sewer in the Mystic Valley by Selectmen Willey, Smalley and Main, Town Counsel Pike and Sewall E. Newman of the special committee on cleaning up the Aberjona river.

It was brought out at the hearing that the town feels that the apportionment of one-tenth of the cost to Winchester is excessive, although it was felt that no objection was held to paying double the regular apportionment. This would mean 5 1/2 per cent, or about $16,000.

The Fortnightly Cook Book will be on sale at the meeting of The Fortnightly, May 8. Price $1.00.

WINCHESTER GIRL ENGAGED TO QUINCY MAN

Mrs. Edward Warren Ray, of Winchester, announced Tuesday the engagement of her daughter, Miss Margaret Kemp Ray, to Mr. Deleware King, of Quincy, at an afternoon bridge given by her daughter to a number of her most intimate friends.

The affair was a farewell party to Miss Catharine Starr who sailed for Europe on Wednesday, and the announcement came as a complete surprise to everyone. The guests included Miss Ruth Caldwell, Miss Catharine Starr, Miss Lina Mayo, Miss Phyllis Fitch, Mrs. Howell F. Sheppard, Mrs. Rufus Clark, Mrs. Moses F. Carr, Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. William H. Corliss and Mrs. Herbert A. Mann of Wollaston.

Miss Ray is a graduate of the Winchester High School Class of 1917, and is a member of the En Ka Sorority. She attended the New School of Design, and for the past few years has been engaged in secretarial work. Mr. King is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus King of Quincy, and is Vice-President of Granite Trust Co., Treasurer of the Quincy Quarries Co., President of the Summit Thread Co., Director in the Quincy Y and Boy Scouts, and Vice-President of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League.

No date has been set for the wedding, but it is expected that it will be early in June.

MAE EDWARDS PLAYERS

Coming to Stoneham Theatre next Monday with change of plays, Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

"The Moth" chosen as the opening play for Miss Edwards and her splendid company, has surely proven an irresistible vehicle to ever increasing large numbers of amusements seekers. Few stock companies have established the reputation which Miss Edwards and her associate players are enjoying throughout the New England States, their name is a guarantee of more than average historic ability, and they never fail to justify anticipation. In "The Moth" there is ample room for clever acting and each and every member will be seen to the very best advantage. Miss Edwards is supported by Mr. Robert Fay and a splendid cast with Mr. Mal Murray and Miss Gertrude Riggs in the comedy roles.

The usual high class vaudeville between the acts will be greatly benefited by the Mae Edwards Novelty Orchestra under the direction of Prof. Otis.

The Mae Edwards Players have been termed for years as "The Big Fun Show," and this season finds this attraction hitting on all six and far in the lead of the amusement field. Be a first nighter, by ordering your seats now. Popular prices prevail.

REFERENDUM VOTE MAY 15

Warrants are being distributed this week for the referendum ballot on the much discussed "School Building Program." The vote will be held at the Town Hall on Monday, May 15th, the polls being open from 5:45 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

The voting will be exactly similar to the regular town election, except that the ballot will contain only the motion made at town meeting and the vote to be passed.

The motion to be voted upon is as follows: "Moved, That the vote passed at the session of the annual meeting on April third, providing for the appointment of a committee to carry out the school building program be reconsidered."

To vote on this question the ballot will carry the following: "Shall the following motion rejected at the town meeting held on the twentieth day of April nineteen hundred and twenty-two, be passed?" (Yes) (No).

A passage of a reconsideration vote means that the appointment of the committee, its selection and instructions, will be opened for further consideration by the town. A new method of appointing the committee may be decided upon and a new set of instructions may be voted. Thus the committee may be instructed to build only one school a year instead of two as previously voted. The committee may be appointed by the Selectmen instead of the moderator. It may be instructed to prepare and submit plans etc.

The location of the sites for four schools and the purchase of those sites is not in any way affected by a reconsideration.

THE LAY RETREAT GUILD TO HOLD ANNUAL ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Sunday, May 14, at 3 P. M.

The Laymen's Retreat Guild at St. Gabriel's Monastery, Brighton, Mass., will hold its annual election of officers on Sunday May 14th at 3 P. M., at the Monastery, Brighton, Mass.

This event creates great interest in the various districts of New England, in which the members of the Guild reside, and it is expected that men from every part of New England will gather at St. Gabriel's on that Sunday.

Especially interesting will this year's elections be in view of the lively interest taken by the members of the Guild in the proposed new buildings of a retreat house and chapel, which are to be erected when the necessary funds are procured.

The week-end retreats for men at centres, such as St. Gabriel's in Brighton, have aroused the attention and enthusiasm of people and clergy alike, throughout the United States.

In the past decade of years the movement has attained such growth that accommodations must be enlarged at St. Gabriel's, if the movement is to spread.

His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell has heartily endorsed the efforts of the Lay Retreat Appeal Committee in their work to secure the necessary funds to advance this truly Christian and Apostolic work.

The election of officers for the coming year of the Guild will take place Sunday May 14th at 3 P. M., at the Monastery at which every member of the Guild is expected to be present.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

Of the many pieces from the clever pen of J. Hartley Manners, perhaps none, has become as world wide famous, as that beautiful comedy, "Peg O' My Heart." It was first produced in Los Angeles, California, May 26, 1912 with "Laurette Taylor" as "Peg," where it played for 101 performances. Subsequently produced at Cort Theatre, New York, on December 30, 1912, it ran there until May 30, 1914, making an unbroken run of 604 performances.

Miss Taylor opened her London engagement on Saturday October 10, 1914, at the Comedy Theatre, from which she later transferred to the Globe Theatre, and appeared there until October 18, 1915.

In all the part of Peg was played by Miss Taylor, in the United States and England, 1099 performances.

This Comedy has been performed in the United States and Canada 5987 times, eight companies at one time touring it during the season of 1914-1915. It has been played 1001 times in London during which it played at the Comedy, Globe, Apollo and St. James Theatres; 2475 times in the English Provinces, 457 times in Australia and New Zealand, and 141 times in So. Africa.

In Australia it holds the record run, of any Comedy having been played at the Palace Theatre, Sydney for fourteen weeks, with a run of 112 performances.

It has also been played in India and the Far East, and arrangements have been made for a translation into French, Italian and Spanish. The total number of Professional performances recorded to date is 10,233.

Since January of this year, the St. Ann's Dramatic Club, of Somerville, has been playing this bright Comedy, throughout Greater Boston, for the benefit of the fund for a new Retreat House and Chapel, at St. Gabriel's Monastery, Brighton, with Miss Louise O'Brien as "Peg."

Winchester will have an opportunity to witness a performance by these talented players, on Thursday evening May 25th at the Town Hall under the personal direction of Charles J. Harrold of this Town, Coach of the Association. Mr. Harrold promises one of the best shows he has ever presented to Winchester people, by one of the best companies.

MAPLE SUGAR

When you feel like finding fault with the price of maple sugar, consider these facts:

"The sweetness of maple sap varies greatly but on the average—season in and season out—it takes a barrel of sap to make a gallon of syrup."

It takes a cord of wood to boil down enough sap to make a hundred pounds of sugar.

On the old style evaporators boiling is started one morning and by the next afternoon the first thick syrup comes off.

On the new style evaporator it takes seven hours. Four and a half gallons of sap are boiled away in steam to secure a pint of syrup.

To make first class syrup the gathering of the sap has to be done carefully.

Covered buckets are used that no rain water, leaves or impurities of any kind can get into it. It is collected once a day from every bucket or it may ferment.

The gathering is often on steep hillsides over a combination of ice, soft snow and deep mud; than drawn in sleds sometimes a mile to the sugar house. It is strained four times before boiling and once afterwards through heavy felt or cotton flannel.

The overhead is high. Insurance, tapping, washing buckets, daily inspections, risk of scorching, cleaning up the whole equipment after each run, collecting and putting away the equipment for the following seasons, all have to be gone through with whether the run is good or poor. It costs money to produce absolutely pure maple syrup or sugar.

It has cost more than usual the last few years, as all labor and utensils, cans and containers are double in price what they were before the war.

Marketing charges for packing and forwarding are also heavy.

Then too, these are times when the farmers have to work all night as well as day to save their sap, and, to quote from a letter received from a Vermont sugar maker—"Gee! didn't we have to hustle! for days I did not sit properly to a meal. I grabbed what I could get hold of and ate it standing, piling on wood one minute, checking another fire, drawing off and stirring syrup till I couldn't see straight." It isn't all fun making maple sugar—and is well worth all the farmer asks for it. We pay from 50 cts to $1.25 a pound for chocolates and bonbons for our children and do not complain. Why find fault at 30 cts for maple which is far more healthful? E. G. P.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The next meeting of the Fortnightly, which is the last of the season, will be on Monday afternoon, May 8.

The business meeting begins promptly at two-thirty.

Directly following the business meeting, is the program, furnished by Mr. Edwin M. Whitney, a noted reader and impersonator. Mr. Whitney stands at the head of American platform interpreters of the spoken word. The one way for you to know him is to hear him for yourself.

The invited guests for the afternoon are: girls in the Senior and Junior classes in the High School and members daughters not yet twenty.

To retain club membership, dues must be paid not later than the first meeting in May.

Club members wishing to attend the Annual convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs may obtain white tickets by applying to the President.

William Parkman Lodge is planning to hold a children's entertainment at an early date. It is reported that the Lodge also is considering plans for an auto trip with ladies to the Masonic Home at Charlestown in June.

MANY BAD FIRES

The week past has proven a bad period in many surrounding places for forest and brush fires, the cold weather retarding the growth which usually comes at this season to check them, and the prevailing high winds tending to keep the fires burning and spread them greatly. Winchester, while much more fortunate than other nearby places, has had a number of calls on its fire department from this cause.

On Saturday noon at 12 o'clock the department was called out for a blaze at the house at 16 Grove place, owned by the Bacon Felt Co., and occupied by Charles O. Anderson. It is presumed that this fire started from sparks from a passing locomotive, blown by the high wind. The roof of the house was badly damaged and the inside suffered from a water damage.

On Sunday afternoon burning grass on Everett avenue caused a telephone message from Mr. Geo. B. Hayward's house at 2:10, and at 5:50 burning grass on Park street ignited the fence on the property of J. A. Laraway. At 6:45 a telephone from Mr. Corliss reported burning grass on Woodside road near the residence of Mr. Gleason. All of these fires were cared for by the firemen and no damage resulted.

On Monday afternoon at 1:45 a still alarm was received for burning grass on Vine street at the rear of Mr. F. E. Rowe's estate. At 5 o'clock box 36 was rung in for the barn on the estate of Dr. Osgar E. Wasgratt on Webster street, caused by sparks from burning grass. This was quite a serious fire and some damage was done to the barn before the blaze was extinguished. At 8:20 a menacing brush fire near the dump on Palmer street called the department out, the fence bordering the cemetery being somewhat burned before the department got the fire out. At 7:15 box 7-51 was rung in for burning woods off Pond street and another call from the same place was received at 8:55.

OPENS CAMPAIGN BY RADIO

In past years, Middlesex County has been the scene of many red hot political battles, principally for the office of district attorney.

Campaigns have been opened with parades, with bands and red fire, with bonfires, chowder parties and banquets and various other methods.

But never in the history of this staid old county has a campaign been opened by radio and this distinction goes to attorney George Stanley Harvey of Malden who will make the opening speech in his campaign at the Medford Hillside radio station on Saturday evening May 13. On that evening Mr. Harvey will deliver a fifteen minute speech on "Law Enforcement" and this speech will be broadcasted, not alone all over Middlesex County, but the country.

Mr. Harvey is well able to speak upon such a subject for he spent several years as first assistant district attorney of Middlesex County.

MUSICAL GARDEN

The Monthly Meeting of the Music Garden was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Solov on Tuesday evening, May 2.

The program was as follows:

Piano on Opera ..... Mrs. Belchou
Violin Solo - Intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana ..... Mr. Smith
Piano Trio - Overture from the Marriage of Figaro ..... Mr. Knight, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Ahlert
Vocal Duet - Lovely Night from the Tales of Hoffman ..... Mrs. Dunham, Miss MacLellan
Violin Solo - Meditation from Thaïs ..... Miss Felber
Piano Solo - Sextette from Lucia played with left hand ..... Miss Ray Vocal Solo - From Romeo and Juliet ..... Miss Bond
Piano Solo - Overture from Martha ..... Mrs. Lochman

A valuable dog belonging to Mr. Michael Queenin of Main street was struck on Saturday by a passing auto. The operator did not even stop. The police say there is no law to recompense the owner after such an accident.

It is reported that Dr. and Mrs. Irving T. Cutter will shortly move to El Paso, Texas, Mrs. Cutter's old home.

Miss Susie Guernsey returned the first of the week after a stay of five months in Bermuda.

One woman writes:

WINCHESTER TEACHERS GIVE COMPLIMENTARY BANQUET AND THEATRE PARTY

Thursday evening, April twenty-seven the Elementary Teachers of the Winchester Public Schools held a banquet, complimentary to Miss Blanche E. Pratt, Supervisor of Primary Grades, at the Adams House, Boston, at six o'clock.

This was followed by a theatre party at the Copley Theatre.

Miss Mary A. Lyons was chairman of the occasion and opened the banquet with a short address as follows: "One year ago, Mr. Faussey, our Superintendent talked with many of our teachers over the advisability of having a Primary Supervisor."

We did not take kindly to the suggestion as we had visions of one who might be a hindrance instead of a help; of one who might destroy instead of construct. However we accepted the inevitable and awaited her coming mingled with fear and trepidation.

She came. We saw. She conquered. She has become for us a concrete image; a personality; real, tangible, consoling, confiding, helpful, pleasing and a lot more adjectives too numerous to mention.

She is with us tonight. We have all grown to love her. Miss Pratt, we realize how helpful you are to us; how pleasant our relations have become this year. I want you to believe in the name of all present that we shall have a good deal to say when an attempt is made to take you from us. You are here to stay until a higher standard calls you.

Words cannot convey what I desire to express to you of our appreciation. All that I can do is to offer to you unanimously the whole hearted support of every teacher in the Elementary Schools. Led by you in a solid body the Elementary Schools of Winchester will take their place in the sun and in the new era of advance in education.

"Miss Pratt, Ad multos, annos, ac beatos."

Miss Pratt responded very feelingly. She assured the teachers that she appreciated with all her heart their cooperation and loyalty to her since coming to Winchester.

Mrs. Faussey offered a rising vote of thanks to the committee for such a wonderful evening.

The Committee consisted of Miss Mary A. Lyons, Chairman of Banquet, Mrs. Bertha Hefflon, Chairman of Theatre Party assisted by Miss Violetta Dodge, Miss Edna Hatch, Mrs. Ethel Barnard, Miss Agnes Reagan and Miss Elizabeth Spencer.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The annual meeting of the League was held at the home of Mrs. Bertram Bernard on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

After completion of the annual business the election of officers and board took place.

Mrs. Alice W. DeNormandie gave a brief account of the Pan-American Convention of Leagues of Women Voters recently held at Baltimore.

She was followed by speakers on the subject of "Reconsideration of the Winchester School Question." Mr. Preston Pond spoke most earnestly in favor of reconsideration, giving the advantage in school building which he believed would follow such a course.

Mr. Frederick Snyder then gave his reason for believing that there should be no delay in the erection of school buildings and that therefore citizens of Winchester should vote "no" on reconsideration.

Many questions were asked of both speakers.

A social time followed.

Election of officers for the coming year was as follows:

Chairman—Mrs. Louise V. Bernard
Vice-Chairman—Mrs. Faye H. Lefavour
Treasurer—Mrs. Mary T. Maynard
Clerk—Mrs. Marguerite L. Loftus
Recording Clerk—Mrs. Annie M. Nowell
Directors-at-Large—Mrs. Susan S. Campbell, Mrs. Clara M. Snyder, Mrs. Anna T. Snyder, Mrs. Helen Hamerstrom, Mrs. Caroline Fitts.

K. OF C. HOUSE OPENED

The new club house of Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus was opened to the public and formally opened for the members on Saturday, when there was a large visitation of friends from this and surrounding places. Beyond opening the house, no especial exercises were held.

The new house, reconstructed after the bad fire of a year ago, is well fitted up for service by the Knights. The first floor has coat rooms, kitchen, office, toilet and showers. Two large rooms are used for card and game rooms, and another room is assigned to the directors. The second floor has a good sized hall and coat rooms. The hall has a fine stage, and on Saturday this held a large silk American flag, presented to the Council by members of the Noonan family in memory of Mr. William J. Noonan, who died in France during the War.

RAIN WILL STOP FIRES

The cold rain and sudden change in temperature of yesterday, will doubtless put a stop to the numerous brush and grass fires about town. During the heat of Tuesday and Wednesday the firemen were kept on the jump continuously answering calls for these fires. Fortunately no serious damage was done in any instance here in our town.

Among the fires which came in on these two days was that of 6:10 on Tuesday evening for burning grass in Rangeley. At 8:10, when Box 751 was sounded for a big brush fire on Horn Pond Mountain; on Wednesday at 11:50 a. m. when burning grass and brush back of the Country Club necessitated attention; at 1:40, when Box 7-571 was sounded to call additional men to the same place; at 4:50 p. m., when Box 41 took the department to the woods near Wedge Pond at the rear of the Quigley estate and at 9 p. m., for burning grass on Lake street.

NOT EASY TO ERECT FOUR SCHOOLS AT ONCE

Winchester, Mass., May 4, 1922.

To the Editor of the Star:

I have not, until I read Mr. Allen's communication in last week's Star, heard even the most impatient school builder claim that four school buildings could be easily built in two years. I have heard some say it was possible, but none said it was easy, even though we copy the buildings recently erected in neighboring towns, as suggested. Now if we approach this great undertaking from the standpoint that it is easy, we are likely to copy the mistakes of our neighbors as well as make those of our own, and thus lose the great opportunity of having at the end of the school building program in Winchester a result that would be a source of pride to our citizens. No undertaking of this nature and size can be successfully accomplished easily and in a rush. Should the citizens decide to re-consider the vote which would result in four schoolhouses being under construction at the same time in the year 1923, the Finance Committee stands ready to offer a vote, providing for the building of a schoolhouse one each year for four years; even this program would not be an easy one to execute, and I believe it would result in better buildings of greater individuality, and would altogether be more satisfactory to the citizens, besides it would have the further advantage of not demoralizing our financial system, in as much as extending the debt of $540,000, over a period of four years instead of two would permit other much needed developments to be made.

Respectfully,

Preston Pond
BURGLARS ENTER WILDE HOUSE

The residence of Mr. W. Eugene Wilde on Stratford road was entered by burglars last week, the break being discovered Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Wilde are on a southern trip and expected to arrive home today.

Entrance was effected by breaking the lock on a window with a chisel. The interior of the house was thoroughly ransacked, bureau drawers and even trunks in the store room being

THE ISSUE

Four New Grade Schools or ?
Certainty or Uncertainty

A VOTE NO

ensures the construction of four new grade schools within two or more years as a new Building Committee shall determine.

The Town has voted to build four new schools; the amount and the sites have been approved by the Finance Committee and are now finally adopted.

If reconsideration is defeated, this controversy will be closed and a building committee will be appointed to secure plans and begin construction of two buildings.

Haven't we apologized long enough for Winchester school buildings? Stand your ground! Defend your orderly, economical and business-like program for the health and education of the children.

THIS IS THE SOLE ISSUE.

If you want any new school buildings—stand your ground—vote against reconsideration.

The Finance Committee Now Opposes Reconsideration

On Monday, May 15th, Vote ☐ NO ☒ X

POLLS OPEN FROM 5:45 A. M. to 4:30 P. M.

(Political Advertisement)

Thornton A. Snow, Sec., 15 Edgehill Rd.

The Truth!

What ever may be said about a probable delay in our building program the only action any Committee is at present authorized to take is included in the following vote:

"That the Town proceed at once to erect the new Chapin and Wyman buildings.

"That the Town erect buildings on the two other sites, i. e. in the Rumford and Mystic-Gifford sections, to be COMPLETED IN THE YEAR 1923."

No further proof is needed to show that FOUR BUILDINGS WILL HAVE TO BE UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT THE SAME TIME. Business men pay little heed to verbal promises which are contrary to written agreements.

A prominent Boston architect when asked this week for disinterested opinion regarding the two plans said: "Substantial business firms do not usually RUSH extensive building operations, and with the present unsettled condition which exists everywhere they are especially cautious."

With the present "Unsettled" condition existing in our Town and in our Educational Affairs is it wise to RUSH anything?

Shall we be doing justice to the thousands of children who are to attend these schools for the next 40 or 50 years? Have we the right, for the satisfaction of getting "our children" into the new buildings a year sooner, to saddle onto the children, the teachers and the taxpayers of the future mistakes and inconveniences which, by reasonable delay, may be avoided?

THOSE WHO ARE FOR RECONSIDERATION ARE FOR ONE BUILDING EACH YEAR UNTIL ALL HAVE BEEN COMPLETED, WITH EQUAL JUSTICE TO ALL SECTIONS.

ANY STATEMENT TO THE CONTRARY IS BASED ON MISUNDERSTANDING OR MISREPRESENTATION.

If the majority of voters are as strong as has been suggested for a RUSH PROGRAM, why all these desperate methods to persuade you to vote for it?

DO YOUR OWN THINKING! GO TO THE BOTTOM OF THINGS! GET THE FACTS!—THEN VOTE AS YOUR INTELLIGENCE DIRECTS—NOT AS THE CANVASSERS MAY PERSUADE YOU.

"Nothing Good is Lost by Taking Time!"

A "YES" vote FOR RECONSIDERATION is for the spending of the Taxpayer's money as carefully as you expend your own.

Vote "Yes" to Get a Dollar's Worth of Building For Every Dollar Spent!

IMPORTANT GAME TOMORROW

What is considered by many as the most important game of the season for the 100 per cent victorious High School base ball nine occurs tomorrow afternoon on Manchester Field. The local boys will meet another team which has not lost a game—the Wakefield High aggregation.

Wakefield beat Arlington by a larger score than Winchester, and although Winchester defeated Woburn last week, giving this team its first beating, it is predicted the local team will have its hands full this week. The game opens at 3:30.

SPOT LIGHT IN CENTRE

The new spot light, recently erected in front of McLaughlin's shoe store in the centre, was turned on for the first time Tuesday night. The light is directed upon the traffic officer in the square and it is anticipated will aid autoists greatly in seeing him and his signals.

LUNCHEON PARTY

For a woman's club to become of the importance to the community and the individual that The Fortnightly has become, there must be many among its members who enter wholeheartedly into its work, having the vision they see how best to use its power, and how to accomplish desired ends.

No one has been of greater service in these later years than Mrs. George Apsey. Her first appearance in committee work was in 1912 when she served on the social committee, and for the last four years she has been Vice-President.

In appreciation of this, a complimentary luncheon-bridge party was given her by the board of directors of the club, the guests including all who have been on the board during this time.

A delicious luncheon was served in the The Fortnightly Room, in a very unique and workless manner. When the tables were cleared Mrs. Woodside, as master of ceremonies, introduced the speakers in her own inimitable manner, first appointing the President as Judge, with power to serve penalties to all who strayed from the way of justice, and Mrs. Keepers as time-keeper with power (and disposition) to ring a bell and stop the speaker, at appropriate and inappropriate seasons.

Mrs. Woodside then toasted the past and present Presidents of the club in glowing terms, and introduced the following ladies, and the part they were to play in making this luncheon a pleasure to Mrs. Apsey.

Mrs. Herbert Bond, gave a very clear picture of the difficulties met when classes or committees were seeking a place for meetings before we had the committee room, and the pleasure and comfort derived from it under Mrs. Apsey's management.

Mrs. Gilpatrick, recited an original "poem" about the country woman who would keep a boarding house if it was necessary, and her guests would be among those present in spite of the many drawback of disposition etc.

Mrs. Goddard, gave an original "Ode to Mrs. Apsey." Miss Quimby told of the charms of The Fortnightly cook book. One felt she must have exhausted her patience before she came to the end of the many, many adjectives she found necessary to use, to express its due value. Mrs. E. E. Thompson in "Lines to Her (Mrs. Apsey)" followed closely in the footsteps of Amy Lowell and gave a gem of beautiful thought with neither rhyme or rhythm.

A number of clever limericks were read by the guests among them the closing one, which gives an idea of the work of the President of The Fortnightly.

"The President said through her tears, I've worn the hair off round my ears, I've sat at this 'phone, 'Till I'm all skin and bone, I'll just cut the wire with my shears."

When this entertainment was over a number of tables were arranged for cards, many of the guests enjoying a game of auction-bridge.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

It is most fitting that the last meeting of the season should have left us with so many pleasant memories.

Edwin M. Whitney scored a distinct success in his interpretation of the American comedy, "In Walked Jimmy," in which he presented a dozen characters in quick succession. Boredom has no place where Mr. Whitney is and nobody was tired although the recital lasted more than two hours. As the story closed there was a general feeling that we had been listening to a sermon as well, the text of which was "Smile."

Miss Natalie Gifford, accompanied by Mrs. LeFavour, sang this charming group of songs: "Spring Song," an old English ballad of Purcell's and as an encore, Eugene Field's, "Night Wind."

Mrs. Kerrison, the new chairman of the social committee, added a finishing touch to a successful afternoon by serving sherbet and cakes from tables daintily decorated in the club colors.

The home economics committee is planning for classes in millinery, cooking and basketry. Those who desire to join any of these classes will kindly send their names to Mrs. W. H. Balcke.

Mrs. Watkins, chairman of music, is desirous of forming a club orchestra. Those who are interested will please communicate with her.

Fortnightly members wishing to attend the conference at New Bedford may procure white tickets from the president.

The Fortnightly cook book may be procured from Mrs. Simon, 38 Church street.

SMITH COLLEGE NIGHT

EPIPHANY CARD PARTY

A most successful card party was given by the Hospitality Committee of the Church of the Epiphany, Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Charles P. Dow. The bright summer weather, the lovely home made more so by the use of many cut flowers, and the pretty gowns of the eighty women who attended made it a very pleasing affair.

Honors were taken by Mrs. Philip Hammond, Mrs. Daniel D. Burns, Mrs. William R. Walker, Mrs. Frank W. Jones and Mrs. Charles R. Main.

The committee in charge were: Mrs. William J. Breen, Mrs. Charles P. Dow, Mrs. Thomas I. Freeburn, Mrs. Ralph L. Garner, Mrs. Robert Whitney and Mrs. Addison R. Pike, assisted by the Misses Caroline Breen, Marion Breen, Caroline Dow, Marion Dow, Barbara Pike and Helen Bowe.

ANDERSON-HANSON

A very pretty wedding took place on May 6th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Anderson of 75 Mishawam Rd., Woburn, when Miss Eleanor Hanson, formerly of 1 Lagrange street, who made her home with Mrs. F. M. White of Winchester, was united in marriage to Andrew Frederick Johnson of Moline, Illinois.

The bridesmaid was Miss Amy Ekmark of Arlington, and the best man Mr. G. Hanson, brother of the bride.

The bride's dress was white tulle and she carried a shower bouquet, the bridesmaids dress was of pink organdie and she carried pink sweet peas.

The house was decorated very prettily, with cut flowers, ferns and palms. The double ring service was used. Friends attended from Lowell, Woburn, Winchester and other surrounding towns.

After a wedding trip the couple will make their home at Moline, Ill., after June 1st.

T. O'Loughlin is again in the shoe repairing business with A. Fox, Lyceum Building, next to the Ginter store. He will be pleased to meet his old customers.

Miss Harriet I. Cowdery, has returned to 41 Church street, where she is convalescing from a sprained ankle as the result of stepping from the curbstone to a culvert when attempting to board a car in the centre, some weeks ago.

William Nichols Beggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Beggs of this town, a student at Tabor Academy at Marion, has been made a member of the second crew of the school, holding the position of stroke. Beggs is doing good work on the crew and is in line for the varsity crew. For several years he has suffered from failing eyesight, at the present time seeing very little.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

How do Winchesterites recall with pleasure the privileges of their boyhood days—a day's fishing, for instance. The Spectator will never forget the cherished knife he carried with him when he headed for that dark place by the brook which the alders shaded and the willows overhung. There were a bunch of odd fish hooks, too, who could exchange one of those golden hours one now spends in his gilded car or nickel-mounted flivver, with one's fat friends, who it may be do not know a pollywog from a pickerel, and whose sporting blood maybe never has known the calm of a country stream or the friendship of a cricket playing with one in the dark grass of its bank.

My Dad, the Fisherman
Tho' Time has tinged his hair with gray,
Tho' Care has often frowned—
Not either one can take away
The memories around
His fishing days.

When 'long beside the pasture brook
Alone, unheard, he stole—
A bended pin his only hook.
A knotty branch his pole—
In fishing days.

Yes, Time has found him gray and worn,
Joys don't seem joys at all,
Beside the dew-besprinkled morn,
Carefree—when he was small,
Those fishing days!

No Winter comes, with snow and ice
Piled thick upon the lake—
But he will plan, and tell how nice
'Twould be to pause—and take
A fishing day.

No Spring, with melting snow, e'er comes,
That does not beckon on
To where the lark woodland hums
A drowsy call, in unison—
In fishing lay.

True Sportsman, lover of the roe, Whom Nature ever lures—
Who finds the woods replete with God—
May they be ever yours—
Those fishing days!

Spain had not more than started her colonization of the New World before enterprising pioneers were trying to see if horses, such as they had known at home, would flourish on this side of the Atlantic. From England and Holland came over cattle and poultry, cats and dogs. It was as natural, though more troublesome, to bring livestock here as to carry grain and young trees over the ocean, or to send our American potatoes to Europe. And now a Winchester gentleman enlightens us with the information that recently sixty Norwegian reindeer have been brought to our Northwest to be turned loose on the upper Peninsula of Michigan. It is as one might have supposed, that Scandinavian, like his brethren, thinks of the forests, the fields, the farina of his old home. Should the experiment turn out well, we may have reindeer steak in Winchester food markets. Eggleston made an interesting book out of "The Transit of Civilization." Reason would lead us to infer that every nation represented here brought over slytes of building, methods of cultivation and other reminders of the past. He gives interesting details, and the reindeer importation would have been welcome to him.

How some communities change within a year and how others cling to the grand paternal standards. A town not afar from Winchester has just chosen its treasurer for his 29th term, its clerk for the 33d term, and its constable for the 52nd term. That probably is such a community as Mr. Stone's Pogramic. In some of these villages and towns it seems to be the general desire that the local functionaries be elected and reelected until the inevitable hour, while in some communities the fact that anyone is chosen seems to be a reason for choosing some one else.

As a young woman less than a thousand miles from Winchester admitted stealing finery because she had not the money to pay for it, we need not be surprised that in a police covert it was pleaded that the defendant wanted money to pay for a surgical operation. These pleas are sometimes eloquently phrased, but there are matter-of-fact minds not moved by them. While a few reckless individuals may run the risk of being shot or sent to jail merely for the love of adventure, most persons who steal have a definite object in view. They want food, money, clothing, jewelry, or some special commodity, and are as ingenious in their pleas as in their methods of abstracting property. Desire to pay for medical attendance might have impelled one man to crime, but anyone who has heard physicians speak of their outstanding bills will doubt if it has had that effect in many instances.

Thieves entered the garage of Dr. Arthur L. Brown of Black Horse terrace last week and stole a tire and rim.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

WINCHESTER LODGE INSTITUTED

Over 1000 Elks Took Part in Exercises at Town Hall Wednesday Night

Winchester Lodge of Elks No. 1445 was instituted on Wednesday evening amid an attendance of over 1000 visiting Elks. The affair constituted probably the biggest event of its kind ever held in this town, and the new lodge starts off amid the most propitious surroundings and enthusiasm. The attendance witnessing the ceremonies included visiting Elks from all over the State of Massachusetts, as well as many of the highest officials of the body.

Extensive preparations for the affair were well carried out by a large committee. Through its planning the Town Hall was arranged for the ceremony so that it admitted its full capacity. Decorations of bunting and flags transformed the hall and the basement, and the collation, music and entertainment was in keeping. Owing to the size of the gathering it was necessary to serve the collation in the basement, tables being set in all the space available and caterer Schlehuber attending to the needs of the inner man in a most satisfactory manner.

The exercises opened at seven o'clock, at which time the doors of the hall were closed.

The institution was conducted by William D. McFee, D. D. G. E. R., Massachusetts Northeast. James R. Nicholson, Past Grand Exalted Ruler, conducted the installation and Arthur T. Jacobs, Past Exalted Ruler of Haverhill Lodge, and Past District Deputy of Massachusetts, N. E.

The lodge was closed following the eleven o'clock toast. Following this part of the exercises came the collation and a program of music and entertaining which extended until midnight.

Winchester Lodge opens with a charter membership of 63, there being 38 new members and 25 members joining on demit from other lodges. At the present time there is a list well over 100 waiting to be admitted at the coming meeting.

Foreword

On Wednesday, May 10, the baby lodge of Winchester, takes its place among the lodges of one of the greatest fraternal organizations in the United States.

Starting as it does, with a small membership, but with a firm determination to grow and expand and to become a factor in the social and civic activities of our town.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks is an order a little over fifty years old, having over 1400 lodges with a membership of over 800,000, including many of the most prominent citizens of our country.

The principles of Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love and Patriotism upon which it is founded makes an appeal to all red blooded Americans that is hard to resist.

The charity of Elks is proverbial and its patriotism has been made manifest many times; with these high ideals in view, Winchester Lodge enters upon its career to be an element for good in our community, an inspiration to other lodges, and a credit to our beloved town.

Room Dark, Floor Lighted.

One of the inconveniences of walking about in a dark room at night is hitting the feet against things unseen. At the same time one does not always want to light up the room. Practical Electricians (New York) describes the device of a western electrical engineer, who places lamps under the bed and bureau. In this way the floor is brightly lighted, while the upper part of the room remains dark. Thus one can walk about in perfect comfort, and at the same time in privacy.

AN AUTO MAP

We had sent to us last year an auto map. At that time we had a Yellow Book, a Purple Book, a Pond-McCauley map, and many others. But as soon as we opened this new map we were struck with its simplicity and convenience. We soon regarded it as the most necessary equipment of our car.

This week we received an order of these maps and placed them on sale.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsy sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

THE SCHOOL SITUATION

Report That School Committee Has Dismissed Teachers Stirs up the Town--Statement From Committee

The town became greatly stirred up this week when it became known that the School Committee had dismissed several teachers and notified others that their work was "not up to Winchester standards." Rumors have been flying about town wholesale, some so absolutely absurd that it is difficult to ascertain how intelligent citizens could place credence in them.

As in the school building problem, the rumors have been two-sided. Supporters of the teaching staff criticize the School Committee, the Superintendent and others. Those who are behind the School Committee have not been slow to present facts or otherwise in support of their side of the affair.

The School Committee has nothing to say in the matter other than its communication published in this issue of the STAR. The other side, represented since Wednesday night by a committee, makes its statement likewise in giving an account of its meeting.

So far as can be ascertained the situation stands somewhat as follows: Five teachers "on tenure" have been notified that their work is not "up to Winchester standards." It is understood that these teachers have not been dismissed, but have been told they may take other positions at the same salary. Included in this list is said to be Principal Thompson of the High School, who is not on tenure, being principal. He has been offered a teaching position.

Six teachers, not "on tenure," have been notified that they will not be re-appointed. The list divides as follows: On tenure are three teachers and the Principal at the High School, and two grade teachers. Not on tenure are three High School teachers and two grade teachers.

It is understood that the reason for making this announcement to the teachers at this time was to give them the opportunity to resign if they desired.

No information has been given out by the School Committee other than its printed statement. The above facts are, we believe, correct, but cannot be verified.

The term "on tenure" applies to those teachers who have been in our schools for a period of over three years. That is, they have been re-appointed to our staff for four consecutive years. According to law a teacher "on tenure" may not be removed without specific charges in writing from the School Committee and a 30 day notice, the teacher having the right to ask a hearing, with or without counsel. Several of the teachers, if reappointed at this time, would be then "on tenure."

On Wednesday night a meeting of interested residents, called together by Mr. Francis E. Smith of Wolcott terrace, was held in the general committee room at the Town Hall. About 60 attended and Mr. Smith presided. The matter was discussed and a petition sent to the School Committee.

then in session. Following this it was decided to circulate a petition about town requesting a hearing before the School Committee. A committee was then appointed to present the action of the gathering before the people in the STAR.

ACTED FOR THE GOOD OF THE SERVICE

To the Editor of the Star: Rumors have been flying over Winchester for the past few days. The fog of irresponsible talk has made it difficult to keep our heads. Let us see what has really happened.

The school authorities have been facing the question of teaching efficiency. They have decided on certain changes in the teaching staff.

Three teachers on permanent tenure have been reassigned in their work.

The Principal of the High School has been offered charge of the department in which he made his reputation.

Five teachers, not on permanent tenure, have not been reappointed.

It is well that we should understand what "permanent tenure" means. A law of the Commonwealth provides that if a teacher in service for three years is retained that teacher is automatically given a life job. This means that the school authorities must be very careful not to reappoint teachers of whom they are not absolutely sure. It is as serious as marriage. In some ways it is more so, because severing the relationship between a teacher on permanent tenure and a school system is more difficult than divorce.

Winchester has now more than 30 teachers on permanent tenure.

Let us think about the children. There is only one way in which the efficiency of a high school may be compared definitely with that of other schools of its class. The result of the examinations set by the College Entrance Board may be investigated.

Everyone knows that Winchester High does not get children into college as well as most of the other high schools in towns with which we may be fairly compared. Part of the reason is the miserable overcrowding in the High School about which so many of our citizens are concerned. This places a greater burden on the teaching staff. But even where equipment is perfect the problem of passing college entrance examinations is severe.

People who want their children to go to college, and can afford $1000 a year a child, send them to boarding school. That is the route by which most of the Winchester children who have gone to colleges of the first class during the past few years have entered. But the boarding school is no solution for people who have not the quite preparation, the children of price.

If the high school fails to give adequate in moderate circumstances must either give up the idea of going to college or go to inferior institutions.

The conclusion is inevitable that if Winchester High School is not up to the mark in college preparation it may not be any better in its other departments, which cannot be checked up with any such definiteness as that afforded by the results of the college entrance examinations. This means that the students taking other courses may not be any better off than the college group.

The committee has acted for the good of the service. In justice to the children we ought to support the idea of making the instruction in Winchester High School first class.

William S. Packer

STATEMENT FROM THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Editor of the Star:

The School Committee of Winchester have the interests of all the school children at heart, and their educational welfare is foremost in our thought in any action taken.

Recently, with the purpose of increasing the efficiency of the schools, we have adopted two definite (rather than new) policies. It has been voted to introduce the departmental system in the high school, and it has also been decided to place only those teachers on permanent tenure who rank exceptionally high.

In carrying out this plan and in selecting heads for the various departments, some few changes in positions and some few others in personnel of the faculties were imperative.

Out of a total of 18 teachers in the grade schools not on permanent tenure 3 were not re-elected. No grade school teacher on permanent tenure was dismissed.

The high school has long been the subject of the Committee's consideration. As a result of an interchange of views continuing over many months, the Committee, of its own motion, unanimously concluded to ask the Principal to resume his former position as head of the Modern Language Department.

Out of a total of 12 teachers in the high school not on permanent tenure 2 were not re-elected. No high school teacher on permanent tenure was dismissed, but the Committee did express to four teachers the hope that their work would improve materially.

Since, however, Superintendent Fahey recently made the statement that "The large majority of our teaching force would rank among the highest ten per cent of teachers in Massachusetts," our citizens should rest assured that no drastic changes have been considered.

Our sole aim is to serve the educational interests of the town, and we ask the same faith and confidence of our fellow citizens and teachers, which we place in the Town of Winchester.

STATEMENT OF CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE

Editor of the Star:

An informal meeting of the citizens of the town was held in the general committee room of the Town Hall on Wednesday evening, May 10th.

The purpose of the meeting was to consider the changes in the High School Faculty, which are said to be contemplated by the School Committee.

It was the sense of the meeting that such extensive changes would demoralize the entire teaching force and lower the morale of the school, and it was decided to send a petition to the School Board, which was at that time in session, praying the Board to pause and consider before determining upon any sweeping or drastic action.

It was also decided to circulate a petition among the citizens, requesting the School Board to give the Town's people an opportunity to confer with them regarding the changes understood to be proposed by them, as this is a matter so intimately affecting all the children of High School age.

THE SCHOOL MUDDLE

Winchester Star:

During the past few days there has arisen a situation in town which is in a measure very upsetting to a large number of citizens.

It seems very strange that for the past several years there has been a constant claim made that our schools have not measured up to standard. This criticism for at least two years has centered about the High School. It has been repeatedly stated by citizens that the High School was not properly administered.

Now it seems that our School Committee has after very careful consideration over a period of nearly three years, decided to make a few changes in the administration and teaching force. Why then, is it necessary, all this criticism of the School Committee and the Superintendent? They are simply doing their duty and the bidding of the majority of our citizens.

It seems very strange to one who has held public office that there should be any expression of censor when public officials are doing what is plainly their duty and the expressed wish of so many of the citizens.

In at least one article published it was stated that politics were at the bottom of the present move. If this be so, then I am firmly of the opinion that the politics are being played by the friends and relatives of those who are about to lose their positions in the schools, and not as has been inferred by the Committee and Superintendent.

It is high time that the majority of our citizens realized the true situation. There has been an element in town who have from the very start of the administration of our present Superintendent been hostile to his every move, and this is the element that is at present censoring the present developments. They are the politicians who are playing politics.

Now it would seem to be proper after electing, as we have, a strong reliable School Committee who have the courage of their well grounded convictions, that we should without any equivocation endorse their present action and give them our heartiest support.

With best wishes to the School Committee.

Sewall E. Newman

TO THE VOTERS OF WINCHESTER

Editor of the Star:

The following is worthy of your careful consideration before you cast your vote on the School Building Question Referendum:

The advocates of Reconsideration are just as earnest for the welfare of the children in an educational sense as are those who are opposed to reconsideration. They believe as firmly as do their opponents that new school buildings are desirable and necessary, and they stand just as ready to carry out the building program of four or even more new buildings. Thus far there is no difference between the opposing groups of citizens.

The advocates of RECONSIDERATION believe, however, that much better permanent results will be attained if the immense sum of money which these buildings will cost is expended in a sane, judicious and business-like way. Over a period of four years rather than rushed thru in two years.

A sum of money amounting to $540,000 or probably more likely 750,000 or more, is a very large one. Whatever the amount may finally be we must all bear in mind that it, with interest added, MUST be paid back. Can you sensibly and sanely refuse to do your part to see that it is wisely spent?

Remember, please, that the "Reconsiderationists" are willing to go as far as the opponents will, but they wish to do so only as good business sense dictates.

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS

Editor of the Star:

The Town of Winchester is face to face financially with the most serious condition in its history. The public mind has been pumped full of unwise and undependable statements. A statement has been made that the school buildings are fire traps and in an unsanitary condition. Let us be fair with each other and study the situation as it is. There is not a single fire-proof home in Winchester among the 2100 buildings that house the children of school age and the people who make up the 10391 inhabitants. A fire-proof building should not contain any combustible material such as floor timbers, floors and rafters.

The school children are in less danger in our school buildings five hours per day and five days per week, nine months in the year under the supervision of the teachers with a fire alarm box at hand, and in three and one-half minutes' time the fire department has demonstrated its ability to protect the 1100 children located in the four centre school buildings.

To be frank with ourselves there is far greater danger from death by fire in our own fire-trap homes between the hours of midnight and five o'clock in the following morning during the winter months, for none of the heating plants in our homes are fool-proof. How about ventilation in these homes and are the sanitary conditions at par?

Our homes have been in existence from one month to one hundred years and no two of them are alike. There is some danger at times from the electric wiring that is liable to be crossed with other wires in our homes.

New school buildings the Town desire and have so voted, but it is not unwise to deprive the other departments of the Town of much needed money for the next few years by giving one department such a large sum and depriving the Town of its normal growth in other departments.

Build one building at a time and avoid many errors. Which is needed most, the housing of the children or a decided improvement at the fountain head of our educational system? Vote to treat the Town budget with the same fairness that we do our home budget, and the Town will prosper in all its departments.

Vote YES for reconsideration and this bungled condition of affairs can be corrected.

The Town is prepared to construct one building at a time per year and this is apparently the best way in which to do it.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR

The approach of the close of the school year makes it possible to review the changes made and to value the accomplishments. The purpose of the year has been to make the school of greater interest and benefit to the pupils and to keep in closer touch with the parents.

With these points in mind the activities of the school have been under the general supervision of various groups of teachers. This has led to a better acquaintance of pupils and teachers, and insured well-organized activities, yet has left the responsibility to the pupils. Under this arrangement the Recorder has been improved and put upon a substantial business basis. The Athletic Associations have paid their bills except a small debt of the B. A. A., unavoidable because of the expense of equipment. Several parties have been held.
The Girls' Debating Club has prospered, and one for the boys is in process of organization.

One of the most promising events of the year is the organization of a Dramatic Society. This came about through the initiative of a group of pupils who hope thus to increase the school interest in drama. The Society will be organized this year, and should prove of much pleasure and worth next year.

The student attitude toward good scholarship has greatly improved. The Cum Laude Society meets with sincere appreciation, and apparently has had a marked effect upon the marks and the desire for excellence in studies.

The conferences with parents of College Preparatory pupils of all classes, and the visiting week gave the parents opportunities to know the work and management of the school, and greatly advanced the mutual acquaintance of parents and teachers.
One of the minor and yet important results of this cooperation is a marked decrease in tardiness and requests for dismissal.

Under the present administration no student is allowed to hold more than one major office at a time. This distributes the honors and trains a larger number in positions of responsibility.

The Traffic Squad has proved of value, both in regulating the passing from class to class, and in training the school in habits of student government.

The effort throughout the year has been to distribute responsibility to both teachers and pupils, and to make each feel that the success and reputation of the school may be helped or hindered by the way he does his part of the work.

The High School rally held Thursday, May 11th, in the Assembly Hall was a success from start to finish.
Leslie Hartwell, '22, presided during the carrying out of a well planned and equally well executed program. Bernard, '24, Kenerson, '23, and Ryan,
'23 brought us all to our feet for concerted cheering, and men from the student body and from the faculty made wise and witty speeches. Mortensen, '22 and Giellotti '22 furnished inspiring music. Plans were made for organizing a cheering section, under the leadership of Chapman, '23, for the Winchester-Woburn game. The rally was good team work with every one in it for the sake of the school. Its spirit was the spirit of our boys who won the game—the real spirit of the Winchester High School.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB CREW

The Winchester Boat Club is looking forward to a very active season on the water this year. It expects to put out two good crews, a club four and a war canoe. Special attention is to be given to the latter, the war canoe, the object being to bring back to Winchester the Tenney Cup, which is at present being held by the Medford Boat Club. A challenge will be sent to Medford and the race will probably be run off on June 17th.

Next Wednesday night, May 17th, the Regatta Committee will hold an open meeting at the Club House to talk over the plans for the season and get together all available men for the crew work. As the first regatta of the season is planned for May 30th it is hoped that there will be a large attendance of those interested in paddling and in the success of the crews.

THE OTHER THIRTY-FOUR HUNDRED

To the Editor of the Star
It is peculiarly unfortunate that our first vote by ballot under the Statute authorizing such action, when citizens have been refused admission to the Town Meeting, should be concerned with a vote which in itself is in no way conclusive. We are to decide whether we shall reconsider a vote passed by such of the citizens as were fortunate enough to find room in the Town Hall at the meeting held on April 20th. If the "Yes" votes prevail, then the whole matter of the schools is open for action except in so far as concluded by the votes passed at the meeting of April 3rd at which time no voters were excluded. Therefore, reconsideration means nothing except that the matter is again brought before the town for action. The supporters of the program as expressed in the now existing votes may again carry their point. On the other hand those opposed to the plan as now adopted may succeed in substituting some other method of procedure. It is a great pity that the vote could not have come upon some sharply defined question, as, for instance, upon the ratification or rejection of the votes passed at the meeting of April 3rd, for in that way we could have secured a positive expression of opinion upon the main question. As it is, we can now only obtain an expression of opinion as to whether further debate is advisable. And, that is the nub of the question. Winchester has more than 4400 voters. Less than 1000 of them have expressed an opinion by their votes upon this most momentous matter of the new schools. Should or should not the other 3400 voters have an opportunity to act? Must the action of the Town be that of the first 1000 who were lucky enough or prompt enough to pass the portals of the Town Hall? Should the action of the excluded 3400 "outsiders" in asking the opportunity to express an opinion be regarded as an aggression upon the rights of the 1000 who chanced to have become "insiders" at this particular meeting?

It is too bad that the vote is to be upon the subsidiary issue of reconsideration rather than upon the positive ratification or rejection of the votes as to the school building program.
But this is the only possible course of action under the circumstances. In view of the present complications, the time may come when Winchester will elect Town Meeting members who shall alone be entitled to vote, but until that time comes it is fair to trust our destinies to the first 1000 who arrive, regardless of their qualifications?

I am not expressing an opinion as to the schools. I am stating a question worthy of consideration by each and every voter.

BARNES—BROWN

One of the attractive weddings of the season was that of Miss Frances Lloyd Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Barnes of Haddon Heights, New Jersey, and Roy Shepard Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Martin Brown of this town and Wilmington, Vermont.

The wedding took place in the Baptist Church, Haddon Heights, at eight o'clock Thursday evening, May fourth, Dr. A. O. Gilmore officiating.
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore white satin draped with Spanish lace and carried a showed bouquet of white sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Miss Rebecca Barnes, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. Misses Ina and Emma Brown, sisters of the groom and Miss Mary Lyons and Miss Dorothy Ringel of Haddon Heights were bridesmaids. Mr. David Burner of Declar III. was best man. Messrs
John Chipman of Boston, A. Edward MacDougal of New York, J. Allen Carey and William Browning of Haddon Heights, were ushers.

The ceremony at the church was followed by a reception at the bride's home, 425 Fifth Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Barnes, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Brown assisted the bride and groom in receiving.

After an automobile trip through New England, Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home in Wilmington, Vermont.

W. H. S. DEFEATS STONEHAM

Winchester defeats Stoneham in a one sided game 9 to 0.

Before a big mid-week crowd Winchester High easily defeated Stoneham High on Manchester Field, Wednesday afternoon. Mathews pitched great ball only two men saw first base and none second. He did not allow a hit and struck out 11 men making a total of 61 strike outs in 5 games. Stoneham came here very confident of winning after their victory over Concord High last week, but they were completely outclassed by the pitching of Mathews and the dazzling fielding behind him. Winchester batted Dunbar, the Stoneham pitcher, all over the field, getting 13 hits including a two bagger and three 3 baggers. The Stoneham team would get much better results by confining themselves to ball playing and not so much unnecessary kicking. This part of the game failed to make any kind of a hit with the spectators and they plainly showed their disapproval. The coach was as much and more so to blame than the players and he protested on plays that a ten year old boy would know better than doing.
Well anyway Winchester was decisively and that is what counts. Now they are all ready for Wakefield and if they play the same kind of ball that they showed Wednesday, the nuptial will be seen floating from the flagstaff of the High School at an early date. Everyone should be on hand Saturday for the Wakefield game, as it is the important game of the year.

WINCHESTER HIGH A WINNER

Winchester High again demonstrated that it has a winning team this season by beating Woburn High 3-1 on Manchester Field Saturday afternoon before the largest crowd of the season and probably the biggest gathering at a High School game for many seasons.

Neither Woburn nor Winchester had lost a game, Woburn having four wins to its credit and Winchester five.
There was a big attendance from Woburn.

Winchester clearly demonstrated its superiority over the visitors and scored all its three runs in the first inning, a nuffed fly, a hit and a fumbled grounder, followed by two wild throws, doing the business. Woburn was dangerous at two periods, but Mathews coolly held them down by clever pitching. He struck out seven and allowed only three hits, but received much better support than did Linscott, who was hit six times. Linscott struck out six men.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A few years ago the farmer damned every auto that passed. Now he damns his own.

Fears pay no dividends.

The man who boasts that he forgot more than he ever knew reminds us of the empty book shelf, it also was one burdened with knowledge.

Luck in a way is only the shadow of pluck.

Incompetence springs from indifference.

It seems to be good schools or bust.

If a person has made up his mind after weighing all the evidence presented, it may be safe to state his stand and stick to it. In these busy days of ours the conservative person usually wants to leave no question unanswered before he commits himself.

At this stage of the situation, the STAR does not feel that it is competent to pass on the new school question which is agitating the town. It is not an educator in the sense of passing decided judgment on the question. Many of the teachers who are said to be included in the list of those censured or dismissed (the list has not been given out by the School Committee) are personally known, highly respected and greatly liked. As far as this knowledge goes, we had always supposed them competent to fill the positions they occupy. Running the schools is a part of our town affairs entrusted to our School Committee. It is to be assumed that before taking any such important step as has been made, its members would weight the situation very carefully and from all angles; that it would be guided by expert opinion in which it could place every confidence, and that it would arrive at its decision after due deliberation among its board members. We do not know the evidence placed before it, but we always understood that our pupils graduated from our schools stood high in college requirements and were welcomed thereby. The situation as we see it is therefore, one for further information—if a body of our residents desire this, we will endeavor to enter the head of the concern carries out his plans to suit himself; our town affairs are not identical, and public opinion has a mighty power. It is probable therefore, that further information regarding the situation will be forthcoming, and at such time public opinion may be formed on "facts and figures." There are several phases of interest, much talked over and discussed, but known only to the committee. The STAR has endeavored to state the situation impartially and as correctly as possible in view of the information at hand. It lays caution to the hundred and one absurd rumors passing from mouth to mouth, including that which places the present Principal of the grammar schools in line for the High School leadership. The important phase of the situation lays with the schools themselves and the demoralizing results which reflect upon the scholars.

SEN. PARKHURST'S OPINION

To the Editor of The Winchester Star: Since the last session of our town meeting several men have been to me, some favoring the vote for reconsideration which was offered the other evening and others opposing it, in each case asking me if I could suggest any solution of the difficulties in which we, as a town, find ourselves. I have no desire to have any special plans of my own carried out in connection with this issue which is now before the town. I voted for reconsideration and favor it now for the reasons which I stated in town meeting and some others which I did not state; but my earnest desire is—and I think that is the desire of all citizens of Winchester; certainly I have heard no one express a different opinion—that we should proceed at once to build schoolhouses in Winchester suited to the demands of the town and of the times, so that ultimately every child in the town may have as good a chance as he would have anywhere in the Commonwealth, and better, if we can so plan. Within reasonable time we ought to have five elementary buildings rather than four. It is quite clear from the action at the last meeting that a majority of the town do not want to carry out the program as originally outlined. I keenly regretted that the School Board Planning Committee could not see their way clear to accept the compromise motion, offered by the Finance Committee, in the spirit so well suggested by Mr. Rich. Such action would have brought order out of chaos and would have strengthened the morale of the whole community. Already much valuable time has been lost and much of the best building season will have passed before we begin. However much I may have desired action by the town on matters in which I have been personally interested in the past—and they have been many—I never wanted any action that did not command the support of a majority, and a considerable majority, of the town; and I think it would be unwise for us to proceed now any faster than a majority of the town wish. It seemed to me most unfortunate and entirely undemocratic that voters should be asked to come to a town meeting where a question of great importance was to be discussed, pledged to vote one way or another before they had heard the arguments for and against the question. I have always made it a rule to keep an open mind till arguments were heard, for it often happens, as at the last session of our town meeting, that an unexpected situation arises where one who has pledged himself beforehand does not feel free to vote otherwise than his pledge calls for, no matter how he may then feel about the wisdom of voting in accordance with his promise.

THE FAMILY of "Put-Offs" is a very large one. Oh! the amount of trouble they bring on themselves and others!

I have felt from the first and feel now that the proper way to proceed would be to let the school committee decide which of the buildings ought to be constructed first, take action upon that one, and start somebody building it. Then take up the next most needed, and if it is agreed by the majority that that should be built, all join in and build it. And so on right through the list. As a real contribution to the education of our children I would prefer to build slowly and carefully, with a united community behind our operations, than to force the building program so rapidly that the children of the town shall listen continually to the wrangling and bitter complaints about procedure that are now prevalent on all sides.

Sincerely yours,
Lewis Parkhurst.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

May 4, 1922.

The Board met in special session at 7:30 P. M., present Messrs. Willey, Bateman, Bryne and Main.

The records of the meeting of May 1 were read and approved. Legislation (State): A letter was received from the Town Counsel relating to certain pending legislation relating to contracts for the sale of gas, electricity and water. Same was in reply to a request from the Board that they make a report on a letter relating to this matter from the Mayor of Marlborough. The Board decided to take no action in the matter and the letter was ordered filed.

One 60 c. p. Series Mazda C. lamp relocated on April 25 from Irving street at 23 to Irving street between 41 and 43.

Town Meetings (May 15, 1922): The Board under suspension of its rule four appointed the following persons to serve as election officers at the Special Town Meeting to be held on May 15, 1922. Compensation for the day's service is to be $10. The matter of catering was left to the Accounts and Elections Committee with power to act.

Republicans: Ralph F. Arnold, William A. Driscoll, Loring P. Gleason, J. Leslie Johnston, Joseph T. McCauley, Frank T. O'Connell, Kenneth M. Pratt, William E. Ramsdell, John F. Kelley, Harrie V. Nutter. Democrats: Thomas F. Flaherty, Timothy H. Haley, Waide L. Ledwidge, Joseph D. Mawn, James A. O'Connor, James A. Riley, Robert H. Sullivan, Robert V. Donachy.

The Board signed the warrant calling for a special Town Meeting on Monday, May 22, 1922 at forty-five minutes after seven o'clock in the afternoon to act upon the proposed Bacon Street Bridge matter; upon an additional appropriation for Snow and Ice Account and upon the proposed Repaving in connection with rebuilding the street car tracks from Winchester Centre to the Winchester Woburn Line.

Board of Survey: At the request of Mr. Gleason no action will be taken in regard to his request in behalf of Walter H. Roberts for the approval of a certain plan accompanying a petition filed by him with the Board for the location of Stone avenue West and Lebanon street West. The hearing set for May 22d has been called off.

Gas Mains: A request was received from the Arlington Gas Light Company for an extension of its gas mains on Clark street, Winchester, a distance of approximately 700 ft. in accordance with a plan enclosed with the request. Matter was referred to the Supt. of Streets for report.

The meeting adjourned at 9:45 P. M.

George S. F. Bartlett, Clerk of Selectmen.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

May 8, 1922.

The Board met at 7:30 P. M., present Messrs. Bateman, Bryne, Main and Smalley.

In the absence of the Chairman Mr. Bryne was chosen Chairman pro tempore.

The records of the special meeting of May 4 were read and approved.

Canal Street: Mr. Patrick Noonan appeared before the Board in regard to a request made by the Eastern Felt Company under date of November 8, 1921 relative to property draining a part of Canal street, which lies west of Farrow street. In another letter under date of November 23, 1921 this company asked that this section of Canal street, be recommended to the town for acceptance as a public way. Mr. Noonan was told that the matter would be investigated and same was referred to the Committee on Highways for report.

Dumps: Letters were received from the Chief of the Fire Department and the Acting Supt. of Streets stating that the dump at the corner of Park avenue and Highland avenue had been cleaned up. Same were ordered filed.

Sidewalks 1922 (Granolithic) Mt. Pleasant St: An application for a granolithic sidewalk in front of her premises at 12 and 14 Mt. Pleasant street was received from Ida F. Carlisle. The matter was laid over until such time as all sidewalk matters will be taken up.

Private Drains: A letter was received from Alice T. Palmer asking permission to connect a private drain in front of a house being built on Kenwin Rd. just above the Nugent house with the town's drainage system. Upon the recommendation of the Town Engineer the Board voted to grant this request, provided the actual work of connecting the drain and the expense of it is borne by Mrs. Palmer.

Licenses 1922 (Garages): Petition was received from Elizabeth C. Powers for permission to conduct a garage at 928 Main street. The Board set a hearing to consider this matter on May 29, 1922 at 8:15 P. M., in the Selectmen's Room.

The Meeting adjourned at 10:10 P. M.

Geo. S. F. Bartlett, Clerk of Selectmen.

SOUTHWEST AFRICA: GERMAN'S FIRST COLONY

The former German Southwest Africa, details of whose government under a mandate to the Union of South Africa have just been formulated by the League of Nations, is the subject of the following bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society:

At its worst the territory which was German Southwest Africa before the World War and Germany's first venture into the colonial field might be described as a country too dry for agriculture, lying between a desert and the sea, with one of the most barren and desolate coast lines in the world. The entire coast, for a distance of ten to fifteen miles inland, consists of sand dunes on which grows only the sparsest of desert vegetation.

No perennial rivers flow into the sea across this dreary waste throughout the nearly 1000 miles of its extent. Except for brief periods after heavy rains in the interior, all the seaward drainage of the country loses itself in a wilderness of sand. Similarly, much of the drainage to the east and south sinks into the desert that separates German Southwest Africa from the British territories lying to the west of the Transvaal.

Only One Port and That British

Only one reasonably good port exists along the coast between the north and south limits of the territory. And this—Walvis Bay—with a small area around it, was in the hands of Great Britain before the Germans established their colony in 1884. The existence of this tiny island of British territory in German Southwest Africa, and above all the fact that it comprised the one port, sorely needed by the colony, was a sharp thorn in the sides of the Germans. The artificial harbors constructed by the Germans at Swakopmund, just north of Walvis Bay, and at Luderitzbucht (Angra Pequena), 200 miles to the south, were only makeshifts.

But here is a somewhat brighter side to the old German Southwest Africa than that seen when one sails along its forbidding coast. Back of the strip of sand is an upland country which, though it will not support agriculture, is well suited to stock raising. Hundreds of thousands of cattle, sheep and goats are raised there. Ranches are of tremendous size like those in the old West of the United States, averaging about 25,000 acres. Camels were imported by the Germans for use in the drier portions of the country, and are doing well.

In the northeastern corner of the territory, which is in the tropics, the conduct of agriculture is possible. Cotton, tobacco and cereals may be grown.

Diamonds, Like Pearls, From the Sea

Even the strip of sand along the coast has proved in one place to be spectacularly valuable. Diamonds were discovered in the sand by railroad workmen in 1908 and the country now produces approximately one-fifth of the world's output of diamonds. In 1914 the value of the diamonds from this field reached $45,000,000. It is believed that the gems have been washed up from the sea, and what is perhaps the only, sea-going diamond mining company in existence has been formed to dredge for the precious stones off the shore.

Copper is mined in several places and forms one of the principal exports. Railroads connect the mines with the coast and have been built to a number of other sections of the country. The Germans built well. Their mining plants and railroad systems in Southwest Africa, as well as in their other African colonies, have been said to be the best on the continent. In some of the copper mining regions of Southwest Africa smelting was done by electricity.

German Southwest Africa had an area of 322,000 square miles about the size of Texas, Arkansas and Connecticut combined. It was one and a half times the size of pre-war Germany. In this vast area there were never a large population. After a number of years of war with natives there were, immediately preceding the World War, something less than 100,000 natives and about 15,000 Europeans. About 12,000 of the latter were Germans, many of them soldiers.

The country was occupied by the forces of the Union of South Africa in July 1915 and has been administered since as a protectorate of that government. Approximately 6,000 Germans left the country after the armistice. Several thousand British subjects, including a number of Boers, have moved in.

MELILLA: SPANISH CALAIS

Melilla, fortress-stronghold of Spain on the Mediterranean coast of Morocco, which dispatches state was placed under siege by Moorish rebels following their defeat of Spanish troops inland from the port, is the subject of the following bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society:

"Melilla is a sort of Spanish Calais," says the bulletin. "It lies about fifty miles across the Mediterranean from Almeria, the nearest city of the Spanish mainland, just as Calais lies across from Dover. And as Calais was cherished by its English conquerors largely for reasons of sentiment and as an index to prestige, so Melilla has been cherished by the Spaniards.

Followed Moors From Spain

"This was the first bit of African soil taken by Spain. Hardly had the Moors been expelled from their 700 year domination of the Iberian peninsula by the reawakened Spaniards when the latter carried the fight into the enemy's country and captured Melilla in 1496. It has remained in Spanish hands ever since, sometimes almost alone among Spanish Moroccan possessions.

Before it became Spanish territory Melilla had a long history. It was one of the posts of the Phoenicians twelve centuries before Christ, when the Mediterranean was their commercial pond and when the Pillars of Hercules were regarded as the outer gates of the world. Seven hundred years later it was the Rusaddir of the Carthaginians, and later an outpost of the Romans. During the later life of the Western Roman Empire, the place, prophetically, was governed from Spain. Later it was successively in the hands of the Vandals, the Eastern Romans and the Bisigths. In 682 it was captured by the Arabs.

Under Spain Melilla was for a long time a penal colony, but the town has not served in that capacity for nearly a generation. Until near the beginning of the present century Melilla and a few similarly situated strongholds on the Mediterranean coast represented the extent of Spain's influence in Morocco. The back country was confessedly beyond her control, the haunt of the turbulent tribes of the Rif mountains which rise a few miles south of the shore line. Since 1912 when an agreement was signed by France and Spain marking out their spheres of influence in Morocco the 'Spanish Zone' has extended entirely across northern Morocco from Algeria to the Atlantic with an average depth of about 60 miles. From this zone, however, the city of Tangier and an area of about 140 square miles in its vicinity, were eliminated and placed under an international commission.

Individuality.

Individuality is the salt of common life. You may have to live in a crowd, but you do not have to live like it, nor subsist on its food. You may have your own orchard, you may drink at a hidden spring. Be yourself, if you would serve others.—Henry Van Dyke.

SIMILARITY IN ANCIENT ART

Seems Proof That at Some Time China Had Cultural Communication With Europe.

More than 2,000 years ago China had cultural communication with Europe, and this communication was by way of Siberia. In an interesting paper to the Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland, Professor Seligman has shown a cultural communication in the so-called bird-chariots which in Europe are of late bronze age (about 1300 B. C.).

In China there are certain bronze vessels known in Chinese as "dove chariot vases" of the Han dynasty (B. C. 206-220 A. D.). An example of one of these vessels is illustrated in the Japanese manual Shin-Sho Sei and is supposed to represent a dove supported on either side with a wheel, while in the downward-curved tail is also a small wheel; the vase's mouth is in the bird's back. These vessels are supposed to have been used in ritual ceremonies.

In Europe the bird-chariot is somewhat different, being mounted on four wheels, while the mouth of the vessel, also in the bird's back, is covered usually with a movable lid in the form of a smaller bird. Other small birds are also sometimes added in various parts, as in one example just in front on the axle of the front wheels.

SNAKE OFFSPRING OF LIZARD

Scientists Go Back Thousands of Years to Find Out This Interesting Information.

The snake as we know it today is said to be merely the offspring of the lizard. The family is traced back by a certain class of scientists, hundreds of thousands of years to a time when one of the semi-sea monsters crawled out on the land and elected to stay there. Among the species was one with very short legs. As he lumbered along over the ground he discovered that by flattening his belly to the ground and working his ribs that the leverage thus gained helped him along faster. He came to depend more and more upon this method of movement and nature took its usual course in eliminating organs or limbs not in use. The low lizard lost its legs and became a crawler. As the centuries passed natural selection left these with long bodies, as they could move faster than the ones with the short bodies and therefore the breeding soon became a matter of length, until the snake as we know it today resulted. Which contention may or may not be well founded.

Annual Rainfall.

There has been recalculated from recent data the amount of rain annually falling upon the earth's surface. It is found that it is equivalent to a layer of water of the uniform depth for the whole globe of about 35 1/2 inches. The amount falling on the land is equivalent to a uniform depth of 29 1/2 inches, considering only the land which is drained by rivers flowing into the sea. It is calculated that only 30 per cent is returned to the ocean, and that the rest is removed by evaporation.—Washington Post.

THE WHITE LINES ON THE HIGHWAY

By Lewis E. MacBrayne, executive secretary, Safe Roads, Federation of Massachusetts

There is a good story going the rounds of a woman motorist who was held up by an Essex County traffic officer for operating her automobile directly over the white line on a curve in the highway.

"What do you think that white line is for?" inquired the officer.

"Oh, that marks the route from Boston to Gloucester," she replied. "I followed it all the way last week."

The white lines upon the state highways are the best safety device yet worked out by the state engineers, because when you are driving under difficult traffic conditions your eyes are upon the road, and not looking for signs among the scenery.

But they are of little value unless you understand them, and of no value at all when you drive on the wrong side of the line that marks the proper division of the highway. These are the facts to know about the markings:

Three short, diagonal white lines on the right side of the road indicate a very dangerous point 200 feet ahead. Hold your car under complete control.

The T on the right hand side indicates a branch road ahead, the stem of the T pointing toward the side of the entering road. A Maltese cross indicates an intersecting road with considerable traffic. Three white bars in addition to the cross indicates extreme danger.

The white or black stripe in the middle of the highway on a curve or at the summit of a grade is a warning to keep on your own side and use ordinary care.

Frequent requests come to my office for the paint formula that the state uses upon the highways, it having the appearance of wearing better than the paint put on by cities and towns. The fact is that the ideal highway paint has not yet been found, though some brands are better than others under the wear and tear of traffic. The state is still experimenting with various brands, and repainting its lines three or four times a year, which gives an impression of durability.

Commissioner John N. Cole of the State Department of Public Works intends to expend from 12 to 15 per cent of his highway appropriation this year on the improvement of curves, grades and obstructed views at points where a menace to safe driving now exists; a matter of great interest to motorists.

There are occasions, of course, when neither widened curves nor white lines will save the reckless driver from disaster, and for his benefit the facts that follow are set down as worth remembering.

The first conviction for driving a car while intoxicated costs a man the use of his automobile for one year; but a second offense will prevent him from taking out a license in Massachusetts for five years.

While there is no state law which prevents an autoist from passing a street car on the left side, a matter often in controversy, several cities and towns now have a local ordinance forbidding it, and when outside of your own county, it is good wisdom not to take a chance.

It may be said in passing that the street railway companies are making a special effort to reduce collisions that occur—there were several thousand last year—when motorists cut in front of a moving car. Drivers not only fail to estimate the speed of the car behind them, but they do not make proper allowance for what other autoists may do just in front of them.

The significance of sounding the horn upon approaching an intersecting street is also misunderstood by many motorists. In the past the police in certain cities and towns have served a summons on a driver who failed to sound the horn, quite regardless of the fact that he may have lowered his speed to the point where the car was under complete control. The registrar of motor vehicles has recently ruled that there is a violation when a dangerous speed is maintained, even where the horn is sounded, and he has suggested to the police that instead of setting traps for the unwary on the highway, it would be better to assign special traffic men to take the numbers of cars that cross a main thoroughfare from intersecting streets without decreasing their speed.

Spanish Green Olive Ring Sandwiches

The old question "What shall I serve?" loses its terrors where you have a bottle of stuffed green olives and a few pecans stored safely away for emergencies. The unexpected guests drop in for the evening. The question "What shall I serve?" almost forces "Why, how do you do!" out of your mind. With green olives and pecans in the refrigerator and coffee in the canister, the emergency is met:

Cream 1/4 pound butter and add to it 1/4 pound chopped nut meats, spread on thin slices of bread, cut in rings with a doughnut cutter. Cover each ring with stuffed green olives, cut in slices, placing them thickly so as to overlap. Scatter chopped pecan meats over the rings. These are open sandwiches.

ARE YOU CAREFUL AT THE RAILROAD CROSSING?

By Benjamin R. Pollock, Vice-President and General Manager of the Boston & Maine Railroad

The American Railway Association has recently given notice of the fact that from June 1 to September 30 it will conduct a "Careful Crossing Campaign." It does not require much imagination to realize that the old days when the world was warned to "Stop, Look and Listen," and a man instinctively said "Whoa," to his horse, are gone. The horse-drawn vehicle is no longer a problem at the railroad crossing. The need of a special campaign this year arises from quite another source.

During the four years ending in 1920, 4718 motorists were killed and 13,644 were injured while trying to outdistance a railroad train at a crossing. Of course many of the drivers of these wrecked cars did not know that the train was coming. They had approached the crossing without either looking, listening or slowing down. But they were quite as dead or mangled, when the accident was over, as though the train had left its tracks and wilfully pursued them down the highway.

Last year trained observers actually checked up 316,692 automobiles that crossed the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, and found 4% of them carelessly driven. If this ratio should be applied to all the motor vehicles in the United States, it would give us 400,000 thoughtless drivers. I wonder whether this article, which is to appear in the leading newspapers of the state, will not reach the eyes of our Massachusetts percentage.

If you are an automobile driver, let me urge the following facts to your attention:

The automobile now figures in 76% of the accidents at the railroad crossing. In 1917 there were 4083 deaths recorded in such accidents, and four years later this had increased to 9249.

In the year 1907, the railroads of the country killed 4354 of their employees on duty. In 1920, through safety organization and education, these figures had been reduced to 2578. So there is no real reason, you will agree, why the deaths at the crossing should go on mounting higher.

John T. Broderick of the Baltimore and Ohio obtained some valuable information as to the days upon which such accidents most frequently occur. There is a popular impression that Sunday is the day, but an analysis of 138 accidents divided them as follows: Sunday 15; Monday 25; Tuesday 15; Wednesday 27; Thursday 17; Friday 19; Saturday 20. This would indicate that the truck as well as the pleasure car was involved. Nearly all of these accidents occurred during clear weather, which would suggest that speed in driving was a factor; and, indeed, 113 accidents happened when the driver had an absolutely uninterrupted view.

We cannot, as a matter of practical solution, eliminate all the railroad crossings in the United States; though we have abolished as many as 400 in a single year in an effort to improve conditions. There are 251,939 of them on the Class I railroads alone, and it would cost twelve and a half billions to eliminate them.

The quicker method is to educate the public in more careful practices, and to gain the cooperation of motorists in establishing one rule for all railroad crossings; namely, to bring the car under complete control when approaching the crossing, and make certain that no train is approaching before crossing the tracks.

And while we are upon the subject, may I add a word concerning the cost of trespassing on railroad property; which means taking short cuts across main railroad lines, playing in freight yards, and crawling under cars.

Of the 12,217 trespassers who met their death in the past four years, 1149 were under 14 years, and 1676 were between that age and 21, while 1542 were itinerant unemployed. The balance of $450 were adults generally living in the vicinity of the accident.

Railroad trespassing is forbidden by law, not because the railroads want to be mean in the matter—but because of these death figures that I have cited.

The Power of Music, Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, formerly controller of the currency, best known as "Hell an' Maria" and now director of the fiscal system of the federal government, is a musician as well as a financial magician who proposes to make Uncle Sam's high cost of doing business dwindle and shrink to the vanishing point.

While commissioner of supplies, at General Pershing's headquarters in France, General Dawes needed eight hundred horses and needed them in a hurry. His formal application was promptly turned down by the British commander. Dawes was not to be thwarted, and trailed this particular officer, Gen. William E. Budkin, to his hotel and thence to a cafe to make a personal appeal.

While they were waiting for service a good orchestra played. It brought Dawes' jangling nerves into tune. He had a parley with the orchestra leader and soon was playing an instrument. General Budkin and his party so enjoyed this music that they kept Dawes playing most all night and in the morning he got his eight hundred horses—he had fiddled them out of the British commander.

"Henry VIII." "Henry VIII" is supposed to have been drawn mainly from Cavendish's "Life of Wolsey" and from the chronicles of Wolsey and others. It was accepted that the play—the last of the Shakespearean works—was not written by him in its exact final form, but was somewhat modified by Burbage and his company in preparing it for the stage. This, if done, probably was with Shakespeare's consent.

CAUSES OF THE TEXTILE STRIKE

Some Figures Which Show Why a Readjustment and Reduction Are Essential to Save Industry

Boston, Mass. The following statement has been issued by the public information bureau of the Cotton Textile Employers' Association:

Differences have arisen between cotton textile operatives and their employers, resulting in strikes of nearly 75,000 wage-earners in Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire and the consequent closing down of dozens of manufacturing plants in those states.

Various changes have been submitted by the manufacturers, but generally these comprise a flat wage reduction of 20 per cent, or a cut of that amount with an increase of working hours, which would lessen the average net earning capacity of operatives only 10 per cent.

Two conditions have made the proposed changes absolutely necessary. First is the inviolable law of economics, which demands a readjustment and reduction of prices after a protracted period of war inflation and, second, the wide difference in production costs of cotton goods in favor of southern mills as against northern, due largely to lower wages in the South.

This favorable Southern difference has resulted in a tremendous increase in the number of manufacturing plants there during the past score of years, while the total in the North "stood still"; has developed a quality production that has invaded the fine cotton goods markets throughout the nation, and has created a general competitive host which not only threatens the supremacy of New England in the cotton goods industry, but bids fair, unless there is an equalization of costs, to ruin that industry in essential features.

Detailed figures or tables are frequently confusing, if not deceiving, but one comparison alone establishes the wage situation as between the North and the South. The average hourly pay in the former is 42 cents and in the latter 28, the North paying, therefore, 50 per cent more.

As to the present scale of wages, Records have been kept for over 20 years of the prices paid in Fall River for weaving 47 1/4 yards of 28", 64x64, 7-yard print cloth, and the comparisons thereby afforded are indicative of the changes in wages through cotton manufacturing plants in New England generally.

The basic price is that paid from December, 1899, to March, 1902, which was $1.98 and per centage comparisons are estimated on that figure, but the lowest price paid since that date was from July, 1904, to October, 1905, $1.732.

From June, 1920, to June, 1921, the price was $1.6319, or 293 per cent above the basic figure of $1.980, and nearly 336 per cent over the low rate of $1.732.

The 22 1/2 per cent reduction of 1921 brought the price to $1.4510, which is 228 per cent over the basic $1.980 and more than 260 per cent above the low price of 1904-05.

The proposed reduction of 20 per cent will make the rate $1.1608, which is over 182 per cent above $1.980 and nearly 209 per cent above the low price of $1.732.

The average weekly pay envelope for all classes of employees in mills of New Hampshire and Massachusetts has been about $20. Under the new scale the average will be $18, as against $16.97 up to June, 1918; $9.89, which was the figure to November, 1906, and $8.64, which was the lowest figure in 20 years and prevailed from July, 1904, to October, 1905.

It is difficult to fix a definite comparison of the cost of living in various places, and there is a wide-spread opinion that living costs are less "down South" than in the North.

This opinion is not borne out by some surprising figures on this matter which were compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board. A survey of the cost of living in Lawrence, Mass., among mill operatives indicates that to maintain a family of man, wife and three children under 14 years of age at a minimum American standard of living, without any allowance for savings, $1285.79 a year would be required. The figures secured were of November, 1919.

In January and February, 1920, two and three months later than the investigation in Lawrence, Mass., the estimate for a family of the same size under the same conditions shows that $1293.60 would be necessary in Greenville, South Carolina, $1374.09 in Pelzer, South Carolina, and $1438.02 in Charlotte, North Carolina, provided company-owned houses were occupied, but $1525.67 in case non-company-owned houses were rented.

Prices have been lessened since the inquiries were made and there may be room for arguments on different phases of the surveys, but one outstanding, incontrovertible feature remains, which is that the cost of living in the South is practically as high as in the North.

With the decrease in living costs at 50 per cent, or more, as is generally admitted to be the case, the Lawrence figure would be $692.89; the Greenville, $696.80; the Pelzer, $687, and the Charlotte, $719.02 and $762.84.

OAK-APPLE DAY IN ENGLAND

Celebration of Charles II's Return to Power Still Kept Up, Though Not Generally.

Old customs persist tenaciously in rural England, especially in the sleepy hollows where men like Silas Marner may be found bending over their looms or engaged in other useful occupation. It is in these sleepy hollows that one has to look May 29 for the celebration of the once popular festival known as Oak-Apple day. The date is the anniversary of the birth of King Charles II in 1630, and of his "glorious" restoration to the throne 30 years later.

Among the earliest acts of parliament, passed on his return to power, was one enacting "That in all succeeding ages the 29th of May be celebrated in every church and chapel in England, and the dominions thereof, by rendering thanks to God for the king's peaceable restoration to actual possession and exercise of his legal authority over his subjects."

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

Do you know that smoke causes property damage estimated at from twelve to twenty dollars for each city dweller in the United States? And that about sixty per cent of all the smoke in the atmosphere is made in the residential sections of our cities, where it does the most harm?

These are government figures—not ours—and they are authoritative. Fortunately, however, they are becoming smaller and smaller each year as gas, the clean, smokeless fuel, reaches out into homes, factories, and manufacturing plants and replaces soft coal and grime, soot, ashes, and fumes that go with it.

Every time gas service takes the place of coal you may be sure that it is saving linens, draperies, rugs, upholstery, wall paper, furniture and clothes; and helping us all to have a pleasanter place in which to live and enjoy the good health and other blessings that go with a pure, wholesome atmosphere.

RECONSIDERATION

Editor of the Star:

I have read with considerable interest the arguments in favor of and against reconsideration of the vote recently passed in Town meeting upon the building of new schools. It seems as though the factions for and against are not as far apart as it would at first appear. Both sides fully recognize the need of new schools; both agree that the work should be started at once; and there seems to be only a small opposition to the proposed sites. This being so, would it not be wise to see what can be done to gain the end desired in a manner that will satisfy the majority of both sides?

The argument in favor of reconsideration rests first upon the matter of time prescribed for the building of the schools. If the vote, passed at the meeting of April 3rd, had been worded more in line with the program for building of elementary schools stated in the printed report of the S. B. P. Committee, the objection would have been less. The new Committee entrusted with the building of the schools would then be allowed to act without undue haste and the result would be better buildings at less expense. All business men know that rush jobs are to be avoided, if possible.

It has been stated that there are sundry other reasons for reconsideration, such as wishing no new buildings, dissatisfaction with sites, and a desire for more comprehensive program. Those who hold either of the first two, must be very few, but the third is more serious as all who have read carefully the program know that the program for elementary schools has not taken care of two of the condemned schools.—the Washington and the Highland. Some feel that this omission should be passed over at this time, but is it not wiser to recognize that the program is incomplete, and do something about finishing the task of adequately providing for all of the lower grades?

Those who wish no reconsideration say that a very probable outcome of reconsideration is no schools or a long drawn out program. Is not this argument raised by those who are new to the town, and little acquainted with those who have been active for years in the Town's welfare, and in bringing the Town up to its present attractive position in the Commonwealth? Can we not trust such men to carry through in the question before us?

Through reconsideration it is possible to open a way whereby the program for elementary schools may be completed; better buildings secured at less cost, and fewer mistakes; and a more general satisfaction in our Town. Would it not be wiser therefore to reconsider?

STANDING OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

May 10, 1922

To the Editor of the Star:

Through the Star, I wish to report the organization of the new Finance Committee and their expression of opinion on the question of Reconsideration.

The Finance Committee organized on Monday evening, May 8, and elected Dr. J. Harper Blaisdell, Chairman and Carlisle W. Burton Secretary for the coming year. The Committee discussed the question of Reconsideration at length and the vote taken on this subject stood nine against Reconsideration and three for it.

The Chairman did not vote at the time, but later declared he was in favor of Reconsideration, while R. M. Stone, who had left the meeting early but who had spoken against Reconsideration, stated he was still against it. M. J. England, the only other member, was in the West so his views could not be ascertained.

A poll of the Committee, therefore, shows ten against Reconsideration and four for it.

Respectfully yours,
Carlisle W. Burton, Secretary.

EFFECT UPON THE EDUCATION OF THE CHILDREN

Winchester, Mass.
May 8, 1922.

To The Editor of the Star:

If the town decides to reconsider the vote that provides the organization to "undertake and carry to conclusion" the construction of the Chapin and Wyman school-houses as soon as may be and in 1923 begin work in the Rumford and Wyman districts, what effect will this have upon the education of the children?

As a general principle it may be assumed that the better the home conditions, the better the life of the child in the home. In like manner it may be assumed that the better the school conditions the better the life of the child in the school. I speak now chiefly of physical conditions. The child spends considerably more than twenty-five hours a week in school and under the control of the school. His life is affected by conditions in the school just as his life is affected by conditions in the home.

What are some of these physical conditions that affect the life of the child in school, physically, mentally, socially, and morally? New schools will have better ventilation, better heating, better lighting, better sanitation, better equipment. They will have adequate playgrounds, assembly halls, and work rooms. They will have a finish and appearance that will correspond with the character of the child's home, if he has a desirable home, and if not, they will help him to understand what such a home ought to be.

The general atmosphere of the school will inspire his respect to say nothing of his loyalty and his love. In such a school the child will have a better attitude, not only toward his school but toward his town, toward the commonwealth and toward his country. The school will be to the child the symbol of the love of the community for the child. It will be easy to inspire in the child the spirit of public service, when the child can see in the school an example of the spirit of public service in the community, when the teacher can point to the school building as an example of how the community watches over the education of the child, in the same way that she can point to the police station and the fire station as examples of how the community provides for the safety and protection of the people.

Better school buildings make for better education. Better ventilation and lighting improve the health and comfort of the child. Poor ventilation, poor heating especially overheating, affect directly the work accomplished by pupils in school.

Better sanitary conditions in so far as they protect the child make for better school work. Every time a child stays out of school on account of some physical ill, the child loses and the progress of the class to which he belongs is retarded. Adequate and well equipped playgrounds make the child healthier and happier. They build up a school spirit. They contribute directly to better school work.

Adequate assembly halls help in education. They build up the morale of the school and a high morale contributes directly to a high standard of school work.

Let us conclude then to vote "No" on next Monday's ballot for the sake of the children of Winchester.

Henry S. Chapman

A FEW PERTINENT QUESTIONS

Editor of the Star:

May I again make use of a little space in your valued paper in order to ask a few timely questions?

In considering the building of new schools has sufficient thought been given to the additional staff which will be required? Is not the amount of money to be spent in building operations a mere bagatelle compared to the permanent upkeep and interest charges? Would it not be the part of prudence to build one school, where most needed, have equipment installed and put into working condition, and try it out in a practical way? Any lack can then be located and errors in construction guarded against in future building operations. For faults will be found. The memories of yesterday will ask if the High School was satisfactory when completed, or the Wadleigh School, or the Town Hall?

Again, are cost estimates reliable? By building one school will not a basis for apportionment of the appropriation be arrived at? Is not the eagerness to spend the tax payer's money rather a form of hysteria than of honest cooperation looking to the future welfare of the town? Is not the haste at present evinced rather a promise of waste than of accomplishment? What about the argument that the wholesale building scheme advocated would induce people to settle in Winchester? Does the class of people desired by the citizens of the town need this inducement? Would not the people whom we want, and who want us, rather object to locating in a town which would saddle generations yet unborn with a mountain of debt? Does not Winchester at the present time hold an enviable reputation among the towns of the State? Why lose this position? Why become a byword? Would "As heavily loaded as Winchester" be a pleasing quotation?

Why do not our statisticians tell us what we may be running into if we adopt this proposed building programme? Borrowing an immense amount of money, building schools which will be a burden to keep up, paying interest charges for long years on the money borrowed, buildings continually depreciating in value, facing more ultra modern requirements in the near future, wallowing deeper and deeper into the financial quagmire? Whose the responsibility? Whose the benefit? Whose the burden?

Are our citizens losing sight of the fundamentals? Is not the real backbone of the school system the calibre of the teaching staff? Why not build up the real school system? Is Winchester doing its best to get and keep the high grade teachers? Is the town doing its best to help the superintendent, a high grade man, in his efforts to raise the standard of the teaching staff? Do our citizens help the teachers to sustain their dignity, to be self respecting and community respected? Why do parents interfere in questions of School discipline? Would a physician, a lawyer, or a clergyman tolerate interference in their conduct of affairs entrusted to them? Why not elevate the teaching staff (composed for the most part of intellectual and self sacrificing personalities) to the dignity of the professions, and assure the teacher full control and discipline? Why kill the ambition and individuality of the teacher? Why do not parents and guardians cooperate with the teachers for the best interests of the school?

Were not the men of Winchester, who stand for the best in the morale of the town today, educated in school buildings which were not in line with so called modern requirements, but in which right principles were inculcated, in which thrift and industry were held up as worthy of emulation, and in which the road to learning was not made easy? Are the modern buildings turning out a better calibre of men than those of a past generation? And is the "sparing of the rod" showing the best results?

New buildings—yes—where really needed—but be sure that the building is placed in the right location, that it is going to be of real community service for many years to come. Above all, be sure that the right calibre of men and women are in charge of the building of the characters, of the moulding of the personalities, of the future men and women of Winchester. Buildings crumble and decay, but character stamps itself on the future of the race.

Yours for the best interest of the town.

W. L. Thompson

SHOULD NOT FORGET WELFARE OF CHILDREN

Winchester, Mass.

May 8, 1922.

Editor of Winchester Star:

It is a matter of regret that, in the efforts to effect a reconsideration of the vote by which the building committee is appointed and directed to build the schools, the welfare of the children is forgotten. The suggestion that mistakes may occur in the erection of the buildings is trivial, in view of the fact that school building construction is more or less standardized. It does not credit the members of a building committee with judgment in the selection of the architect or architects who may be employed, or in familiarizing themselves with new buildings which have been erected in neighboring municipalities.

The reiteration in the recent advertisement, that the buildings may cost more than the money appropriated therefor, is in effect a charge against a building committee (not yet appointed) that it will not do its duty. In the past, various committees have been appointed to erect buildings (namely the High and Wadleigh buildings, the fire engine house, the Mystic building and others), and money has been appropriated therefor, but none of these committees exceeded the appropriation, and in all of these cases, if memory serves aright, substantially the same procedure was followed as in this. In the present case, the program committee engaged the services of an eminent architect, who gave the estimated costs of the new buildings, based on sketch plans and on recently let contracts. It is highly unreasonable, therefore, to suppose that any building committee, charged with the erection and furnishings of the contemplated buildings, will exceed the appropriation. In fact, such a committee would have no authority to exceed it. So, even this argument against proceeding with the erection of the buildings fails. Is it not really our school children who should receive the chief consideration, seeing that they must attend in the buildings provided for them, regardless of whether they are unsafe, unsanitary, antiquated, or are poorly ventilated and lighted? Why should the children be compelled to remain in such buildings, while the academic question of whether mistakes may not be made in erecting buildings, or whether their cost will be in excess of the sum appropriated therefor?

If the children now in the schools are to be provided with properly located, suitable, modern, safe buildings, there should be no further delay. As it is, new Wyman and Chapin buildings cannot be ready for occupancy before September, 1923, and new Rumford and Gifford-Mystic buildings probably not before 1924.

When the issue is considered dispassionately, free from ardor of debate, only one real question remains in the heart and mind of the voter, namely: "Is the welfare of the children less important than the erection of the buildings in four years rather than two, or three years?"

Those who love children and believe in proper school buildings will have only one answer, and that is "No."

Isn't "Thinking it over" what we have been doing for months? The program committee surely discussed the matter at length, and fairly too. In the numerous hearings in different parts of the town; they presented a well considered report after the most careful study of the entire situation; and in addition, the whole subject was debated at length in the town meeting. Never in the history of the town has there been a more open and frank discussion with the citizens by any committee prior to its presentation of the matter, nor a greater opportunity accorded for full consideration, than in this case. Now is the time therefore to "think it over" in the interest of the children, and by voting against reconsideration, end the discussion in which they are disregarded.

Chas. A. Baldwin.

RELATIVE COSTS OF CONSTRUCTION OF SCHOOLHOUSES IN A TWO YEAR PROGRAM AS COMPARED WITH A FOUR YEAR PROGRAM

Editor of The Star

Sir:

There is one aspect of this question, involved in the construction of four new school houses, either in two years or in four years, which I have not happened to have heard debated nor have I read anything in print dealing with this phase.

It is the question of the difference in the relative cost of construction and the quality of buildings to be obtained for the same money. It is apparent that the cost of construction is gradually decreasing and that we are slowly but surely getting back to what is termed normalcy.

A year ago, carpenters, bricklayers, painters and other workmen were receiving a higher wage than this year, and the cost of supplies were much higher than now. It is very fair to conclude that three years from now costs will be materially lower than now and that a contract made then for a schoolhouse should produce a better building for the same money than a contract made today, or even next year. It would seem, therefore, a matter of common business prudence for the town to deal with the matter accordingly and, on Monday, support a vote for reconsideration, with the object of contracting for one schoolhouse a year for the next four years, rather than for four schools in two years.

More or less has been said about the whole school program being defeated unless a two year plan is adopted. Of course, this is merely an attempt to stampede the town very much as the cry of danger from fire undertook to stampede it a year ago. There are many of us heartily in favor of a progressive school program but yet believe that it should cover a period of four years rather than two years.

It would be interesting to know how far the various departments have gone in their demand for appropriations and how far these appropriations have been wisely limited by the finance committee; yet, substantially, the same work has been accomplished; and so with school construction, the same work can be accomplished by changing the time factor slightly. But we are going to have some demands made upon us in the near future other than the demands of the school department, which will have to be allowed. The most immediate need is going to be in connection with the Bacon street bridge. I understand there is to be a town meeting on May 22nd to deal with this matter. This will involve an expenditure of a substantial sum of money.

Then, I understand, at no distant day, we are going to have a demand for considerable money in connection with sewer construction. This, I am told, will probably involve a very large sum of money and probably a bond issue of considerable magnitude will be required. It is a little singular that one of the most pronounced advocates of the full school program is rather urgent in this matter of new sewer construction. I am under the impression that he is not pressing this matter just now until the school program matter is disposed of.

But the matter of increased appropriations for sewers, bridges, highways, sidewalks and other improvements are going to press upon us more in the next few years, and it is a good time now, in voting upon this matter of reconsideration as to the time to be consumed in school construction, to bear in mind these other things.

There is no serious difference of opinion among a vast majority of the voters of the town as to the necessity of these schools. There is, and ought to be, a considerable body of opinion which believes that the best interests of the town, as a whole, will be served by extending the construction of the schools over a period of four years rather than two years. It is because of this view that I favor a vote for reconsideration.

It may not be amiss to call attention to the fact that since the last town meeting we have a substantially new finance committee. I understand that through resignations and because of the regular displacements from year to year there are at least eight new members on this committee out of a total of fifteen; but as the vote upon reconsideration involves the recommendation of the outgoing finance committee, and as the majority of the new committee has not all of the evidence before it at this time upon which judgement of the old finance committee was based, we can only consider the recommendation of the old committee in so far as this vote upon reconsideration is concerned.

FIRST CONFERENCE IN WINCHESTER

Programs for the coming conference of Parent-Teacher Associations in the vicinity of Winchester to be held May 16 are printed, and copies may be secured from Mrs. Stillman P. Williams, 234 Highland Avenue. An afternoon and an evening meeting will be held at the High School Hall, Winchester.

The conference, it is hoped, will bring out the fundamental purposes of this state wide, nation wide movement, and a free discussion of the most successful methods of conducting the associations in this council-or district.

One of the strong features of the association is that it is non partisan, non sectarian and non racial. Every body is eligible to membership, because everybody is considered in part responsible for the next generation. Fathers, mothers, teachers and citizens, in helping to give a chance to the children of their community state and nation to develop into the finest type of men and women of which they are capable, are doing a patriotic work greater than they can possibly render during the hectic period of war.

The association seeks to interest all people in the education of the child and to unite the purposes of home and school so that we may have a great educational system.

All interested in furthering these purposes are cordially invited to the conference which will seriously consider standards towards which all associations may aim.

"If we could grapple with the whole child situation for one generation, our public health, our economic efficiency, the moral character, sanity and stability of our people would advance three generations in one."

HERBERT HOOVER

A study of the program below should bring you to the conference.

WINCHESTER DRUGGIST DIED OF HEART TROUBLE

Mr. Harry M. MacDonald of the firm of MacDonald & Cole, conducting a drug store in the block on Main street near the river, died at his store Saturday morning of heart trouble. He had been a sufferer from heart trouble for a considerable time, being, it is said, unaware of the nature of his affliction and attributing it to indigestion. Saturday morning as he was going to his store at 8:30 he was seized with an attack when passing the Winchester Laundry. He was aided by friends and Dr. Brown was summoned. The doctor succeeded in bringing him out of the attack and left him in his store, where he had been assisted, while he went to secure some needed medicine. Shortly after the doctor left MacDonald was again seized by an attack and died. Efforts were made by use of the pulse pulmotor to bring him too, but without success.

Mr. MacDonald was 47 years of age and made his home on Park avenue with his wife, having lived here about a year. He leaves no children. For many years he was engaged in the drug business in Scituate. He was a member of the Scituate lodge of Masons and the Mass. Druggists' Association. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mabel T. MacDonald, a sister, Mrs. Albert E. Peck of Framingham, and one brother, Mr. William MacDonald of Montana. The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at Norwalk.

ANNUAL MAY PARTY

The annual May Party of the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian church was held on Saturday afternoon. A fine day aided this year's party and there was a large attendance of children and grown-ups. The committee in charge included Mrs. Henry Goddard, chairman; Miss Lorna Bugbee, assistant; Mrs. Warner S. Deane, treasurer; Mrs. Lillian Mason, refreshments; and Mrs. Herbert Symmes, candy.

The program was as follows:

HOW MR. CRAUGHWELL WILL VOTE

Editor of the Star:
 I was amazed when I learned through the columns of the STAR that the electorate will be called upon for the third time to exercise its intelligence on May 15th in regard to our school program. The Finance Committee and Special Committee were appointed by the Moderator. They presented their reports to the inhabitants of the town prior to the annual town meeting. We read the reports and manifested a spryness by being present at the town meeting April 3rd.

We decided after unlimited discussion by a more than two-thirds vote, at which more than 900 voters were present, or in other words we voted by an overwhelming majority, 547 to 223, to proceed with the recommended purchase of four sites and the erection of four Committees were appointed by the Moderator. And yet as I understand the Finance Committee, believe the Building Committee should be appointed by the Selectmen. Such nonsense I believe will not be tolerated next Monday by the electorate. I for one shall vote no on the ballot and support the vote of April 3rd and April 20th. I have absolute confidence in the good judgment of the electorate and I believe the vote of April 3rd and April 20th will be sustained on May 15th by an overwhelming majority.

I remain,
 Yours very truly,
 Patrick H. Craughwell

Truth First in Art.

"Truth," said Corot, "is the first thing in art, and the second and the third." But the whole truth cannot be told at once. A selection from the mass of Nature's truths is what the artist shows—a few things at a time, and with sufficient emphasis to make them clearly felt. You cannot paint summer and winter on a single canvas. No two successive hours of a summer's day are just alike, and you cannot paint them both. Nor, as certainly, can you paint everything you see at the chosen moment. Crowd in too much and you spoil the picture, weaken the impression, conceal your meaning, falsify everything in the attempt to be too true. Corot managed to paint to interpret life, mood and meaning of what he saw.—Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer.

THINGS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Of course you read the advertisements in the STAR. You are paying for the paper and its advertising is a most important part, showing you where you can get what you want, where the best goods can be bought, and more than often, letting you in on a trade which pleases yourself and your pocketbook. You certainly are passing "opportunity" by if you omit the ads.

If you subscribe for the STAR, you save money and have the paper delivered at your house by letter carrier every Friday. It does not blow away, but comes with your regular mail. By receiving it promptly each week you do not miss any of the important news of the town, and are not disappointed sometimes—when the edition is sold out.

Painting this spring? Of course! David A. Carlow and Frank L. Mara are right here in town to attend to it for you. Call them up.

One man said he much preferred a National Bank. Perhaps you are like him. You know we have one here in Winchester—up-to-date, and busy.

Radio's the thing. Here in Winchester H. B. Macomber the electrician is making a specialty of installation and parts. He will wire your house for electric light too.

Protect your furs. Do you regard them as representing so much money? You wouldn't leave a $100 bill lying around the house or in the closet all summer would you. The Moore-Smith Co. makes a business of caring for furs—safe against theft, moths or fire.

Does the Victrola ever go on a strike? You know it can be repaired by Herbert B. Kellogg.

The "movie" question is a dead issue in Winchester, but our town is particularly fortunate in having three good theatres close by. You would rather fill up the car and take a little ride to Arlington, Stoneham or Woburn anyway, than walk down to the centre. These theatres are putting on some good shows.

A store that has been with a town nearly half a century usually has the goods the town needs. Such may be said of the Bancroft dry goods store on Mt. Vernon street. Do you ever go there? Of course!

It is said that the tallest business man in the centre is Herbert Wadsworth. It is good there is so much of him, for he is the type of man who considers courtesy and business integrity paramount in every line. Few of us can get enough of this sort of thing. Besides possessing these virtues Mr. Wadsworth sells real estate and insurance. You can see he is the right man to do business with.

The headquarters for the Winchester ladies? We give you three guesses—then go to the Winchester Exchange.

Do you housewives ever have that feeling that you would like to have some little thing—nothing much, but just a touch—for dinner that is out of the ordinary? Of course you do! The next time you get that way, go to Blaisdell's Market. He has what you want, from strawberries to calves liver.

PROBATE AND OTHER COURT NEWS

The will of William H. Weldon of Winchester who died April 24 has been filed. It is dated November 16, 1918, and names George S. Littlefield of Winchester as executor. No valuation of the estate was given.

James E. Campbell of Winchester has been sued for $10,000 in an action of tort by Enoch H. Curtis of Boston, a minor, who sues through his mother, Mrs. Isabel Fiske of Boston. Curtis alleges that while riding on an auto truck in Cambridge he was injured when the defendant's automobile collided with the truck. The accident occurred near the corner of River street and Charles river road.

The will of Irene B. Bedell of Winchester who died April 12 has been filed. It is dated March 31 and names Delia Whitney of Winchester as executrix. The estate is valued at $1000, all in personal property.

Lyceum Hall can be rented for Friday and Saturday evenings. E. C. Sanderson.

Weight Changes Every Hour.
 We are lightest when we rise in the morning. Breakfast puts on a pound or so, but we lose some of this by lunch time, when we again add to our weight. After lunch back we go once more, though, as between breakfast and lunch, we retain part of the increase. Then comes dinner, which brings us up to our maximum. We have then gained, on the average, seven pounds during the day. Generally, therefore, the greatest variation during the 24 hours is seven pounds, the weight lost between dinner and breakfast.

CLARK-REYNOLDS

Miss Marion Adams Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Reynolds of Everett avenue, and Remington Alonzo Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Orlow Clark of Springfield, were married Saturday night at the First Congregational Church. Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor officiating.

Edward Orlow Clark, Jr., of Springfield, brother of the bridegroom was best man, and the bride was attended by Miss Mary Buttner of Hingham, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Beatrice Carver of Brookline, Mrs. Ralph Joslin of Winchester, Miss Dorcas Gill of Holyoke, Miss Pauline Ray of Winchester and Miss Josephine Taylor of Oak Park, Ill.

A reception was held after the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. The ushers were Arthur Reynolds, brother of the bride; Robert Metcalf, George Bird of Brookline, Bradford LeBaron Church of Taunton, Roland Murphy and Arthur B. Schell of Brooklyn.

Mr. Clark was graduated from the Winchester High School and Amherst College with the class of 1921. At both schools he was prominent in athletics and was captain of the Amherst hockey and baseball teams last year. Mrs. Clark was graduated from the Winchester High School, where she captained the girls' basketball team, and from Smith College with the class of 1920. They will live in Springfield.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

The presentation of the ever popular Comedy, "Peg O' My Heart," by the St. Ann's Dramatic Club, at Somerville, Thursday evening, May 25th at the Town Hall will, in all probability be the last, for this season.

Arrangements are under way, however, to present it throughout next season, by the same popular cast, and negotiations are pending already for productions at Brockton and Providence, R. I.

Plans were completed for two productions at the Lowell Opera House early last month, but the serious illness of Miss Louise O'Brien, who plays the "Title Role" necessitated the cancelling of those engagements, which, forever, will be filled early in the Fall.

Winchester theatre-goers are looking forward to the 25th, and from present indications, the young artists will be greeted by a "Capacity House."

A real, live committee is working under the skillful leadership of Miss Nellie Sullivan and it is confidently expected that there will not be an empty seat on that night. A six piece orchestra, directed by Mr. Bernard Cullen will furnish music between the acts and for the dancing which will follow the Play.

RECEPTION TO MISS CRAWFORD

On Tuesday evening, May 2nd, the First Baptist Church tendered Miss L. Jennie Crawford a reception in the Chapel of the Church.

Miss Crawford is a Winchester girl and is well remembered by many residents of this town who turned out in goodly numbers Tuesday evening to greet her. She has been for several years medical missionary at Suifu, West China, and has recently returned on this her second furlough from the foreign field.

The Chapel was most tastefully decorated with cut flowers and palms. Assisting Miss Crawford in receiving were Rev. and Mrs. Walcott.

The ushers of the evening were Messrs. Edward E. Thompson, Frank W. McLean, Arthur E. Gilmour, Harry W. Moulton and Donald Eldredge.

During the evening music was furnished by Mr. G. F. Frazee's Orchestra.

The Rev. Clifton H. Walcott pastor of the Church spoke words of welcome to Miss Crawford on behalf of the Church and appreciation of the many years of faithful service. She has rendered in China, Miss Crawford responded in a most gracious manner.

Refreshments were served by the Social Committee of the Church, Mrs. Frank W. McLean, Chairman, Mrs. L. C. Prime, Mrs. C. M. DeLoria, Mrs. H. W. Moulton, Mrs. A. O. Weld, Harry W. Moulton, Donald Eldredge, A. O. Weld, Frank W. McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Kemp of Stone avenue, celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary, Sunday, May 7th. Their two sons and families were present. Dr. and Mrs. Sysander S. Kemp of Canton, and Mr. and Mrs. Erford C. Kemp of Winchester. Also one grandson, Sysander S. Kemp, Jr.

SCHOOLS FACE BREAKDOWN

This ominous statement was made recently by the new Federal Commissioner of Education, Dr. John J. Tigert:

The educational system of the United States is almost at a breakdown.

Free public education is democracy's corner-stone. If it crumbles the whole structure falls.

Upon what does Dr. Tigert base his alarming judgment?

Upon these facts, among others: Only one pupil in four completes the instruction in the elementary grades. In 80 cities where school conditions are most favorable only half the pupils go through these grades.

In no State are more than 15 per cent of the enrolled pupils completing the high school course. In 37 States the percentage is less than ten.

Of all high school pupils more than half get no farther than the first year.

Yet in every school district increasing difficulty is found in providing sufficient school buildings, equipment and teachers to accommodate the growing elementary attendance. In none is the teaching staff adequately paid.

Dr. Tigert suggested no remedy. But there is one. It is to change the method of grading so that each pupil may advance as rapidly as desirable and none be put back, to go over old ground.

Only by accelerating the rate of progress and saving the tremendous costs of needless duplications and delays can the school plant be made to produce a satisfactory product at a price the taxpayers can afford to pay.

Comparison of the foregoing with local school conditions is interesting. In the country at large, one pupil in four completes the elementary grades. In Winchester, three pupils out of four complete the elementary grades.

In the country at large, fifteen per cent of the pupils enrolled complete the high school course. In Winchester twenty-five per cent of the pupils enrolled complete the high school course.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE WADLEIGH-PRINCE PARENT TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

It was thought wise to hold the Annual Meeting of the Wadleigh-Prince Parent Teachers' Association at the usual time. Notice having been sent through the children. The meeting was called to order at 7:45 p. m. on Monday, May 8th, the Vice-President, Mrs. Dennett, presiding. Reports of Secretary and Treasurer were read and accepted. Membership committee reported a gain of 44%. Mr. Pinkham voiced appreciation of the teachers in co-operation of parents, and if the retiring officers. Special thanks is due to Mr. H. K. Barrows, retiring president, for his able conduct of meetings in inducing full discussion. The Publicity Committee called attention to the kind consideration shown by the Winchester Star. The meeting was adjourned after the election of the following officers for 1922-23.

President—Mr. Wm. L. Parsons.
 Vice-President—Mrs. Wm. K. Denison.
 Secretary—Miss Gladys Crawford.
 Treasurer—Mrs. Chas. L. Lamoree.
 Publicity Com.—Mrs. Horace W. Ash.
 Membership Committee—Mrs. D. C. Dennett.
 Program Committee—Mrs. Wm. E. Buttner.
 Mrs. Thomas H. Dummer, Mrs. J. C. Hinde, Mrs. Chas. H. Eastwick.

THE MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

How much allowance shall we give our children? How shall we direct their spending and saving? Miss S. Agnes Donham of the Association for the Promotion and Protection of Savings, in Boston, will tell us how to answer these questions, at the meeting of the Mothers' Association. This will be held in the High School Assembly Hall, Wednesday, May 17, at 3 o'clock. Mrs. J. Churchill Hinde will play. This is the last regular meeting until Fall, so it is hoped that each member will make a special effort to come, and bring a neighbor. Little children may be left in charge of a kindergarten. A social hour during which tea will be served will follow the program.

Miss Edith Lewis was a member of the committee of the Secretarial Science Juniors of B. U. which gave a tea dance Saturday afternoon in the college hall.

Miss Roma S. Nickerson was a member of the reception committee of the Gilchrist Association annual dance in Paul Revere Hall on Tuesday night.

WINCHESTER POLICE RESPONSIBLE FOR CAPTURE

The capture of the gang of thieves at the camps at Silver Lake, Wilmington, Saturday, was due to the work of a Winchester officer, Patrolman John F. Hogan. It was he who noticed the fast speeding auto in Winchester early on Saturday morning and telephoned the Woburn police, who, although unable to stop the car, secured the license number. Through this number the gang was traced to the camp at Silver Lake and three of them arrested.

It has been suggested that it was one or more of this gang which shot the Winchester station agent, Ralph W. Brewster, recently. Winchester police officers tried to associate them with the murder, but could get no direct evidence.

One hundred watches, jewelry and other loot was recovered at the camp. The gang evidently made a specialty of stealing safes, carrying them to the camp and battering them open there, several safes being found.

What's For Breakfast?

It may be ever so little. Only cereal and coffee, perhaps. But it's a meal that Royalty might envy—if the CREAM is HOOD'S.

For three-quarters of a Century, Hood's has helped start the day right in thousands of well-nourished homes. It never disappoints. It's perfectly pasteurized!

Don't let tomorrow's breakfast pass without it!

WHY SOUTH IS FORGING AHEAD

New England Rapidly Going to a Second Place in Cotton Goods Manufacture

Boston—The following statement was issued by the public information bureau of the Cotton Textile Employers' Association:

Certain phases of the problems confronting the New England cotton manufacturing industry, which have been carefully considered by the managers in the North, may be of interest to the public at the present time, in view of the strikes which have been prevailing among the employees of numerous mills in Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

In June, 1920, the wage rate in northern cotton mills was increased to the peak rate. For purposes of comparison the following figures, which are indicative of conditions in all departments of cotton manufacturing, are based on the rate paid at Fall River for weaving 47 1-2 yards of 48", 64x64, 7-yard print cloth. That peak price was $5.819. This was an increase of 15 percent over the wage rate, $5.060, which had prevailed from December, 1919. The cut of 22 1-2 percent in 1921 carried the peak rate to $4.510.

The peak price of print cloth of the same grade was reached April 1, 1920, the quotation being 16 1/2 per yard. Jan. 1, 1921, the price was 6 1-4 per yard, a reduction of over 60 percent.

The peak price of brown sheetings was fixed about April 1, 1920, and amounted to 26 1-2 to 27c per yard. Jan. 1, 1921, this was reduced to 9 3-4c, about 64 percent off.

The peak price of fine lawns on the same high level date was 40 cents per yard and on January 1, 1921, this had fallen to 15 1-2 cents, which was a cut of over 61 percent.

The wage reduction of 22 1-2 percent in 1921, with the proposed cut of 20 percent, at present, makes a total decrease from the peak of 1920 of only 38 percent., as against 60, 64 and 61 percent, reductions in the prices of three grades of cotton goods mentioned, which grades were selected at random, the percentages being typical of the whole list in cottons.

Difference in Weekly Hours

A feature considered of great importance by northern mill managers is that in no state in the nation where cotton manufacturing has attained a degree of importance has the 48-hour weekly scale prevailed, except in New England and only in Massachusetts, of the well-defined cotton manufacturing of the well-defined cotton manufacturing states, is a 48-hour law relating to women and children in force.

Throughout the South weekly time limits run from 54 to 66 hours and in Canada from 55 to 60.

Careful investigation on the part of manufacturers has demonstrated that a lessened period of weekly work has decreased production in practically the same proportion as the time of labor is reduced. As a matter of fact, some mill officials assert that the proportion under shorter weekly periods is greater, because the practice has led to a larger number of supervisors over operatives and this has resulted in an increase of less-skilled workers among the rank and file.

It has been satisfactorily determined that decreasing the working periods inevitably leads to increased costs of production.

New Mills Mean High Quality

The increase in spindleage in the South during the past 20 years, which has been tremendous in comparison with the almost total lack of cotton mill development in the North, has meant much more than an enlarged production. It has resulted in the manufacture of a much higher grade of cotton goods. New mills have meant the construction of modern buildings, the installation of the latest types of machinery, the use of a thousand and one labor-saving and rapid-operating devices, all of which have aided in making the same class of cotton goods for which the New England manufacturers had no rivals for many years.

The days when the South could be regarded as the centre of manufacture of coarse goods only have gone forever. At present the mills there produce a complete run of cottons, which is in very active and definite competition with practically all the northern plants, both in regard to quality and price.

A realizing sense of the seriousness of the situation was brought to several northern manufacturers last fall when they found high grade cotton products of the South offered in the principal markets of the United States at prices which were less than the cost of manufacture in New England.

It is true, also, that mill managers below the Mason and Dixon line are not confronted by an ever-increasing list of welfare movements, running from propositions of genuine benefit to the most visionary ideas on the possible regeneration of human nature, as in the case of numerous New England places. While many of these plans may be most acceptable in principle, not a few are intended chiefly for the future and all involve an increase in production costs—and it is on a reduction in production costs that the future prosperity of the cotton industry in New England must depend.

Real Kisses by Post

The English patent office has issued a patent on a method of sending a kiss by post. It is described thus: "A post, letter, or like card is provided with means for making an impression of the lips of the sender. The person presses a card, carrying a piece of cloth or other material covered or impregnated with a colored substance, such as bronze to the lips, and then kisses the card, leaving the impression shown." The patent does not deprive any girl of the right to kiss a card with her freshly-ringed lips and to send the card to the man of her heart. The ideal substance with which to print the kiss is a mixture of honey, gum arabic, and cochineal. This will dry on the card and the kiss will be sweet when received.

SOKOLS FOSTERED CZECH
"SPIRIT OF '76"

"The coming of a delegation of Sokol Gymnastic Societies from Czechoslovakia to the United States has a deeper interest than that attaching to an international athletic event. Europe's newborn republic is sending to the far older republic of the New World a representation from an organization which had much to do with keeping alive a national spirit against the day when she seized her opportunity for independence."

With this comment the National Geographic Society issues the following bulletin explaining the historical significance of the Sokol societies:

The delegation of Sokols from Czechoslovakia to the Chicago convention are repaying the visit made by many American Sokols who went to Prague last year, each of them bearing food drafts so that their presence in Prague would not be more of an embarrassment than a help. A group of American Sokols met at the castle crowned hill where the March and the Danube unite and there draped Old Glory over a Millennial Monument, which was erected by the Magyars to commemorate the establishment of the Hungarian state by Stephen the

First in 997.

Reveille to National Spirit
The founding of the Sokol organization in Bohemia was the sounding of the reveille to a slumbering nation. Czech nationality in 1862 was somnolent. Even friends of the Hussite people despaired of its regaining its sense of freedom. The enemies of the race which produced Comenius openly at the low estate to which the once proud nation had fallen.

Then came Miroslav Tyrš and Jindřich Fugner, who conceived as a means of awakening their race the establishment of an organization which would escape the antagonism of the Hapsburg oppressors while cementing the people into a unit by training them in discipline and organization.

The Sokols, or falcons, derive their name from a Slav legend in which that bird typifies a spirited and courageous youth. The organization is Slavic in conception and it has so far aided in energizing successive Slavic groups.

Forged Kerensky Offensive

It was the Czech Sokol spirit which united the thousands of Bohemian war prisoners in Russia and, when the permission from Kerensky came, forged them into the army which formed the spear point of the Kerensky offensive in the summer of 1917. It was the Sokol spirit which actuated thousands of men in western Russia, who could almost see their native hills, to set out on the most marvelous anabasis that World War has known, an adventure which culminated in the capture of huge tracts of Siberia, and the return of the veterans in American transports to Vladivostok or Trieste.

The Sokolovna, or Sokol hall, is not only the gymnasium for the men and women of Czechoslovakia but is also the social and cultural center of the city or village. It has been through more than half a century of awakening nationalism the hearthstone to which the Czech Lares and Penates have been gathered.

Becomes National Festival

Last year the seventh Sokol Festival was held in Prague. Coming at a time when the new nations of Europe were all dazed with self government, it did more than any other thing to unite the people of one country and to reveal to them the spectacle of a nation's people cooperating in a tribute to the very nationality which their cooperation was strengthening. Sokols were brought from the most remote districts. Children who had long heard of their capital but who had never seen Golden Prague spent a week in visiting the places rich in historical and national interest. The railways were given such a test as was itself would not impose upon them. Hundreds of thousands of new-franchised citizens had the privilege of paying personal tribute to their newly elected chief, President Masaryk.

The organization which was instituted under a hostile government to foster the physical and spiritual forces which make for manliness, simultaneously forged the national forces which make for freedom. Freedom having been secured, the same organization operates in strengthening the bonds that unite the new Czech state.

Beginning and Commencement.

The Latin commencement is more formal than the Saxon beginning, as the verb commence, is more formal than begin. Commencement is for the most part restricted to some form of action, while beginning has no restriction, but may be applied to action, state, material, extent, enumeration, or to whatever else may be conceived of as having first a part, point, degree, etc. The letter A is at the beginning (not the commencement) of every alphabet.

STATEMENT FROM THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE

In our endeavor to observe professional etiquette we did not deem it proper to take the first step in making public the names of teachers not re-elected or the reasons for our decisions.

Owing to the publicity which has followed our action—a publicity for which the Committee are not responsible—we feel at liberty to make a statement correcting many misunderstandings.

The Committee have not re-elected five teachers not on permanent tenure. There is nothing very radical about failing to re-appoint five teachers out of a staff of seventy. It is idle to talk of increasing efficiency in our schools if teachers once employed are never to be replaced.

The Committee, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, have neither removed nor have they any present intention of removing, any teacher on permanent tenure other than the Principal of the High School. That we intend to have a new Principal is now a matter of public knowledge, though it was not made so by the Committee or by any member of the Committee.

Prior to the last town election the then Committee acting upon facts which had come to their individual attention over a long period of time, voted unanimously to recommend to the succeeding Committee that a change be made in the principalship of the High School.

The present Committee, consisting of five of the members of the former Committee and of one new member, made further investigations and, after due consideration, decided again unanimously that the situation at the High School demanded a new Principal.

The Committee then caused to be conveyed to the Principal on April 14 the information that there would be a change in the principalship and the hope that he would resume his teaching and take the Headship of the Modern Language Department. Subsequently the Committee formally voted to offer Mr. Thompson that position upon receipt of his resignation as Principal.

After waiting several weeks for a reply the Committee invited Mr. Thompson to meet with them. At this meeting held last Monday, the six members of the Committee being present, the Principal was formally asked if he would resign the Principalship and take the Headship of the Modern Language Department. The Committee individually explained their reasons for desiring the proposed change, laying particular stress upon his ability as a teacher.

The Principal then told the Committee that he felt unable to comply with their wishes. Always having Mr. Thompson's future in mind, the Committee had hoped that the change might be effected without publicity. The publicity unfortunately came, and, after Mr. Thompson's refusal to accept our offer we formally notified him that on June 19 the Committee intended to vote on the question of his dismissal as Principal and teacher of the Winchester High School. This written notice was given in compliance with general laws chapter 71 section 42.

The Principal is entitled if he so requests before such vote is taken, to a statement by the Committee of the reasons for which his dismissal is proposed. If such a statement is asked for, the committee are ready to furnish it.

It is not, of course, the intention of the Committee to relieve Mr. Thompson of his present position until after the close of the school year and his salary will continue till September 1, 1922.

SCHOOL SITUATION

Dismissal of Teachers Still Under Discussion

The furor created last week over the announcement that our School Committee had planned for the removal of the High School principal and several High and grade school teachers is still under discussion. Following the meeting of a week ago Tuesday evening of interested citizens at the Town Hall, petitions were circulated about town calling upon the School Committee for a hearing in the matter, and some four or five hundred names are said to have been secured.

A second meeting of the citizens was held at the general committee room in the Town Hall this week Tuesday night, at which time the petitions were presented. This meeting decided to further circulate the petitions and to call a public meeting to be held in the small Town Hall this Saturday night.

This Saturday night meeting will be in the nature of a public meeting for the purpose of considering the situation generally. All residents "interested in the removal" of the teachers have been invited. It is planned to arrange at that time for the presentation of the petition to the School Committee.

The School Committee has had little to say in the matter other than a general statement by individual members that the committee is united in its action and that its action has been taken wholly upon its own initiative.

On Wednesday an attempt was made to induce the scholars of the High School to leave the school Thursday morning as a strike protest over the removal of the principal. While it is extremely doubtful if any number of pupils would have followed the idea, much publicity was given the affair and Thursday morning found Winchester full of reporters, camera men and special writers ready for the event. Beyond a small group of noisy boys who marched to school shouting through the streets, nothing was done along this line, principal Thompson stating his opinion in the matter in no uncertain terms, and conducting as usual.

As this matter now stands, the group of pro-strikers at the school report that they are now to wait until Monday, and unless the principal is reinstated at that time, they will then stage the strike.

It is reported this morning that the School Committee has arranged to grant a conference to the citizens committee, headed by Mr. Francis E. Smith, at the Wadleigh School this evening. This is done that the citizens committee may be made familiar with the situation before the public mass meeting to be held in the small Town Hall tomorrow night.

Later reports, circulated yesterday afternoon are to the effect that the High School teachers are prepared to go on strike with the pupils on Monday should Saturday night's meeting result in an unsatisfactory outcome. Yesterday motion pictures were taken of the scholars at the school by camera-men, and posters, assumed to have been put up by scholars of the school, were displayed on poles about town, vilifying one of the school officers.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The girls' gym exhibition was a decided success! No one can doubt that statement who was there. Long before it was time to begin, the gym was crowded with spectators. In fact not for a number of years has the gym seen such a crowd of parents out to see one of the school events.

The programme began at the stroke of eight and lasted until ten. Everything was put through with vigor and speed. Nothing was slow.

So many interesting things were packed into those two hours that one's head fairly swam trying to watch all at once.

There were marching, races, dances, drills, and apparatus work, rope climbing and dumb bell drill, and special work by three Sargent girls. The apparatus was probably the most interesting to watch. The girls were remarkably good and showed the excellent training they have had this past winter.

Among the dances Pierrot and Pierrette by Rhoda Townsend and Peggy Comins was very good. Indeed everything went off with a snap and retained the interest of the spectators to the end.

This exhibition was a fitting close for a very successful year of gym work at the High School.

LUNCHEON FOR MISS IRENE LORD

Mrs. Howell Sheppard, nee Constance Park was hostess to sixteen guests at a luncheon at her home on Commonwealth avenue, Alston, Saturday, in honor of Miss Irene Lord, who is to be married next month to Mr. Franklin Lane. After congratulations to the future bride an entertainment furnished by Miss Marjorie Waldmyer, one of the guests, and vocal and instrumental music, all sat down at beautifully decorated tables to a dainty lunch. Among those present were several soon-to-be brides. The guests were: Misses Dorothy Hewett, Dorothy Kerrison, Marjorie Waldmyer, Irene Lord, Margaret Ray, Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Bradford, Mrs. Paul Hewett, Mrs. E. M. Messenger, Mrs. John Park, Mrs. Truitt, and Mrs. Orman Thayer.

Among the approaching weddings is that of Mr. Earle Brandon Goldsmith of Park avenue and Miss Frances Geraldine Street of Brookline, and Mrs. Carolyn G. DeLoiselle and Mr. Henry deLute of Brooklyn, N. Y.

All the above sales were made through the office of Edward T. Harrington Co.

School Building Committee

Moderator Ives announced yesterday afternoon the appointment of the following building committee to carry out the erection of the four new grade schools:

JAMES S. ALLEN
ALBERT M. CHANDLER
EDWARD H. KENERSON
HARRY C. SANBORN
MRS. GEORGE H. ROOT

The first four members of this committee are appointed by Mr. Ives, the last by the School Committee, in accordance with the vote of the Town. It is stated that all have accepted the office except Mr. Kenerson, who is away at this time.

MR. IVES' COMMITTEE

Editor of the Star:
I would like the voters to know that I have tried in vain to induce Messrs. Charles T. Main and Frank W. Reynolds to serve on the committee appointed to build the new schools.

Each has good and sufficient reasons for his refusal, but personally I regret excessively their inability to serve.

Both have offered to aid the committee in an advisory or consulting capacity; a most generous offer, of which I feel sure the members of the committee will avail themselves.

Frederick M. Ives

MRS. ZUEBLIN RESIGNS

Mrs. Charles Zueblin of the School Committee has tendered her resignation to that Board. As yet no action has been taken. Mrs. Zueblin will leave the last of this month to spend a year or more in Europe. In view of the importance of school matters coming before the board she has felt that an active member should occupy her place. In offering her resignation she desires that it be understood that she has taken part in the decisions reached by the board and thoroughly concurs in all actions taken by it.

QUICK RESULTS

Editor of the Star:
Will you please omit from this week's issue of the STAR the advertisement I inserted last week, as I find it only requires one insertion in your paper to get results.

Very truly yours,
C. H. Bartlett,
5 Lewis Road.

NO RECONSIDERATION

School Vote Carried by Majority Lost on Two-thirds Requirement

Although Winchester citizens voted by a majority of 432 to reconsider the committee appointment and instruction clause in the school building program at the polls on Monday, the question was lost through the two-thirds requirement, and the action of the Town will stand in its appropriation of $540,000 for the purchase of four school sites and in its instruction to the building committee to erect two schools this year and two more next year.

A total of 2653 votes were cast, 193 more than at the town election, when feeling over the school question was running high. The figures ran 1535 for reconsideration and 1103 against. Out of the total vote of 2653, a vote of 1769 was necessary for reconsideration to carry it on the two-thirds requirement, and although a substantial majority was recorded, some 235 votes were lacking.

The interest in the matter ran high throughout the day, both factions making every endeavor to bring out the largest possible vote in support of their side of the question. Many autos were used and the check lists were carefully kept. All autos were placarded and circulars were distributed all over town from Saturday noon until the close of the polls.

It appears evident at this time that the matter is now settled and that the action at the polls will be considered final. Rumors are circulating that further steps are to be taken by opponents to the "four schools at once," but leaders in the reconsideration movement to date have stated that they will make no further efforts to carry their point, and if any new action is undertaken it will probably be by a new faction.

Accepting the vote as final, the Selectmen have ordered the engineer's office to prepare plans for the land takings at the several sites upon which the new buildings are to be erected. It is stated that Moderator Ives has lined up the new building committee, but at this time he has not announced it.

WINCHESTER PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO HAVE FIELD DAY

On Thursday afternoon, May 25th, at two o'clock, the boys and girls of the Winchester Public Schools will give a field day on Manchester Field for their parents and friends. This event will be a repetition of the one held last year. It is being promoted by the department of physical training as a means of showing Winchester parents some of the activities in which their children are daily taking part.

The first event on the program will be a mass imitation drill with every pupil from the third to eighth grades participating. Following this will come a demonstration by the children from the first and second grades of simple folk dances and singing games which are a part of their daily program.

An event of special interest will be presented by the Wadleigh and Prince schools. The pupils of these schools will go through their regular "setting-up" exercises under the leadership of pupil leaders. These leaders are picked from a number of leaders who regularly conduct the drills in the school yards from 10:15 to 10:30 a. m. There will be six groups, three groups of girls and three groups of boys.

Following the drill will come the relay races, one for boys and one for girls. Washington, Wyman, Rumford, Chapin and Gifford schools will be represented by teams.

The last group of events will be track and field events. The list is as follows: Boys, 3rd grade, 40 yards dash, standing broad jump, 4th grade, 40 yards dash, running high jump; 5th grade, 50 yards dash, running broad jump; 6th grade, 50 yards dash, running high jump; 7th grade, 100 yards dash, running high jump; 8th grade, 100 yards dash, running high jump. Girls, 3rd grade, 40 yards dash, standing broad jump; 4th grade, 40 yards dash, running high jump; 5th grade, 40 yards dash, standing broad jump; 6th grade, 50 yards dash, running broad jump; 7th grade, 50 yards dash, basket ball throw for distance; 8th grade, 50 yards dash, basket ball throw for distance. Each room will be allowed to enter two in each event. No person may compete in more than one of the track and field events. He may, however, compete in the relay and one other track or field event.

Ribbons will be given to winners of 1st, 2nd, and 3rd places in each event except the relay, in which each member of the winning team will receive a ribbon. In addition to the individual prizes a shield will be awarded to the room scoring the largest number of points for its grade, i. e., there will be a shield for the best room of each the 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th grades.

In case of rain the field day will be postponed to the following Thursday at the same hour.

WHIST AND DANCE

The K. of C. will conduct a whist party and dance in their home on Vine street, Monday evening, May 29. The committee which is working hard to make this a success, is as follows: James Boyle, chairman, Frank H. Valley, Luke Glendon, J. Chris Sullivan, Fred Boyle, Jeremiah Dolan, Edward MacDonald, Frank Dinien, Edward A. Coggin, Bernard King, Augustus McFeeley and George Sullivan.

Mr. John Park returned this week from a two month's trip to England and the Continent.

PARENT-TEACHER CONFERENCE

The third conference of the 17th District of the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher Associations, meeting in Winchester, High School Assembly Hall, Tuesday, May 16, was opened with prayer by Rev. Alliston B. Gifford. Mrs. William K. Denison, Vice-President of the local branch, welcomed approximately 130 guests, members and friends, not only from this district, but also from Boston, Lawrence, Andover, Bedford, Arlington and Revere.

In giving the greeting on behalf of the State Organization, Mrs. E. C. Mason pointed out the scope of the work as including children of preschool age as well as those in school. She said in part that the State Branch of the National Association (the latter comprising 300,000 members in 40 states) aims to be a connecting link to hold together its various groups by Conferences, Conventions, the Bulletin, and letters, the data for all being derived from the ultimate sources; viz. such departments of specialized work as Health, Labor and Mental-Hygiene. Thus close touch is kept with the National program.

Reports on the two best things accomplished showed wide variety of interest. The Medford representative mentioned interest in child welfare, and a fine lecture by Dr. Owen Ames. Stoneham has utilized motion pictures educationally. Wakefield, thru the Hamilton School has given an Xmas Tree, and raised money in many ways to supply milk to children; thru the Hurd School, a fire alarm box has been installed and a piano bought; thru the High School, a Memorial Library to Mrs. Charles Howe, a former principal in service 25 years. Winchester reported the organization of junior athletics, and the distribution of certain resolutions and recommendations for parent's approval.

Mrs. Edna Brannen, of Stoneham, rendered a violin solo, with Mrs. A. B. Webber, of Bedford, as accompanist.

The discussion of "Dreams that may come true" proved both practical and inspirational. Rev. Eric Lindh, Quincy, questioned whether the ideal mother exists as an absolute entity, but thought she might be constructed out of ideal elements, a bit of something ideal from this mother, a bit from that. Since she is the real creator of the atmosphere of the home, she should be winsome, wholesome, inviting, for she controls the field of finest investment. Again she should be a judicious combination of conservation and progress, and will hold spiritual ends before her children.

Mrs. E. V. French, of Andover, Massachusetts, presented the ideal father as high-souled, chivalrous, patient, gentle, radiating strength and cheer, collaborating with the mother in planning for each child a definite share in household work; maintaining discipline "that iron in the love which makes it wear well," conferring responsibility, and so inculcating self-control, sacrifice, and loyalty. Such a father will undoubtedly have the love, trust and confidence of his child, and will not fail in developing a fine character, an educated, useful citizen.

Mr. Charles Zueblin, Winchester outlined the ideal teacher as seen thru dreams, not that may, but that should come true. He suggested that, from the difference in training for the jobs of parent and of teacher arises the difficulty of seeing the same child. For the teacher, Mr. Zueblin would have a longer day, but with more help, and no unloading of school work on the home. In his inimitable ironical style, the speaker entertained the audience with a highly exaggerated word picture of the traditional teacher, and then proceeded to require the following for the ideal teacher: Eating scientifically, sleeping out of doors, living near to nature, exercising religiously, choosing by right, privilege and obligation, clothing appropriate as to color and cut. Passing to the furnishings of the mind as contributing to beauty, the ideal teacher as recommended to cultivate a specialty, to read for the joy of life, poetry, humor, foreign literature, and of the newspapers all she may, and then guess at the truth.

Before closing, a spirited discussion on the evils of current literature resulted in the forming the following committee to draft resolutions thereupon. Mrs. Fred H. Sidney, Wakefield; Mrs. Chas. H. Choate, Lawrence; Mrs. A. B. Webber, Bedford; Mrs. Loring W. Blanchard, Stoneham; Mrs. W. A. Mann, Wakefield.

Guests were then entertained by the Committee on seeing Winchester, and about 38 enjoyed the supper served by the Supper Committee.

The evening session of the Conference opened with an attendance of 135 being present, Mrs. Earl W. Smith, of Arlington, again presiding. Prayer was offered by Rev. George Hale Reed, and a word of welcome was extended by Mr. John R. Faussey, Superintendent of Schools. A group of songs followed by Mrs. Lena Corbin Faussey, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Abbott. In her usual charming manner Mrs. Faussey sang the following songs: "Out in the Open Meadow," "2 Songs my Mother Taught Me," "3 Down in the Forest."

Mrs. E. C. Mason presented the following resolutions, which were adopted by the Association:

1 A vote of thanks be tendered the Wadleigh-Prince Parent-Teacher Association for its hospitality.
2 Whereas we parents and teachers of district 17 of the Mass. P. T. A. in conference assembled, realizing the importance of clean literature in the home, be it resolved that we protest against the trend of modern fiction as published in our magazines, and that we will use our influence to discourage the purchase and reading of such magazines in our homes.

June 3, Saturday. Winchester Horse Show, 10-6. Aigremont.

The discussion of the best line of work for this organization as conducted by Mr. J. A. Patch, a member of the School Committee of Stoneham, effected the decision that the function of this Association should be largely educational. Mr. Reed made the point that the best point of contact between parent and teacher should be in the home.

Mrs. Swift thought regular funds of the Association should not be used for charity.

Mrs. Denison presented the question regarding parents concerning themselves with the curriculum of the schools, maintaining that if we considered our children over-taxed in any way, or if we considered there were omissions in school methods, it was our privilege to make inquiries.

The function of parent and teacher toward the health of pupils was discussed by Mr. Henry Chapman, he maintaining that we should have careful watch over hygienic conditions of the schools and that we should always be in friendly co-operation.

Different methods of increasing membership was conducted by Mrs. Charles J. Peterson, of Wakefield, and was discussed by various delegates from surrounding towns, some suggesting that we have music from different grades of the schools at afternoon meetings. Some claimed that local talent was more desirable, while others maintained that the best speakers possible were more helpful. Mrs. Peterson said a small active association was desirable, while the ideal association should be a large, active one. Members should all be actively interested and that publicity was the password of success.

Mr. William L. Parsons, President of Winchester Association, discussed methods of earning and spending money. Various ways were suggested of earning money—rummage sales, white elephant sales, plays, etc. An Athletic meet was suggested. It was decided that the money should be spent to develop the all-round individual mentally, morally and physically.

Mr. Maro S. Brooks, Superintendent of Medford Schools, was the last on the program, but his time being limited on account of the lateness of the hour, his remarks were brief but highly entertaining. The principal point he brought out was that the attitude of an ideal P. T. A. toward educational subjects should always be progressive.

NEIL DOHERTY DEAD

Mr. Neil Doherty, aged 73 years, died at his home, 824 Main street, on Wednesday. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy early in the morning and passed away during the afternoon. Several years ago he was at the point of death from pneumonia, he contracting the disease on three occasions. He recovered, however, and his death this week was most unexpected.

Mr. Doherty was a native of Ireland and a resident of this town for 52 years. For many years he was employed by the Beggs & Cobb Company and later by the town Highway department, retiring from the last position three years ago. He was a charter member of St. Mary's Holy Name Society.

He leaves a wife, who was Miss Ellen Ferguson, and six daughters, Misses Helena B., and Mary A., teachers in the public schools, Rose E., Grace A., C. Frances and Marguerite F.

Solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church on Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The burial will be at Calvary cemetery.

OUTLOOK FOR LARGE PAYMENT

According to reports the Town of Winchester is in line for a large payment in the matter of the proposed new trunk sewer. At present the matter has passed the Senate and is before the Committee on Ways and Means, a hearing being held yesterday. If reports are correct Winchester may be called upon to shoulder 50 per cent of the cost, estimated at several hundred thousand of dollars.

BOARD OF HEALTH MOVES OFFICE

The Board of Health removed its office from the town hall building this week to the Randall block on Mt. Vernon street. An additional room has been taken in the block, the Board now having three rooms on the second floor. The old office at the town hall will be retained, but will not be kept open.

Moving with the Board of Health is the Building Inspector's office, the Milk Inspector's office, the Plumbing office, the Sealer of Weights and Measures office and the Stable and Sanitary Inspector's office.

The Board of Health now occupies nearly all of the second floor of the Randall block. It is necessary to still hold its office at the town hall to provide room for the various records and numerous articles used by the various departments going with it. The change has given rise to considerable criticism about town, many opposing the removal of all these departments from the town hall.

WIRELESS FOR THE WADLEIGH!

Another member of the Wadleigh-Prince Parent-Teacher Association, by coincidence another "Mr. Stevens" did a kind turn for the Wadleigh-Prince children this week.

Mr. M. P. Stevens of the American Radio and Research Co., kindly loaned the Wadleigh School a crystal wireless receiver for the youngsters to experiment with in their General Science Clubs until they could secure one of their own.

This they will soon be able to do through the combined efforts of Mr. Stevens and Mr. Thompson, also of the American Radio Co.

All the parts of a fine set, together with a diagram of the manner in which the parts should be assembled, are to be secured for the Wadleigh school with the balance of the Funds from the play "Here and There" left after buying the new piano.

Miss Barr, the Science teacher will take some radio work at Columbia this summer, so that when September comes the pupils in General Science Clubs can start right away to assemble the outfit.

It is expected the whole set will be in fine working order a few months afterwards. The Wadleigh school will then have one of the best sets obtainable, one that will be able to take broadcasts from stations as far removed as Schenectady, Newark and Pittsburg.

But better still, think of the wealth of knowledge along a hundred different lines that those children will gain through building their own set rather than getting it ready made.

Tribute and Tax.

Tribute is money, commodity of value or service rendered by one ruler or state to another in token of submission, while taxes are financial burdens imposed by a state upon its own subjects. In early times there was not this distinction, for, under the feudal system especially, taxation, tribute and rent were often identical.

EDISON EMPLOYEES PLAN FOR ANNUAL FIELD DAY

At the invitation of Mr. Charles L. Edgar, President of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston, twenty-three hundred Edison employees and their families will partake of the hospitality of their Company on Saturday, June 24, 1922, on which date the annual Field Day will take place on the grounds of the Employees' Recreation Buildings.

The day's program will consist of interdepartmental baseball, 100-yard dash, running broad jump, quoit throwing, quarter and half mile running races, relay races, interdepartmental tug-of-war, potato race, hoop-rolling contest, baseball throwing for distance, sack race and beauty contest.

Mr. John J. Buckley, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, has many surprises in store for the little ones. He has also secured the services of the famous 101st Regiment Band, which will furnish music during the day, flying horses, Punch and Judy and an endless midway of entertainment for the kiddies. Continuous dancing will be in order throughout the day.

Chairman Samuel Clough of the Hospital Committee is arranging the care of the little tots in the Day Nursery where they will be served with good, pure, wholesome milk and dainty bits throughout the day.

Ample preparations will be made by Chairman Thomas Collins of the Transportation Committee for the handling of automobiles, etc.

Chairman Arthur Havlin of the Information Committee has arranged for suitable information booths throughout the grounds so that no one need be at a loss as to what to do for recreation.

The printing is in charge of Mr. A. B. Chamberlain and the distribution of invitations will be handled by Mr. Geo. Atwood, Chairman of Invitation Committee.

It is estimated that Chairman Oswald W. Labdon of the Refreshments Committee will serve luncheon to at least seven thousand Edison employees and their families.

Chairman Harry Howe of the Athletic Committee promises the fastest and snappiest athletic events ever held in the history of Edison Field Days.

The publicity work of the Field Day will be in charge of Mr. John J. Caddigan, the same as in former years.

Mr. Herbert W. Moses, Supt. of the Employment Bureau, is Chairman of the entire committee and in full charge of Field Day.

Mrs. Charles L. Edgar, the wife of President Edgar, has offered a prize for the most original costume in the Children's Costume Contest.

Very truly yours,

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

May 15, 1922.

Under suspension of its rule 1 the Board met at 7 o'clock. Present Messrs. Bateman, Bryne, Main and Smalley. In the absence of the Chairman Mr. Bryne was chosen chairman pro tempore.

The records of the meeting of May 8 were read and approved.

Town Meetings May 22, 1922: The Board appointed Ralph Arnold, Dr. Harrie Y. Nutter and Frank S. Olmstead, Republicans, and Harry J. Donovan, James F. Ledwidge and Robert H. Sullivan, Democrats, as checkers to serve at the Town Meeting to be held on Monday evening, May 22, 1922 and any adjourned sessions in connection with this meeting.

Wedgemere Ave: A letter was received from L. C. Moody, 8 Wedgemere avenue calling the Board's attention to the condition of Wedgemere avenue between Church street and Calumt road. Mr. Moody states in his letter that the surface has been torn off the road and crushed stone exposed in many places, especially at the corner where cars turn out and down Church street. The condition of the gutters he also states is bad and asks that this street be put in better condition. The matter was referred to the Acting Supt. of Streets for report.

Acceptance of Streets (Cottage Ave): Mr. John L. Munro, 5 Cottage avenue and Mr. George B. Whitehorn, Lane Building, appeared before the Board in regard to having Cottage avenue accepted as a town way. Mr. Munro presented a petition asking for the acceptance of this street signed by all the owners of land on this street.

The meeting adjourned at 9:50 P. M.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

NEW PIANO AT WADLEIGH SCHOOL

Through the kindness of Mr. Harry Stevens, Mgr., of the Vose Piano Co., and a member of the Wadleigh-Prince Parent-Teacher Association, the Wadleigh and Prince pupils were given an exceptional opportunity to purchase at a very low price a beautiful Emmett piano with the funds taken in at their play, "Here and There."

Last Friday the piano arrived at the Wadleigh School. At an assembly period in the hall a dozen different pupils representing both schools played selections for the children and then everybody had an opportunity to examine the instrument.

All pupils were enthusiastic in their praise of it and declared they felt their hard work in the raising the necessary money was well rewarded by their new treasure.

KORITZA AND THE DISPUTED AREA IN SOUTHERN ALBANIA

"Any other country would be non-plussed to awake some fine morning with two wars on its hands; but such a predicament is but an episode in Albania's brief but stormy history," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society concerning the skirmishes between Albanians and Greeks in northern Epirus and the reported attack of Serbians upon Albanian towns along the River Drin.

The country was created in 1912 to avert a World War, and when World War did come the troops of five countries occupied various sections of it. Germans, Austrians and Bulgarians were in control in the northern districts where Serbians now are making attacks, while France and Italy held the south, including the area about Koritza, which now forms the bone of contention with Greece. Durazzo, chief Albanian port, was seized by d'Annunzio.

Began Remarking Europe's Map

Perhaps history will recognize Koritza as the scene of the first definite step toward remarking the Map of Europe. For there in December, 1916, was set up a government, generally referred to as the Republic of Koritza. While most of Albania was in Austrian hands this little republic, under French military protection, started to function as an Albanian republic, issued paper money, postage stamps, and established a national army with a fighting strength of 600.

Before 1914 Albania was the newest country of the Old World, and it is peopled by the most ancient race of southeast Europe. Edward Gibbon called it "a country within sight of Italy, which is less known than the interior of America." And more than a century after that characterization, before the war helped introduce the Balkans to America, a letter addressed "Albania" was sent from England to the United States, and was returned from Albany, N. Y., with the notation "Not for Albany, try Europe."

Few travelers visit Albania and information about the present day aspects of the country is meager.

Some First-Hand Impressions

The bulletin then quotes the first hand impressions of Brig. Gen. George P. Scriven, U. S. A., who was in Albania during the war, and wrote to the National Geographic Society as follows:

The towns of southern Albania are few and, though strange and picturesque in appearance, are in reality poor in comfort. Of cities there are not any. Koritza, with some 20,000 people, is the largest place, but it is far from being a city. However, if the towns are somewhat mean and squalid, they are interesting to the eye and have the charm of old-world quaintness. There are but four worth mentioning: Arjrokastrro, so old, at least in appearance, that its origin falls back into the mists of time; the pleasant village of Premati, lying in a fertile valley along the river Viosa; Koritza, held by the French; and Valonia, clean and thriving under the Italian army.

They are all pleasant places to look upon, nestling among the mountains, in the valleys, and by the sea, with their old gray walls and roofs of stone dotted with storks; but they possess none of the comforts or conveniences of modern life.

Modern Conveniences Lacking

Such matter-of-fact things as trams, hotels, or cafes do not exist in Albanian towns and would seem wholly out of place. Water is drawn from the wells as it was 4,000 years ago, or maybe from some nearby stream. Inns are represented by the khan, a stone building, half house, half stable, where caravans and pack trains stop to rest. Albania belongs to a time as far back as the annals of the world can reach and is as primitive as if it were in central China, almost as difficult to penetrate as Tibet itself. It is a land unfamiliar to the traveler and shunned by the tourist of today.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

WAKEFIELD WON BY ONE RUN

With both teams playing loose ball in the first inning and each scoring three runs, Wakefield High succeeded in beating Winchester High by a single run last Saturday afternoon. Wakefield played the better game, Winchester losing on errors.

Winchester and Wakefield entered the contest each with a clean slate, no games having been lost by either. In the first inning Winchester went up in the air, and with two out allowed the visitors to score their three runs. Mathews allowed three singles, but his team mates were off their winning stride, a couple of errors doing the trick. In the second half Winchester scored three on Wakefield, but with only one out and a man on third, could not bring in a deciding run.

After this break, both teams settled down to steady ball until the fifth, when another error gave Wakefield a run. Mathews pitched a beautiful game and proved himself a very heady man in the box. In the fifth inning he deliberately passed two of Wakefield's heavy hitters, filling the bases; then by clever work and expert fielding, he put through a double play and held the score.

The score:

WAKEFIELD 4, WINCHESTER 3

Winchester lost a closely contested game to Wakefield last Saturday by the score of 4 to 3. The pitching of Mathews and Talbot featured. Mathews pitched winning ball, but the breaks went against him at critical times. Wakefield scored three runs in the first inning on two hits and two errors. The runs came after two men were out. In their half of the first Winchester came back and evened up the score making it 3 to 3. In the sixth Wakefield scored another run on a hit and an error. Winchester had a chance to score in the eighth with a man on second and third but Foley sent up an easy fly to right field. Again in the ninth Winchester had two men on base, but two pinch hitters failed to deliver the necessary hit, and the game ended with Wakefield ahead 4 to 3.

CAVIAR AND CHOLERA IN ASTRAKHAN

Suggestive of luxury and wealth because of its importance as a shipping point for caviar and because it has given its name to the fine fur which is made from the skin of unborn or new-born Persian lamb, Astrakhan now faces destruction by fire because nothing less than fire seems to promise relief from a cholera epidemic which is sweeping the alluvial plain at the mouth of the Volga.

A bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society says:

Although it is more than sixty miles from the deep waters of the Caspian, the Volga having built up a shelving bottom which makes the northern portion of the Caspian very shallow, Astrakhan is regarded by many the main Caspian port and actually has but one rival for that honor, the oil city of Baku.

First touch of the Orient

It is at Astrakhan that the traveler from Russia first feels that he is in the Near East. From Kazan south, there have been Tartar hamals loading the comfortable passenger boats which long since made the monstrous Bolga a pleasure route. But in Astrakhan the number of Persians, Tartars, Armenians and Kalmucks that one meets gives a distinctly Oriental and Asiatic touch to the Russian city.

The burning of Astrakhan, if it takes place, will not be a new experience. Time and again the city sites which correspond to the present city have been razed. Originally, it was a prominent Tartar capital, although the ancient site is seven miles farther up the river than the present sprawling city. This city was destroyed by Timur, the lame Tartar chief. In the early eighteenth century it was partially destroyed by fires and ravages of cholera have been felt time and again, the epidemic in 1830 wiping out thousands of its people. In the spring of 1918 a large portion of the city was again burned in fighting between the Bolsheviks, who held the city, and their enemies, who advanced over the flat alluvial plains that are threatened by the various mouths of the Volga.

Scene of "Thieves Market"

A white walled Kremlin, dominated by a bell tower which the Bolsheviks used as an observation point and a vantage nest for snipers, occupies the center of the city and outside the principal gate there was held one of the picturesque "thieves markets" for which Russia is famous. Only a junk dealer could enthrall over such a collection of odds and ends, to which only those in a dire state of poverty could ascribe a value.

More interesting than this market of cast off goods or of the rich shops of the real bazaar, where many an Austrian war prisoner captured the simple hearts of the Russian girls with uniforms which were frequently exchanged for new ones from Vienna, is the river front where the fishing boats line up after the day's catch. Many of these contained deep tanks and the custom was for purchasers to pick out their fish according to their agility and color. There was also a large tank in which live sturgeon swam around as peacefully as the strutting gobbler on the eve of Thanksgiving.

Some of the fish secured are huge specimens several hundreds pounds in weight but the main profits were taken from the roe or caviar from the sturgeon. That of Astrakhan was usually of the coarse red variety although there was enough of the delicate black kind to spice the zakushka which formed the preface to the huge volume of Russian eating from Kiev to Kiakhta. But in general only a small portion of the world's caviar and almost none of the Astrakhan fur actually come from Astrakhan. To the traveler who lands in this lower Volga city in autumn the charm of hors d'oeuvres and Persian lamb is likely to be subordinated to the delight that one experiences from sampling the delicious grapes for which Astrakhan and its neighbor port Petropavsk are famed.

War Hurt Caviar Market

During the war the market in caviar declined sharply since the fair at Nijni Novgorod, nearly fifteen hundred miles up the Volga, where most of the caviar was sold, rapidly declined with the breakdown of transportation which proceeded by many months the triumph of the Bolsheviks. Although Astrakhan is a center for much crude cattle raising by exotic Kalmuck and Kirghiz breeders, it has had to depend for much of its grain upon the North Caucasus or the black earth belt higher up the Volga. Astrakhan is one of those cities whose approximate locations are determined by geographical forces and if the city which is now endangered by famine and cholera is destroyed by fire, there is every reason to feel that another nondescript, polyglot river city with its packing houses and cold storage plants and fishing fleets will rise above the low flying flats upon which the present city stands.

MODERN SCIENCE CATCHING UP WITH JONAH

"Of all the curious quirks of popular interest engendered by the war perhaps the most surprising is the unprecedented interest in FISH," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society.

"Yet there are two reasons why the humble and hitherto submerged fish should suddenly command attention," explains the bulletin.

First, the world is hungry. With starving nations calling for meat and grain, which are not to be had, is it to be wondered at that men should give thought to fish, which are to be had for the catching? Furthermore, the submarine has given men access to the ocean's depths, and henceforth the ocean's content, as well as water routes, will command the interest of mankind.

Early manifestations of this interest is to be noted in the founding of the Miami Aquarium Association, at Miami, Florida, which soon is to open a remarkable aquarium which has a two-fold purpose. One aim is to place on exhibition the marvelous variety of fish to be found in the hospitable waters of the Gulf Stream, which contain one-fifth of the entire animal life of the American continent north of Panama. For there are 600 varieties of fish to be found off the Florida coast.

Did you know that the aquariums at every one of the American Expositions—from the Chicago World's Fair to the San Francisco show—attracted more visitors than any other exhibit? Likewise, that in cities where important aquariums now are located there are more visitors attracted to them than to zoological gardens or art museums?

One asks, why? One might as well ask "Why is a fish story?" The maligned and neglected fish, simile for the man who lacks red blooded traits, nevertheless holds a preeminence in animal lore that is equalled only by the love story in human chronicle. And now comes a best seller, Mare Nostrum in which the aquarium scene bids fair to have a literary immortality akin to the octopus struggle in Hugo's "Toilers of the Sea."

In the explanation of this phenomenon lies the scientific interest in fish. Recent discoveries indicate that the ocean depths hold many more varieties of fish than ever were caught; and our knowledge of the kind that are caught and commonly eaten is meager.

One government bureau can tell you approximately how many cattle will be ready for killing next year; and another can estimate how many buffalo and elk roam the western plains. But who can even guess at the herring off our shores, or what is the annual rate of their catching to their hatching, or how soon the supply will be depleted, or very much about the life, habits, and diseases of a herring?

And yet all this information about herring, mackerel, salmon, trout, halibut, and scores of other edible varieties of fish may be of tremendous importance in the face of a dwindling dry land food production.

Hence the Miami Aquarium building, soon to be opened, which will be the only one of any size along the Atlantic seaboard, south of Philadelphia, will have a biological laboratory as one of its important adjuncts. It is believed many important discoveries affecting the link between the fauna of the deep sea and the land will be given the world through investigations at the laboratory. Aquarium expeditions for the collection of specimens will be an important feature of the Association's work.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Editor of the Star:

What is Winchester coming to? First a bank disgrace, then a cold-blooded murder, and now a scandalous situation in regard to the schools.

For weeks now, we have heard over and over the words: "for the sake of the children," that is all right in its place, but since that was the cry last week, why forget it this week? The school committee and the superintendent of schools thought very little of fighting against "reconsideration" with their slogan of "vote for the children, vote no," but, readers, what are they doing for the children, now?

Our High School seniors are getting ready for college next fall. They are studying hard, both in school and out, for their comprehensive and board exams, but—do you think they are getting the best efforts and interest of the teachers, at the present time? Decidedly, they are not!—for a terrible thing has happened in this beautiful town of Winchester, and the man who is at the bottom of it should be run out of town.

The name of our High School and the names of our teachers have been dragged very low this last week. This hurts the school and the teachers, but also the town and the pupils. Are you going to let your children be pulled down any more? "Might makes right." Get together and have justice. Let's help the teachers, the schools, and the pupils. Why should one man's personal feelings inconvenience and upset the whole High School routine? I say it shouldn't. Speak up and save the children!

Dorothy Laraway

VACANT LAND SHOULD BE USED

Editor of the Star:

Of all the articles written pro and con on the school question one vital point seems to have been ignored in the taking of peoples homes to build upon the land when Winchester affords vacant lots which could be utilized.

I am particularly interested in the Chester street section, where seven families own their homes, built by hard earned labor. Does it seem right to dislodge them and offer them only a fair equivalent? I am much interested in William Richardson, a faithful, true man, who has built his home, planted trees and made a place for old age by thrift and saving. Where can he and where can others go even if money is offered as their compensation?

The Town owns land near by, why not make that available and leave these seven families to live where their heart is. Do consider what it means to them as it would to you and me if we were faced with such an upset.

Many who voted "No" on the ballot acknowledge that many questions like this had not been made plain to them. I fully believe in the schools but the work to be done with thought and deliberation.

Training Bull Fighters.

Bull fighting as a sport is so important a part of life in Spain that a school in a Madrid suburb is devoted to training young toreadors and matadors in the dangerous art. The apparatus used consists of a massive block of wood roughly shaped like the head and shoulders of a bull equipped with real horns, and mounted on a pair of rubber-tired wire wheels. By means of a handlebar at the rear, the instructor plunges this formidable machine toward the student, who must learn to avoid the menacing horns while making effective use of his lances. Swinging quickly on its light carriage, the mechanical bull makes a most realistic imitation of an enraged animal.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

When a man states that his word is as good as his bond, it doesn't necessarily imply that his bond is any good.

If ignorance is as they say,
bliss, then this world ought to be a fairly happy one.

Many a woman who has a plain face presides over a most happy home.

Some fellows keep so busy looking for the horse shoe of luck that they never catch up with the horse.

The "children" have not yet received the franchise to take part in town affairs and will not until they reach the age of 21 years. Until that time their parents are still competent to settle school affairs. If every "child" who threatened to "go out on strike" was treated to a good taste of New England discipline it might clear the air in more ways than one.

It is of course out of the question that we build two school houses this year. Unforeseen events have prevented. This will not, however, prove a source of dissatisfaction to the majority of our residents, as evidenced by our Monday ballot. When our school problem was first broached it was called "a progressive building program." Doubtless the committee will "progress" from one school to another. Such a program would surely do much to cement a unity of town opinion.

A public meeting is to be held in the small town hall this Saturday evening in connection with our new school crisis. Let us hope that at this time some action will be taken to place before our people who hold the Winchester schools above personal feelings some concrete facts concerning the situation. Word of mouth gossip cannot result in restored confidence in our schools under present aspects. The only fact that the public know is that certain teachers have been dropped, others not reappointed and that a change is to be made in the High School head. If these changes are unjust, as is claimed, let us know why and how. There are two very different sides circulated about town now. If we are called upon to render a decision, something more substantial than gossip must be relied upon, and to date there is little else abroad.
Last week one correspondent termed the situation a "muddle." It is all of that, with no one actually knowing the truth of the matter. It would appear advisable that the School Committee grant a hearing to the teachers and announce its findings.

The trouble with today's conditions is that many people are unable to distinguish the difference between fighting for one's opinion or principle, and the Bolshevik method of imposing their individual will upon any who differ with them. In the old days, a man who "had not the courage of his convictions" was generally looked down upon by his stronger neighbor. He failed to hold the respect of his friends and was indifferently regarded by his enemies. But this new "European" doctrine which is sweeping over our country, seeping into the youth and carrying away the judgment of the mature; this immediate resort to mob methods the minute one's point of opinion is opposed or one's judgment questioned, cannot but undermine our democratic government and lead to chaos. What is needed today first of all is a proper respect for law and order, tempered with a little old fashioned common sense.

THE NEW FREEDOM

Democracy is in the air. The world is marching on to new heights. "Let the people rule" is taking on new and wider meanings. Let us all rejoice.
The telephone company, it appears, thinks three of its chief operators have been over-pegging. And while they are not members of the union, the latter are threatening disturbance
if the company enforces its discipline.
This is as it should be. Over-pegging is merely adding jobs to the establishment, since the number of operators who are employed and paid, depends on the pegging, and over-pegging is merely a device for beating out that restriction and adding to the total number of employees. What more natural than that there should be protests against such an injustice as the company's preferring to judge the weight of its load by accurate measurements.

At Westport the school committee on a vote of two to one, discontinued the services of a teacher. The pupils went out on a strike. The committee reversed its action; the teacher has gone back; the strike is over. How delightful! In the old days, parents, teachers and committeemen decided what was good for the youngsters.
Now they are deciding for themselves. Why not have the pupils elect the teachers in each school? They

PLEASE think what you would say, if you were endeavoring through an advertisement to induce some man or woman, to protect their families to a reasonable extent by increasing their Life Insurance.

Then imagine it printed in this space.

Thank you.

Insurance Company

could vote, among applicants, for the one they like best.

The old rule of the Philadelphia boarding house keeper: "Find out what your boarders don't like, and give them plenty of it," is in peril.
The time may come when the boarders themselves will vote for what they want and refuse to take the boarding house keeper's limit of means as an excuse.—Herald.

THE MUSIC GARDEN

When the musical club called "The Music Garden" came into existence a few years ago, this name was assumed with the intention of making the name typical of the work they proposed to carry on. To acquire a growth in musical knowledge and appreciation, similar to the growth of seeds in the garden.

To realize that it is accomplishing its purpose, one only needs to read the programs of the meeting, which appear in The Star from time to time.

The great event of the year occurs on Guest Night, which will take place on Tuesday evening, May 23rd at the home of Mrs. Charles Woolley.

The program will be given by members of the club, assisted by Mr.
Phippen, Crawford Adams, and Robert Lunger.

WINCHESTER HIGH SECOND

At the close of the week in the Mystic Valley League, Winchester High stands in second position with four games won and one lost. This leaves Wakefield in first place with a perfect record, although one game less. Closely following Winchester is Woburn High, which has won two and lost one.

The standing follows:

	Won	Lost
Wakefield H. S.	3	0
Winchester H. S.	4	1
Woburn H. S.	2	1
Melrose H. S.	2	2
Arlington H. S.	1	4
Watertown H. S.	0	4

MRS. ALEXANDER MULLEN

Mrs. Mary Mullen, widow of the late Alexander Mullen, died at the Winchester Hospital yesterday morning of infirmities due to her advanced age. She was a native of Ireland and had lived in this town for the past 42 years, residing on Bridge street. She leaves one son, Mr. Arthur J. Mullen of this town, and one grandson, James Mullen. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Peter Foley.
Funeral services will be held at St.
Mary's Church on Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock. The burial will be in Wildwood cemetery.

MRS. ELLEN M. KING

Mrs. Ellen M. King of Richardson street died at her home on Friday.
She had made her home in this town for the past 20 years and was the wife of Mr. Joseph J. King. Besides her husband she leaves one son and a sister, Mrs. P. Sullivan of Cambridge.
Funeral services were held at St.
Mary's Church on Monday morning at nine o'clock, solemn high mass of requiem being celebrated by Rev. Fr.
John J. Fitzgibbons. The interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harkins of 54 Salem street are the parents of a daughter, Margaret Mary, born at the Winchester Hospital.

A daughter, Mary Weatherston, has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert
A. Haskell of 9 Park road.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eason of 25
Clark street are the parents of a son.
A daughter was born last week at the Winchester Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frumson of 12 Cross street.

MR. MCKENZIE STATES HIS POSITION

Mr. Editor:

There has been some criticism levelled at the writer for his attitude in regard to the dismissal of the teachers, connected with the Winchester schools. I have no apologies to offer and I want to state further that while I have a voice, or a hand, able to hold a pen it will be in interests of fair play to all concerned whether teachers, pupils or citizens.

Yours Respectfully,
Edward McKenzie

Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Sargent of 11 Prospect street, who have been at the Brunswick, Boston, for the winter, have gone to their summer residence,
3 Clifton Heights Lane, Clifton, Mass.

her course at the Winchester Hospital. Her life work for humanity has now begun, aiding the poor, sick and the needy. Miss Anderson is also a graduate of our local schools.

KHORASAN: THE WILD EAST OF PERSIA

It is not surprising that Khorasan, the wild east of Persia, should be affected by banditry because, remote as it is from the Western Front, the World War profoundly disturbed its peculiar government and social system, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society concerning dispatches telling of the surrender of Khorasan insurrectionists and the death of their outlaw leader.

Khorasan is world famous among connoisseurs of rugs, carpets and silks; beyond that fact to many it is but a name. Yet this least known of Persia's five great provinces suffered from the alliance of Great Britain and Russia, it sustained a severe shock when Russia fell under Soviet sway, and it experienced some of the most crass forms of German intrigue.

Rulers Protean Politicians
Through a long distance political lens the statesmanship of the government of Kain, Khorasan sub-province and rug making center, commands high admiration. Their succession was hereditary, but their line held sway neither by right of blood nor ancient tribal choice. They ruled by force of leadership. First of all they had to please a populace many of whom were not more than a generation or two removed from nomadism. They had not only to be ward politicians but international diplomats. Their problem was to play Russia, which reached out to their northern borders through Turkistan, against Great Britain.

Their influence touched their eastern boundary through Afghanistan. And even before 1914 the insidious activities of Germany had to be taken into account. In addition an eye had to be kept on Teheran.

For a time, but for a time only,
during the World War, Amir Shoukat ul Mulk was deposed, and his successor rode into Birjand, kissing the Koran, suspended across the roadway at the gates of the city, and thousands of his followers did likewise. The occidental observer might be particularly impressed with the hygiene of that ceremony, and he usually is distraught when he finds that etiquette demands he accept from a host a cigarette which that host has lighted in his own mouth. If a number of guests are present the host is likely to insert one for each guest, applying one light to all and getting all started with one prodigious puff. Annoying to the other extreme, however, is the meticulous care of the servant who always must stop to cleanse his hands before answering the summons of his employer.

On Main Camel Line
Birjand lay on the main trade route of the camel mule borne commerce between Russia and India. Before Russia broke down economically thousands of tons of wool were sent there from Khorasan, along with shawls and rugs, and much of this ultimately reached Marseilles. The animal transports brought from India yarn and dyes, raw material for carpet making, and also coffee, tea and spices. Both the disturbances in India and the chaos of Russia have hampered Khorasan.

The name, Khorasan, is apt, meaning "land of the sun." Formerly it applied to a larger region. The province of that name, nearly as large as California, now clearly delimited, is furrowed by mountain ridges, the Asiatic end of a system that binds eastern Europe, physically, to central Asia.

The Elburz range, which rises in northwestern Persia to form the Persian Olympus, Mount Demavend, divides the country into two climatic zones, since on its northern side is the Caspian basin, below sea level, and on its southern a plateau which averages some 4,000 feet above the sea.

Great Salt Desert
The most noteworthy physical feature of Khorasan is the Great Kavar, a saline desert, considered by some to be the bed of a sea long since dried up, and by others to be due to the saline rivulets trickling into it from the enclosing circlets of mountains. The salt deserts and the mountains of Khorasan help keep it isolated; the fertile valleys produce cotton, cereals, fruits and tobacco.

Birjand, now capital of the sub-province of Kain, is one of the chief carpet and rug making centers of all Persia. It has only about 15,000 people, but all about Birjand proper are little villages where men till the soil with the aid of oxen and women weave. The best of the Kain carpets are produced at Karakhs, about fifty miles northeast of Birjand. A woman of this region who cannot weave becomes an economic liability. This condition, and the use of opium, are held responsible for the considerable number of beggar women to be seen at Birjand.

Love Affair Suddenly Ended.
When I was in my seventh year of school I became very much in love with a boy in the eighth grade. One day when I was at his house to see his sister he and a friend of his fixed a pull of ice-cold water on the top of a door. I was the first to open the door and the water fell on me. This was a sudden end of my first love affair.

WARNING!

To whom it may concern:—
I have hinted enough! I have owned the property at 113 Church street for sometime, and there is no private way across it! Private schools are in such demand that I have made up my mind to start one, as soon as my children are "saved" and obtain enough knowledge or tact to manage it.

Now as to the meat of this letter. Any person beyond the "saving" age, caught crossing this private property, need not be surprised to see me drive a "Tin Lizzie" across their front lawn. If that doesn't work my faithful Ford truck may follow.

J. A. Laraway
P. S.—I believe the practice of the "Golden Rule" is needed more than brick school houses in this locality.

J. A. LARAWAY

"I'd Hate to See You Fight"

Sergeant R. F. Eddy, Sixty-ninth engineers, said in a letter received by his father, Frank M. Eddy, that a football game between the engineers and the medical corps, recently played in France, was one of the wickedest he had ever witnessed. Both sides were out for blood, and the fact that no one was injured he attributed to the hardened condition of the players, seasoned by many months of severe training.

About five thousand French soldiers witnessed the game, and afterward one Pollu said to Sergeant Eddy: "If that is what you Yankees call play, I'd hate to see you fight."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Made Truck Driver Smile.

A Yankee truck driver's right forward wheel had just sunk with an air of finality into a half-buffed shell hole on the road near Avocourt, and he was throwing over a terrific barrage of profanity when he suddenly stopped short and his jaw dropped.

Then it closed in a grin as broad as the Sacramento, from whose distant shore he had gone forth to war. He was contemplating the approach along the roadside of four stalwart and imposing officers of the famous Prussian guard. On their shoulders, as they marched along in the drizzling rain, was a stretcher, and on the stretcher lay a wounded doughboy smoking a cigarette.—Stars and Stripes.

The Flea's Flea!

A new "flea's flea" with an adventurous life history was described for the first time at a recent meeting of the Royal Microscopical society. The discoverer, Mr. F. Martin Duncan, F. R. M. S., explained that it started life in the underground nest of the humble bee. These nests are raided by moles, and during the assault the little mites attach themselves by means of suckers to the mole's parasite, the "great mole flea." These tiny pin points of life are obscure cousins that they travel on the mole-flea until they come across a certain underground fungus, where they feed and mature.

"EAST GAY, GLAD AND YOUNG"

Her Age-Old Optimism Stands as a Barrier Against the Materialism of the West.

It is strange, and very strange, that of the many who visit the East, so few go in search of the spirit that informs it. They recognize the beauty, the torrent of light and color, the setting of the marvelous drama, the mental, social and political problems—all, all save the one thing that is life, and that in its dying, if it dies, will take the world's hope with it.

For the East is the barrier set against the materialism of the West, writes L. Adams Beck in Asia Magazine. She still believes; she lays her hope and her life at the foot of her altars. With the gods she is at home—not in fear, but at ease—a child who laughs and plays in his father's house. We call the East old. It is her eternal youth that is the wellspring of hope for the world. It is we who are old, weary, disillusioned, who have drunk the cup to the dregs and found it bitter—our women grow as hard as our men; our very children are cynics.

But the East is gay and glad and young. Life has its sorrows, but she knows the wisdom of sorrow. She does not speak of death—his true name is onward.

She is but a phase in the march of development. And for dogma—the East is lenient. She says with Bahram Mirza: "Truth is a bird that flies so fast that the eye of men cannot follow it, and so high that it is lost to sight in the skies. But now and then one of its feathers falls, and when it touches the earth it becomes such a prophet as Mahomet or Moses. No man on earth has heard the voice of that bird, nor shall he hear it before he sits down beneath the lotus tree in paradise."

But all this is mystery to the many who travel to see the beauty of the East, and very often will you hear the three laughers of the fool from those who come from far to visit her. For the fool laughs at a thing because it is good and he laughs at a thing because it is bad. And he laughs at a thing he cannot understand.

The Pacific.

To any meditative Magian rover, this serene Pacific once beheld, must ever after be the sea of his adoption. It rolls the midmost waters of the world, the Indian ocean and Atlantic being but its arms. The same waves wash the moles of the new-built Californian towns, but yesterday planted by the recent race of men, and have the faded but still gorgeous skirts of Asiatic lands, older than Abraham; while all between float milky-ways of coral isles, and low-lying, unknown Archipelagoes and impenetrable Japans. Thus this mysterious Pacific zones the world's whole bulk about; makes all coasts one bay to it; seems the tide-beating heart of earth.—Herman Melville.

Tree Seeds by No Means Alike.

Tree seeds vary greatly in the amount of time they take before they sprout. Seeds of the Kentucky coffee tree must lie in the ground at least two years before their hard coats are sufficiently softened to allow the sprout to escape, while cottonwood seeds die within a few hours if they do not fall on favorable soil.

THE EGYPT OF 1922

King Fuad succeeds Cleopatra
When Great Britain abandoned its protectorate over Egypt, and the Sultan of the Nile country changed his title to king, he became the first king of Egypt since the Ptolemaic regime, says a bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The old Egypt of millenniums ago is in many ways more familiar to the world at large than the Egypt of today, continues the bulletin. Pictures of its great pyramids and sphinxes, its columned temples and rock-hewn tombs fill histories and encyclopedias; and inevitably the reader's attention is centered, not on the problems of today, but rather on the evidences of a dead civilization.

Monuments Background for Hard Life

But aside from the fact that mummy hunting was for many years one of the leading private industries of the country; and that now convicts, instead of building roads, excavate tombs and temples for the government, the old monuments are merely a background for a life hard enough to center local thoughts mostly on daily bread-winning.

Superficially Egypt seems a large country. The eye sees its color spread over a considerable part of the north-eastern quarter of the map of Africa, and statistics credit it with an area of more than 350,000 square miles. But the real Egypt—the habitable part—is like a cord with a frayed end; the narrow valley and flaring delta of the Nile. Except a few scattered oases, most of the rest of the nominal Egypt is parched desert sand, gravel and rocky hills. Of its more than a third of a million square miles of territory, about 12,000 are estimated to be capable of cultivation, and a considerable part of this has not yet been actually tilled.

Peasant Like Figure From Carvings
In comparing the Egypt of today with that of the dawn of history one is divided between wonder at the marked changes on the surface and the lack of change in some fundamentals. The Egyptian of today does not speak his old tongue, but instead, Arabic; his old gods are forgotten, and he has—with the exception of a small minority—adopted the religion of Mohammed. But in spite of numerous invasions, the blood of the great majority of the population has been altered hardly at all. Practically the fellahen, or peasants, might have stepped from the ancient carvings; they are but a fresh generation of the men who dragged the great blocks of stone into place to build the artificial mountains of the Pharaohs, or who dropped seeds into the mud of the receding Nile thousands of years ago, even as they are dropped today.

Egypt's resources are almost wholly agricultural, and in the agricultural scheme the millions of fellahen are the ultimate units. They work long hours scratching the soil with crude implements, or tediously raising water in skin buckets attached to pivoted poles that the thin stream may save their plants from parching. Taxes are heavy, and it is the lowly fellahen who keep the treasury supplied. Living conditions are very poor; mud huts house most of Egypt's thirteen millions. In the fields they wear little more than a loin cloth, and the younger children of the villages go naked. When the fellah is "dressed up" he wears a rough shirt and loose trousers.

One of Earliest Governments
There is little cause to marvel at Egypt's checkered history. A simple reason is that she began early. Here is one of the earliest places in which man lived an ordered life and left records of his activities. Some anthropologists, in fact, look upon central Africa as the place of origin of man, and upon Egypt as one of the first way stations in his diffusion over the other continents.

After the long reign of the Pharaohs Egypt had its Grecian and Roman regimes which brought but few changes. Then in 641 A. D. came the invasion of the Saracens from which time began Egypt's Mohammedan history. For a time the country was a province of the Arabian Caliphs; later it was independent, though still Mohammedan, under the Mamelukes; and finally, in 1516, it became a province of Turkey, which controlled it first through a governor and later through a sort of hereditary viceroy or khedive.

Khedive-Sultan-King
For the third time Europe took a hand in the affairs of Egypt in 1798 when Napoleon won his Battle of the Pyramids. The British drove the French out in 1801 and turned the country back to Turkey. In 1869 came the building of the Suez Canal by De Lesseps, which has given Europe an ever-growing interest in Egyptian affairs. To protect European bondholders France and Great Britain made a joint intervention in 1879 and for a while controlled finances. The up-rising of 1882 against the Khedive was suppressed by the British alone, and after that they controlled finances without assistance. The government was in effect Egyptian with British assistance and with the nominal suzerainty of Turkey acknowledged.

When the World War began Great Britain established a protectorate, abolished Turkey's suzerainty, deposed the Germanophile Khedive, and appointed another prince of the family to be Sultan. The British protectorate is now being withdrawn, but instead of the former Turkish interest being restored, Egypt is set up as an independent kingdom.

The True Poem.

Some people imagine that any fine thought is poetry, but there was never a greater mistake. A fine thought, to become poetry, must be seasoned in the upper warm garrets of the mind for long and long, then it must be brought down and slowly carved into words, polished with love. Else it is no true poem.—David Grayson.

BARANYA AN HUNGARIAN FIUME

"Baranya threatens to give Europe a new Fiume and a new Vilna question, and the rest of the world a new name to puzzle over," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society in regard to the section of Hungary which dispatches say is attempting to secede and form a government of its own.

The situation which has set the Baranya region clamoring to be its own master is not wholly the result of the World war, continues the bulletin, "but has its roots far deeper. The Southern Slavs, nearly all of whom are now gathered in the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, were the owners of much of present Hungary before the Hungarians rode out of their Asiatic fatherland to settle in Europe.

The Heart of Ancient Slav-Land

The very heart and center of the old Slav power was in the triangular territory between the Danube, the Drave and the long, slender Lake Balaton. Gradually through the centuries the Magyars or Hungarians have pushed the Slavs from this territory forcing them south and west. Naturally, bitterness has been engendered. The Mur and Drave rivers became the racial boundary for 150 miles, but the Peace Conference recognized that the Slavs were strong in the southern point of Baranya near the junction of the Drave and the Danube and carried the Hungarian line north of the Drave river there, leaving a tiny triangle instead of a large one. But the bulk of Baranya was incorporated in Hungary as it had been before the war, and looked upon by the Jugo-Slavs as a sort of "Jugo-Slavia irritanda."

Although Baranya was once a Slav center and even now has a considerable percentage of Slavs in its population, it also contains one of the most historic spots associated with the life of the Hungarian nation: the twice famous battlefield of Mohacs. On this field in 1526 an army of Hungarians under their king was defeated by the Turks who then over-ran the greater part of the kingdom, captured Buda, the capital, and kept the country in subjection for nearly a century and a half. On the same field, strangely enough, in 1687 the Hungarians defeated the Turks, finally driving them from the country.

Felt the Turk's Heel

Turkish influences were strong in Baranya during the period of Hungary's and Serbia's subjection. Across the Drave near the city of Eszék, Turkish engineers built a great bridge over which passed their main highway between subjugated Hungary and Constantinople. Over this bridge and through Baranya passed the turbaned hosts of Turkey to lay siege to Vienna and so to threaten the whole of central Europe. The bridge was destroyed in 1663 by Zrinyi one of the numerous heroes, who, from the unconquered highlands of Hungary, harried the Turks throughout their rule in the lowlands. A more modern structure crosses the Drave today in about the same location and is one of the longest bridges in Europe.

One of the strange factors in the present Baranya situation is that the Magyar population of the region is reported to be leading the Slavs in the demand that a government be established separate from Hungary. The region has been a center of liberalism among the Hungarians and opposition has developed to what they term the reactionary government of Budapest. The region had been invaded by Serbian troops before the close of the World War, and these troops remained, it was stated, at the request of the inhabitants. The most recent proclamation in regard to Baranya, made in its chief city, Pecs or Funfkirchen, called for an independent republic under Serbian protection.

Pecs, which if the plans of the Baranyans materialize, will be newest of republican capitals, has a population of close to 50,000. It shows unmistakable evidence of Turkish occupation in three well preserved mosques with their towering minarets. Two of them are used as Christian churches. In the vicinity of the city are valuable coal mines, among the very few left in Hungary since the World War.

MONACO

Because interest in Monaco is accentuated by the visit to this country of the Prince of Monaco, famous for his oceanographic researches, the National Geographic Society has issued the following bulletin concerning principality:

It is fitting that the tiny principality of Monaco should have an imposing museum of oceanography for it is from the sea that Monaco derives its wealth.

Fishing is not carried on as a business, nor do vast argosies such as those belonging to the Genoese founders of the principality now sail the seas, and carry on the tradition for sea-borne commerce established by the Phoenicians who founded on the high headland upon which the great museum now stands a temple to Hercules, which, when the Greeks took it over, gave its name to the region. Yet the entire revenue of the eight square miles of Paradise which is left to the present is derived from the Sea Bathing Society.

Sea bathing is still enjoyed in the realm of the prince-oceanographer but there are few bathers who know that they are not really bathing in the municipality of Monaco or of Monte Carlo, but in the commune of Condamine, which is much the largest of the three towns in the petty state. Condamine may suggest bathing to a few, but Monte Carlo and Monaco suggest something quite different to nine men, or women, out of ten.

Secret of State's Prosperity

The secret of Monaco's ability to derive so good a living from the sea is due to the fact that the "Societe des Bains de Mer" owns and operates the famous Casino, the Mecca of more would-be bank breakers than any safety vault in Manhattan. In the gaming rooms of this notorious place, one can play roulette or trente-et-quarante under the most distinguished auspices and have the satisfaction of feeling that the income tax of Monaco is less a matter of forms, than of formalities, one of the most interesting of which is the signing of an agreement that in case the enthusiast, having spent a few days or many francs in this tiny Paradise, decided to leave it for another larger one, his heirs or executors cannot hold the principality responsible for his apathy toward earthly existence.

The principality of Monaco has its own flag, its own postage stamps, which are very popular with the visitors, and its own currency. Although a player can place a five franc bet in roulette, it was never worth while for Monaco to issue any currency except 100 franc pieces, even before the days when European currency was heavily discounted.

Casino and Cathedral Conspicuous Structures

Aside from the Casino and the oceanographical museum, the principal building of Monaco is the Cathedral of St. Nicholas.

The palace in which the Prince of Monaco lives when he returns to his home was once a Genoese castle, but was greatly enlarged in the seventeenth century in what has later come to be known as the Renaissance style.

Until 1911, the Prince was an absolute ruler, but on January 7 of that year, a constitution was provided and there is a National Council, which is elected by universal suffrage, including women. There are limitations to the rights of the inhabitants since none of them are accorded the privilege of playing at the gaming tables.

Land Surface is Hilly

Monaco is situated along a beautiful strip of coast between Nice and Mentone and has a small harbor in which water festivals are held and the motor boat races of Monaco are famous throughout Europe. The land surface is hilly and picturesque and a hairpin road leads up to La Turbie, situated between Dog's Head Hill and the Hill of Justice. It was here that Augustus, lacking a corps of technical experts, delimited a boundary between Gaul and Italy.

Monaco imports coal and wine and exports olive-oil and perfume. Trade and industry are unimportant but as long as the world's distribution of wealth is a source of dissatisfaction to war profiteers, heirs and tourists, Monaco will probably be able to collect its tidy little annual revenue of ten thousand pounds a square mile until 1927, when the rate automatically increases by one eighth.

Name Chattanooga.

That city was originally known as Ross' Landing, the name being changed to Chattanooga in 1851. The name is Tsatanu-gi in the Cherokee Indian language and its meaning is unknown, according to the Bureau of American Ethnology in their "Handbook of American Indians."

Standard Touring and Roadster—$1295 F. O. B. Detroit

Here is a touring model for those who demand the vogue and smartness of the minute in a motor car—a special model whose presentation was the signal for a spontaneous popularity that has made it the leader of the new Liberty line.

It will give the same enduring, dependable service that every Liberty is known to give—in appearance this car is wholly and refreshingly new. Distinctive one-piece, full crown fenders, and solid aluminum steps give it a dashing air. Conventional running boards are furnished if desired. Body and disc wheels are a fascinating blue, handsomely striped. Courtesy lights relieve the sweeping line from radiator to cowl. Radiator and lamps are heavily nickel-plated. Rich and pliant Spanish leather of the finest quality is used. Instrument board and wheel are handsome solid walnut. Its other details are equally unusual.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

How long should a good gas mantle last? The answer is from 300 to 1000 burning hours. Turning the gas on and off too frequently; the slight explosion that sometimes results when it is lighted, are both highly destructive to a mantle. Or a mantle, which, burning steadily, might last for several thousand hours, may be destroyed in a few minutes by rough handling.

Initial candle power is the measure of brilliancy when a mantle is first lighted. It is extremely high in cheap and inferior mantles, but soon, often within a few minutes, the brilliancy of the light fades, never to be regained. The intensity of this initial light is a snare which often leads people to purchase cheap mantles.

The real test of a good mantle is the sustained candle power given out over a long period. The high class mantle may not have an initial candle power equal to that of a cheaper substitute, but in the long test its superiority is always demonstrated.

BAVARIA'S SPLIT WITH PRUSSIA

Munich leaps ahead of Berlin as the premier date line of Central Europe.

Bavaria emerges to dispel the illusion that Prussia spells Germany.

Conceivably the land of Wagner, toy making, brewing, and lenses may achieve a political entity which suffered a "fade away" when William was crowned emperor in that hall at Versailles where, more recently, another William was consigned to the limbo of ex-monarchy.

Chance to Alter Map

"Were major problems affecting us and our national friends not pressing so hard upon us, Americans might be paying considerably more heed to the renewal of an old time internal strife in Germany which has potentialities, at least, for further remaking the map of Europe," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society, concerning news dispatches that tell how Munich is locking horns with Berlin.

"Many folk who abhor Germany's war ways, and Prussia's ways at any time, soften their rancor with the admission that 'Bavaria is not Prussia.' Bavaria, always has been clamorous about that distinction, and it is not surprising that she should be anxious to limn the cleavage on the political map of Europe now that Prussia has suffered so complete an eclipse.

Should Bavaria embark upon a career of self determination within the bounds of the German Republic, she would have one important factor in her favor—a factor that might be called geographical determination. For Bavaria has a natural boundary of mountains, and squats with this security upon an elevated plateau where the soil is fertile, certain minerals abound, and vast forests, not so many years ago overrun with bears and boars, are to be counted among her natural assets.

Bavaria Split by Danube

Bavaria proper is split by the now internationalized waters of the Danube. Besides her capital she possesses Nuremberg, Augsburg, Wurzburg, and Regensburg, or Ratisbon, if one would break the monotony of the burg ultima. Bavaria proper connotes the eleven-twelfths of the Bavarian kingdom bounded, in part, by Czechoslovakia, Austria, Switzerland, Wurtemberg, and Saxony. This portion of it is somewhat larger than West Virginia. The rest of the kingdom, nearly twice the size of Rhode Island, is separate from the main part, lying across the Rhine, within the area of the present zone of Allied occupation.

Temperament and religion distinguish Bavaria from Prussia. About three-fourths of its population, upward of seven million, are Roman Catholics. Its people have a reputation for good nature and a special fondness for beer, for easy going ways and love of tradition, for exalting art, rather than science. So far as they were compelled toward commerce, one writer puts it, they dealt in the two things they like best, art and beer. To this easy generalization should be added the toy making industry which arose in the forest areas of northern Bavaria, and from it should be expected the optical instruments for which Munich was noted. Before the war both these products found ready markets in America.

Long Held Separatist Idea

There are political reasons, also, why the Bavarian viewpoint and that of Prussia are enough opposed to hold the possibility of cleavage in this time of Germany's stress. Along with the so-called middle states of Wurtemberg and Baden, Bavaria early achieved constitutional government. The birth of the constitutional form dates back to Napoleonic times. So rapid was the expansion of Bavaria then that constitutional bonds were needed to bind new territory. Feudalism was swept away. Nobles and clergy had privileges curtailed. Military solidarity demanded that each man be made conscious of his duty to the state, and in concession to that necessity each man had to be granted certain equal rights before the law. Prussia's ambitions toward confederation demanded an antidote in the form of privileges which would keep Bavarians anxious to maintain their independence.

Like Pericles of Athens, Ludwig I, of Bavaria, realized the patriotic impulses generated by a beautiful capital. I am going to make Munich such an honor to Germany that nobody will know Germany who has not seen Munich, he declared. But in Lola Montez Ludwig found not an Aspasia, but a Gaby Deslys. So obnoxious did the royal scandal become than one of his cabinets was popularly known as the Lolaministerium. Finally the patron of Wagner had to abdicate. And under his son and successor, Maximilian II, further popular demands were granted.

When States Became Provinces Bavaria's struggle for separation is a long story. Frequently she sided with Austria against Prussia. But she succumbed following the Franco-German war after which, it has been remarked, there were no longer any states in Germany, only provinces.

Even then her spirit was not quenched. An old proclamation was revived as recently as 1900 by which the German Emperor's birthday was to be celebrated by the display of only the Bavarian flag on public buildings.

Treaties and alliances cannot combat geography. Amid Germany's extreme rationalism there remained villages in mountain rimmed Bavaria where the young men gathered on hill tops at twilight to crack whips in unison, for long experience had shown that evil spirits would flee that sound.

TOWN CENSUS

Assistant Assessor this Spring counted not only men, women, horses, cows, dogs, many few hens, and the big Fitzgerald front lawn sheep, but also boys and girls (no extra money to him nor from them, bless 'em). There are in town about thirty-eight hundred persons under twenty years of age—half of these are in the triangle north of the Centre, within a quarter-mile of the steam R. R. lines. Last year's book showed about 6900 names of people over twenty years of age; thus it seems 11,000 will be reached this year or next. Present total will be known soon.

FOR MR. THOMPSON

Editor of the Star:

Can you name a better High School Principal than Mr. Thompson? His predecessors were all good, yes some were very good, but they were no better. I, for one, have information to the effect that for many years back no principal has so pleased a majority, as has Mr. Thompson.

Both parents and pupils are satisfied with the work of this man. Entirely through his efforts, patience, and interest, the High School is in first-class shape at the present time.

Many people in Winchester know absolutely nothing about the High School life. How, then, can they compare Mr. Thompson and his methods with those of former principals? If they didn't see the lack of progress before Mr. Thompson took the work in hand, how can they, in any way, realize the wonderful progress that is being made at the present time? They simply cannot!

The efforts and interest and spirit of the present pupils in the High School have actually been built up by Mr. Thompson. The pupils are eager to try out his new schemes and to help him in every way possible. He has introduced several new ideas, this last year, and not one of them has met with disapproval or failure. Does not this fact, alone, prove his power and worth as an efficient and responsible principal?

Slowly but surely he has laid a firm foundation for the years to come. I say, think of our great loss if this man goes, and fight, everyone of you, to keep him with us.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER FRIDAY

Investigation of a disagreeable odor by men at the Whitney Machine Co. last Friday noon led to the discovery of the badly decomposed remains of Jeremiah Quill, 42 years of age, floating in the small backwater section of the river near the rear of the factory. The body was discovered by William Stowers and Daniel Lydon, who notified officer Donaghy, who removed the body from the water and notified the medical examiner.

Quill was identified by a bank book in the pocket of his clothing. He was well known about town, having worked for the Whitney company as a machinist. He was a single man and last boarded at Murray's Hotel on Main street. He had not been seen since November 8th, although his disappearance had not been reported to the police.

He leaves a brother, Patrick residing here and four sisters, Mrs. Nellie Boyle of this town, Mrs. E. P. McCarthy of Charlestown and the Misses Margaret and Catherine Quill of Toledo, Ohio.

The remains were taken in charge by undertaker Eugene P. Sullivan following an examination by Asst. Medical Examiner Tyler of Lexington.

Nervous Man—"What's the matter with you? You keep trying to run this elevator through the roof." Elevator Boy (fresh from New York)—"Sorry sir. You see, I'm not used to those little fourteen-story buildings."

WARNING!

To whom it may concern:—I have hinted enough! I have owned the property at 113 Church street for sometime, and there is no private way across it! Private schools are in such demand that I have made up my mind to start one, as soon as my children are "saved" and obtain enough knowledge or tact to manage it.

Now as to the meat of this letter. Any person beyond the "saving" age, caught crossing this private property, need not be surprised to see me drive a "Tin Lizzie" across their front lawn. If that doesn't work my faithful Ford truck may follow.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

The Cast of Characters for "Peg O' My Heart," to be presented in the Town Hall next Thursday, May 25th, by the members of St. Ann's Dramatic Association of Somerville, comprises the pick of the talented artists in that Club.

The final selection of characters for the various parts, was made, after careful study of each part, and special care was taken to find people to fill the parts correctly.

This was done by a process of elimination, so that from a class of forty aspirants, nine were finally selected.

It is doubtful if a more evenly balanced cast, has ever appeared on the Amateur Stage and Winchester is indeed fortunate to have secured a cast, before the closing of the season.

The demand for tickets far exceeds expectations and it is safe to say, that weather permitting, "Peg O' My Heart," will be welcomed by a crowded house.

Mr. Charles J. Harrold of this Town who has personal charge of the production, and who is the Dramatic Coach of the Association promises a real show.

Mr. Harrold is now conducting rehearsals for "Officer 666," which will be presented by St. Ann's Club, on Monday evening, May 29th at Somerville.

"The Mistress Mary Tea Garden" to be opened about June first. Exact date to be announced later.

Although efforts to connect the murder of station agent Ralph Brewster with the gang of bandits rounded up at Silver Lake, Wilmington, a fortnight ago have thus far failed, the police are still inclined to believe that the gang may be implicated in the affair. Another member of the gang who had escaped capture was arrested on Wednesday.

Mr. J. Frank Tuttle of this town, associated with the Warren Webster Co., has been elected president of the Mass. Society of Heating Engineers.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Attention is called to the fact that the Mass. State Federation of Women's Clubs holds its annual meeting at New Bedford on May 23, 24 and 25. The New Bedford Woman's Club will be hostess. Official headquarters will be at the New Bedford Hotel where delegates are requested to register.

DEMOCRACY?

Editor of the Star:

The purpose of a referendum is to ascertain: is the result to award the decision to the minority?

The present Wyman School is the will of the majority: conveniently located: the west side centre of population may be now, and certainly will be soon, further west. What will the future think of us if we build a school near the east edge! West siders, do you desire to reconsider?!

DOUBLE SHOWER

Mrs. Elmer R. Huber held a double shower Monday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. George H. Hamilton on Vine street, for the Misses Mildred C. Foreman and Jessie M. Dearborn.

They were "showered" with many useful kitchen articles and linen. The porch and dining-room were decorated with pink and white crepe paper. Refreshments were served and dancing and games were enjoyed by all.

Among those who participated in the evening's merriment were: Misses Constance McIntosh, Mildred Gurney, Gladys Clarke, Cassie Sands, Helen Cabot, Ruth McCully, Pearl Dearborn, Margaret O'Leary, Mrs. Bayfield Thompson, Mrs. Walter J. Tibbetts, Mrs. Bertram Gurley, Mrs. George Foreman, Mrs. Henry F. Dearborn.

Rev. George H. Reed of the Winchester Unitarian Society, with Frank Moseley and A. T. Hunnewell, have been named delegates to the Unitarian Anniversary Week to be held in Boston, beginning Sunday, May 21. Mrs. George H. Reed and S. P. Williams have been chosen as alternates.

LAYMEN'S RETREAT GUILD ELECTS OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Laymen's Retreat Guild was held yesterday afternoon at St. Gabriel's Monastery in Brighton. The progress of the year was reported, plans outlined for the future and officers were elected for the current year.

The gathering which crowded the public chapel to its capacity, was deeply interested in the statement of Rev. Father George, C. P., Director of Retreats, who opened the meeting. Father George reviewed the development of the retreat movement among the men of New England and announced that, since its inception by His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell, 10,000 men have been privileged to share in the spiritual benefits of the Guild and the growth of the movement has been so rapid that it is now necessary to enlarge accommodations at the Monastery, a work which he earnestly exhorted the members to undertake with the zeal that characterized their efforts in promoting retreats.

David S. Lawlor, retiring president of the Guild, delivered an address on the importance of retreats and reported on the accomplishments of the past year.

In the balloting which followed these officers were elected: President, Edward W. Joyce; Vice-President, Edmund L. Dolan and John L. Brummett; Treasurer, Richard J. Cole; Corresponding Secretary, Frank A. O'Brien; Recording Secretary, William P. Monahan; Lecturers, John E. Riley, David Goldstein, James C. Higgins and E. Mark Sullivan.

Major Patrick F. O'Keefe, chairman of the Lay Retreat Appeal Committee, spoke on the work of the committee in its efforts to raise $350,000 for a new retreat house and chapel. He stated while many unusual difficulties were encountered in carrying on the work, he was greatly encouraged by the recent activities of the Guild and its friends. He expressed appreciation for the splendid cooperation given by societies of Catholic women and others who were aiding the fund by the conduct of various enterprises. Major O'Keefe's address radiated a spirit of confidence which developed a high degree of enthusiasm among those present.

District chairmen reported on the progress of the appeal in their respective districts and outlined plans for the continuation of the work.

Speeches were made by the newly elected president Edward W. Joyce and vice-presidents Edmund L. Dolan and John L. Brummett.

The meeting was brought to a close with solemn benediction by Rev. Fr. Patrick C. P. Rector, assisted by Rev. Fr. Jerome C. P. deacon; and Rev. Fr. Edmund C. P. sub-deacon.

INTEREST IN THE HIGH SCHOOL

The following letter, issued by Principal Thompson of the High School this week, will doubtless be of interest to all Winchester residents.

As a resident of Winchester, you will be interested to know what training our pupils are receiving in the Commercial Department of the Winchester High School, in what ways they are able to be of service to you, and in what way you can be of service to them.

Besides regular work in shorthand and transcription, the pupils receive training in accuracy and speed in type-writing. Many of our students have received awards for proficiency in speed and accuracy from the standardized typewriter companies. We have an up-to-date multigraph which we are using daily. Perhaps you have had one of our open letters which have been sent out from Mr. Fauser's office. Also we are using the neotype constantly. Then each senior is getting stenographic experience by acting as stenographer for the principal and for the commercial teachers, at which time he has the opportunity to use the files for duplicate and follow-up letters.

We should be glad to have you visit our department at any time and, if you care to do so, test our seniors by giving them dictation.

We are very eager to work up a "placing department" whereby we can help our pupils to obtain positions, and can oversee their progress for a number of years.

If you have a vacancy, will you not consider our Winchester boys and girls? We shall appreciate your interest and shall be glad to help you find just the right person for your place.

Edw. E. Thompson, Prin.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Florence Crittenton League of Winchester was held on May 11 at the home of Mrs. William I. Palmer. Sixty-five people were present. A business meeting of the Directors was held before the regular meeting.

Mrs. Annette Symmes Hughes sang very beautifully some lovely songs. Miss Elsie Thomas talked of her follow up work and Miss Pierson, the Educational secretary spoke briefly.

Mr. Clarence Preston the General Secretary also spoke of the campaign for a new building at Brighton, to be started next year. At the business meeting the reports of the secretaries and treasurer were read and accepted. The membership committee, Mrs. Corey, chairman reported 77 new members.

Sewing committee, Mrs. Charles Lane reported 68 new dresses made as well as curtains for the Winchester room at the Home. Officers for next year were elected.

President—Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott. Vice-President—Mrs. Irving Symmes. Treasurer—Mrs. William I. Palmer. Secretary—Mrs. Ernest Luce. Corresponding Sec.—Mrs. Roland Sherman. Chairman Basar Com.—Mrs. C. ## GIVES STOMACH REMEDY TO FELLOW SUFFERERS

Mrs. Smitley, Columbus, O., Gives Her Friends Quick Stomach Relief with Jacques' Little Wonder Capsules

The best proof of the value of any remedy is the readiness with which those who are helped by it recommend it to their friends. Those who have suffered the pangs and tortures of indigestion and dyspepsia are quick to acknowledge the prompt relief given by a brief use of Jacques' Little Wonder Capsules for indigestion, dyspepsia and constipation. They are so grateful for the relief they have obtained they not only recommend this valuable stomach treatment, but in many instances buy the capsules to give to fellow sufferers. This is the case with Mrs. G. G. Smitley, 322 N. 11th St., Columbus, O., who writes: "Please find enclosed stamps for which send me two boxes Jacques' Little Wonder Capsules. I used them last summer in Plattsburg and they gave me such relief." A few days later Mrs. Smitley wrote again: "Received the two boxes of your Capsules and as I have several friends here who are bothered with their stomachs I have given almost all my Capsules away for them to try; so send me two more boxes for which you will find stamps enclosed. Please send at once as I do not want to get out of them."

Jacques' Little Wonder Capsules relieve indigestion, dyspepsia, flatulence, catarrh of the stomach, acid stomach, biliousness, heartburn and heaviness and dizziness after eating. They are easy to take. Simply place one in your mouth and take a swallow of water. Jacques' Little Wonder Capsules are made of pure gelatin which promptly dissolves upon reaching the stomach, freeing the contents to do their work in restoring this digestive organs to normal.

On sale at Allen's Pharmacy, Winchester, Mass., or 60 cents by mail postpaid for large package from Jacques Capsule Co., Plattsburg, N. Y.

A sweeping verdict for QUALITY

MR. CRAUGHWELL SATISFIED

Editor of the Star:
Last Monday night, when I learned the glad tidings that the electorate for the third successive time exercised its intelligence in regard to our school program, I immediately sat down and decided to write the following few lines. Every man and woman who has the privilege of voting in Winchester had ample opportunity to express his or her opinion on the floor of the Town Hall, voting by ballot, or through the columns of the STAR, which has been eminently fair in regard to our school program. The majority of the electorate have supported our special Committee and I for one trust that we all bury the hatchet, to use a slang expression, or in other words let us all fall right in behind our building committee and not procrastinate any longer. If we do this I believe that the present and future generations will assert the electorate of Winchester in the year 1922 certainly did exercise their intelligence, or in other words they certainly were our benefactors when they erected those magnificent temples of learning in order that we might follow in the footsteps of the founders of this great and glorious country of ours.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

Patrick H. Craughwell

While driving his Buick touring car on Church street Sunday noon, Mr. William E. Robinson of Woburn reached to catch his collar dog, which was threatening to jump from the auto. As a result he struck the hydrant near the Congregational Church property, badly wrecking the auto. No one was injured.

The police took Thomas McKenney, 17 years old, of Lowell, from the railroad station to the emergency room at the station house Saturday night when he collapsed. McKenney, who is employed by Gustav Jackanson of Bolton street as a painter, fell from a ladder earlier in the day at Lowell. He continued about and went to the station at eight o'clock to meet his father. While there he became unable to stand on his foot. Dr. Sheehy found him suffering from a badly sprained ankle.

On Friday evening at 7:23, box 57 was rung in for a fire at the former Suter house on Church street, now owned by Mr. J. A. Laraway. Mr. Laraway was cleaning up the place and burning the grass, the fire igniting the piazza. Some delay was occasioned before the alarm was rung in owing to lack of knowledge how to pull the box. Mr. Laraway being assisted by a lady living in the vicinity. The piazza was considerably burned, but otherwise there was no damage.

The fire department was called out Friday afternoon for a woods fire in the vicinity of High and Ridge street, and at 6:30 Sunday evening for a blaze in the brush off Hemingway street.

Dr. and Mrs. Lysander S. Kemp and young son who have been visiting Dr. Kemp's parents of Stone avenue returned home Thursday. Dr. Kemp is house surgeon at the hospital for crippled and deformed children, at Canton, Mass.

LORD LEVERHULME VISITS WINCHESTER AGAIN

Lord Leverhulme, the active head of Lever Brothers Ltd., accompanied by H. G. Hart, one of the directors of the parent company, and F. A. Conway, president of the American company, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dreier, 1 Curtis Circle, Sunday.

About 40 years ago Lord Leverhulme, then William Lever, started with an idea and $20,000. From that small beginning the business has increased until today he is the active directing head of 158 corporations scattered all over the world.

No one who watched him walking up and down the steep hillside on the shore of Wedge Pond Sunday afternoon and listened to his talk on landscape architecture would suspect him of being 71 years old.

Not only does he make regular trips from England to the continent by airplane, but he is an inveterate after-dinner speaker, goes to dances as often as he possibly can, and seems to be interested in everything under the sun.

He is up at 4:30 every morning, starts work with his secretaries at 5:30, and drives ahead all day and part of the night at a pace that would kill any ordinary man. He believes, however, with Dr. Woods Hutchinson that "the pace that kills is a crawl."

A TRIBUTE

In the sudden death, on Saturday, of Mrs. John Pitts Marston of Everett avenue, all who knew her have lost a true and valued friend. All who came in touch with her felt the strength of her personality. Always on the alert to help others, she gave of herself freely. Wherever she went she radiated cheerfulness and hope to those in sorrow, her tenderness was a blessing. She rejoiced with the joyful, cheered the down-hearted and counseled wisely, and to all she was the true, warm-hearted friend. To all who knew her well, her courage in the very face of death was an example and an inspiration.

During the War none was a truer soldier than she, who, hiding her suffering from the world, gave of her time, and strength, and substance unsparringly. To rich and poor alike she was a friend, and to every appeal for charity she responded with enthusiastic generosity. With her going there has passed to the Great Beyond the truest type of Christian.

Mrs. Paul Badger and family are in Winchester visiting Mr. Badger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Badger of Prospect street. They will remain here for three months. Mr. Badger coming home in June and returning to Paris, France, with them later. Mr. Paul Badger has been located in Paris for the past three years as manager of the Vacuum Oil Co.

The first dance of the season was held at the Winchester Boat Club on Monday evening with a large attendance.

DINNER ENDS BOWLING

With an attendance of over 140 members and friends, the bowling season ended at the Calumet Club last Friday night with a dinner, given for the winning teams in the mixed tournament. Eighteen teams of six persons each were represented, the nine lowest teams in standing footing the expenses of the celebration.

Dinner was served at 6:30 by caterer Schlehuber of Lynn, a very attractive menu being provided. At the close of the dinner the prizes were awarded the winners, both teams and individuals. At this time the figures of the tournament were given out. The prizes included ladies' vanity bags and purses, folding silk umbrellas, two pairs of ladies' kid gloves, over-night bag and silk parasol. "Pop" Engstrom, in recognition of his rolling 99, was presented with a fine new pin, with which to practice during the summer. He replied in lengthy and fitting terms.

The teams finished as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Team	Won	Lost
A	44	7	D	28	23
B	37	14	A	20	31
C	35	16	H	20	31
K	35	16	O	17	34
G	33	18	M	16	35
F	30	21	I	16	35
L	33	18	J	14	37
E	29	22	P	13	38
H	28	23	Q	11	40

The winning teams were as follows: 1st. Team R—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Jennings, Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Speedie.

2d. Team N—Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Aseltine, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pecker.

3d. Team B—Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smalley, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Crafts, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Heaton.

Lady with highest net average—Mrs. John R. Fauser, 90 19-32. Second, Mrs. P. C. Simonds, 89 3-32.

Lady with highest average with handicap—Mrs. J. S. Butler, 100 23-28. Second—Mrs. A. D. Speedie, 98 1-34.

At the close of the dinner the five men taking part in the tournament and holding the record for the lowest averages challenged the five ladies who rolled the best averages, and the match was immediately pulled off on the alleys. The ladies easily defeated the men, winning by a large margin. The scores were as follows:

Ladies	Centlemen
Mrs. Fauser	100/100 Kreeland
Mrs. Simonds	89/89 Bob Davis
Mrs. Carleton	82/82 Vin Farnsworth
Mrs. Newman	80/80 Pop Engstrom
Mrs. Goddard	80/80 Jack Kerrison

During the game every means was resorted to by the men to win the match, large balls, billiard cues and rubber soles being augmented by various shifts of costume.

The evening closed with dancing by the company until midnight.

MRS. GORRINGE'S NECKLACE

The Young People's Society of the First Congregational Church presented in the Town Hall last Friday evening "Mrs. Goringe's Necklace," a four act comedy by Hubert Henry Davis. Frank E. Fowle was director. There was a good attendance and a most entertaining evening was provided. The work of the cast was good, particularly so that of Miss Winifred Bent, who impersonated the affected Mrs. Goringe, and Mrs. Lindsey Bird as Mrs. Jardine. Both ladies were thoroughly capable in their parts and warmly applauded for their excellent work. The cast included a number of amateurs who have always appeared to advantage and was as follows:

Mrs. Jardine	Mrs. Lindsey Bird
Mrs. Goringe	Miss Winifred Bent
Isabel Kirk	Miss Brenda Bond
(Mrs. Jardine's Daughters)
Vicky Jardine	Miss Nancy Clark
Miss Potts	Miss Ruth Phippen
Charles, a footman	Sherman Saltmarsh
Colonel Jardine, retired	Alden Symes
Captain Mowbray, retired	Kenneth Caldwell
Lieutenant David Cairn	Fullerton Vose
Mr. Jernigan, a detective	Inspector H. Bigelow

Dancing followed the performance. The ushers for the performance included Messrs. Donald Tucker, Henry Simonds, Henry Chapman, Leslie Hartwell, Ralph Smith, Charles Bennett, Edson Laraway, George DeCamp, LeRoy Jordan, Scott Emerson, Edward Sexton, Arthur French, Edward Hawes and Robert Comfort.

During the evening candy was sold by the following young ladies: Misses Charlotte Brooks, Hazel Brooks, Marjorie Bradford, Ruth Paine, Virginia Carrier, Aline Webster, Elaine Utterback, Marion Henderson, Pearl Dearborn, Luna Pitman, Edna Hartwell, Madeline Robinson, Gladys Folts, Frances E. Tompkins and Kam Sing Sun.

Mr. Roland E. Simonds had charge of the tickets and the production and management of the show was ably handled by Mrs. W. F. Edlefsen.

TEHERAN: A KHAKE CAPITAL

Though the American government's reported request for an open door policy in Persia will command attention, Persia inevitably, because of its physical geography, presents a closed door to many modern forms of communication and commerce, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Teheran, its capital, represents a compromise. It is set far enough back from the Caspian Sea to render it difficult of approach, but it is on the rim of the Iranian plateau so that it may not be too inaccessible.

Wear Veil and Ballet Costume

An oriental city where women adhere rigidly to the veil in the streets, here have adopted the costume of the ballet girl in their homes promises a medley of the West and the East. Donkeys and trams, snake charmers and automobiles, ragged beggars and ladies of Parisian fashion from the foreign quarters, alley-like thoroughfares of mud houses and broad, shaded streets of European residences, vendors sitting cross-legged, chewing melon seeds, who would resent your paying the first price they asked, and modern drug stores where it would seem you might buy anything but drugs—such is composite Teheran.

Teheran is Khak. "Khaki" is a Persian word meaning "muddy." As you approach, its houses of mud blend into the treeless landscape; when you are in it the tan of face and costume of its people, the nondescript hues of its myriad donkeys, blend into the khaki picture.

Donkeys, Donkeys, Donkeys

The donkeys of Teheran deserve a paragraph of their own. In the older quarters of the city they take most of the street. A pedestrian often has to press against the wall to let by the donkeys which are enveloped down to their scrawny knees with brush wood, the donkeys with their equally nonchalant riders, the donkeys with carcasses of meat animals being driven to markets, and just donkeys. Many of the occidental features of Teheran represent the normal penetration of trade activities; some of the more incongruous aspects resulted from the efforts of the late Shah Nasse-ed-din to introduce wholesale the practices he observed upon a visit to Paris. His Highness, so the story goes, was attracted by the ballet at an opera and ordered the front row purchased for his harem. Finding that impossible he commanded all the ladies of his very considerable establishment to adopt the ballet costume. Other harems followed the fashion hint of the royal residence.

Built of Mud
While the beauty of the country around Teheran is different from the natural beauties of an American landscape, it has an appeal of its own. The city is nearly 4,000 feet above sea level, within sight of snow-capped mountains. For the most part it literally is "built of the mud on which it stands." The palace of the Shah, from a distance strongly suggestive in its outline of our U. S. Weather Bureau building, in Washington, and other government structures are grouped in the square. In the palace is the famous throne of inlaid gold and dazzling crown jewels, purchased in the years before 1906 when the Shah of Persia was as complete an autocrat as the Sultan of Turkey, and had an untrammelled sway with public money.

You can ride out of Teheran on a railway train for only six miles, to Shah Abdul-azim. Persia has been called the most uncomfortable country in the world for travelers. The carriers are limited to donkeys and camels in most places yet, though Teheran may now be reached by motor over excellent roads constructed by the Tsar when Russia was competing with Great Britain for the balance of influence there.

ADMIRAL PILLSBURY: A DAWIN OF THE DEEP

The death of Rear Admiral John E. Pillsbury, U. S. N., retired, president of the National Geographic Society, marks the passing of a gallant sailor and eminent scientist, whose life story is one of exceptional fascination and achievement.

Possibly the high light of Admiral Pillsbury's eventful service at sea was his exploit in maneuvering the dynamite ship, Vesuvius, which he commanded before Santiago during the Spanish-American war. At nights he would work his vessel toward the harbor mouth, and in the pitchy darkness, train three fixed dynamite tubes to let fly the charges which accomplished damaging results to the fortifications of Morro Castle.

But the work by which Admiral Pillsbury's name will live in the annals of original research is that in connection with his study of ocean currents. As commander of the Coast Survey steamer, the Blake, he employed a device of his own invention to anchor that vessel in depths of more than two miles, and studied currents there by means of contrivances also of his own making. Thus he established the position of the axis of the Stream and determined many of the laws by which its flow is governed.

His patience and ingenuity during this study, which took seven years, stamped him as a sort of Deep Sea Darwin; and the results have a practical importance only to be compared with the greatest of discoveries made by naturalists whose scope was the dry land.

To the landsman's mind a river or a lake are stable, predetermined, fixed phenomena. Ocean currents are considered fickle, vacillating, changeable. Admiral Pillsbury's deductions from the enormous data he collected proved that the reverse of this popular conception is true. Rivers change their courses, grow and dwindle, appear and disappear. But the boundless ocean is affected only by cataclysmic upheavals; and its endless reaches offer a stable course for the complicated system of rivulets, streams and mighty currents which flow through it, and fixed laws govern the progress of all the objects these streams carry, from sea weed to icebergs.

To quote Admiral Pillsbury's statement of this tremendous fact: "Of all the physical forces on this earth that are subject to any variations at all, the great ocean currents are most immutable."

It took years to collect the data which led to this simple conclusion; and the connotations that grow from it are technical and complicated. They have been formulated, in part, by Admiral Pillsbury, himself, in a text book which is in use in the United States Navy, and also in naval reports which still are standard references.

Like many another achievement accredited to Americans, Admiral Pillsbury's Gulf Stream studies formed a by-product of his work in line of duty for the United States government; and his career was typically American in that he won a foremost place after an humble beginning.

Born in Lowell, Mass., in 1846, he became a page in the House of Representatives, at Washington, fourteen years later. By appointment of President Lincoln he attained a cadetship at the U. S. Naval Academy in 1862. Graduating there in 1867 he spent the next two years on the frigate, Minnesota, and he was commissioned an ensign in 1868.

He was made a lieutenant in 1872 and detailed to the study of torpedoes at Newport. The following year he married Miss Florence Greenwood Aitchison, of Portland, Maine. Two years later he was transferred to the hydrographic office, and after a year there, began his ten years of notable service with the Coast Survey.

After the Spanish-American war Admiral Pillsbury was at the Boston Navy Yard for a time, was promoted to Commander, in 1902 became assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Navigation, was made a captain, and in 1905 was assigned to be chief of staff to Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, with the North Atlantic Fleet. In 1908 he was made Rear Admiral and was assigned to be chief of the Bureau of Navigation.

Not only was Admiral Pillsbury interested in ocean currents, but in many other phases of geography. He became a member of the Board of Managers of the National Geographic Society in 1909, succeeding the late Daniel Coit Gilman; was elected vice-president of the Board in 1915, and became president of The Society, April 16, 1919.

AN AUTO MAP

We had sent to us last year an auto map. At that time we had a Yellow Book, a Purple Book, a Pond-McCauley map, and many others. But as soon as we opened this new map we were struck with its simplicity and convenience. We soon regarded it as the most necessary equipment of our car.

This week we received an order of these maps and placed them on sale.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsy sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

Order Memorial Day Flowers Early

WE WISH to thank our many friends for their patronage and regret that it was impossible for us to furnish flowers enough to meet the large demand for Mothers' Day, being obliged to send away many disappointed customers.

As flowers are perishable we can not keep a large stock in advance but must have them engaged from the growers to be delivered to us on day wanted.

Please place your Memorial Day Orders early and we will be better prepared to fill them satisfactorily.

DEPARTMENTAL SYSTEM IN THE HIGH SCHOOL

Editor of the Star:

I would appreciate very much the opportunity of saying a few words in the columns of your paper in order to correct an error which was made by the Members of the School Board in their official statement over their signatures in the columns of the Star of May 12th.

The second paragraph of their statement read as follows:

"Recently, with the purpose of increasing the efficiency of the schools, we have adopted two definite (rather than new) policies. It has been voted to introduce the departmental system in the High School.".....the emphasis is my own.)

At the conference which some of us had with the School Board, on Friday evening last, it was stated to us by the Board that they were planning to departmentalize the High School and that this had never before been done, in the sense that there had never been any heads of departments, appointed as such. The attention of the Board was called to Page 218 of the Town Report for the year 1921, wherein was printed against the name of Miss Palmer the words "Head-Mathematics" and against Miss Weeks, "Head-English," and so on. The Board's reply to this reference was that no one had ever been officially appointed as head of any department and, if they regarded themselves as such, it was a matter of personal opinion on their part and not based on the true facts of the case.

I have looked into this question with some care since our conference with the Board and I find in every Town Report, beginning with the year 1917 and running through to the present time, under Exhibit 1, "Organization and Membership," (following the report of the Supt. of Schools) there is printed against the names of certain persons the word "Head," followed by the name of the subject which they teach. I also find in the Town Report for the year 1917, Page 179, Paragraph 4, in the report of Mr. Schulyer F. Herron, the Supt. of Schools for that year, the following statement:—

"Heads of Departments in the High School. Departmental heads have been recently appointed in subjects having several teachers. It is expected that thereby instruction will be unified and made more effective without lessening the enthusiasm or initiative of the individual teachers." From the above statement it is evident that the Departmental System was introduced into the High School very nearly five years ago by the official act of the School Board at that time.

By courtesy of Miss Palmer I am privileged to reproduce herein a copy of the letter, dated Dec. 7, 1917, which she received from Mr. Herron, Supt. of Schools, advising her of her appointment as Head of the Mathematics Dept.

"At a meeting of the School Committee, held on Thursday evening, Dec. 6, 1917, on recommendation of Principal Curtis, it was voted formally to appoint you Head of the Department of Mathematics."

(Signed) Schulyer F. Herron. By courtesy of Miss Weeks I am privileged to reproduce a copy of the letter, dated Dec. 7, 1917, which she also received from Mr. Herron (Supt. of Schools) advising her of her appointment as Head of the English Department:

"At a meeting of the School Committee held on Thursday evening, Dec. 6th, 1917, on recommendation of Principal Curtis, it was voted formally to appoint you Head of the Department of English."

(Signed) Schulyer F. Herron. Miss Weeks has also shown me a letter which she received from Mr. Faussey, our present Supt. of Schools, in June 1920, in which he referred to her as "Head of a Department."

It would appear, then, from the above official communications that the Departmental System was introduced into the High School close on to five years ago.

It seems strange indeed that the School Board should not have known these facts in their own department and, under these circumstances, is it not a pertinent question whether they were cognizant of all the facts in the various cases in question when they decided and voted to make the proposed radical changes in our High School?

THE SCHOOL SITUATION

A Lull in the Storm With Foul Weather Ahead

The thunderous mutterings over the school situation, after a final rumble last Friday night, burst forth in full sound on Saturday night at the big mass meeting in the Town Hall, when a citizen's committee of seven members was elected to investigate the matter and take any steps it deemed best to reinstate Principal Edward E. Thompson as master of the High School.

Preceded by a "conference" between the preliminary citizens committee and the School Committee on Friday evening, which brought no light on the situation and less results, Saturday's night's meeting got down to its action, nearly a thousand residents attending and voicing their opinion in no uncertain manner.

As a result of the meeting an investigation of the removal of Principal Thompson, the discharge and demotion of several teachers and the criticism of others, has been ordered and is proceeding. A new feature was introduced in the attempt to force the removal of Superintendent of Schools, John R. Faussey.

At present the situation is peaceful—the lull before the storm. The School Committee has nothing to say and awaits the next move in the matter, denying the report of Wednesday that Supt. Faussey has offered his resignation and that any new evidence has been secured to warrant it changing its action. In this connection it is reported that this week brought to several teachers, not heretofore appointed for the coming year, notice of their reappointment.

The citizen's committee is now lined up as follows: Mrs. Herbert T. Bond, chairman, Mr. Raymond C. Strawbridge, clerk, Mr. Merton P. Stevens, Mrs. William A. Lefavour, Mr. Patrick Noonan, Mr. Charles A. Burnham, Mr. Horatio C. Rohman. Of the original committee, Messrs. Stanley G. Fitch and James Hinds tendered their resignations, and at the first meeting of the committee on Wednesday night, Messrs. Raymond C. Strawbridge and Charles A. Burnham were appointed to fill the vacancies.

At this meeting several sub-committees were appointed to gather detailed information which will be reported back at a subsequent meeting. Until the citizen's committee is received by the School Committee and a hearing given, the situation stands as it is, and the reports in circulation remain as such.

A summary of the two meetings of last week follows:

SENIOR RECEPTION

On May 20, the Senior Class of the Winchester High School held its annual reception to the Juniors and its last dance as pupils of the school. It was a great success and the scholars with guests from Woburn, Reading, Arlington and Everett enjoyed every minute.

From 7:45 to 8:00 a reception was held in the library, which was attractively decorated with lilies. The receiving committee included Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and the Senior class officers: Rudolph Mortensen, Alice Webster, Thomas Jansen and Ruth Mathews.

The assembly hall presented a pleasing and harmonious appearance. Great credit is due to those who were on the decorating committee, and others who offered help. The color scheme was pale pink and green. From the chandeliers was suspended a green frame hung with artificial apple blossoms. The stage and the balcony were simply but attractively decorated.

One of the features of the evening was the prize dance which was won by Alice Webster and Ralph Symmes. After the delicious box of chocolates was presented, they were by far the most popular couple in the hall.

The music was furnished by Scribner's orchestra. The patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Stacy, Miss Weeks and Mrs. W. S. Cummings. The seniors have a way of doing things well, and the prom was a fair example.

The committee in charge was: Charles Bennett, chairman, Kathleen Charleton, Ruth Mathews, Niles Engstrom and Fletcher Barnard.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed at the Town Clerk's office during the past week as follows: Jeremiah J. Donovan of Charlestown and Mary Agnes Howley of 11 Pine street.

Michael B. Flaherty of 53 Swanton street and Harriet Julia Hodge of 26 Pond street.

John J. Conroy of Dorchester and Delia Margaret Joyce of 19 Lakeview road.

Robert Johnson of Woburn and Hazel Erminie Corey of 232 M. V. Parkway.

Delcemar King of Quincy and Margaret Kemp Ray of 24 Lebanon street.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Nickerson (Carol Mayo) of Grove street. She has been named Nancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Welburn of 9 Ridgfield road are the parents of a daughter, Ruth Elizabeth, born at the Winchester Hospital May 19th.

A son, Lawrence Wendell, was born at the Hospital Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Love of 12 Park road.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCES

As is customary, Memorial Day will be fittingly observed in this town by a program of exercises arranged under the direction of A. D. Weld Post 148, G. A. R., Winchester Post 97, The American Legion, and John T. Wilson Post, Sons of Veterans. Assisting these organizations will be the two Ladies' Auxiliaries. Notices have been issued to members of all Posts by Commanders Henry Smalley, William E. Ramsdell and J. Ervine Johnson, calling upon them to participate in the exercises, and invitations to take part are also extended to all visiting veterans.

The customary attendance at divine service will be observed this Sunday evening, the veterans this year attending the Methodist Episcopal Church service at Waterfield Hall at 7 o'clock, meeting at their respective headquarters at 6:30 o'clock.

On Memorial Day morning delegations will visit the graves of fallen comrades at Calvary Cemetery and decorate them with flowers in accordance with the time honored custom.

At 2 o'clock the afternoon program will open with a reception at the Town Hall, where the veterans will receive the town officials. All members of the various posts, together with visitors, are requested to assemble at headquarters at 1:45 o'clock and march to the Town Hall.

Promptly after the reception the veterans will march to Wildwood Cemetery, the line of parade being through Washington, Main, Church, Fletcher and Wildwood streets. The veterans will be led by the Malcom band. Veterans are requested to wear the regulation uniform. If members have no uniform, they are requested to turn out in dark clothes and to wear their Post button.

The program of exercises at the Cemetery will open at 3 o'clock and will be held at the Soldiers' Monument. This will include selection by the band, the reading of orders, roll of honor and Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech, prayer by Rev. Allison B. Gifford of the Methodist church, address by Rev. Clifton H. Walcott of the First Baptist Church and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" by the audience.

GUEST NIGHT OF THE MUSIC GARDEN

The annual guest night of the Music Garden last Tuesday evening was much enjoyed by over a hundred members and guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wolley, Fells Road. The work of the Program Committee has been much appreciated and they are to be congratulated on the success which has crowned their efforts. The performers were all at their best and the evening was surely a feast of music. Many encores brought forth new selections from the performers. The gracious hosts of the occasion by their kind endeavor to make everyone at home also made the occasion one to be remembered by all present. Following is the program without the encores:

WINCHESTER WOMAN ESCAPED FROM TRAIN WRECK

A Winchester woman figured in a narrow escape from death Sunday night when a train hit the electric car in which she was riding. The train itself was held up just in time later to avoid a collision with a derailed freight car at the crossing.

Miss Freda Neilson of Main street was the passenger in the electric, which stalled on the railroad crossing at North Woburn in front of the train due at Winchester at 11:34 p. m. The trolley jumped the wire as the electric was crossing the tracks. C. J. Carroll, motorman of the electric, saw the approaching train and shouted for Miss Neilson to get out. He then tried to flag the train.

Miss Neilson got out safely, but the train could not stop in time to save the electric, which was smashed by the locomotive. Its steel front was ripped away, one side crushed in and every window broken. Miss Neilson, hysterical after her near escape, was taken to her home by a passing auto.

When the train got to Winchester it was again held up by a derailed freight car which had split the switch near the centre. This car was of such a height that it would not pass under the Walnut Hill bridge. It had therefore been taken over the Woburn loop to Winchester and was to have been left at the Swanton street yard to be picked up later. The train was stopped before it struck the car.

The North Woburn crossing has already figured in bad accidents. Miss Neilson was the only passenger in the electric.

The Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants, Inc., at the annual meeting in Boston on May 22, 1922, elected Stanley G. H. Fitch, as vice president for the ensuing year.

TOWN MEETING

Twelve Minute Session Shortest on Record

Twelve minutes was required to transact the business at the special town meeting held Monday night, the meeting being opened by Moderator Ives at 7:48 and dissolved at exactly eight o'clock. This constitutes the shortest town meeting on record for Winchester. But one speech was made, that being by Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, George E. Willey.

There were 92 voters present when the meeting opened. During its twelve minute session several more entered, and after its close a larger number arrived up to 8:30 intending to attend. They were greatly surprised to find the meeting over and the hall closed.

Five articles were acted upon, three of which pertained to the construction of the new bridge over the river at Bacon street. The special act for its construction was passed and it was ordered that the existing bridge be removed. The sum of $5,000 was voted for new construction.

The votes carried provision for the taking of 1900 sq. ft. of land at the corner of Fenwick road and Bacon street for new approaches to the proposed bridge and of the $35,000 voted, $25,000 will be raised by taxation and $10,000 by bond issue. Of the sum appropriated one-half will be returned to the Town through the State and County, the apportionment of the new bridge being 25 per cent to State and County and 50 per cent to the Town.

The other two articles resulted in a vote of $3000 as an increase for the amount previously voted for the removal of snow and ice, and $5000 for repaving Main street from the centre to the Woburn line.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

There was a large audience last evening at the production of the play given in the Town Hall by St. Ann's Dramatic Association of Somerville. "Peg O' My Heart" proved a most entertaining effort and was given with an excellence on the part of those members of the association who participated which elicited the warm support and approval of the big gathering. The cast was ably coached under the direction of that veteran of the amateur stage, Charles J. Harrold, and he never put forth a better grouping of young actors and actresses in all the plays he has favored this town with to date. The play was given for the benefit of St. Gabriel's Monastery, Brighton.

The cast was as follows: Jarvis, the butler.....Richard Powers
Mrs. Chichester.....Teresa Leahy
Ethel, Mrs. Chichester's daughter
Alma, Mrs. Chichester's son Anthony LeBlanc Christian Brent.....John Crowley
"Peg".....Louise O'Brien
Mr. Hawkes, solicitor.....Gertrude Flynn
The Committee of arrangements was as follows: Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbon, Honorary Chairman; Miss Nellie M. Sullivan, Chairman and Treasurer; Miss Mary A. Kenney, Secretary.

General Committee
Mary LeDuc, John O'Brien, Chairman
Teresa Danahy, Rose Doherty
John C. Sullivan, Bernard McGurn
Mildred Harold, Mrs. Catherine Rossley
Thomas Sullivan, Mrs. Margaret Foley
Margaret Leashy, Mrs. Alice Mathews
Anna Catherine Rossley, Mrs. Sara Brine

SUPERINTENDENT OF STREETS ASKS SHOW-DOWN

It is reported that Superintendent of Streets T. Parker Clarke has communicated with the Board of Selectmen regarding his official standing. For the past two months he has been serving the Town only in the capacity of acting superintendent of streets, and on Monday he wrote to the Board requesting that it either appoint him to the position or accept his resignation.

With the election of the new board Mr. Clarke's appointment was held up and his salary was reduced. According to his point of view two months should prove ample time in which to conduct any investigation of his department, and while he is reported as having the support of the majority of the Board, he is still subject to immediate dismissal. He felt he could not continue the year under this condition. He has served the town as superintendent of streets for the past seven years.

REGATTA AT BOAT CLUB

The Winchester Boat Club will hold its first regatta of the season on the afternoon of Memorial Day, opening at 2:30 o'clock. The Medford Boat Club has invited to participate and both Winchester and Medford crews are out nightly getting in shape for the races, which will include, besides the usual water sports, several half-mile events and a war canoe race.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Field and family left this week for Camp Rockywoods, Naples, Maine.

SMITH-HOPKINS

The wedding of Miss Emma Burdette Hopkins of Tacoma, Washington, daughter of Mr. Charles H. Hopkins of Independence, Iowa, and Mr. Herbert U. Smith of this town will take place this afternoon at two-thirty at the Unitarian church. Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the church, will officiate.

The best man at the ceremony is to be Rev. Burdette Landsdowne of Providence, R. I. Miss Anne M. Drummond of Tacoma, Washington, will be the maid of honor. The ushers for the ceremony and the reception, which will follow in the church parlors, are Messrs. Howard W. Robbins of this town and Mr. George Blodgett of New York.

The church has been most attractively decorated for the ceremony, spring flowers and palms being effectively used. Mr. C. P. Scott, organist of the church, will play the wedding march and render incidental music.

For her wedding dress, Miss Hopkins will wear a gown of cream georgette crepe, trimmed with beaded fringe, and her bouquet will be of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor will wear navy blue georgette crepe, trimmed with beaded fringe, and will carry a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mr. Smith, who is superintendent of the Unitarian Sunday School, has resided in Winchester for a number of years. He is a graduate of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., '10, and his wife-to-be being classmates. For four years he was principal of public schools in Minnesota, later attending Harvard Law School, from which he graduated in 1917. He was commissioned 2d Lieutenant at Plattsburg and served with the 351st Field Artillery at the Marbache Sector, France. He is at present associated with the firm of Hurlburt, Jones & Hall, lawyers, Boston.

Miss Hopkins, who following her graduation from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., took a post graduate course at Boston University, has been a teacher for the past seven years in the Commercial department of the Stadium High School, Tacoma, Washington.

Following a wedding trip through Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home to their friends after June 15th at 16 Jackson road, West Medford.

ANOTHER CLEW TRACED IN BREWSTER MURDER

Sergeant Thomas McCauley of the local police force went to Quantico, Va., Saturday on another clue in the murder of Ralph W. Brewster, the Winchester station agent who was shot in his office on the night of April 20th. As in the previous instances where important clues have developed, this latest phase of the murder has apparently petered out.

Information containing an alleged confession of a U. S. Marine, one John D. Lawhorn, stationed at the Charlestown Navy Yard at the time the murder was committed, and made to Charles Tidall of Quincy, his former friend, was the cause of the investigation.

Tidall, it appears, purchased on the installment plan a phonograph, which he later sold without making payments due on it. In investigating this case, the police learned that Tidall had boasted of holding information regarding a murder. Under grilling he is said to have implicated Lawhorn in the Brewster murder here.

In further investigating the case, the police were led to question Ruth C. McGowan of Woburn, a former operator at the Winchester telephone exchange, who is alleged to have been friendly to Lawhorn and who the first of this week looked with another Marine, John Daussman.

Sergeant McCauley went to Quantico, where Lawhorn had been transferred, with the intention of arresting him, but by the time he arrived at that place a statement was given out at the Charlestown Navy Yard that Lawhorn was on duty from 9 o'clock on the morning of April 20th to 9 o'clock the next day, thus disposing of him as having accomplished the murder.

Sergeant McCauley returned from Quantico yesterday afternoon and the police are now working with Tidall and the McGowan girl in an endeavor to clear up the situation created and find out whether they know any further facts in the case.

MAY LUNCHEON

Mrs. William L. Thompson, Ridge Crest, gave a May luncheon on Monday at her home, in honor of her niece, Ruth M. Robinson, of Fall River. Covers were laid for thirteen, a party of nine having motored from Fall River for the occasion. During the luncheon Mrs. Thompson announced the engagement of her niece Ruth M. to John V. Pettine of Fall River, a member of that city's fire department, and a Veteran of the World War. Congratulations and good wishes were tendered the young people and group photographs taken to be later distributed to the guests as souvenirs of the occasion.

ARRESTED AT BRIDGEWATER

H. B. Macomber, for several years manager of the Winchester branch of the R. M. Horne Co., was arrested yesterday afternoon by the Winchester police at his home at Bridgewater charged with larceny from his employer. The warrant specifies the sum of $100, but reports make the amount between $3,000 and $5,000.

Macomber was bailed out in $1,000 yesterday afternoon and is to appear in the Woburn court this morning.

LAMBERT HUNT DEAD

Young Man Died at Summer Home at Marshfield

Franklin L. (Lambert) Hunt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin L. Hunt of Woodside road, died at his summer home at Marshfield Saturday. His body was found by Mr. E. Abbott Bradlee together. On Friday Mr. Hunt visited the place. The house was owned by Mr. Hunt and Mr. Bradlee together. On Friday Mr. Hunt visited it with the intention of planning the work necessary to opening it for the season. Saturday Mr. Bradlee went down. He found the house open and upon investigation discovered the body upstairs. It is presumed that Mr. Hunt became indisposed upon arriving at the house and went to a bedroom to lay down, where he passed away.

He was 32 years of age and was widely known to many Winchester friends. He attended and graduated from the local schools and attended Harvard College. He entered business in 1908 and later married Miss Louise Wullop, who survives him together with one child. He was a member of the Winchester Country Club and formerly of the Calumet Club, and held the office of treasurer of the Purity Confectionery Co., of Boston.

Besides his parents and widow he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. E. Abbott Bradlee and Mrs. Francis A. Wyman, and one brother, Mr. Richard Hunt.

The funeral services were private being held on Monday afternoon at the Mt. Auburn chapel and conducted by Rev. Cyrus W. Richardson. There were many floral tributes from friends and business associates. The interment was at Mt. Auburn.

BUILDING COMMITTEE NOT ORGANIZED

The School Building Committee has not yet organized. A meeting of some members of the committee was held on Monday night, at which time the situation was discussed, but no organization effected. Mrs. George H. Root, a member of the committee, is away and not expected home until next week. It is possible that the committee may hold its first meeting Saturday night, June 3.

MORE TROUBLE OVER THE SCHOOLS

Editor of the Star:

The time is now at hand when we as Town citizens of Winchester, should be alive to affairs and conditions that surround us at present.

The prevailing subject now being discussed is new schools. Discussions are on as to where, when, and why. Being myself, a disinterested factor on the school question, excepting the fact as to the whereabouts of the location of one of the proposed schools, I feel compelled to express my opinion, or if I may be allowed, to offer a few timely suggestions.

Should the action now discussed by the school committee be enforced, which means the devastation of one of Winchester's land marks, namely Chester street. It means the putting to a vast deal of trouble some good citizens of this town who have striven for years to acquire a home such as they now possess, so their later years might be spent in comfort and peace.

I am particularly interested in my friends Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Richardson. I have gone in and out of their home for almost twenty years, and was one of the first to enter their present home when it was first constructed; have watched the rearing from the first born, have enjoyed the hospitality of said home, and shall I remain unconcerned without making an attempt of a protest against such a movement?

If I might in a humble manner make a suggestion, that of considering various and numerous other desirable building lots that would be more appropriate for the erection of one of the proposed schools.

From an economical point of view the town would be somewhat the gainer. From a universal standpoint the good folk of Winchester wish to maintain the opinion of all, of having its town rank second to none in Massachusetts by putting through the act first proposed.

As to the destruction of said street, Winchester bids fair to somewhat lose its prestige, and might terminate into something more serious. It is a well established fact that the housing situation and the purchasing of building lots, especially for my people (colored) is very, acute, and there are just certain portions of this town we are allowed to settle. Those portions are already occupied.

It would be a large cause for lamentation to see some of our good citizens of Winchester, pass on to other towns, the cause being known that their well earned home was taken from them on account of new schools and no where else to settle.

Lottie Hall Dodson (a voter)

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

An official in a community less than a day's ride from Winchester has been censured for looking on coal strikers as "potential criminals." This phrase may be far less severe than his opponents suppose. All persons who have the average of mental and bodily activity, and some who have not, are potential criminals, that is, they have the power to commit crime. Forgery has increased since the number of those who can write has increased. When unemployment is general and excitement widespread there is more danger of not than when labor is in demand. This is only too well known.

One individual here in Winchester is wondering did any abstract veneration for the teachings of Darwin ever keep a raven in the tropics from dining on most monkey?

An observer of conditions in one of our American colleges for women asserts that degeneracy and moral decay have come through college girls smoking, drinking at dances, "petting parties" and midnight joy rides, and dressing like creatives of the demimonde. That these conditions are existent in some of our colleges for women nobody will deny—they are part and parcel of today's serious problem of youth. An investigation of the college in question showed that about 10 per cent of the girls might be adjudged, to a greater or less extent, guilty of these charges. They are the ones who appeared to be popular at men's colleges, and are much in evidence at week-end parties and city hotel dances. They are the ones who dress extremely and dance extremely. They are sufficiently noisy, immodest and reckless to attract attention. Meanwhile, there is ample evidence for the assertion that the other 90 per cent of students in that college are girls of earnest purpose, high ideals and sound moral standards. Evil is always more conspicuous than good, and so the 10 per cent are more conspicuous than the 90 per cent. That is all. Virtue forms no food for gossip. Maybe the time's are not quite as hopeless as the pessimists in Winchester and elsewhere in the land would have us believe. They are bad enough, in all conscience, but there is abundant good left in humanity. It may not be as vocal or as conspicuous as the evil, but it exists; not a mere remnant of good, such as resided in the family of Lot, but a great man of normal-minded people, lovers of virtue and sobriety, lovers of home, who will some day come into their own when the present wave of irresponsible moral recklessness has spent itself only to find that it doesn't pay. Virtue gets its conquering impulse from vice. Salvation is based upon the need of it.

Three years of continuous slumber ended in the death of a pauper out in Arkansas. Ancient stories of sleepers in caves and mountain passes were for centuries believed by everybody, then it was philosophic to ridicule them as mere delusions. Now the medical fraternity would like to know how much truth there was in them.

Grace, Patience, Peace, Prudence, Faith, Hope and Charity are fairly well known names. Virtue is comparatively rare, and we have only once seen Genius, the name belonging to an individual of African descent, who has just attested his quality by escaping from jail in a city not far from Winchester.

A curious misstatement recently appeared in a column that is filled with great care and ability. A newspaper regularly read by the Spectator spoke of reading the New Testament in "either the King James or the Vulgate version." The Vulgate is in Latin, and those Winchesterites who prefer it would, if they sought an English rendering, choose what is called the Donary version.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

At the First Congregational church last week Friday was held the regular meeting of the local Union. To accomplish some long planned work for the Red Cross and other charities the members met in the morning and at noon enjoyed a basket luncheon. The business meeting in the afternoon was presided over by Mrs. J. C. Adams who also conducted the devotional service. As there was little business of importance the work was resumed in the afternoon and a large amount finished. Delegates were appointed to attend the meeting of the Middlesex County Union at Melrose this week.

To raise money to help replenish the State W. C. T. U. treasury a pound party was held at the home of Mrs. James Smith of Dix street from the sale of which a goodly sum was realized. Music and other attractions added to the enjoyment of the evening, the pleasure of which was shared by the honorary members and other men friends of the members.

"Pussy Foot" Johnson, speaking in Tremont Temple was a sufficiently strong attraction to take a number of the members of Winchester Union to Boston last Sunday evening. Those who went were well repaid for the effort as his stories of experiences in urging temperance reform abroad were full of interest. He is an optimist as to the final outcome but urges all friends of the cause to stand guard for the present and "work for enforcement where they are."

PIANOFORTE RECITAL

The eighth and last private monthly recital of the season, given by Mrs. Annie Soule Lewis and her pupils, was held at her home on Maxwell Rd. on the evening of May 19th.

The guests were former pupils and friends of the participating pupils.

In honor of the 97th birthday of Miss Annie Dodd living in the other side of the house, the recital was given in the home, instead of in Assembly Hall High School, as usual and the four large rooms and connecting hall were filled with the pupils and their guests.

The assisting artists were members of the families of some of the present pupils. Mrs. A. Redding Moulton, contralto, is a well known singer of West Medford. Mr. George Bigley, clarinet, is a well known resident of Winchester. Mr. Alan Munroe is a new comer to Woburn.

Their numbers added greatly to the enjoyment of the audience, and gave variety to the program of piano selections.

The twenty-seven pupils ranged from 7 to 15 years of age and were graded from kindergarten to the 4th grade. The numbers performed were for two, four, six and eight hands, on one piano.

The two public recitals will be given in the vestry of the Unitarian Church, Woburn, May 26th at 7:45 o'clock will be given by the Primary and Intermediate Pupils and June—at 8 o'clock will be given by the intermediate and advanced pupils. The program including several numbers for two piano and assisting artists at both recitals.

Friends who usually go to the recital in Assembly Hall, are cordially invited to attend either or both of these events.

No tickets required for out of town guests.

After the program and a short talk by Mrs. Lewis, a social hour with light refreshments was enjoyed by all who agreed that it was the "best recital" and the "best time" of the season.

The program was as follows:

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

WINCHESTER BETTER THAN MELROSE

Winchester High again proved that it has a winning ball team Saturday, when it defeated Melrose High 2-0 in a well played game replete with interesting features. Mathews struck out 15 men and allowed only five hits, and his team mates backed him up much better than in the previous game with Wakefield. A tripple play was pulled off in the sixth inning when Mathews gathered in a short fly and runners were caught at second and first. Tansey made a home run in the eighth inning and Weiner made a two base hit in the ninth. As Wakefield was defeated by Woburn on the same day, Winchester is now in a first place tie with that team and Woburn.

WON FROM WATERTOWN
Winchester High won from Watertown Tuesday afternoon 6 to 5. The game was not as tight as Winchester has been playing, and for a time looked bad for the local boys, Watertown taking the lead by two runs in the third, when it scored four times. Winchester proved equal to the occasion, however, and came back strong in the sixth. Mathews pitched his usual good game, striking out 11. Watertown had to change pitchers in the seventh, following Winchester's scoring.

THE GOBLIN FAIR
The children of the Gifford school assisted by a few of the High School pupils presented the Goblin Fair in the Town Hall last Friday afternoon. It was a very pretty operetta in two scenes and great credit is due the children for their fine performance. The leading part was very well taken by Mary Whittington of the High School. Particularly good was the acting of Gordon Bennett of the fifth grade in the part of the White Rabbit while Barbara Bodge of the Little Red Hen pleased her audience greatly.

The caste was as follows:
Geraldine ..... Mary Whittington
The Mushroom Fairy ..... Eleanor Larsen
The White Rabbit ..... Gordon Bennett
The Little Red Hen ..... Barbara Bodge
Blodwen ..... Dorothy Smith
The Moon Fairy ..... Helen Raynor
The Blue Goblin ..... Wallace Fay
The Medium Goblin ..... Frederick Sanborn
The Littlest Goblin ..... Dorothea MacKenzie
The dance at the beginning of the second scene by Jane Heaton of the fourth grade was exceptionally good. Miss Nathalie Gifford and Miss Brenda Bond added very much to the afternoon's entertainment by their pleasing songs.
The operetta was under the direction of Mr. Richard W. Grant, Supervisor of Music, assisted by Mrs. Ethel F. Barnard, Principal of the Gifford School.
Enough money was raised for a new piano which is expected to arrive at the school this week.

Mr. Paul Thompson of Clematis street, while at work on the roof of the Ray house on Lebanon street fell to the ground. He was not severely hurt but badly shaken up and scraped. After a rest of a few days he has resumed work. The accident was caused by the very high wind.

INEFFICIENCY

Editor of the Star:
Inefficiency—a word each person in Winchester has heard many times within the last fortnight.

The principal of the Winchester High School and the teaching staff have been called inefficient.

But friends,—there are educated people all over the world at the present time losing their positions because they are termed inefficient. In nine cases out of every ten the position is filled by a person lacking knowledge and ability but having the friendship of the employer.

Is that fair play? Does Winchester wish to be guilty of that act? I think not.

Mr. Jonas Laraway, ex-member of the board of Selectman and a prominent resident of this town, issued a notice in last week's "Star" and I wonder if I may borrow his closing words, "The practise of the golden rule is needed more in Winchester than brick school buildings." Is that not correct? Decidedly so.

Was the golden rule given a thought when the school committee declined to give a reason for trying to dismiss members of the High School teaching staff—other than to say, "Inefficient?" Prove to the people of Winchester that they are inefficient. You cannot do it.

The citizens of Winchester at the present time are fighting—fighting as they never fought before to secure fair play. They will get it because they will stick to it and win. Good for you, people! Keep it up! Stand up for your rights each one of you!

You showed your good spirit at the Mass meeting Saturday evening. No gag rule about it, neither. You have something to say in regard to the way Winchester is running. Speak up! Don't wait for the other fellow. He may not come.

Winchester has a principal in the High School who has the respect and loyalty of every student there and of every worth-while citizen in the town. I have known former principals one of whom was principal when I first entered High School. I can safely state that since Mr. Thompson has been principal the students have taken a different attitude toward the school. Many new ideas have been suggested and carried out—meeting with decided success.

Each teacher in the school takes pleasure in teaching and the average student appreciates their valuable assistance.

Students, will you not agree with me that it is a joy to study in the High School at the present time?

We do not want that pleasure deprived us. We do not want to go back to the stage where we wish "the teacher would go away and never come back" or "I wish the that old school building would burn down." We do not want that spirit, do we?

You know that when America was first discovered people had the idea that the earth was flat, and the person that walked near the edge of the earth would be decidedly out of luck. They believed that suddenly you would find yourself dropping down and terrible things would happen to you when you reached the bottom if you did not watch your step.

Now, let us call this piece of earth Winchester and you are now able to see for yourself that if certain people (?) in this town go much further they are going to fall down a peg and wake up to late. Motto:—Let well enough alone.

Mr. Thompson, the students and residents of Winchester wanted you, they secured you and they are going to keep you. They need you.

Well, folks, we are going to have fair play, are we not? It's up to you. Hazel L. Dotten

WINCHESTER LOST FIRST PLACE
The Winchester Country Club team lost first place in the Four-Ball Golf League Wednesday by dropping its match with Alberman 9½ to 2½. This leaves the local club in second position, ½ point ahead of Woodland. Winchester played a weak match, although C. P. Whorf holed a 15 foot putt on the last green.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES
The group of High School pupils who, a few weeks ago, very successfully presented scenes from Merchant of Venice in Assembly Hall will give the same scenes this evening before the members of the Teachers' Club and their friends.

Ruth McLaughlin of the senior class has previously received several rewards for speed in typewriting in which she has set a very high standard. This week she has received two more awards: a second bar to add to a medal already won from the Underwood Company for writing the gross number of 1030 words in fifteen minutes, and a card case from the Royal Company for writing 789 words in ten minutes, with only five errors, net speed 73 words per minute.

Annie Drohan of the same class received a card case from the Royal Company for writing at a net speed of 64 words or 690 words in ten minutes.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

A very successful tennis tournament has just been completed by the boys of the High School. The fact that thirty boys participated is a good illustration of how popular this game is. The preliminary matches were contested on various courts, and the finals were played last Monday at the Sherman court with Stephen Thompson overcoming Thomas Jansen in three sets 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Saturday, May 13th, the Metropolitan Girl Scout Officers' Association met at the home of Mrs. James J. Storow in Lincoln for an all day session. Work was given on out door activities of Scouts, also on preservation of wild flowers. Officers in attendance from Winchester were Mrs. Ryan, Miss Emerson, Miss Dearborn, Miss Downer and Miss Dolan.

Saturday, May 20th, twenty-five Scouts with Captains Boone and Downer, and Lieutenants Dearborn and Dolan attended the Third Annual Review of Girl Scouts of Massachusetts held in the Arena. It was a day long to be remembered by the Scouts. The trip was made by auto truck. The participation in a Review with hundreds of Girl Scouts from all over the State is an inspiring experience for those fortunate enough to attend.

Captain Dorothy Dolan is starting a new troop. If there are any girls in Winchester who would like to join, they should make application to her, or to Scout Commissioner Mrs. Joseph Ryan, 5 Cliff street.

Several very interesting nature walks have been enjoyed. On three occasions the girls have met at 6:30 and returned in time for school. Other walks have been taken in the after school or after supper. Some of the girls are working for their nature badges.

Helene Moran, Jennie Libby and Katharine Carlisle of Troop 7 have the distinction of being the first of the Scouts active in Winchester at the present time to receive their second class badges. There are several others who will probably become Second Class Scouts soon.

TEN TIMES BIGGEST CIRCUS HERE SOON

World's Greatest Amusement Institution Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Headed This Way

Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Day draws near and with it will come a vast circus of "ten thousand wonders" to exhibit in Boston, week of June 12th.

This mammoth amusement enterprise of 1922 has been officially recorded as "America's ten times greatest circus." It is a third bigger than it was in 1921. For, in addition to the many innovations offered then, the present season's program numbers ten more trained wild-animal displays—making twenty in all—and the most superb trained horse acts that Europe has yet produced. The wild-animal and equine displays of 1921 were introduced merely that the Ringling Brothers might judge of their popularity. So enthusiastically were these numbers received that the famous showmen immediately arranged for the purchase of the world's finest acts of this kind. An entire equine circus was bought outright and brought to this country last winter. And while the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey agents were securing this and the trained tiger, polar bear, lion, leopard and jaguar groups, they had orders to engage the foremost men and women performers of the European capitals. And these stars from city and jungle are all to be seen with this wonder circus of 1922. Everything, including the great double menagerie of more than a thousand animals and exhibiting such rarities as a mite of a baby hippopotamus and its three-ton mother, is to be seen for the price of one admission ticket. And by "everything" is meant not only the wild animal and equine displays, but the entire circus. More than 700 men and women, embracing the world's foremost aren't stars, take part. There are 100 clowns. Aside from the ferocious beasts, the program includes forty trained elephants. There are five companies of trained seals, many dogs, bears, monkeys, pigs and pigeons. It is the biggest circus program the world has ever seen, given under the largest tent.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Sorrows like babies grow bigger by nursing.

The easiest way to pass the time away is not to wonder how fast it is passing.

I never had the misfortune to be cast away on a desert island, but I spent a Sunday in Pittsburgh once.

It is a terrific strain on some men's eyes when they look for perfection in themselves.

A man or a woman may be master of a dozen languages and still be unable to control either his or his wife's tongue.

Perhaps its the weather—then again it may be the poor fishing.

That Bacon street bridge can't be started too soon to suit some of us.

There's a nigger in the woodpile somewhere, and the axe is on the grindstone.

A Boston paper suggests that we rename our Aberjona river the "Jabberjona." No wonder—only still waters run deep.

The Superintendent of Streets has asked the Selectmen for a show-down. Why not? For two months he has been dangling in the air with the threat of instant dismissal and a reduction in salary. Surely this is ample time in which to conduct an investigation of this department and either prove or disprove the rumors which have been circulated.

It looks as though someone is waiting to replace that decayed grandstand on Manchester Field with the proposed Legion Memorial. We couldn't agree on the Memorial any more than we appear able to agree on any important matter, but do let's get together and repair (at least) this grandstand before someone starts a suit for damages.

We are pleased to record the prompt attention given by Boston and Maine officials to the practice of stopping trains on our lower crossing, recently mentioned in the STAR. We have failed to note a single train stopping on the crossing or running over during the past three weeks.

Apparently the Bay State Street Railway has taken steps to prevent auto accidents at Knight's corner in the protection of its own interests. The switch tender in the square now goes to that place when electric pass and assumes the duties of traffic officer, holding back any autos which are in danger of getting pinched when the cars make the turn.

The chief concern of many people over the school situation lays not directly in placing the blame of the lamentable conditions created, but in the effect which will and has occurred in the morale of the scholars. Without any doubt whatever someone blundered badly in dumping these widespread and important changes in the teaching staff upon us. There is such a thing as tact. It does not appear to be recognized in this town and it may be an old fashioned article which ought to go into the discard, but more can be learned from the past in these days of turmoil, than can ever be accomplished by hasty action. The right or wrong, and the blame in the matter, will be revealed in due time. One side of the situation, and apparently the popular side, has been already fairly thoroughly presented. When the other side is revealed results may be expected. There is, however, an important phase of the situation as affecting the morale of the scholars which needs consideration. The High School organization remains intact today and will continue so until the end of the school year. If one may judge by popular demonstration, the leadership of the teachers in the school was never so strong as it is today. Under such conditions the path lays open for a period of five weeks' work on the part of teachers and scholars which has never been so inviting since our schools were started. With the will to prove their case to the town at large, scholars and teachers have a means at hand to complete the school year in a way which will reflect upon their ability and prove their case beyond any criticism. A united action of this sort would do more to undo what has already been done and raise the respect in which they are held than anything else. It is possible, of course, to lay down and smother under the load; to groan over the conditions and throw up their hands, but if the spirit is there and public confidence not misplaced, we shall find a list of graduates at our High School next month who stand as high proportionately as any classes ever turned out.

LET THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE ALONE

Editor of the Star
Chiseled in stone over the entrance to the county court house in Worcester, the traveler may see these words:—

A TELEPHONE CONVERSATION THIS WEEK.

"How is Mr. —?"
Secretary answering. — "His physician hopes he will be able to go into the country in a month."

In February this man was considering insurance on his life for business reasons at the suggestion of his partner though he did not desire it.

His partner went away and the matter was to be decided on his return. The man told me he hoped his partner would on his return say "No." Just before the partner returned the prospective insurance was taken sick. I fear from the probable sequence to the disease the insurance company will be the one obliged to say "No."

Obedience To Law is Liberty

It would be well for the parents, school children and teachers of Winchester to take notice of the above sentiment, putting its practice into their daily lives and school curriculum. The present local hysteria and the widespread, baneful doctrines being disseminated are not only unfavorably advertising our town, but are doing incalculable damage to the morale of the pupils.

Possibly our school committee has erred. Perhaps an injustice has been done one or more teachers. If so, the wrong has been done by agents of our own selection, and the responsibility rests finally with us to right matters at the polls, rather than to spread poison in half-baked ideas growing out of public protests, "strikes" of pupils and teachers, or resolutions by ill-informed, doting parents.

In any event, no one can successfully maintain any course of behavior other than that of inculcating a wholesome respect for the edicts of duly constituted authority. Any other preaching is doing more harm to the children than to the other parties concerned.

Winfield F. Prime,
18 Prospect St.

May 24, 1922.

FIELD DAY POSTPONED

The annual field day of the public schools, to have been held yesterday afternoon on Manchester Field, was not completed owing to the rain. Three numbers on the program were run off—Mass Rhythmic Drill, Dances and Games and Pupil Leadership. The remaining numbers to be run off on Thursday of next week, beginning at 3:15 o'clock.

Jack Hevey has been signed up to play with the Woburn Legion team this summer.

A dancing party was held Wednesday night at White's Hall, under the auspices of the auxiliary to Winchester Post 97, American Legion. Miss Edith Reebaker was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, which was attended by over 250.

The whist party in aid of the West Side table of St. Mary's parish lawn party, held Wednesday night at St. Mary's School Hall, was attended by over 250 persons. Mrs. Katherine Callahan and Miss Mary Connolly had charge of the affair.

THE POSTMASTER SAYS:

Look at your mail before you drop it in the box and make sure it is properly addressed. This week we have had letters mailed at this office without address of any kind. The only thing to be done with these letters is to send them to the dead letter department. In the meantime, someone is complaining of the carelessness of the postal clerks and the uncertainty of the mails.

G. H. Lochman,
Acting Postmaster.

BIRDS THAT FISH FOR MAN

"Just as Americans amuse notables from abroad by showing them round-ups in the 'cow country,' so the Japanese are able to entertain their visitors by initiating them into the picturesque mysteries of cormorant fishing in their back country," says a bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Continuing in a description of the queer method of fishing with trained birds recently exhibited for the Prince of Wales, the bulletin says:

Fishing with trained cormorants seems to be as ancient as Japanese history, for an old poem in regard to the first emperor mentions the sport. Today the method is employed in relatively few places in the islands, and is at its best in the Nagara River, near the city of Gifu, about 150 miles west of Tokyo. The fishing is done only at night, the darker the better. Moonlight seasons are off periods, and it is useless to take the cormorants out except before the moon rises or after it sets. This is because artificial light, furnished by blazing pine faggots in metal baskets hung from the bows of the long narrow fishing boats, is an important factor in the procedure. The fish are attracted by the glare, and when they rise near the boats the cormorants reap a rich and quick harvest.

Look Awkward—Dive Like a Flash.
The birds that play the stellar role in this queer sport industry are like large, black, awkward-looking ducks. But their apparent awkwardness is highly deceptive; and they possess a marked degree of intelligence. Placed in the water, they dive like a flash; and dart as he may, the nearby fish once sighted is almost sure to wind up in a twinkling in the unerring gullet that pursues him.

But catching is not keeping for the cormorants. Each bird has a cord attached from near the base of his wings, the other end held, in common with the leashes of perhaps eleven other birds, by a deft-fingered Japanese in the boat. About the lower portion of the throat of each feathered fisherman is an adjustable metal collar. This is loose enough to permit the passage of very small fish but not those of a marketable size. Above the collar the larger fish pile up, expanding the elastic gullet, until four to eight have accumulated. Then the bird is towed to the boat, placed over a basket, and the fish gently pressed from his throat and mouth. A few less considerate masters unceremoniously turn the birds upside down and shake out the catch. In an expedition lasting three or four hours one bird may catch as many as 450 fish.

Keen as Pointer Dogs

The birds are as keen for their work as pointer dogs. They dart about with the greatest enthusiasm, croaking as they dive or when they come momentarily to the surface to swallow their prey. Their active life is about 12 years. The senior of the flock is known as Number 1 and has the position of honor near the bow as the boat prepares for action. The other birds are ranged in order of seniority alternately on the sides of the boat. The birds know the order in which they are to be placed in the water and taken out, and if the proper order is departed from they make noisy protest.

After the night's work is over the feathered fishermen come into their reward. The fish are sorted and all small ones are fed to the cormorants, whose collars have been removed. They catch their food on the fly as it is tossed to them, for all the world like a pack of hungry hounds about a farm-house door. In the feeding as in all the other routine of handling the birds, the senior member of the flock must be fed first and the others in order, or their resentment is shown at once.

Sport Once Known in West

The fish caught by means of the trained cormorants are a sort of dwarf salmon, called ayu, comparable in size to smelts. They run up the river in spring like salmon to spawn. When these little fish are fried to golden crispness their flavor and delicacy is unsurpassed. They are in such high favor that a considerable area of the fishing ground on the Nagara River is reserved for imperial use, and special cormorants and their masters are employed to keep the tables of the emperor supplied during the season.

Fishing with cormorants is also practiced in some parts of China, but there the fishing is almost entirely commercial with little of the sport aspect. The sport was known in the west early in the seventeenth century, and James I of England had among his officials a "Master of Cormorants" just as he had a falconer.

THE COIFFURES OF MANY LANGUAGES

The "flapper" who spends hours curling her bobbed locks to make them stand out three or four inches from her face has nothing on the Fiji islander according to a bulletin of the National Geographic Society issued from its Washington, D. C., headquarters, for the Fijian makes his hair stand on end on the top of his head to a height of six inches.

The Fijian dandy wears at night a compressing band which is probably as uncomfortable as curling-pins to train his thick, stiff and wiry bush to this remarkable feat, the bulletin says. When it becomes long and erect he takes a looking glass, entrusts his scissors to a trusty friend and under his personal supervision the mop is trimmed with wonderful skill into a ragged halo that stands out in pompous array around his shiny black face.

Bleaches and Dyes His Locks

To add to the grotesque impression, the Beau Brummel bleaches the coiffure to a sickly yellow with lime made from coral or dyes it red with annatto. To further enhance his charm he rubs in scented coconut oil and then sticks several varieties of red flowers into it. One traveler reports that his guide turned up one morning with "his mahogany bush of hair adorned with two kinds of red flowers, three kinds of white, a bunch of green-and-white ribbon-grass and an aigrette of fern." And when it rained a little later he held a giant taro-leaf about four feet by three over it umbrella-wise for protection.

When the Hani maiden decides to conquer, instead of announcing her debut in the newspaper she parts her hair in the middle and screws it into two whorls just above the ears. Whereupon young men who prize their liberty take to the woods.

Make Their Hair a Utility

South of Mahamanina in Madagascar the women do their hair in two rows of little balls, while behind their heads they place a piece of hollow wood ornamented with brass-headed nails and fastened into the hair. In this cylinder they keep all their pins, needles and small valuables. Near the coast on the same island the women plait the hair in very fine braids which they twist into thin flat circular coils of from one to two and a half inches in diameter. These little coils of hair entirely encircle the head, and, strange to say, they have an elegant, though rather singular appearance.

The Sevilian woman who niles her hair on the top of her head into a little fortress is following the custom which Spanish women have practiced for hundreds of years. Artemidorus, in the sixth century before Christ, tells of the extravagant headdresses of Iberian women and they also are shown in the pre-historic statuary of the country.

Big chiefs in some parts of New Guinea wear rigid plaited frames on their heads which support cassowary or paradise feathers during their dances. The black cassowary feather is the distinguishing ornament of the chiefs, but wearers are unable to enjoy to the fullest the big celebrations because of the heaviness of these headdresses.

Use Plants to Scent Hair

Among African tribes the methods of hair-dressing are legion. The Wemba men shave two parallel strips of wool from the nape of the neck round the crown to the forehead. Some of them cut all the hair off leaving just a fringe high up on the skull. Others leave just a small circular tuft at the back. The Wemba and Winamwanga women scent their hair with aromatic plants.

The men near Lake Bangweolo sometimes wear wigs made of coarse matted fiber and the Bisis weave into wisps of hair fibre or bristles until it hangs down in matted, string-like bunches. The Bisis women weave red and white beads into their hair until the hair itself in places is quite concealed. Some Shinga chiefs roll their hair until it resembles the types of hair dressing seen in the ancient Egyptian bas-reliefs.

Shave and Paint Heads

The Bambala people shave their heads except for a little round spot resembling a cap on the top of the head. They then paint the bare portion with palm oil and soot. An old man usually covers his tuft of white hair with a red cloth, and a warrior wears the bones of his victims wrapped in a cloth on the top of his head for the magical properties they are supposed to possess.

The Bakwese follow somewhat the same customs as the Bambalas, but the chiefs usually coil their hair into five bunches. The Bayanzi men usually tie their locks into a bunch at the back of their necks, while the women part theirs in the middle and plait it over their ears. But the Bahmana take the palm for beauty they shave the front of their heads and paint them with soot, curl the back hair and paint it with red clay, shave off their eyebrows and pull out their eyelashes.

Jackon's "Kitchen Cabinet."

"The kitchen cabinet" was a name given to a group of political advisers of President Jackson. They occupied no official positions, but were consulted by the President as private citizens. The principal members of this "cabinet" were Amos Kendall, William L. Lewis, Isaac Hill, Duff Green and Francis P. Blair. It was the custom of these unofficial advisers, whenever they called upon the President, to go in by the back door to avoid observation—hence the sobriquet of "kitchen cabinet" which is said to have originated among the Whigs.

"Wound Up."

I had been scolding one evening. The next afternoon my neighbor dropped in to inquire about my sister Jennie, who had been sick. I said I guessed the only thing that ailed her was that she was run down. Little Bob, four years old, who had been listening, piped up, "Well, mother, why don't Aunt Jennie get wound up like dad said you were last night?"

ASCENSION: A QUARTER-DECK ISLAND

An island that is by official fiction a boat!

Such is Ascension Island between Africa and South America, says a bulletin from the Washington D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It is this island, according to dispatches from England, which the British Admiralty is seriously considering evacuating as a means of saving the 200,000 odd dollars which it costs British tax-payers annually.

Ascension Island is unique among British possessions because of the method by which it is governed, continues the bulletin by way of explanation. A naval captain under an admiral stationed at Gibraltar controls the rather limited destiny of the six by seven mile territory for all the world like his fellow captains control their ships. The little garrison and its families, and the servants, who are largely negroes from Liberia—only 200 or 300 inhabitants at most—make up the "crew" of the good "ship" Ascension. The queer governmental arrangement has worked out most satisfactorily since the island was first occupied by the British in 1815, and has won the praise of such an observer as Charles Darwin who stopped for a while on Ascension during a voyage for scientific study.

Companion Island to St. Helena. Ascension is, broadly speaking, a companion isle to St. Helena, 800 miles to the southeast. Both were probably created by the same general volcanic upheaval which pushed a number of pinnacles above the surface of the south Atlantic. But Ascension has not been able to boast of being the place of residence of an exiled monarch, though its occupation was connected in a way with Napoleon's exile. The island was occupied by the British navy in 1815 largely for the purpose of more completely guarding the isolation of the distinguished prisoner. It has since been maintained in the double capacity of a supply station for British naval vessels and the mountain site of a sanatorium for sailors and marines sick as a result of duty on the tropical coast of Africa.

The isolation of Ascension is more marked even than that of Robinson Crusoe's island. It is 1000 miles from Liberia, the nearest point in Africa, and 1400 miles from the eastern tip of South America. Like practically all of the other islands of the South Atlantic, Ascension was discovered by the Portuguese. That was in 1501. It was uninhabited and remained unoccupied until the time of Napoleon's exile.

A Land of Gigantic Turtles. There was nothing about Ascension to prove attractive to settlers. All of the lower part of the island was practically without plant life because of drought. Only the upper part of Green Mountain, which reaches a height of more than 2800 feet, supported a growth of grass and shrubs. It is near the summit of this mountain that a sanatorium has been maintained. A limited acreage in the uplands is cultivated to furnish vegetables and fruits for the sanatorium and for the little hamlet of Georgetown established on the lee shore near an anchorage. Grasses and shrubs have also been planted on the lower uplands.

No vertebrate life was found on the island. But in the spring it has always been a land of gigantic turtles. Thousands of the reptiles weighing 500 to 800 pounds each, swarm to the beaches at that time and deposit their eggs in the sand. "Flocks" of turtles are kept in ponds and from time to time individuals are made into soup and other delicacies for the garrison.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

May 22, 1922.

Under suspension of its Rule 1 the Board met at 7 o'clock P. M., and adjourned at 7:45 P. M., in order to attend the Special Town Meeting, and met again at 8 o'clock P. M., all present.

The records of the meeting of May 15 were read and approved.

Licenses 1922 (Hawkers and Peddlers): Upon the approval of the Chief of Police, a license of this class was granted to Elizabeth M. Kerr, Wyman Road, Billerica. Domenico A. Gentile, 75 Bryant street, Woburn and Epithornio Karagrosis, 93 Prospect street, Woburn. Same are effective until May 1st, 1923 and are subject to the usual fee of $2.00.

Licenses 1922 (Common Victualers): An application for a license of this class was received from Robert Russell, 14 1/2 Hutchins avenue, Roxbury, Mass., Mr. Russell having bought the business at 530 Main street from James Sweeney. The application was referred to the Chief of Police for report and his recommendation.

Licenses 1922 (Garages): After a hearing at which Benjamin Todesca, 45 Tremont street, Winchester and Guiseppe D'Broso, representing Bertha D'Broso of 168 Swanton street, and Mr. Frederick C. Alexander appeared the Board voted to grant a license to conduct a garage on Swanton street to Beggs & Cobb, Inc.

Swan Road: Mr. Smalley reported that it had been brought to his attention that there was a depression in Swan Road nearly opposite the property owned by Mr. Forbes. This matter was referred to the Acting Superintendent of Streets for report.

Surface Drainage (Harrison & Lawrence Sts): The Acting Superintendent of Streets is to make a report on surface drainage conditions on Harrison and Lawrence streets.

Traffic Regulations: A letter was received from the Department of Public Works, Registry of Motor Vehicles, relative to putting proper signs on one way streets. This matter was referred to the Police Committee for report. They will report on the number of one way streets in town, how many signs are needed in connection with the same and the cost which will have to be incurred if the present signs need to be changed.

Central St: A report was received from the Acting Supt. of Streets stating that Central street was patched but not surface treated last year because of building operations and consequent excavations for various services. This street, the letter states, is in this year's list for resurfacing by scarifying.

Bacon St. Bridge: The Clerk was instructed to notify the Metropolitan District Commission, 1 Ashburton Place and the Middlesex County Commissioners, Court House, East Cambridge of the vote passed by the Town relative to the proposed bridge to be constructed on Bacon street over the Aberjona River and also to ask both these commissions to arrange as soon as possible for a meeting relative to carrying out the act accepted by the Town relating to this matter. The Board voted to employ J. R. Worcester as engineer to prepare plans and specifications and have general supervision of the Bacon street bridge work.

Surface Drainage (Canal St): Owing to the fact that one of the new school houses to be built will be built in the vicinity of Canal street, the matter of further consideration of surface drainage conditions on Canal street brought to the Board's attention by Mr. Patrick Noonan, was indefinitely postponed.

Wedgemere Ave: A report was received from the Acting Superintendent of Streets stating that Wedgemere avenue from Church street to Foxcroft road is on this year's list of streets to be scarified and surface-treated. Practically all of the bad holes in this street, the letter states, are the result of winter traffic, and the holes in question have been patched.

Wildwood Street (Corner of Cambridge): A report was received from the Acting Superintendent of Streets stating that he has examined the corner of Wildwood and Cambridge streets and finds that the circle of stones (not edgestone) which was placed there a few years ago to protect the sidewalk was covered up by the contractors who rebuilt Cambridge street for the State last year. The reason being that the grade of this street was raised somewhat. He states that he believes the amount of traffic which uses this corner is sufficient to justify placing a proper circular edgestone with necessary return stones at this point. The Board voted to instruct him to have this work done.

Road Tar and Road Asphalt: Mr. Main reported that specifications relating to requests for bids for road material were sent as requested to list of road material dealers.

Sidewalks 1922 (Forest St): A letter was received from Mrs. Agnes Hinds-Solov asking that the sidewalk in front of her property on Forest street be repaired as the sidewalk in question has been washed away in places by recent rain. This matter was laid over until such time as all sidewalk matters will be taken up.

Acceptance of Sts. (Maple Rd): Mrs. Solov also asks that Maple Road be accepted as a town way. This matter was laid over until such time as matters pertaining to acceptance of streets are taken up.

Sidewalks 1922 (Granolithic) & (Curbing): A memorandum was received from the Town Engineer asking that the attention of the Selectmen be called to the fact that Mr. Royal S. Wentworth, 1 Calumet Road telephoned him today and asked that a curb be laid along his Calumet Road frontage, and also asking that a granolithic sidewalk be constructed in front of this property also. This matter was laid over until such time as sidewalk and curbing matters are to be taken up.

The meeting adjourned at 10:40 P. M.

Clerk of Selectmen.

M. C. W. G. BANQUET

Winchester Branch, No. 11, Massachusetts Catholic Womans' Guild celebrated its first anniversary Thursday evening, May 18th by giving a banquet and dance in the K. of C. Home on Vine street. The Knights kindly gave over the entire lower floor to the reception committee and their guests. The banquet, with plates laid for 150, was held in the main hall.

Mrs. Cecilia M. Kenneally, Regent of the Branch fulfilled her duties as Toastmistress in a very pleasing and able manner and was assisted by Mrs. Clara Hayes, chairman of the banquet committee. The present board of officers were seated at the guest table as were also Past Regent, Mrs. Elizabeth F. Blake, and Past V. R. Mrs. Sarah J. Barrett.

Among the many prominent speakers present were the Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of St. Mary's Church, who spoke of the merits of the organization and of the high esteem in which it is held by His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell. He also gave mirth-provoking reminiscences of the day the Branch was instituted here. District Deputy, Mrs. Nora E. Gallagher, representing State Regent, Mrs. Mary F. Handschumacher, gave a resume of the charitable work accomplished in the State and emphasized the importance of retaining the services of the present State Regent, who was unable to attend on account of illness. The Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons spoke of the importance of increasing the membership of the Branch, unselfishly offering his services to that end; and the Rev. Joseph A. Quigley's remarks were also of a very encouraging nature and greatly appreciated by members of this Branch. Mr. Charles T. Daly, of the Boston Globe gave an interesting discourse on the present day tendency to give undue importance to material interests and to overlook the existence of spiritual matters. Mr. Chas. J. Harrold, Winchester's popular stage director, gave an inspiring "Toast to the Ladies."

Community singing, lead by Mr. Terrence Cullen, director of the orchestra, was a pleasing feature of the evening. Mrs. Madeline Jackson entertained with a group of songs, Mr. Stanley Johnston sang, and several violin selections were given by Miss Dora Ronco, former entertainer of the "Y. D." and now a member of Keith's Circuit. After the entertainment the hall was cleared and general dancing was enjoyed by all till a late hour.

M. C. W. G. ITEMS

Donation Day at the Working Boys' Home, Newton, takes place Sunday May 28th. Besides the money donation from each Branch of the Guild, each member is expected to bring a Bundle—canned fruits especially solicited. Exercises take place on the lawn, at two-thirty. Automobiles will be waiting at Newton Highlands Square to convey visitors to the grounds. Through the soliciting of Regent C. M. Kenneally the services of Mrs. J. Roy McGrath and Mrs. Madeline Jackson have been obtained as entertainers from Winchester Branch.

The annual State Convention is to be held Saturday June 3rd, at the Hotel Bellevue, Boston, at which time each regent is expected to bring a check from her Branch to the "Vacation Fund for Sickly Children." Delegates from Winchester Branch elected at last meeting are as follows: Regent C. M. Kenneally and Past Regent E. F. Blake, alternates Past Vice Regent S. J. Barrett and Fin. Sec. J. J. Fitzgerald.

A Charity whist is being planned for Thursday evening, June 8th, to take the place of the usual social night. Each member is expected to solicit the attendance of a friend. Mrs. M. Annie Bennett, Mrs. Josephine V. Kane and Mrs. Annie M. Hanlon are joint chairmen of the affair, which will be held in K. of C. Hall, Vine street.

Magnetizing Steel.
Magnetism is put into steel or iron by induction from some other magnet or by electric action. If a piece of steel is brought into the field of a magnet it becomes magnetized, and if it is touched or stroked with one end of the magnet it retains this magnetism. Another method of magnetizing is to wrap the steel in a coil of wire, through which is passed an electric current. The steel gradually and slowly loses its magnetism, particularly if it is heated to a high temperature or is subjected to mechanical treatment such as hammering, twisting, etc.

Ostrich Eggs as Food.
Mr. Gallican, diet expert, who has been experimenting with ostrich eggs supplied by the New York zoological gardens, declares that the food value of the ostrich egg is about the same as that of the domestic hen's egg. The flavor is identical and, although the ostrich eggs contain less protein than meat, they have more fat and a fair amount of phosphorus and iron. One egg will make an omelet sufficient for 20 persons.—The Argonaut.

Worth Knowing.
It is said that marks on a polished or varnished surface may be removed by first rubbing them with a cut lemon and then with a cloth dipped in water.

REMARKABLE GROWTH

Characterizes the 43rd Annual Tour of the Walter L. Main Circus

The name of Main has been a household word in the east for the past forty-three years whenever the thoughts flew circus-ward. Organized in 1879, first as a wagon show, it has been continuously before the public ever since. Soon after its first venture on the rails it was, in less than five minutes, reduced to a pile of wreckage, when the long train went over an embankment, en route to Tyrone, Pa., to be exact, on the morning of May 20th 1893. More than one hundred horses were killed, all the animals escaped, and were subsequently shot, and seven employees are now sleeping in the cemetery in that city.

The Pennsylvania restored the show and in less than two weeks, it was again on the road. A few years ago, Walter L. Main increased it in size till it now requires 35 double length cars to transport all of the paraphernalia and this season has an added attraction. Wilson's Wild Animal Show, in itself a big feature.

The big circus will appear Monday June 5th in Cambridge, and it is expected will duplicate the big business of former years when the big tent was taxed to capacity. This year the show presents an entirely new outfit, as regards tents and performance, with added seating capacity, furnishing accommodation for 5000 patrons. Its street parade has been doubled in size, its circus performance will present an unusually attractive array of all foreign acts, and the menagerie, always adequate, this season displays fourteen dens of jungle beasts. Every lover of a horse will revel in the display of thoroughbreds which fill the show's four stables, and some of the greatest riders in the world are scheduled to appear in the three rings at every performance.

So that every one may be in time to witness the great street parade, this feature will not appear till noon on the day of exhibition.

SURPRISE PARTY

Miss Sarah Quinn was the victim of a pleasant surprise at her home, 46 Houghton street, Friday evening. As the young lady entered her house she was deluged with presents of all descriptions, the affair being planned to honor the young lady in view of her approaching marriage to Edward G. Boyle of Winchester.

Guests were present from Woburn, Malden, Somerville, Quincy and Lynn. Following the presentation, a congenial evening followed. The guests contributed toward making the evening one of joy and refreshments were served. Among the many beautiful gifts presented Miss Quinn was a handsome dinner set.

Miss Quinn will become one of the June brides, when she will become the wife of Edward G. Boyle. Mr. Boyle is Grand Knight of Winchester Council, K. of C. and is prominent in Winchester American Legion circles.

THE MESSAGE OF DEATH

(Written for the Winchester Star.)

Oh! Come not for me, thou monster Death,
With your icy touch and your blasting breath:
For a thousand attachments have bound my heart,
And with them, oh ask me not now to part:
For the fondest endearments of earth are mine,
How can I, so soon have them all to resign?
While these social affections so closely entwined,
Come not for me.
When the smiles of welcome I no more meet,
When Love's warm accents shall cease to greet,
And the pulses of Friendship no longer beat,
Then come for me.
But no, Death shall no longer wait—
This day must cease man's mortal fate,
And friends shall gather round the dead,
And bathe with tears the clay-cold head,
Death comes commissioned from on high—
It's message is, "Thou too must die."

WINCHESTER COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

An invitation is extended by the Methodist Church for the Scouts to attend in a body the Memorial Services of the G. A. R., and other organizations, on Sunday May 28th at 7 P. M., at Waterfield Hall.

All Scouts are to assemble at the Scout Headquarters at 6:30 P. M., in full uniform and will march to the Hall in a body.

Memorial Day

At the request of the Scout Council all Scouts in Winchester are requested to take part in the Memorial Day Parade, Tuesday, May 30th, at 2 P. M. The parade will form in front of the Town Hall; Scouts will assemble at the Scout Headquarters at 1:30 P. M., in full uniform, and march in their patrol, each patrol being requested to have their pennant properly mounted so as to be used in the parade.

Troop 1

Troop One will hold their regular meeting, Saturday May 27 at 7:15 at Winchester High School gymnasium. This troop is becoming very ambitious. At the present time, to show its prowess as musicians, it is forming a drum and bugle corps. This laudible ambition on their part is to be commended and possibly there are other scouts in Winchester who would be interested in belonging to such an organization. If so, please get in communication with Mr. Howard Bennett.

The semi-monthly Court of Honor will be held Friday May 26, in the Headquarters room at 7 p.m.

A hike under direction of Scout Masters Bennett and Smith will start from Headquarters at 12:30 p.m. on Saturday May 27. All Scouts invited.

MAY PARTY

Two hundred members of St. Mary's Catholic Society, as guests of their Director, Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons, enjoyed a very pretty May Party and Dance in White's Hall last Friday night. Bernie Cullen, the Club cheerleader, headed the committee of ten and conducted an exquisite concert of twelve numbers.

Marie Logue, Tom Gigliotti, Hazel McKenzie, Bernie Cullen, Mary Boyle, Carlene McKinnon, James Callahan and Margaret McDonnell pleased with their vocal, instrumental and dancing selections, while Perry's orchestra furnished music for the Dance. Reverend Fathers Merritt, Fitzgibbons and Quigley attended.

WINCHESTER IN FIRST PLACE

Winchester's win on Saturday, coupled with Woburn's 7 to 6 win over the Wakefield team puts our boys in first place. The Victory over Watertown assists them in their fight for the championship. Winchester has Arlington, Woburn and Wakefield to play yet, and the loss of one of those games may be fatal to them. The league standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Per Cent
Winchester H. S.	8	1	.857
Woburn H. S.	7	1	.875
Wakefield H. S.	3	1	.750
Melrose H. S.	2	3	.400
Arlington H. S.	1	4	.200

Rightly used, gas makes the most economical light in the world. It is the nearest light to daylight; is considered by many authorities to be the most healthful, as it serves to ventilate rooms by keeping the air in gentle circulation; and is the most flexible of lighting methods, since from one burner properly equipped with a gas mantle you can obtain as much or as little light as you desire.

Rightly used, gas is also the perfect fuel for cooking and heating, the only one that is one hundred per cent fuel. You do not have to store or handle it. It is ignited in a second, burns only as long as you want it, is always under perfect control, contains no smoke or soot, and leaves no ashes.

THE SCHOOL SITUATION

Friday Night's Hearing

On Friday night the School Committee granted a hearing to the members of the original citizens committee, their purpose being to hear the objection and facts concerning the matter. There were present at this hearing the entire School Committee, town counsel Pike, the members of the citizens committee—Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lefavour, Mrs. H. Wadsworth Hight, Mr. R. E. Simonds, Mr. G. R. Ferguson, Mr. H. C. Rohman and Mr. M. P. Stevens. Also attending were representatives of the STAR and the Boston Globe.

Mr. Smith opened the hearing by presenting a written statement in favor of the retention of Mr. Thompson as principal. He cited various departments and activities at the school wherein Mr. Thompson had bettered and raised the school standards. He concluded by asking the School Committee if they would retain Mr. Thompson as principal if a majority of High School parents desired. The committee reserved its answer.

It was then requested that the reasons for Mr. Thompson's dismissal as principal be given. The Committee requested Mr. Thompson's consent to this in writing, and Mr. Rohman went to Mr. Thompson's house and secured such written consent. Upon its receipt the Town Counsel objected to the committee giving out the reasons until they had been put in a written form, in anticipation of a hearing to be granted Mr. Thompson June 19th. This led to some discussion, and the Committee stated that the reasons would be ready for the Citizens Committee in a week or ten days.

During the interim, while Mr.

Thompson's consent was being obtained, there was some discussion over the matter of other changes in the teaching staff. The Committee explained that it desired to extend every courtesy and to give these teachers nothing but fair play, and could only give out their reasons for the changes upon the authorization of the teachers. Mr. Smith asked what were the aims of the Committee in making these sweeping changes to which Mr. Guild replied "for the improvement of the schools."

The matter of the standing of Miss Marjorie N. Weeks of the English department was then brought up, a request being made as to why she had been demoted. The Committee replied that her status was identical with her present position—she would teach the same studies at the same pay. The only change contemplated was to departmentalize the English department by placing a man teacher at the head.

Mr. Smith asked if the Committee thought there was harmony between the present principal and the teachers, to which the Committee replied that there appeared to be no lack of harmony. Mr. Smith asked if the Committee felt that the scholars had great respect and love for the principal, to which the Committee replied that it did. Mr. Smith thought it much better to rule a school through love and harmony than fear.

Mr. Smith asked why the great changes were made all at once, referring specifically to Mr. Thompson, Miss Weeks, Mrs. Lester and Miss Allison. Mr. Barbour replied that five teachers out of a total of 70 had not been asked to return. He thought this a small percentage. Mr. Smith stated that it appeared that messages and letters from the Board would result in other changes.

Mr. Stevens said he understood that prior to the letters of the School Board, Supt. Faussey had conveyed to the teachers information that their resignations would be acceptable. He had been told that Mr. Faussey had told the teachers their resignations would be welcome. The committee said, that if resignations were expected they would be asked for.

The question was asked if opportunity was given any of the teachers to explain their shortcomings, or were they censured without such opportunity. The Committee stated that the teachers always had opportunity to explain, and had been given notice of their findings. The Committee's action was not based upon criticisms by Mr. Faussey.

Mr. Rohman asked if Mr. Thompson knew the reasons for his dismissal. The reply was that he did; that he had met with the Committee for two hours on Monday night.

The question was asked if Superintendent Faussey had not criticised teachers in front of their classes. The Committee replied that it was certain that he had not. Mr. Ferguson asked the committee if Mr. Thompson's position would be open until June 19th. The Committee replied that it could not answer, but no one had been approached to fill it yet.

Various members of the Committee—Mrs. Root, Mr. Carpenter and Mrs. Zuehl—then paid warm praise that he had always been thoughtful of teachers, never critical and was an able educator.

It was then stated, after some discussion, that Miss Weeks, Mrs. Lester and Miss Allison were not demoted or replaced; the hope had been expressed only that they would improve in their work and justify the Committee's action.

It was not felt that the teachers were in thorough accord with the opinions given by the committee regarding the Superintendent, and it was asked that if teachers came before the Committee and presented evidence contrary to what opinions had been expressed, would the Committee hold prejudice. The Committee replied in writing that it would not.

Mr. Simonds then read a letter to the effect that a gentleman by the name of Slade, of New Britain, Conn., had stated that he was resigning from the schools of that place and as head of the Boy Scouts there to take the principalship of the Winchester High School; furthermore that another position in this town had been extended to him in connection with it. The inference regarding the other position was that he would head the local Boy Scouts. Did the Committee know of this matter?

The Committee stated that it never heard of any Mr. Slade, and to its knowledge there was no foundation to the letter. The Committee also stated that he had not been engaged by Superintendent Faussey.

Following this discussion the meeting closed in anticipation of Saturday night's mass meeting at the Town Hall.

Saturday Night's Mass Meeting

Saturday night's mass meeting in protest over the recent removal of Principal Edward E. Thompson as head of the High School was attended by about 700 persons. The meeting was thoroughly representative, and with the exception of one gallery fairly well filled with boys—presumably of High School age—the attendance comprised parents of scholars now attending our schools.

Mr. Francis E. Smith, instigator of the movement to reinstate Principal Thompson, opened the meeting at eight, suggesting the nomination and election of a chairman. Mr. Merton P. Stevens was nominated and elected and Mr. George R. Ferguson was appointed clerk.

Mr. Smith opened by stating the purpose of the meeting as supporting Principal Thompson, reading a list of qualifications which he and his preliminary committee had judged sufficient to warrant his retention as head of the High School. Originally, he explained, the meeting had been called to consider the presentation to the School Committee of the petition to this end. As the preliminary committee had received a hearing before the School Committee, he would therefore read a summary of that hearing before proceeding further.

He summarized the hearing of Friday night, saying that the School Committee had made no direct reply to statements made by the committee. He felt with regard to Principal Thompson that Winchester is losing a fine man and educator with no prospect of replacing him.

As the preliminary committee had no delegated authority to act as representing the Town, chairman Stevens suggested the selection of a permanent committee and that definite instructions be given it. This was moved by Mr. W. A. Lefavour, who made a motion for a committee of seven, empowered to fill vacancies and carry out the wishes of the meeting. It was proposed that this committee be nominated by a committee of three, one to be named by the chairman and the other two from the floor.

This was voted. The Chairman named Mrs. W. A. Lefavour and nominated were J. A. Laraway, H. C. Rohman, F. E. Smith, H. W. Hight, R. E. Simonds and Henry Maguire. Mrs. Lefavour, Mr. Laraway and Mr. Rohman were elected and withdrew to make their nominations.

At this point Rev. William S. Packer desired to speak upon Mr. Smith's report of the hearing granted the preliminary committee. He felt that one of the most important points of this hearing had been slurred over—the matter of college preparation in the High School. This, he said, could be definitely measured. High School teachers themselves had declared in his hearing that not one-fifth of the High School scholars had the mentality to go to college. He felt this raised a point to consider regarding the teaching staff.

Mr. Sanderson, at this point, arose to state that the speaker was out of order, which was sustained by the chair. Mr. Packer thought the decision was indicative of "gag" rule, but he received no sympathy from the audience, and was forced to bid the meeting "good night" and retire.

Mr. Thomas H. Barrett also had something to say relative to both Mr. Packer and the point of order, but he too, was not in touch with either the meeting or its subject, although he favored its purpose, and was ruled out of order.

Mr. Clarence E. Hill then moved acceptance of Mr. Smith's report, which settled that matter.

Mr. Smith then moved that the committee be instructed to use its best efforts to obtain the reelection of Mr. Thompson and to collect the facts regarding the teachers as follows:

- (1) The Committee is to devote its best efforts to secure the reelection of Mr. Thompson as Principal of the Winchester High School.
- (2) The Committee is to collect such facts as are available bearing upon the recent criticisms which have been made regarding the fitness of certain teachers to remain in the Winchester School System and aid, in as far as they may, toward acquiring the members of the School Committee with the teachers' point of view in the matter.
- (3) The Committee is authorized to take such steps as it deems best to assist in establishing relations of the utmost cordiality and confidence throughout the School System.

Mr. W. L. Tuck spoke to the motion, lauding Mr. Thompson and his work in the High School. Mr. Laraway offered an amendment to the motion "made any way to get rid of the Superintendent." He spoke at length and his caustic remarks concerning Superintendent Faussey were received with great and prolonged applause, cat-calls, whistles and stamping.

Mr. Smith opposed Mr. Laraway's amendment. Mr. Laraway replied and stated that he would never send a child of his to school if the present Superintendent remains.

Mr. Henry Maguire thought no finer teacher ever taught in the High School than Mr. Thompson and favored Mr. Laraway's motion. Mr. W. L. Parsons opposed the motion, warning the meeting that it was hearing but one side of the situation. The motion was opposed in turn by Mr. Amasa Harrington and Mr. Charles E. Kendall and Mr. Laraway finally agreed to withdraw it, giving notice that he would again present it.

The original motion was then carried and immediately Mr. Laraway presented his motion for superintendent Faussey's removal under instruction to the committee to secure his resignation.

Mrs. J. F. Ryan spoke for Mr. Faussey, saying she had confidence and respect for the Superintendent. Mr. H. S. Chapman denied that Mr. Faussey ever recommended the re-

CORD TIRES

The tire section above at the left shows the condition of a Firestone 33x4 1/2 Cord Tire after 20,994 miles on a Yellow Cab in Chicago.

The section at the right was cut from a new Cord of the same size. Careful measurements show that only 1/3 of the tread of the tire on the Yellow Cab has been worn away after this long, grueling test. The carcass is intact after more than 11,000,000 revolutions.

Firestone Cords have averaged over 10,000 miles on Chicago Yellow Cabs (1,200 cabs all Firestone equipped). In thousands of instances, they have given from 15,000 to 30,000 miles.

Look at the tread—scientifically angled against skid, massive and heavy in the center where the wear comes, tapered at the edges to make steering easy and to protect the carcass against destructive hinging action of high tread edges. The carcass is air bag expanded to insure uniform tension and paralleling of every individual cord. It is double "gum dipped" to make sure that each cord is thoroughly insulated with rubber.

This is the reason why Firestone Cords unfailingly deliver extraordinary mileage. It explains the unanimous demand of thoughtful tire buyers for these values. The local Firestone dealer will continue to provide the personal service that makes Firestone tire comfort and economy complete.

"WORKED LIKE MIRACLE" SAYS SYRACUSE MAN

Praises Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules for Dyspepsia

"I have suffered considerably with dyspepsia for the past four years until I heard of and was advised to try your LITTLE WONDER CAPSULES, and they worked like a miracle, as I am now able to eat everything without any bad effects. I am recommending your LITTLE WONDERS to all my friends."

This is an exact copy of a letter written by E. Manning, of 954 Lancaster avenue, Syracuse, N. Y., to the Jaques Capsule Co., Inc. Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules were originated by W. B. Jaques, a prominent druggist of Plattsburg, N. Y., nearly 20 years ago. He at that time suffered with severe stomach trouble and tried many remedies without relief. After making an exhaustive study of the causes of dyspepsia and indigestion Mr. Jaques compounded this formula and secured prompt relief. Then he began to sell the capsules in his drug store. The results were so uniformly satisfactory, and the demand grew so large that the capsules are being manufactured and sold on a large scale to relieve the stomach ills of the general public.

Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules are quick, sure relief for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, heartburn, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness after eating, and biliousness. There is no fuss or bother, you simply take one or two capsules and a swallow of water. Prompt, satisfying results are guaranteed or money refunded.

Order Memorial Day Flowers Early

WE WISH to thank our many friends for their patronage and regret that it was impossible for us to furnish flowers enough to meet the large demand for Mothers' Day, being obliged to send away many disappointed customers.

As flowers are perishable we can not keep a large stock in advance but must have them engaged from the growers to be delivered to us on day wanted.

Please place your Memorial Day Orders early and we will be better prepared to fill them satisfactorily.

THE SCHOOL SITUATION

removal of Mr. Thompson. Mr. Laraway asked Mr. Chapman for one reason why Mr. Thompson should be removed. Mr. Chapman stated that he was not seeking the removal of Mr. Thompson.

Mrs. H. L. Tibbets then stated that she could prove that Superintendent Faussey had told Mr. Thompson before he left on his vacation last summer that his resignation would be asked for. She knew that Superintendent Faussey had been antagonistic to Mr. Thompson and that he had another man he wanted to put in. Mr. Thompson was too good for the Committee. It was better that Mr. Faussey should go.

Mrs. H. T. Bond spoke in support of Mr. Thompson and Mr. Smith warned the meeting that Mr. Faussey had had no opportunity to state his side of the case, to which Mr. Laraway questioned "has Thompson had any opportunity to state his?"

Mr. F. W. Carrier, another speaker, stated that in his opinion as a teacher and as a principal of a school that Mr. Faussey appeared in the position of a scape goat for the School Committee, as its delegated authority to carry out its instructions. Mr. Arthur E. Gates lauded Mr. Thompson and opposed Mr. Laraway's motion. Mr. Laraway's motion was then tabled.

Mr. R. E. Simonds moved that the petition favorable to Mr. Thompson be presented to the School Committee, which was voted. Mr. Tuck then offered a motion conveying the greetings of the meeting to Mr. Thompson and its desire that he remain in his present position.

The citizens committee was then voted upon, the nominations having been made, and the following were elected: Mr. M. P. Stevens, Mr. Stanley Fitch, Mrs. D. W. Comins, Mrs. H. T. Bond, Mr. Patrick Noonan, Mr. James Hinds and Mr. H. C. Rohrman.

Mr. Stevens then reminded the parents of High School children that it had been planned to show loyalty to Mr. Thompson by a strike on Monday, but that any such expression could be better carried out by a diligent attention to studies, and he urged all parents to see that their children did not take part in any strike or participate in any demonstration.

The meeting then adjourned, subject to another call if necessary.

COUNTRY FAIR

Somewhat of a novelty is a Country Fair in June but out at Llewellyn Lodge in Bedford, the Rest Home of the Frances E. Willard Settlement, there is to be one held on Saturday, June 3 from 10 to 5 at which will be the usual attractions for such an occasion as well as some added features.

The Lodge is in itself a large farm and there will be ample space for Pony Rides and Grabs as well as for the Avenue of Fakes where will be found the numerous side shows, such as Punch and Judy, Fortune Telling, Secret Tunnel, Purple Cow, Photographers' Camp, etc.

From 3 to 5 there will be a radio-phonograph concert and during the afternoon folk dancing by the children from the Settlement in Boston and a barn dance. The products of Llewellyn Lodge industries will be on sale; these consist of hand woven linens, rugs and lingerie. There will also be an attractive exhibit from Concord of old time needle work of various kinds, including samplers, quilts and shawls.

During the middle of the day a cafeteria lunch will be served and there will be an afternoon tea. All day there will be on sale cookies, doughnuts and cakes from Grandma's Cupboard, as well as all kinds of toys, domestic and fancy articles.

Llewellyn Lodge is on the Old Billerica Road, about two miles from the Bedford Station. Auto busses will meet trains at the Bedford Station and trolleys at Lexington Park.

MUST CURB MUNICIPAL EXPENDITURE

Boston—City and town expenditures are increasing at such a rate that something must be done to curb it, according to several speakers before House committee on ways and means. Representative Bates of Salem, for the municipal finance committee which reported the resolve for the special recess legislative committee to investigate the subject, told of the rapid increase of municipal expenditures far in excess of the increase and population as reason for trying to find some way of holding in check this tendency.

Charles H. Adams, chairman of the legislative committee on taxation of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, put the committee on record for the bill. [Boston News Bureau.]

GROCERIES STREWN ABOUT STREET

A big truck, loaded high and heavily with groceries of every kind, got out of control of its driver early Tuesday morning on the Black Horse hill and ran clear to the railroad crossing in the center, spilling its load along the way. From the Black Horse terrace to the center, groceries of every kind dotted the street, there being specially large collections at the Washington street turn and at the electric car turnout at Fairview terrace.

The truck was owned by the Prior Transportation Co., and was driven by Thomas Connolly of East Cambridge. As the truck started down the hill the brakes refused to work according to his story, and the truck ran wild. When he attempted to turn for the electric turnout one of the side stakes broke, and from then on his load gradually dropped into the street.

Fully one-half the big load was dropped off and the damage was estimated at $300 to $400 dollars. The final spill deposited a big tub of lard right in the center. Men and trucks were busy half the morning collecting and salvaging the load.

METCALF UNION

The annual meeting of the Metcalf Union was held Friday evening May 5th in Metcalf Hall. The meeting was preceded by a dinner for the young people and dancing followed. The following officers were elected for 1922-23: James Joslin, president; Ruth Chamberlin, vice president; Delores Maddocks, secretary; Herbert Miller, treasurer. Clinton Mason was elected as delegate to Star Isles, Isles of Shoals, this summer.

Secretary's Annual Report

At the last annual meeting Clinton S. Mason was elected President, and Herbert K. Miller, Secretary and Treasurer.

The annual report of the Metcalf Union for 1921-22 is very creditable. In the first place, our religious life has improved, members come more and more regularly to the Sunday meetings and seem to show much interest in that part of our work.

The social activities of the Union this year have been many. We started the year with the annual dance and entertainment the night after Thanksgiving. One long play "The Boob" was given in place of the usual vaudeville and proved very successful.

The other large affair was in the form of a Tea Garden Dance given March 25th, and although this was a new venture, it proved a very popular one.

Other socials took place during the year all of which were well attended.

The Junior girls gave a play and entertainment for the benefit of their French orphan. This money was voted into the general treasury and this charity was added to the list of our others.

This year special interest has been shown in Star Island. The Ladies' Friendly agreed to double any amount we made up to $25.00. We made enough to do this and to send a delegate from our own union this summer.

All the bills for the various standing debts have been paid. These include: Winchester Hospital, Young P. R. U., flowers for church at special occasions and other charities. And we still have money in the Treasury.

The Metcalf Union chorus is something new and will sing at the Easter and Children's Sunday services of the Church.

Respectfully submitted,
Herbert K. Miller, Secretary.

A HAPPY REUNION

Mrs. Ami Winn of Marion street is entertaining three brothers from California. They are Mr. Joseph Kyle, 80 years old from San Francisco, William, 74 years old from Oakland, and Thomas, 70 years old from Petaluma. All these gentlemen went to California many years ago settled there and prospered, and came here for a family reunion. They have five sisters living in Massachusetts whom they will divide their time among this summer. A large family reunion will be held at Kamepiff, Quincy, June 8th where all the living relatives will gather. Mr. Joseph Kyle attended the encampment of his old regiment in the Civil war, the 1st reg. Co. D on Thursday in Boston.

RADIO CONCERT

The boys of the Winchester Post of the American Legion who attend the meeting at 7:45 at the Legion House tonight will enjoy a Radio Concert Program which will be broadcast by the Amrad Station at Medford Hills.

This meeting will prove of unusual interest, and there is some talk of possibly purchasing a radio outfit for the Club House for the use of the members.

AN AUTO MAP

We had sent to us last year an auto map. At that time we had a Yellow Book, a Purple Book, a Pond-McCauley map, and many others. But as soon as we opened this new map we were struck with its simplicity and convenience. We soon regarded it as the most necessary equipment of our car.

This week we received an order of these maps and placed them on sale. The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

DEMOCRACY?

Editor of the Star:

The purpose of a referendum is to ascertain the will of the majority; is the result to award the decision to the minority?

The present Wyman School is conveniently located; the west side center of population may be now, and certainly will be soon, further west. What will the future think of us if we build a school near the east edge? West siders, do you desire to reconsider?!

Another View of Selfishness.

Selfishness does not always apply to the man who is unwilling to share his belongings with others, but it also applies to the man who may have some practical ideas and will not pass them on to his neighbor.

Rev. Murray W. Dewart, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, will preach his last sermon here this coming Sunday morning, before taking up his new pastorate at Baltimore, where he has accepted a call to Christ Church.

The final meeting and dinner of the Epiphany Men's Club will be held on Thursday evening next, June 1, at 6:30 o'clock. The feature of the meeting will be a farewell observance to the rector, Rev. Murray W. Dewart.

For Ten Dollars and Ninety Cents—This 30 x 3½ Usco

THE 30 x 3½ tire situation today is just this—

The man who buys an USCO at $10.90 is justified in believing that his money is going farther in tire value than it ever has gone or could go before.

Naturally he appreciates the quality of USCO. That was established long ago.

It is still fresh in his mind that USCO led the national market into the $10.90 price range.

The makers of U.S. Tires always intended the 30 x 3½ USCO to be the highest value in its field.

At $10.90 it creates a new classification of money's worth.

AUSTIN: LITTLE-KNOWN AMERICAN "WORLD CAPITAL"

"Austin, third Texas city to be imperiled by the forces of nature in little more than a week, has played an important, but not generally known, part in American history," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, in regard to the capital of Texas, the outskirts of which were struck by a cyclone.

When Washington, capital of the United States, was little more than a village of mud streets between 1836 and 1846, says the bulletin, Austin was a similar "world capital," the seat of government of the independent Republic of Texas, which for ten years existed as the fellow nation of the United States. Ministers and special envoys were accredited to the Republic by the United States and half a dozen or more of the leading nations of Europe; and the forms and amenities of world diplomacy were carried out punctiliously in the little capital.

Most of the legations have been torn down now to make way for modern buildings but traditions still linger of the efforts of the French and British ministers to gain the greater influence with the young republic, and of the watchfulness of the representative of the United States to see that no loopholes were created to facilitate an attack on the Monroe Doctrine. Descendants of some of the families of the diplomats are residents of the city today.

Selected Like District of Columbia
Like the District of Columbia, Austin was located by special commissioners charged to select a creditable site for the future seat of the republic's government. This was immediately after independence had been won from Mexico. They chose a tract on the Colorado River among gently rolling hills just below where the stream breaks from a range of low mountains. So the modern city, set on its series of heights, has for a background a great sweep of purple hills that adds greatly to its scenic attractiveness.

But these hills have a more utilitarian aspect than that of a picturesque setting for the capital of Texas. In past geologic times a tremendous cataclysm occurred which formed a 500 foot cliff for 500 miles across Texas along the line of the eastern edge of these now rounded hills. This is the Balcones Escarpment, fast becoming a commonplace term in financial districts; for along its line have been discovered nearly all of the great Texas oil fields that have spouted and are spouting their millions of barrels of petroleum.

Street Preserves Memory of Republic
Austin preserves a memory of the only republic to enter the United States in the name of its principal street: Congress Avenue. Along this thoroughfare were situated the congressional halls of the nation. At the head of this avenue, on the crest of a commanding hill, is the present State capitol. Its architecture, like that of many other state capitols, is largely borrowed from the Capitol at Washington, and it is almost as extensive, being the largest of the 49 State houses.

Texas, being a sovereign nation, was the only one of the States to reserve for itself its public domain. One of the important State functions, therefore, has been the maintenance of a Land Office like that of the Federal Government. The State capitol is a monument to this unique condition, for the State was able to obtain its huge government building without the expenditure of a cent of money by "bartering" to a construction syndicate a tract of 3,000,000 acres. This was a negligible portion of the public domain, though it covered an area more than twice the size of Delaware. It was kept intact for years by its private owners and constituted the most extensive cattle ranch in existence.

Has Huge Dam
The present-day Austin is credited with a resident population of 35,000, but the presence of 5,000 students of the State University and the inmates of more than half a dozen State institutions carries the total during the greater part of the year close to the 50,000 mark.

Across the gorge of the Colorado River just west of Austin is one of the largest of American dams, which forms in the mountain-rimmed canyon a lake 30 miles long. It was constructed by the municipality as a source of water and power, but with the numerous mountain streams emptying into it, it constitutes a popular playground as well. The breaking of the dam a decade and a half ago is the only other natural calamity that has befallen the city. The losses were confined to the river bottoms. Since then the structure has been replaced and heightened.

Do It Now.
You will notice on the desks of many successful business men, and others who have an inclination to be successful, the words: "Do It Now," and most of them are endeavoring to live up to the motto. It is an excellent suggestion to one who is in the habit of always putting off until tomorrow what should be done today. In addition to the terse little sentence, "Do It Now," might be added another phrase, which from its various applications has become more or less slang, but it is business, just the same, and applies to many employees, and that is "Get Busy." The old song of "The Water Mill" is true. The mill will never grind with the water that has passed. The minutes that are wasted we can never have again.—Thrill Magazine.

Etiquette of Sealing Wax.
In the days when all correspondence was sealed, there was etiquette about the use of sealing wax. Royalty would give some favorite courtier the sole right to use a certain colored wax, and officers of the state would each have distinguished colors, in much the same way as staff officers of the army wear colored "tabs" nowadays.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

Pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Edward C. Fletcher to J. Henry Miles, dated June 25th, 1913, and recorded in Middlesex South District Deeds book 3861 page 23, which said mortgage has been assigned to Forrest N. Adams by assignment dated June 25, 1913 to be recorded herewith, will be sold at public auction on the premises first hereinafter described, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same on Tuesday, June 13, 1922 at eight o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the real estate described in said mortgage.
Two certain tracts or parcels of land situated in Winchester in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The first is located on the corner of Sheffield Road and Sheffield West and is bounded and described as follows: Easterly on Sheffield Road one hundred and nineteen and 27/100 (119.27) feet; Southerly on land formerly of Gerrish, now of Metcalf, one hundred and twenty-eight and 1/100 (128.1) feet; Westerly on land now or formerly of Spaulding sixty (60) feet; Northwesterly on Sheffield West one hundred and twenty-six and 3/100 (126.3) feet; Northwesterly, Northerly and Northeasterly on a curved line having a radius of eighteen and 4/100 (18.4) feet, at the junction of Sheffield Road and Sheffield West, 29-100 (129.1) feet, as shown on plan of land by Ernest W. Bowditch, Engineer, dated October 28, 1908, and duly recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds.

Being the same premises conveyed to me by deed of John Abbott, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 3656, page 563, and subject to the restrictions referred to in said deed.
The second parcel is situated on the Southerly side of Sheffield West and is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a stone bound about one hundred twenty-six and 3/100 (126.3) feet from the westerly side of Sheffield Road, thence running southerly, bounded easterly by other land of said Fletcher, sixty (60) feet, to a stone bound; thence running westerly, bounded Southerly by land of L. H. Spaulding, seventy (70) feet to a stone bound; thence running northerly, bounded westerly by land now supposed to belong to one Cobb, thirteen and 31/100 (13.31) feet to Sheffield West and a stone bound; thence running northeasterly by a slightly curved line along Sheffield West, eighty-three and 5/100 (83.05) feet to the point of beginning; containing twenty-four hundred fifty-two (2452) square feet of land, all of said measurements more or less. Being the premises conveyed to me by deed of Frank L. Ripley and Frederick E. Hovey recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 3665, page 21. Terms made known at time and place of sale.

WADLEIGH AND PRINCE TRACK MEET

This year our Track meet will be held on June 12th from 3:45 on in order that as many mothers and fathers as possible can be on hand to see their youngsters run and jump. The youngsters will be matched in their events this year according to their weight. This means your little fellow can run against another little fellow instead of the big fellow in his class who lives next door and who has always been able to beat him. This, obviously, is fair to both the little fellows and the big fellows and certainly it will make for more hotly contested events.

The two schools will be divided into two teams, the Reds, composed of rooms 1, 2, 7, 8 of the Wadleigh and room 1 of the Prince, the blues, composed of rooms 3, 4, 5, 6 of the Wadleigh and rooms 2 and 3 of the Prince.

The following is a list of the events to be contested.

DEATH'S ONWARD MARCH

(Written for the Winchester Star)

There is a power whose mighty sway

Enfolds the Earth, which all obey:

From God who on his gilded throne

Surveys a realm he calls his own,

To the poor houseless one that prays

For daily bread, and lonely strays—

That power is Death, an awful name,

With our first parents' sin it came,

In just fulfillment of their doom—

"Dust unto dust" the grave's dark gloom.

Death's march is onward, none withstand

His fearful, cold, and icy hand.

And where his brandished arrows fall,

Sorrow and dread the soul appal.

Farewell scenes of Earth, with all the bright

And joyous objects of delight,

The hilt, the dale, the verdant green.

The waving forest's brightening sheen.

The laughing weed with all its flowers,

And crystal founts and shady bowers;

The dancing rivulet that leaps

Now gaily on, now placidly sleeps.

And sparkling in the sunbeam's ray,

Bright emblem of our early day—

These all must fade, and from man's sight,

Will vanish like the clouds that fly,

Across the smiling Summer sky.

—Eugene Berkeley Willard.

Philosophy a Gratifying Indulgence.

The second great discovery of the Greek thinkers was metaphysics. Nowadays metaphysics is revered by some as our noblest effort to reach the highest truth, and scorned by others as the silliest of wild goose chases. I am inclined to rate it, like smoking, as a highly gratifying indulgence to those who like it, and as indulgences go, relatively innocent.—Prof. J. H. Robinson in "Mind in the Making."

SHERIFF'S SALE

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Middlesex, ss. April 24, A. D. 1922.
Taken on execution and will be sold by public auction, on Wednesday the seventh day of June A. D. 1922, at one o'clock, P. M., at my office, 20 Second Street in Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, all the right, title and interest that Grace C. Whitney of Winchester in said County of Middlesex, had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the twenty-fourth day of April, A. D. 1922, at one o'clock P. ## WHY THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE?

Editor Winchester Star:

It is apparent that many citizens of Winchester are not familiar with the circumstances which led up to the formation of a Citizens' Committee in connection with the dismissal of Mr. E. E. Thompson as principal of the High School now under discussion. With your permission we will endeavor to briefly set forth the facts.

When it became known that the School Committee had decided to make drastic changes in the faculty of the High School—changes including the dismissal of the principal and several of the teachers, and the invitation to other permanent-tenure teachers to resign—parents of many High School pupils became deeply concerned. They feared that any such sweeping change could break down the morale of the pupils and entire teaching force, and seriously impede the work of the school, to the end that their children's educational progress would be materially retarded.

Furthermore, many parents who were aware of the good work done by certain of those whose resignations have been invited, felt that there must be a misunderstanding somewhere. These citizen-parents actually and properly sought to know more details of the situation.

For the purpose of conferring upon the subject, a group of about 60 gathered in the General Committee Room of the Town Hall on the evening of May 9. At that time it was decided to circulate for signatures a petition asking the School Committee for an opportunity to confer with them. Special attention is called to the fact that this petition for conference, is the only petition which has been circulated.

On the evening of May 16 another and similar gathering took place. The main object of it was to further the circulation of the original petition. Both gatherings were entirely informal, no officers being chosen or committees elected, save one of five members to prepare a short article for the STAR of May 19.

It came about, and entirely without the initiative of any person attending either of the two gatherings, that the School Committee let it be known that they would grant a "hearing" upon the subject on the evening of Friday, May 19th. Feeling that this opportunity to co-operate should not be lost, a group of nine of those who had been in a measure responsible for the circulation of the petition above referred to met the School Committee at the time appointed. It was explained to the School Committee that this group was without any authority of representation.

At that meeting, a representative of the STAR and a reporter for the Boston GLOBE were present, presumably at the invitation of the School Committee. It is unnecessary to give at this time an extended account of what transpired at that meeting in as much as it was well covered in the STAR of May 26th. Suffice it to say that it was clearly brought out that whatever decisions the School Committee had reached were arrived at without making any attempt to ascertain the teachers' side of the story.

Prior to the conference with the School Committee, it had been arranged to have a meeting in the small Town Hall on May 20th of the circulators and signers of the petition in order that a committee might be selected to represent the signers, as it was realized that any conference with the School Committee could not be attended by several hundred persons.

To the complete surprise of those who had arranged for the gathering, the attendance was made up of intelligent, representative citizens in such numbers as to well fill the large Town Hall.

Those in attendance at that meeting are aware that the action taken was limited to the original purpose for which the meeting was called, namely, to select and instruct a representative committee.

It may be well to emphasize by repetition just what is contained in the instructions passed. The instructions are as follows:

1. The committee is to devote its best efforts to secure the reelection of Mr. Thompson as Principal of the Winchester High School.
2. The Committee is to collect whatever facts are available bearing upon the recent criticisms which have been made regarding the fitness of certain teachers to remain in the Winchester School System and aid, in as far as they may, toward acquainting the members of the School Committee with the teachers' point of view in the matter.
3. The Committee is authorized to take such steps as it deems best to assist in establishing relations of the utmost cordiality and confidence throughout the School System.

As far as this committee is aware, no one has questioned the power or jurisdiction of the School Committee or that its members are actuated by any motive except the betterment of the Winchester schools. From facts that have been disclosed in these recent days, many believe that the School Committee must have acted on insufficient, or ex parte, information and that, for the sake of justice to individuals and the best results in the High School next year, further consideration must be given by the School Committee which may result in modifications of their original decisions.

Surely, as an elected body, the School Committee is bound to listen to and be influenced by the electorate. On the other hand, it is eminently fitting that citizens enquire of their representatives the reasons for decisions actual or contemplated and that they make known to their elected representatives their wishes relating to matters of public interest and welfare.

It is the object and purpose of this citizens' committee, representative of many hundreds of citizens of Winchester, parents of High School pupils and friends of our schools, to exercise and act within their prerogatives.

The Citizens' Committee,
Mrs. Herbert T. Bond, Chairman
R. C. Strawbridge, Clerk

KING—RAY

The wedding of Miss Margaret Ray, daughter of Mrs. Edward Warren Ray of Lebanon street, and Delevere King of Quincy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus King, took place last evening at the residence of Selectman Edward B. Smalley, cousin of the bride. The ceremony was performed at eight by Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Reading, formerly pastor of the Winchester Congregational church.

The bride wore a dress of draped cream colored satin, with pearl girdle and court train. Her veil was fastened with a band of pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Howell Field Shepard of Brookline was matron of honor, wearing pink georgette with silver girdle and carrying an arm bouquet of Orphelia roses. Mr. Thomas Dreier of this town was best man. The bride's maids were Miss Ruth Caldwell of Winchester and Mrs. Moses Francis Carr of Brookline. They wore flesh colored net over lavender, with sashes of pink chiffon, and carried old fashioned bouquets of pink, lavender and white sweet peas. Miss Virginia Smalley was flower girl, and was very dainty in lavender organdie with a basket of lavender and white sweet peas. The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Edward Smalley.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony, attended by friends and relatives from this and surrounding places. The couple were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, her grandfather, Mr. Henry Smalley and the parents of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. King left after the reception for their wedding trip, which will include a visit to the Lake Placid Club, N. Y., by motor. They will make their home in Quincy.

TOWN TEAM LOST

The Winchester town team played its first game of the season Memorial Day afternoon, meeting the Charlestown Bennetts and going down to a 5-3 defeat. The local team played ragged ball as a whole, although several of the players showed up brilliantly. Mathews pitched a good game, but failed to receive the necessary support, fumbled grounders and wild throws giving the Bennetts opportunity to score.

Charlie Flaherty knocked a nice home run, the ball going just inside the foul line into the river. Kelley also hit a beautiful wallon, sending the ball over the center fielder's head for three bases.

It is reported today that three of the team have already given up their positions and are to play with other nines next week. This list includes Tansey, Mathews, Kelley and McKenzie. President Priest of the association is also reported as having handed in his resignation.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE GIRL SCOUT COUNCIL

The Annual Meeting of the Girl Scout Council will occur Monday, May 5th at 3:45 at the home of the Commissioner, Mrs. Joseph Ryan, 5 Cliff street. A full attendance of the members of the Council is desired.

NOTICE

Owing to the sudden death of Conant L. Boyer, a member of the entertainment committee, there will be no dance this Saturday evening at the Winchester Boat Club.

An aftermath of the trouble at the Winchester National Bank of several months ago appeared this week when Joseph Adams was petitioned into bankruptcy by three creditors, who allege that while insolvent, January 27th, he transferred to the Winchester National Bank, a creditor, certain personal property with intent to prefer that creditor over others. The claims are respectively for $4200, $15 and $33.23.

CONANT BOYER DEAD

Injured Internally in Auto Accident Memorial Day

Conant L. Boyer of Fletcher street, injured in an auto accident on the afternoon of Memorial Day, died at his home of internal injuries early Wednesday morning. The funeral services are to be held this Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Boyer was riding his motorcycle on Wildwood street between 1:30 and 2 o'clock, going in the direction of Cambridge street to call upon his chum, Ralph E. Purinton. At the corner of Wedgemere avenue he collided head-on with a truck driven by Mr. George Kirkpatrick of Fairmount street, which turned out of Wedgemere avenue towards the center.

In the truck with Mr. Kirkpatrick were his wife, his daughter, Mrs. Isabel Kingsbury, and his granddaughter, Ruth Kingsbury. Mr. Boyer was thrown into the engine hood of the truck and Mrs. Kingsbury was thrown out of the truck, the others were only shaken up.

At first it appeared that no one was seriously injured, Mrs. Kingsbury being in the worst condition with a bad cut on her face, received by broken glass from the windshield and numerous body bruises. She was taken by a passing auto to Dr. Simon's office. Mr. Boyer had a bad gash on his knee, but was able to walk to the house of Mr. Lafayette R. Chamberlin nearby, where he received treatment from Dr. Vernon B. Stewart of Woburn, who arrived at the scene. It was necessary to take several stitches to close the wound.

He later was taken to his home, and during the afternoon and early evening received his friends and did not appear seriously hurt. About one o'clock an internal hemorrhage developed and he died at two, he having received internal injuries.

Mr. Boyer was 24 years of age and was employed at the banking house of Kidder, Peabody & Co., where his late father, Henry B. Boyer, was connected for thirty years. He was born in Cambridge and graduated from the Cambridge Latin School. During the War he served in the Navy and was stationed for most of the time at Block Island. He was a member of the Legion, the Calumet Club and the Winchester Boat Club.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mabel C. Boyer, and two sisters, Miss Constance and Miss Barbara Boyer, both students at Smith College.

This afternoon's services, which will be held at the residence, No. 38 Fletcher street, will be conducted by Rev. George Hale Reed of the Unitarian Church. The remains will be taken to Marshfield Hills, where they will be interred Saturday.

LUNCHEON AND DINNER

Wednesday, at the Winchester Country Club, Mrs. James B. Lord was hostess at a Bridge Luncheon given in honor of her daughter, Miss Irene Lord, who on Saturday evening is to be married to Mr. Franklin J. Lane. Covers were laid for ten, the party including Mrs. C. F. Eberle (Louise Lord), who is to be matron of honor, and the six bridesmaids: Mrs. Daniel Tyler, Jr., of Brookline, Mrs. Howell Shepard (Constance Park) of Allston, Mrs. James Todd, Jr., (Betty Fisk) of Flushing, L. I., Mrs. Harold Sprague of Malden, Miss Virginia Mosman and Miss Constance Lane of Winchester.

Thursday evening Mrs. Charles A. Lane was hostess for a dinner given in honor of Mr. Franklin J. Lane for his ushers, who are Mr. Harold Farnsworth of this town, Mr. Roland P. Lane of Providence, R. I., Dr. Leighton F. Johnson of Norwood, Mr. Philip Coddington of Everett, Mr. Roger Hunnewell of Somerville, Mr. C. Frederic Eberle of Albany and Mr. Jan. T. Friis of Cambridge, who is to be the best man.

FLAG DAY TO BE OBSERVED

Winchester Lodge of Elks will observe Flag Day, June 14th, by fitting exercises in the Town Hall. This first affair of the new lodge will be free and open to the public, it being held in the Town Hall. An invitation is extended to the public and all patriotic organizations to attend. A good program has been arranged for the observance, with good music and speeches, and the affair will be well worth attending. In view of the great interest being shown in the new lodge it is anticipated that a big crowd will be present. The committee in charge includes Messrs. Fred D. Clement, James Hinds, George T. Davidson, Dr. Richard W. Sheehy and Charles Harrold.

A regular meeting of the lodge will be held on Tuesday evening, June 6, at which time final arrangements will be made.

THE SCHOOL SITUATION

No new developments have appeared in the school situation. The citizens committee elected to work in behalf of Principal Edward E. Thompson of the High School and to secure his reinstatement, is holding meetings and collecting data in preparation for its anticipated hearing before the School Committee. The School Committee is reported as preparing its side of the case with care, it being stated that this committee has no animosity or personal feeling in the matter and has no desire to enter into any phase of the situation other than that taken from a purely educational standpoint.

Miss Mary Tea Garden to be opened Friday, June 9th.

deLUTIO—deLOISELLE

The wedding of Mrs. Carolyn G. de Loisele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Addison M. Goldsmith of 14A Park road, and Mr. Henry deLutio of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaspare deLutio, took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace F. Flanders, 19 Lakeview road, the home of the bride's sister, Rev. George Hale Reed of the Unitarian Church performed the ceremony at eight.

The couple were attended by Mr. Earle Brandon Goldsmith, the bride's brother, and Miss Frances Geraldine Street, fiancée of Mr. Goldsmith. The bride wore a wedding dress of cream Spanish lace over flesh pink crepe de chine and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore a beaded tunic over pink satin and carried sweet peas.

The residence was most attractively decorated for the occasion, roses, carnations, fern and palms being used in connection with other summer flowers. The reception followed immediately after the ceremony, the couple being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Flanders. The attendance included a small gathering of about fifty relatives and most intimate friends.

Mr. deLutio is a World War veteran, he being attached to the 59th Artillery. He saw service at St. Michel and the Argonne Forest. Following a trip through the White Mountains, the couple will make their home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ALL DAY PARTY OF BENEDICT CLUB

On Tuesday, May 30th, the Benedict Club gave an all day party for its members at the Club Courts between Park and Governor's Avenues. The festivities started at 9:30 A. M. with men's doubles and mixed doubles tournament. Soon after the women started a croquet tournament and a clock-golf contest was run for both men and women.

The children enjoyed games, stories, races and a May Pole under the direction of Mrs. Ladd, and a hurdy-gurdy furnished music for their dancing and games.

At noon a good lunch was served cafeteria style at the Courts and a good supply of tonic was on hand all day for the thirsty. In the afternoon entertainment was furnished by the famous Yoo Hoo Quartet, accompanied by Mr. Warner on the saxophone and Mr. Stidstone on the piano.

The men's doubles was won by Dr. R. B. Blackler and James Carr; the mixed doubles by Mr. F. J. Moran; and the clock-golf by Mrs. Lucius Smith.

The ladies committee in charge of the refreshments consisted of Mrs. Lucius Smith, Mrs. H. J. Saabye, Mrs. N. K. Morton and Mrs. R. O. Fernandez.

DOES COMMITTEE DESIRE TO SERVE THE TOWN?

Editor of the Star:

If the school committee really desire to serve the town and the best interests of the youth, how can they do so in any more effective way than to retain one whom not only the whole school, teachers as well as pupils, but the whole town wish to have remain as principal of the High School?

That Mr. Thompson has been passing through a trying ordeal, everyone knows. Such trials are real tests of character and he has shown himself in every way the Christian gentleman, not only self restrained, but able to calm all the impetuous youth on the verge of a strike and keep them quietly attending to duty.

If we dismiss summarily and with no good reason a teacher who commends himself alike to pupils and teachers, what can we expect to have in the future? Good teachers will not want to take positions where the tenure is so uncertain.

I am informed by leading teachers that the High School has been efficiently managed, that Mr. Thompson has shown good executive ability. Surely these teachers are better able to judge from daily association with the school than any one who has only occasional contact with it!

The one criticism publicly made is that scholars do not succeed in passing the college entrance examinations. But I am informed by one who has examined the records that the average of our school is as good as that of other High Schools in this vicinity.

I have been interested in this high school for twenty-five years, and have noticed that the scholars who are willing to study get into college without difficulty; but if they put athletics and social pleasures first, they fail.

Then why blame the school? The High School teachers do not have the authority of teachers in the private schools and academies to control and direct the pupils in the study hours beyond the school session. In the public schools that should be the duty of the parents, if the scholars do not themselves feel the responsibility.

For fourteen years, Mr. Thompson has been with us, an exemplary man, one who we can feel is a safe example for our boys and girls. He is so universally respected and beloved that he cannot fail to have much greater influence over our young people than any new man could possibly have.

Can we afford to lose such an asset for character building? I feel that it would be a calamity to the High School and to the town of Winchester.

Sarah B. Harris
Mrs. Charles N.

A Ford touring car owned by Edward Kelley of Hill street and a Ford truck owned by Joseph Gonsalve of Woburn were in collision on Cross street near East street Monday afternoon. Both automobiles were smashed, but neither driver injured.

SUPT. CLARK'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

At their meeting of Monday night the Board of Selectmen accepted the resignation of Supt. of Streets, T. Parker Clarke, requesting that he remain in office until his successor is selected and appointed. Supt. Clarke, who has served the Town for the past seven years, was not reappointed following the election of the new Board of Selectmen in March, and had been working only from week to week. It was this state of affairs which led him to request the Board to define his position, he stating that if he could not be appointed in the regular manner for the year, he felt that he must ask that he be relieved. He will continue as acting Superintendent until his successor is appointed.

Memorial Day was observed by the Boy Scouts of Winchester in assisting the Grand Army men in decorating the graves at Wildwood Cemetery. The boys turned out very well indeed, having 68 Scouts in line. This was the first public appearance of the Drum Corps which is being organized in the Troops. A number of the members of the Council marched with the boys and were led by Mr. M. P. Stevens, President of the Council.

The first aid work which has been taught to the boys was given an opportunity to be actually demonstrated when one of the boys in line was overcome by the heat. The manner in which the First Aid Scouts took care of one of their own comrades in making him comfortable and reviving him and knowing the necessary things to be done spoke very well for their training. The Scout was taken from the line of march and with the assistance of an automobile was taken to his home.

The supper served by the women in the Town Hall to all those participating in the parade was very much appreciated by the Scouts.

All the Scouts of Winchester are invited to attend the Field Day of the Quincy Boy Scouts on Saturday, June 3d. Meet in full uniform at Scout Headquarters at 1 p. m. sharp.

Troop 1

Last Saturday sixteen members of Troop 1 started on a blind hike. The Scouts took the 1:15 train into Boston where they were met by their leader, Mr. Bennett, and were taken on a trip through the Washington street Tunnel and Harvard Subway, viewing the subway through the car windows. At Harvard Square it was rather felt that the hike would consist of a walk back to Winchester from Cambridge. Very much to the boys' delight they were taken to the Harvard Stadium to witness the intercollegiate games which were being held. At the close of the games they went to the baseball diamonds and had an excellent time watching the Harvard-Princeton freshmen in their baseball game.

Troop 3

This Troop is planning an overnight hike to the Camp at Billerica on Saturday, June 3rd. This is another opportunity for the boys to get out in the country and put into actual practise what they have been learning during the Winter in the matter of camping and cooking.

COMING EVENTS

THE SCHOOL SITUATION

May 31, 1922.
Editor of the Winchester Star:
Winchester, Mass.

The School Committee are our representatives, and, no definite issue having lately been raised at the polls, as to their policies or appointees, they have the right to assume that they have, to date, the support of their constituents. Whether or not at a later time issue may be taken, on either point, is quite another matter. From general observation and from past experience for many years on a Board having unusual autocratic powers, it is my feeling that seldom will you find a large sized committee uniting in discharging anyone from his or her position unless from the best of motives; indeed the tendency is to refrain from harming anyone. While we may not always agree with others in matters of judgment, we have no right to infer malice or even lack of study and consideration. It is difficult to escape the conclusion that we should abide by the ultimate decision of the constituted authorities; were it not so serious it would be humorous to hear a glib talker prevail upon voters to adopt his personal view, warped by selfish desire, instead of the studied conclusion of a committee of investigation,—such, for instance, as the Finance Committee,—as to a matter within its province.

In arriving at an ultimate decision, however, all have the right to expect that the School Committee will take advantage of any evidence and consider any views properly presented. Over a thousand citizens, furnishing children and cash, have been sufficiently interested in definite matters of policy and personal to meet together, at expense and trouble, and appoint representatives to confer with the Committee,—such a spectacle is unusual, and of itself discloses that there are two sides. Just as the citizens have no right to infer malice or lack of study on the part of the Committee, so has the Committee no right to infer that such a body from among those whom they represent are swayed entirely by the prattle of school children.

There is a great amount of street talk, which must be discounted considerably; but we are no longer in the dark ages, and where both admittedly have the same interest and goal, it should not be difficult to learn the facts. If either side, so to speak, is "set" in its notions, it is not out of place to remind that obstinacy is no longer deemed a virtue.

Truly yours,
Danforth W. Comins

YOUR AFFAIR AND MINE

Among recent deaths is that of a woman employed as a maid in a New York hotel who left an estate of more than $15,000. She did not leave a will, and no kinsfolk are known to the authorities. Such a case is by no means analogous to the ever-recurring one of the miser who grudges the price of food or fuel while counting and re-counting all that he has in his coffers. In fact, there are many like the woman mentioned who, though financially able to live without earnings, have grown so accustomed to their work that they would dislike to leave it. They would not know what to do, hence dreading the monotony of idleness or the nervous strain of novelty they keep on at their accustomed occupation. The case of the maid servant will be commented on by some Winchester folks who forget the parallel cases among their own acquaintances. In the nearest agricultural county, it may be, a farmer receives several substantial legacies, he may hire more labor, he may save himself some of the exertions of past years, nevertheless he would rather till his own land than go anywhere else in the world. It is quite as true that a sea captain may tread the familiar deck although his savings would permit him to withdraw from a "life on the ocean wave." Of all who withdrew from their accustomed pursuits some—very not a few, are no longer strong enough to work as they have done. In the professions we can see those who gradually lessen their activities yet keep on working to the end. The hotel maid was well aware of this, and may have waited on guests of large incomes who kept at their regular business because they would have been unhappy at any other occupation. Retirement is often merely nominal. There are those who give at least a substantial part of their so-called leisure to work like the old. Naturally enough any one employed in uncongenial lives leaves them if he can, but to a considerable portion of the race the oft-trodden road becomes a pleasant one.

A bank president says that when he looked after a milk route of about 100 customers he learned a great deal about credits, good and bad. No doubt he did. Likewise may a Winchester man who talks with milkmen learn the value of a good name, as precious now as when Solomon spoke. A milkman may be deluded—he may listen to the tale of woe of an artistic liar, but when he finds out that he has been duped he can tell the narrative with merciless accuracy. The individual who, with his milk bill unpaid, buys costly cigars, the woman who, failing to liquidate such an account, purchases jewelry never escapes. Someone hears the chapter, and it is generally repeated.

Flapper precocity appears to have reached its apex in the case of the 15-year-old girl in a community not far from Winchester who, by means of "black hand" letters, extorted $200 from her mother with which to buy stylish clothing and enjoy herself in her own sweet way. The old-fashioned slipper, applied in the old-fashioned manner, has been recommended as the best, if not the only, cure for this and other forms of flapperism.

How many men and women here in Winchester and elsewhere appreciate the kindness of earth to them—her boundless generosity? How many men and women deem it a debt which in some way they must contrive to pay? Do they say with the late John Kendrick Bange:

"The method best, upon the whole,
Within my powers, and control,
Is not to keep for Self alone
Her gifts as though they were my own.

But pass them on to others where Those others have not had their share,
And thus become an Agent for My kind and august Creator."

A Winchester gentleman had been hoping to visit Ireland the coming summer but says he don't like the little shooting festivals, especially in the streets of the larger cities. Between the automobile bandits and the warring rum runners the American citizen is exposed to all the gun fire excitement his adventurous nature craves without leaving his homeland. The Spectator

TACNA-ARICA: THE ALSACE-LORRAINE OF AMERICA

Just what is the "Tacna and Arica Controversy" which is holding the center of the diplomatic stage in Washington while special envoys from Chile and Peru try to solve it? The National Geographic Society, from its headquarters here, answers this question in the following bulletin: The Tacna and Arica question can perhaps best be understood, says the bulletin, if it is taken as a rough American equivalent of Alsace-Lorraine, Italy Irredenta, and the Danzig corridor, all jumbled together. On the surface, the Tacna-Arica matter may appear to be merely a question of whether a plebiscite shall be held and how, but there is a great deal more behind it. As a matter of fact it is intimately concerned with questions that involve Bolivia as well as Peru and Chile, though the first named country has no claim to the Tacna-Arica area itself and is not represented at the Washington meeting. Wars, treaties that are none too clear, indemnities, filibustering expeditions, valuable mineral deposits, strong military positions, national sensibilities and politics—these are some of the many cross-currents that affect both the two-sided and three-sided aspects of the problem.

Problem Born of War
Phases of the question can be traced back to the days when Peru and Bolivia were connected under the vice-royalty of Peru, but it became a full-fledged problem during the last quarter of the past century. Then Chile stopped more than 500 miles short of its present northern boundary, Peru extended some 300 miles farther south, and Bolivia—now the land-locked Switzerland of South America—had a coast-line of nearly 200 miles. This 500-mile strip is largely a region of desert plateaus and rocky mountains, and 60 years ago it was considered very "nearly worthless." Chile had not even adequately explored her northern frontier provinces, and Bolivia and Peru were far from being intimately acquainted with their territories. Then came the discovery of rich nitrate deposits in the Bolivian coastal region. There was a rush of miners and prospectors from various countries, among them many Chileans. When friction arose between the Bolivian government and a Chilean mining company over the payment of taxes, Chile sent soldiers and later declared war against Bolivia. Peru was drawn in as the ally of Bolivia, and from this three-cornered war the Tacna-Arica question was born.

Chile was completely victorious, and as the spoils of war took the entire Bolivian coastal region with its nitrate beds. From Peru the victorious country took its southernmost province, Tarapaca, also rich in nitrates. Next to Tarapaca on the north lay the Peruvian province of Tacna with the port of Arica. This region Chile took for a ten period after which there was to be a plebiscite to determine to which country—

Peru or Chile—the area should afterward belong. The details of the holding of this plebiscite were not clearly set out, and the two countries have never been able to agree as to the procedure.

Bolivia Would Buy "Corridor"
In the meantime, Bolivia, which had lost her road to the sea, continued to harbor the feeling that she had been misused and that some sort of "corridor" should be provided for her. For years Bolivia accepted only a truce with Chile, unwilling to agree to the total loss of her sea provinces. At one time Chile agreed to sell the land-locked country a port and a roadway through the former Peruvian province of Tarapaca, but Peru strenuously objected and the deal fell through. Later Bolivia accepted a money indemnity.

The treaty provision calling for a plebiscite for Tacna also provides that the country losing the land shall receive five million dollars from the winner. One solution of the matter which has been suggested by Bolivia is that she, in dire need of an outlet to a port, be ceded the disputed region, and that she pay five million dollars to each of the other two countries.

SCATTER LITTLE KINDNESS

(Written for the Winchester Star)

This world is but little, if rightly weighed,
And trifling its joy or care;
But while we live beneath its shade—
There are no trifles here.
The lightest burden may weigh like lead
On the faint and weary soul
In the uphill path it perforce must tread
Before it reach the goal.
Cease, then, to speak of a "little thing,"
Which may give a fellowman pain,
Shun little sins; less hardly bring
The greater in the train.
Seize each occasion, however small,
Of good which may be given,
So when thou hearest God's call,
Thou shalt be great in Heaven.
—Eugene Bertram Willard.

TRIUMPH OF THE SCREEN

(Los Angeles Record)

"Sitting enthroned among the gods of laughter, Mark Twain must have heard the swelling thunder of the roaring humans at Miller's Theatre last night. 'A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court' triumphed across the screen—a kaleidoscopic monument of rich humor, keen satire, breath-taking adventure and touches of rare emotion."

A Connecticut Yankee will be presented at the Stoneham Theatre next Monday, Tuesday, June 5 and 6.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only?

At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

LAUNDRY OUTING JUNE 24th

The annual outing of the Winchester Laundries, Inc., will be held this year on Saturday, June 24, at Salem Willows. As usual in recent years, the employees and officers of the laundry will make the trip in trucks of the "Great White Fleet," and attractive sports, dancing, refreshments and other attractions will make up the day's program.

The executive committee is headed by Mr. John Mead and includes Miss Hilda Johnson as treasurer and Miss Alice Fenton as secretary. Assisting these heads are the following committees:

Transportation—Harry J. Pickering.

Prizes—Miss Betty Smith.
Winchester Sports—John Fitzgerald, G. Morrow, L. Mackay, Albert Doucette, Mrs. Parker, Rose Gangie, E. Nickerson, L. Smith, Mrs. Katherine Gordon, M. Joyce, A. Brennan, Gordon Cummings.

Waltham Sports—J. H. Hammond,
T. V. Desmond, C. Riley, J. DeLuca.

Lowell Sports—Ralph Smith.

Parks Committee—M. C. Ambrose,
Miss Clara MacDonald, M. B. Lovering.

The list of sports will include the following program:

Ball game for men, 9:30. Umpire,
J. G. Perry.

Ball game for girls—Winchester vs. Waltham, Umpire, T. V. Desmond.

Four-legged race, two girls and one man. Judge, Miss Ethel Jewett.

Tug-of-war for men. Judge, G.
Morrill.

Fifty-yard dash for girls. Judge,
Miss Joyce.

One hundred-yard dash for men.
Judge, J. Hammond.

Ball throwing contest for girls.
Judge, R. Smith.

Tad pole race for girls. Judge, Miss Betty Smith.

WINCHESTER TOOK SECOND GAME FROM LEXINGTON

Winchester High, with Francis Tansey in the box, made easy work of winning from Lexington High Wednesday afternoon on Manchester Field. Winchester bested the visitors 11 to 2, and towards the last of the game it almost needed an effort to keep from scoring and finish the match. Hitting was free on both sides, but when Winchester got going after Lexington scored its two runs in the second, it batted almost at will.

The big game for the local boys comes tomorrow with Wakefield High as an opponent. Wakefield won the first game, played here, and Winchester will strain every nerve to even things up.

Classifying Youthful Visitor.

One day a caller brought her small son, who had evidently never been taught to obey, and the pleasure of the visit was much marred. As the guests walked away Anita stood looking after them and, in a disapproving tone, said: "He certainly is the worsted milder I ever saw."

SPORTS AT BOAT CLUB

The Winchester Boat Club won four and Medford Boat Club three races at the interclub canoe and water sports regatta Memorial Day afternoon on Mystic Lake, under the auspices of the Winchester club.

Winchester club captured the tandem single paddling race, the gun-wale, hand paddling and tilting tournament contests. Medford won three of the straight canoe race events, including the club four single paddle quarter mile, the single paddle and the tandem race.

The club four race was won by the Medford crew, comprising Arnold
Carey, stroke; Webster Harlow, John Munroe and C. B. Vaughn, helmsman, by half a length over the Winchester crew, consisting of Robert Moffette, stroke; Gleason Buckley, Alan Hovey and Edward Randlett, helmsman.
Winchester led for three-quarters of the course, but ran into shallow water.

In the single-paddle, one-eighth mile race, Arnold Carey of Medford led a field of seven at the finish by about a length. Robert Moffette of Winchester was second and Francis Randlett of Winchester third.

The tandem single-paddle, one-eighth mile race looked like a victory for Robert Hart and Stephen Mather-son of Winchester until they swung off the course and fouled the second crew, consisting of Parker Hart and John Ordway, awarded first place.
Kenneth Pratt and Robert Moffette finished second, about two feet behind Ordway and P. Hart. Arnold Carey and C. B. Vaughn of Medford steered a bad course and were well in the rear.

The Hyde trophy handicap half mile race for Medford Boat Club paddlers only was won by C. B.
Vaughan, who had a 10 seconds handicap over Arnold Carey, scratch, by a bare foot of water. Webster Harlow, who had 10 seconds handicap was third, and John Munroe, who had five seconds, was fourth.

The summary of other races:

Tandem Hand Paddle—Won by Stephen Masterson and Parker Hart of Winchester B. C.; Arthur Donnellan and J. F. Crowe, Medford B. C., second.

Tailend Race—Won by Arnold Carey, Medford B. C.; George Cummings, Winchester B. C., second;
Parker Hart, Winchester B. C., third.

Standing Gunwale Race—Won by Kenneth Pratt, Winchester B. C.;
George Cummings, Winchester B.
C., second.

Tilting Tournament—Won by Parker Hart and John Ordway, Winchester B. C.; Robert Hart and Stephen Matherison, second.

Dancing parties were held in the evening at the Winchester and Medford Clubs.

WINCHESTER HIGH DEFEATED READING

Winchester High made easy work of defeating Reading High Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, winning the game 7-0. For three innings the teams failed to score, and then Winchester opened up with two runs, adding five more in the fifth, after which Reading appeared to throw up the sponge and accept its defeat.
Fitzgerald, Reading's pitcher, was hit freely and was taken out after the fifth, while Mathews, after allowing only two hits and striking out 11, gave way to Francis Tansey in the sixth. Tansey did not have to exert himself to hold the score to the end of the game.

street near the residence of David A.
Carluce, badly wrecking the truck and injuring Foley, who was taken to the Hospital by Mr. Carluce. Foley was found to be suffering from a badly sprained foot and leg. He was later taken to his home. He claimed another car cut in ahead of him forcing him to the left of the road and causing the accident.

While driving her Bay State limousine at the corner of the Parkway and Washington street Sunday, Mrs.
Agnes Hinds Solov of Forest street was in a collision with a New York car driven by J. P. Clement of Cambridge. Clement, it was reported, had no license. No one was injured, but the limousine was badly damaged.

Mr. Hiram Folsom of the Home came very near receiving serious injuries Saturday when crossing the square at Washington and Mt.
Vernon streets. Two autos and a motorcycle were all passing in the square, when Mr. Folsom stepped from behind one car ahead of another.
Eric Parnell of Medford, riding the motorcycle, with quick presence of mind, pushed Mr. Folsom to one side and out of the path of the car. Mr.
Folsom fell to his knees, but was not injured.

An aftermath of the recent runaway auto truck on Main street down Black Horse Hill, when almost a whole load of groceries and provisions was spilled along the way, was heard this week in Woburn court. The driver of the truck was found guilty of driving at an excessive rate of speed and operating with inefficient brakes. He was fined $10 for each offence.

"Can Now Eat Three Good Meals a Day"— Writes Mr. Lee J. Gill

"I had not partaken of solid food for over a year, but after taking three bottles of O'Brien's, I am enabled to eat three good meals a day. I consider this marvelous considering my stubborn case of indigestion.

"I can cheerfully recommend it to anyone suffering with indigestion."—Lee J. Gill, 18 W. Maple Ave., Merchantville, N. J.

Seldom do you read a testimonial from as prominent a man as Mr. Gill. A clubman of note, a man known in big business circles, he says: "I owe it to the other fellow to let him know how wonderful O'Brien's is."

And O'Brien's is wonderful—a doctor's prescription that has relieved thousands of indigestion, heartburn, pains in stomach and other digestive troubles.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

I am no weather prophet, but it does look like this summer would be even drier than last summer.

The reason men seldom get more than they expect is because they expect more than they are entitled to.

When I was a boy I used to think that the greatest life in the world would be to go around the country driving wells. I still think so.

When all is said and done it is generally too late to say it or do it.

OPINION OF A GRADUATE

May 29, 1922

Editor of The Star:

As an alumnae of the Winchester High School, may I, through your columns, say a few words regarding the present school controversy? In the first place, any reference to our schools not fitting for college is, to me, ridiculous. Two years ago we paid a considerable sum of money to get a survey of our school system by the best educational experts in the country. What was their report? Anyone who cares to take the trouble to look it up in the Town Report will find that, in the opinion of these experts, the High School has a clean record in preparing for college. Personally, I deeply resent any statement to the contrary, for I entered Wellesley College with no preparation other than that received in the Winchester High School, and comparing myself with some six hundred others who entered Wellesley at the same time, I know that I was well prepared in every subject. As a matter of fact, some of the freshmen professors at college told me that I was fortunate in having very good training in high school. I know that I am only one of many who have gone to college from this school.

As for Mr. Thompson, according to everyone who has ever been under his instruction or who has ever heard him teach, he is an exceptional teacher.
Certainly I have never found a better one, in school or in college. And now, with my experience as a teacher in a high school, I am convinced that such an excellent teacher as Mr.
Thompson is just the man we need for principal in the Winchester High School. If one has had any experience in teaching, and if one stops to think, how silly seems the argument that Mr. Thompson can not be an efficient principal because he was an unusually successful teacher! On the contrary, that is the very thing which makes him a strong principal. According to statements by the leading educators of our time, a principal must first be a good teacher. One who has not been an able teacher, himself, is not competent to judge the work done by those under his authority. Any teacher will tell you what a blessing it is to have a principal who knows well the art of teaching and can give valuable suggestions for improvement.

In my opinion, it will be an irreparable loss to Winchester if Mr.
Thompson is allowed to go.

Bertha R. Kelley

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

The Board met at 7:30 p. m., all present.

The records of the meeting of May 22 were read and approved.

Licenses 1922 (Garages): Mrs.

Elizabeth C. Powers and Charles T.

Gallagher appeared at the hearing

LAST WEEK we told of one of the "Put Off" family, who will probably become a member of the "Left Out" family.

Next week our subject will be, another member of the "Put-Off" family.

WILLIAM W. HILL, Agent
The Northwestern Mutual Life
Insurance Company
79 MILK ST. Boston
Phone Main 5760 Winchester 418

called to consider the application of Elizabeth C. Powers for permission to maintain a garage at 928 Main street. As there were no remonstrants and as a favorable report had been received from the Chief of the Fire Department, a license was granted Mrs.
Powers in accordance with the usual conditions.

Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co.: Mr. Bateman stated that Mr. Leavitt of the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co. stated that he would take up the matter of car-fares in Winchester at the same time the matter of laying rails on Main street from Winchester Centre to the Winchester-Woburn line is being completed.

Independence Day: Messrs. Willey, Bryne and Smalley were appointed a committee to arrange for the celebration of Independence Day. This matter of arranging for the proper celebration of the Fourth of July is left to this committee with power to act.

Bacon St. Bridge: The Town Council sent a form of order of taking of the land for the approach to the proposed Bacon street bridge. All members of the Board signed the taking and same was ordered sent to the Town Counsel so that he might properly record the same.

Highway Dept. Supt. of Streets:
After a long discussion regarding Mr.
T. Parker Clarke's request that the Board endeavor to find an opportunity to permanently appoint him as Superintendent of Streets before June first at his former salary, (in case this cannot be done his resignation being tendered to take effect on that date or sooner if convenient), the following motion was lost:

MOVED: That Mr. T. Parker
Clarke be appointed permanent Supt.
of Streets of the Town of Winchester for the year ending March 31, 1923.
On request for a vote and may vote,
the motions showed Messrs. Willey and Smalley voting for his appointment and Messrs. Bryne, Bateman and Molly Tufts voting against it.

The Clerk was then instructed to send the following letter to Mr.
Clarke:

Mr. T. Parker Clarke,
Acting Supt. of Streets,
Winchester, Mass.
Dear Mr. Clarke:

In reply to your request of May 22d the Board voted that it could not comply with your request, therefore it will accept your resignation to take effect upon the appointment of your

Very truly yours,

Clerk of Selectmen

Street Lights 1922 Elmwood Ave:
A petition was received from Michael F. Murphy signed by himself and eleven others all residents of Elmwood Avenue asking that an electric light be placed on Elmwood Ave. in front of the residence of Frank Duffy as that end of the street at present is very poorly lighted. Mr. Duffy presented the petition. The matter was referred to the Committee on Street Lights.

Sidewalks 1922 (Cross St): Mr.
Walter F. Gurney of 13 Highland View Terrace appeared with a petition signed by a number of residents on Cross street and vicinity requesting a sidewalk on Cross street between Highland Station and Loring Ave.

also an ample and safe passage for pedestrians under the railroad bridge.
This matter was referred to the Town Engineer for report and an estimate of the cost of constructing a tar macadam sidewalk on Cross street, at the location mentioned in the petition.
The meeting adjourned at 12:30 P.
M.

Clerk of Selectmen.

WINCHESTER PUBLIC SCHOOLS FIELD DAY

The annual field day of the public schools, all grades from three to eight inclusive, was partly held last week and completed yesterday. The rain of a week ago allowed only the rhythmic drill, dances and games, and the exhibition of pupil leadership. The best three leaders of all the children who did any leading during the year were selected for the special honor of leading in this event. The list included:

Nathan Tufts	Daniel Dennett
Latham Owens	Raymond Bartlett
Ronald Olmstead	Edith Baker
Marcel Vinton	Marjorie Carr
Janice Whittaker	Marionet Lamy
Charlotte Page	Dorothy Brown
Flannor Healey	Avard Walker
Janet Goodard	Freeman Miller
Molly Tufts	William Frumson
Holbrook Lowell

The track and field events which were postponed from the week previous were conducted on Manchester Field yesterday afternoon. They were conducted by the department of physical education. Prizes were given to those who finished in first, second, and third places in each event. A shield was offered by the department to the third grade room scoring the largest number of points. A similar shield was provided for each of the winning rooms of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades. The third grade shield was won by the Wyman third grade pupils with a total of 17 points. The nearest competitor was Rumford School with 9 points. First place counted five points, second place three points, and third place one point. Of the fourth grade rooms the pupils from the Gifford school scored 10½ points with the Washington fourth running them a close second with 10 points.

Washington fifth was first with 16 points, with Wyman fifth grade second with 12½ points. The Chapin sixth grade came first with 21 points the nearest competitor being Room 2 of the Prince School with 8 points.
The seventh grade dooms of the Wadleigh Junior High School completed against each other and Room 5 won with 13 points. Room 7 was second with 9 points. Among the eighth grade rooms of the same school there was a keen rivalry and the competition was very close. Room 1 led with 13 points; Room 3 was second with 12 points; and Room 2 came third with 11 points.

HOLY WEEK IN ICA

Schuyler F. Herron, who, from 1907 to 1918, was superintendent of schools in Winchester, and later in educational work with the A. E. F. and the Boston office of the treasury department, is now director of the National College of San Luis Gonzaga at Ica, Peru, and auxiliary of the education department of the department of Ica. He went to Peru early in 1921 as a member of the commission engaged here by the Peruvian government to recognize that country's schools.

The following extract from a recent letter to a Winchester friend, written by Mr. Herron, gives an interesting account of Holy Week in Ica:

There has been a pleasant smell of incense throughout the city this week, on the streets and in the public squares innumerable vendors of food have cried their wares, and the country around has flocked in to see the processions and their friends. It has been Holy Week, partly a religious festival and partly a yearly diversion, so varied in character as to be difficult to appraise.

Every church has one or more images, some of John the Baptist, all of the Virgin, all of the Christ, and day by day each has taken its turn in a procession. Imagine a row of the faithful with lighted candles lining the sides of the street, one or two or three images on platforms each borne on the shoulders of eight or ten men, each lighted by candles or gasolene lamps, and each guarded by four soldiers with rifles and bayonets, preceded by priests with banners and accompanied by a band, marching through the streets from five till nine or ten—in one case till seven the next morning. Think of pious women with burning censers giving forth a sweet savor and of flowers being thrown from onlookers on sidewalks and the platforms from the windows along the way; note that the men remove their hats and that the women wear their mantillas as in church. Get up early in time to see the all night procession return to the church and to witness the crowd surge around to get the flowers, distributed from the platform of the image of the Savior. Do all this and you may have an idea, but it will be incomplete without actual participation.

And in addition there are official services in the principal church to which the Prefect invites all who have posts of a public character.
They march from the Prefectura to the church with a band; they sit in state, they march around the church with lighted candles, they listen to the liturgy, they march back to Prefectura, they have a copa of enni-pagnie—and they go home to meditate.

Man Not Unlike Lower Animals.

Darwin says that weeping is a habit that "must have been acquired since man branched off from the common progenitor of the genus homo and of the nonweeping anthropomorphic ape." This assertion causes us to arrogate to ourselves one more point of difference between us and the lower animals, until we read on and find an account by this same author of an Indian elephant, which, when held captive, sobbed bitterly while tears rolled down his face.—Chicago Daily News.

Ever at It

A woman is never satisfied. If she isn't trying to get a new man she's trying to make a new man out of the one she's got.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED

The newly finished church edifice of the New Hope Baptist Society on Cross street was fittingly dedicated on Wednesday evening, a large gathering witnessing the exercises. There were present delegates and visitors from churches in Malden, West Medford, Woburn, Newton, Cambridge and Boston, and although the new church seats over 200, it was not possible to accommodate all who desired to attend.

The program was very fitting, the service including the following: Invocation—Rev. L. Kay of West Medford. Scripture Lesson—Rev. S. M. Carrington of Malden. Prayer—Rev. H. H. Jones of Woburn. Dedication Sermon—Rev. W. W. Ryan of West Newton. Dedication Prayer—Rev. C. H. Walcott of First Baptist Church.

During the service selections were rendered by the regular choir of the church and several soprano solos were rendered. The sermon was thoughtful and ably delivered and during the evening remarks were made by Rev. J. P. Washington of Everett, Rev. E. B. Dolan, missionary for the Mass. convention, extended greetings from that body.

The new church is most convenient and substantial, with an auditorium seating 200, a large Sunday School room, ladies' room, kitchen, etc. The building committee included Messrs. William H. Guy, Thomas Hazel, C. B. Kirby, William S. Richardson and L. E. Dodson.

Education in Toys.

Building blocks have helped many a boy find his chosen vocation. A set of building blocks is found to have been the inspiration of one of our biggest engineers today finding himself. All sorts of mechanical toys, not necessarily the expensive kind and preferably a product that your boy himself can invent, will help wonderfully in training him to find his natural inclinations.

CHARLES W. HINMAN

Mr. Charles W. Hinman of 10 Fenwick road, a well known resident of this town, one-time holder of the world's record as a long range marksman and the first State game inspector in Massachusetts, died at Jordan Falls, Nova Scotia, last Friday. He was 74 years of age.

He had gone with Ira L. Fish of Boston for a three weeks' outing on the Liverpool River and Lake Rossignol, and was returning down the Jordan River when a trouble with his heart, which had been aggravated by indigestion of several months' standing, made it necessary to summon a physician. He reached Jordan Falls, a station on the Dominion Atlantic Railway May 21, but was unable to continue his journey home and died there 10 days after the first attack of his final illness.

Maj. Hinman was born April 11, 1849, in West Concord, Vt. His boyhood was spent on a farm. He devoted his leisure time to trapping, spending the first money which he received from the sale of furs for the purchase of an unabridged dictionary. In after life hunting and fishing were his only recreation, and he died while on a fishing trip.

Graduating from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1870, Maj. Hinman taught chemistry there for a year or more. He was the first State game inspector in Massachusetts, holding the office more than 20 years. Later he was manager of the Tufts Meter Company for five years and then went into business for himself. After a short time his business was absorbed by the American Meter Company, but he continued with the company as consulting engineer until his death. A station meter of his invention, known as the Hinman meter is in use throughout the country in gas plants, for measuring the total output of the works.

For several years Mr. Hinman was on the Governor's staff as inspector of rifle practice, with the rank of major. At one time, in the early 80s, he held the world's record as a long range marksman. The standard American target designed by him, is now in more general use on civilian rifle ranges throughout the country than any other target. In comparatively recent years he repeatedly acted as coach for Massachusetts and New Hampshire teams in the National matches at Camp Perry, O. For four years Maj. Hinman was president of the Massachusetts Rifle association, and competed abroad in several international tournaments. He was in the second class to be graduated from M. I. T. and stood at the head of his class.

His surviving family consists of his wife, who was Mary F. Richards of Boston; three daughters, Mrs. Agnes Masters of Winchester, Mrs. Mary Paine of New York city and Mrs. Martha Beck of Roslindale; a son, Walter H. Hinman of Montreal, Canada; and a sister, Mrs. Fannie Seaver of West Roxbury.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 at his late home, 10 Fenwick road, near Wedgemore station. The burial was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

A DEED OF KINDNESS

Editor of the Star: Nothing will lend dignity to a strong man, more than the performance of an act of kindness. If the kind act be done to anything that is helpless then the deed is the more ennobling.

Late Saturday afternoon a small dog, his coat wet and besmeared with mud, found its way in a very sick and helpless condition to the upper end of Grove street. Some children found him and asked one of the neighbors to come to his assistance. There was little the neighbor could do for the dog and decided to call the police to come and take care of him. In a very few minutes an automobile came up the street and from it stepped a fine looking young officer. He went to the little dog, spoke kindly to it and seemed much interested in it. The dog after a while got to his feet and the officer after seeing that it was recovering said with a smile "come take a ride with me" and put it into his car, and drove away. The neighbor saw the officer the next day and on asking about the dog was told that after a night's rest the dog felt better and walked out of the Police Station well and happy. We are glad to know that such men, with kind hearts, have the care of our public safety.

MISSIONARY PAGEANT

The last Missionary meeting of the year of Woman's League will be held Sunday, June 4th, at 7 P. M., in the First Baptist church. Miss Jennie Crawford will speak on phases of her work in China. Miss Crawford is at home on her second furlough.

Missionary Pageant "The Quest for Truth" arranged by Mrs. Edward E. Thompson will follow with music under the supervision of Mrs. L. M. Crowell.

The decorations are under the supervision of Mrs. H. Earle Richardson assisted by the flower committee of the church.

Those taking part are as follows:

Prologue ..... Mrs. E. E. Thompson
Speaker for Truth ..... Mrs. R. S. Taylor
Nature Worshiper ..... Mrs. J. F. Tilden Mohammedan ..... Mrs. Geo. Bigley
Buddist ..... Mrs. H. C. Sanborn Ancestor Worshiper ..... Mrs. C. H. Watson
Fashionable Indifference ..... Mrs. W. A. Bradley
Christianity ..... Mrs. E. C. Appleworth

The Missionary Meeting takes the place of the regular Sunday evening service and it is hoped that a large number will take advantage of this opportunity of hearing Miss Crawford and the Missionary Pageant.

Miss Frances Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Barnes, 2 Fenwick Road, was graduated from Northfield Seminary, East Northfield, on Monday, June fifth. Miss Barnes was a member of Tau Pi society, her class basketball team, the vesper choir, and assistant in the library. She will enter Pierce School in September.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE

Memorial Day was fittingly observed in this town by appropriate exercises in which all the various organizations took part. There was a good turnout in the afternoon for the parade and exercises at Wildwood cemetery, the Legion, Spanish War Veterans, Sons of Veterans, Boy Scouts, Selectmen and five of the Grand Army Veterans attending—nearly 200 in all.

Three of the five surviving G. A. R. veterans attended divine worship at the rooms of the Methodist Society on Sunday evening, together with delegations from the Legion and Sons of Veterans. At this evening the veterans of A. D. Weld Post, G. A. R., were presented with a handsome silk flag by the Auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans, the flag being carried in the procession to the service.

The Sunday evening program opened with the processional march "Marching Through Georgia," played by Miss Grace Snow. An interchurch chorus sang several hymns. Rev. Clarence Dunham, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, gave the invocation. Rev. Winchester Adriance was the leader in the congregational singing and Rev. Clifton Walcott, pastor of the Baptist Church, gave the responsive reading. Rev. George Hale Reed minister of the Unitarian Church, read the announcement for the Memorial Day exercises. Rev. Mr. Gifford gave an illustrated sermon.

On Memorial Day four of the Veterans attended the service and took part in the parade, being driven by Mr. W. H. Corliss in his auto. There are only five living members of the original A. D. Weld Post—Messrs. Henry A. Smalley, Commander; Peter Walling, Henry Richburg and William Dunnell, now of Malden. Royal S. Carr, the fifth member, was not in town Tuesday to take part in the exercises. Two members of the Post died during the year, Henry S. Brookings and Jesse Richardson.

Wildwood Cemetery never appeared so beautiful as this year. The grounds were in exceptionally fine condition, notwithstanding the extensive damage done by the big sleet storm during the winter. Almost every grave held its decoration of flowers and many the Legion and G. A. R. markers. There was a large visitation to the cemetery.

The program at the cemetery included selections by the band, reading of orders, roll of honor and Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, prayer by Rev. Alliston B. Gifford, singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," address by Rev. Clifton H. Walcott and singing of "America."

During the exercises one of the Boy Scouts, Ronald Olmstead, fainted. The lad had worked hard to fill the part of drummer for his troop and the hot march proved too much for him. He was soon revived and taken to his home.

Upon the return from the cemetery a concert was given in the Town Hall to the veterans, attended also by the Selectmen, who took part in the parade and were present at the exercises at the Cemetery. Refreshments were served at the Town Hall by the members of the Auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans, over 200 being fed.

Beautiful flowers were placed on the graves of all the dead veterans by their comrades, both at Wildwood and Calvary cemeteries.

MUSIC HALL PATRONS SEE WINCHESTER'S MOST ECCENTRIC DANCER

With rapt attention the patrons at Music Hall last night gazed upon what was the best exhibition of eccentric dancing and acrobatic stunts ever before shown in the hall by Ormsby L. "Bob" Court.

His grotesque postures, his facial expressions and steps, in which he threw all of his joints out of place, were amazing and at times a gasp of astonishment could be heard when Mr. Court did some particularly amazing stunt. His novelty dance was the hit of the evening and brought forth repeated applause.

Mr. Court is but a young man and is the real champion of New England as well as champion of the States of Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, having met all the so-called champs and defeated them. At the finish of his act and dancing exhibition he was given a tremendous ovation.

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF MISS CHAPIN

A piano forte recital by pupils of Miss Marion L. Chapin was given at the residence of Mrs. James Nowell Stratford road on Friday afternoon. The program was one of great interest, and from the beginning to the end the young students showed very careful and excellent training. Of especial interest was the exhibition of fundamental training and the reading of a composition on the life of Beethoven and Schumann written by one of the pupils. Among those who took part were: Marjorie Brown, Kenneth Dewart, Mary Louise Carpenter, Eleanor Mansfield, Betty Duval, Utey Smith, Margaret Harrington, Charlotte Page, Curtis Wormelle, Virginia Hart, Elizabeth Livingstone, Margaret Lampee, Eleanor Boyd, Emily Wormelle and Ruth Hollins.

When the Verdict is, "Dead Plates"

The Car Owner knows that it means a New Battery

To get the best battery, it is first necessary to choose the best plates—the longest lived plates.

What the thoroughbred is to commonbred, Prest-O-Plates are to ordinary plates. They reveal their two-fold value in heat-resisting, non-buckling strength in hot-test summer, and a ready reserve power in coldest winter.

Car owners may well select Prest-O-Lite Batteries on account of Prest-O-Plates alone. But they may choose them, confident that every other part of the battery is par with Prest-O-Plates.

Secure in the certainty of quality and uniform product, Prest-O-Lite underwrites every Prest-O-Lite Battery with a liberal guaranty. This is a specifically stated obligation, plus a policy that says the car owner must be pleased.

Drive around and let us inspect the health of your battery.

MRS. COMINS SHOULD BE ADDED

18 Hancock St.,
Winchester, Mass.
May 29, 1922.

Mr. T. Price Wilson,
Editor of the Winchester Star:

I wish to call your attention to an error in the makeup of the Citizens' Committee of seven as given in the May 26th issue of the Star.

The list of members as there given includes the name of Mrs. W. A. Lefavour and omits that of Mrs. D. W. Comins.

Mrs. Comins was one of the members elected at the meeting May 20th, was present at the organization of the committee and is taking an active part in the work of that body. While Mrs. Lefavour is an active partisan of this movement she is not a member of this committee.

Will you please give this correction the necessary publicity with a proper head.

Very truly yours,
R. C. Strawbridge,
Clerk of the Committee.

Boy Wanted

Somewhere in this town is one boy who is a "go-getter" spirit, full of grit and ambition, and absolutely honest. We want that boy. He will be the only boy agent in this town for the famous MOVIE WEEKLY MAGAZINE. He will work after school and other spare time. His pay will be what he makes it; besides fine prizes and free Movie Tickets. When he makes good, he will be promoted. If you are between 14 and 19 years old, determined to "make good" and truly think you are the boy for this job, then apply by letter to Mr. E. L. Gilbert, "Personal", 3rd floor, 119 West 40th Street, New York City. Give full details of any past selling experience; your age, parents' full name and address; your school grade and at least two references.

Why not test your appliances yourself to see if they are working correctly or if they are the correct appliances? It's a very simple thing to do. Just use these tests:
Do burners light easily?
Do they turn off quietly?
Are flame tips on range and water heater burners about 1/2 to 3/4 of an inch long?
Are they sharp and distinct with blue cone and purple edge?
Can they be turned down and still burn evenly?
Do cooking utensils keep clean where heat from burner tips strikes them?
Are you using mantle lights—not old-style open-flame tips?
Are your mantles clean and bright? Do lights burn evenly and quietly?
Can you use all appliances and lights at the same time without any noticeable change or reduction in heat or light?
If "yes" is not the answer to all of these questions, let us know.

RED MEN HAVE OCCULT SECT

As they would put it, the wise men of the Children of the Narrows have been assured by the Great White Father that their tribe may fish, dig roots and pick berries for ten more summers without interference from pale faces.

Technically, the Yakima Indians, of Shahapian stock, have been granted freedom of their reservation, in Washington State, for ten more years, without acceptance of any duties and privileges of American citizenship.

Some 1300 of the Yakimas thus are assured the untrammelled freedom of their tribal customs, explains a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "Thus not only are these Indians made happy, but the friends of the Red Man will be given further opportunity to study one of the more primitive groups of American aborigines, who have not been spoiled by a too sudden imposition of the white man's civilization."

Derivative Name Stuck
The Yakimas take their name from a derivative nickname, meaning "run-aways," applied by other tribes; and they have given this name to the Yakima River along which they live. They call themselves "Waptalmin," meaning "Children of the Narrows," in reference to the narrows of that river, less poetically designated Union Gap on the maps.

Tribal customs among all the Shahapians, to which linguistic family the Kakimas belong, are similar. The Shahapians ranged over what now is northeastern Oregon and southwest Idaho as well as in Washington. Uncertain food supplies kept them nomadic, though village communities frequently formed, and just as frequently would migrate to more productive places. They ate salmon, roots and berries, and Lewis and Clark, who found them in 1806, said that they also hunted.

Offshoots of the Shahapian stock included the Nez Percés, the "pinned-down men," whose leader, Joseph, won comparison with the march of Zenoophon's Ten Thousand for his retreat after an attack upon white usurpers of his ancient home lands in Oregon.

High Priest of the "Dreamers" Smohalla, "the preacher," founder of that mystic Indian head known as "Dreamers" also was Shahapian. In the Columbia River region, near the present-day home of the Yakimas, he preached a gospel strikingly like that of Gandhi, leader of the non-cooperation movement in British India today. After wanderings in the deserts south to Mexico, during which he claimed to have visited the spirit world, he returned to counsel that Indians return to their native ways of living, decline instruction or association with white men, and above all follow their own gods. Chief Joseph embraced this faith.

Disputes over land in the Yakima reservation were made the occasion for a Federal military investigation of this sect in 1884. The salmon thanksgiving, the berry festival and the ghost dances were reported upon, and seances marked by trances and bell ringing were found.

Today the Yakimas may roam at will over an area nearly as large as that of Rhode Island. The treaty by which this reservation, within the bend but not bordering the Columbia River, was set aside dates back to the fifties and included among its signatories representatives of thirteen other remnant tribes of the Shahapian family.

Myths Show Poetic Quality
Primitive, without a system of clans or tendency toward agriculture, these tribes have a folk lore which often challenges the myths of Greece or Scandinavia. Where the Columbia now cascades its way through narrow defiles the Klickitats believed a natural bridge once spanned its waters. Two of the sons of their gods, they explained, quarrelled to possess so fair a land. The two shot arrows to determine the land they should occupy. To one son fell the region of the present day Yakimas and to the other the Willamette Valley.

To insure peace between the two peoples the chief god raised high mountains but, so they might be friendly, he threw a great stone bridge across the "Wanna" (Columbia) River. This bridge the Indians called "Tamahnawos," bridge of the gods. A witch woman lived on it and to her was entrusted all the fire in the world. After intercession with the chief of the gods she won permission to build a great fire on the bridge to which both tribes might come and light their fagots. This act so pleased the chief god that he transformed the witch woman into a beautiful maiden.

No sooner did the two chiefs behold her than they fell victims to her wondrous charm and set their people to battle so they might win her hand. Then the god was wrathful. He destroyed the bridge. But so the maid and her lovers might be beautiful in death as in life he created three mountains with snow capped peaks. He who doubts this tale may see these mountains for himself. Are they not beautiful, and are they not perpetually snow-crowned, as the God, Saghalie, decreed?

The white men call them Mount Hood, Mount St. Helens, and Mount Adams.

Khaki.
To India, by way of England, we owe the word "khaki." There was a sect of Brahmins—and it is still in existence—who applied the ashes of cow-dung to their clothes and persons. They were called "khaki" because of that coloration—or discoloration. The word was naturally applied to the earthy or clay color in the uniforms of soldiers or sepoys by the British government. Hence the protective light-chocolate dye employed in British military uniforms.

Cut Glass.
Use lukewarm water, softened by the addition of soap, ammonia and washing soda, for cleaning your cut glass.

In compliance with the requirements of Chapter 590, Section 40, Acts of 1908, as amended by Chapter 491, Section 6, Acts of 1909, and by Chapter 171, Section 1, Acts of 1912, notice is hereby given of the loss of pass-book No 1384.

Two Irish passengers were gazing over the after rail of the steamer. "D'ye know, Mike," said Pat. "OI can't understand how the captain finds his way across the ocean at all, at all. If we was goin' the other way, now, all he'd have to do would be to follow that white streak behind there, but in front there's divil a mark of any kind."

Come to Think of It.

A man was describing to a woman the compensations of nature—how in the blind the feeling of touch was acute; how those who were deaf in one ear often heard clearly with the other, and how a person blinded in one eye often sees extra well with the sound eye. "Yes," said she, "it's remarkable. And, come to think of it, I have always noticed that if a person has one short leg the other is always longer."

Ivory Nut.

There are two species of palms producing nuts hard enough to be employed as a substitute for ivory in the manufacture of small articles of domestic use, but the one best known to commerce under the name of ivory nut is the fruit of Phytelephas macrantha, native of New Granada and other parts of Central America.

OUR TIES WITH TUNISIA

A visit to a fruit store with its dates, oranges, lemons and almonds; the singing of Home Sweet Home; the theological background of the services at any Christian church—these are some of the links that bind an American, though he may be unaware of it, to desert-fringed Tunisia.

With this introduction the National Geographic Society issues from its Washington, D. C., headquarters a bulletin on the regency of Tunis, one of the three North African countries which the French contemplate placing under a single administrative control.

In Oak Hill Cemetery in Washington lies buried John Howard Payne, the homeless actor and author of Home Sweet Home, whose first resting place was in the City of Tunis, where he died while he was American Consul at the Tunisian capital. A tomb like that erected to him in Washington marks his former grave in Tunis.

Africa's "Farthest North" Agriculture is the chief industry of the region, about the size of the State of Mississippi which lies between the Mediterranean and the Sahara, and projects farther north than any other point in Africa. Citrus fruits, almonds and pistachio nuts form a large proportion of its exports. Cork and henna are other important products.

Some ten miles from Tunis are the ruins of Carthage, cradle of Christian theology, where St. Augustine, most influential of the fathers of the early Latin Church, taught rhetoric and produced important dogmatic writings. The practical lady traveler who assured her companions that the site of Carthage was bound to come back because it afforded excellent sites for hotels and such splendid opportunity for a golf course between it and Tunis was more accurate in geography than imbued with reverence. The harbors which Apollon described still are to be seen; the rest of the city has succumbed to Cato's edict, "Delenda Est Carthago."

Once Rivalled Rome

The present thriving City of Tunis, however, is reputed to be older than Carthage, one-time rival of Rome both in importance and corruption. Indeed, to the Roman world the littoral of Tunisia was Africa. The very word "Africa" is a Latinized form of the Berber name for this region, "Ifriqua." The gypsies of Africa, the Berbers, still are to be found in Tunisia, practically unchanged and unchangeable as when they defied Roman power and Augustinian persuasion. Even today Tunisia is an unconquered country, since France assumed a protectorate upon native invitation.

Tunis might be called a roofed-over city. Many of its streets are wholly or partly arched over, and its famous bazaar is a vast market place under cover. The women folk of the city are striking to the first time visitor, whether they be rotund Jewesses, with mantaloons and funnel-like hats, or ladies of the Arab harem, completely obscured by clothes, or the bronzed, lithe figures of Berber girls. The attire of the men often is more colorful. Their love of colors, especially of lighter and more delicate shades, gives a chromatic impression of an American city's Easter parade.

A physical curiosity of Tunisia are the salt lakes, on the edges of Sahara, which, at a distance, have the appearance of placid sheets of water, or ice-covered ponds, if one's imagination could free itself from thought of the blazing sun. Closer inspection discloses dried mud, encrusted with salt. For several months in the year rainfall converts these glazed areas into impassable marshes.

BRILLIANT EVENT

Winchester Horse Show Attracted 1500 People

The annual Winchester Horse show, held at Aigremont, the estate of Mrs. Oren C. Sanborn, on Monday, proved the most successful and brilliant event of its kind yet held here. Over 1500 people from Greater Boston attended during the day, and some of the finest horses in this section took part. The event was scheduled for Saturday, but owing to the rain it was postponed until Monday.

There were 27 classes represented, in which 225 horses took part, and about $1000 was realized from the affair, the money to be devoted to Winchester Hospital work. The committee in charge included Mrs. Oren C. Sanborn, chairman; Miss Helen E. Sanborn, secretary; Miss M. Alice Mason, treasurer; Mrs. Clifford Mason, Mrs. William A. Lefavour, Mr. Wayne K. Little, Mr. Sydney A. Beggs and Mr. George B. Kimball. The judges were Gen. Francis Peabody of Milton and John Washburn.

In many cases the judges found it difficult to select the winners, and on several occasions the leading horses were called back into the ring to show their paces again. Mrs. Frank B. Hopewell's horses were the big winners, with Miss Alice Stuart a close second. Other horses to take many of the ribbons were those of Mr. George B. Kimball, the Martin Riding School ponies and Miss Betty Dumaine's jumpers.

Ringmaster A. H. Lovesy carried off the program smoothly, and from early in the afternoon until well into the evening the horses continued through their paces. A military band furnished a program through the whole event and refreshments were sold for the benefit of those attending. The championship for saddle horses, the last event of the day, was won by Mrs. Frank B. Hopewell's Sunbeam, a chestnut mare, ridden by Miss Evelyn Bryson. Miss Alice Stuart's Our Bit was the reserve championship holder.

The championship hunters class was won by Miss Betty Dumaine's bay gelding, Glen Morris, with the brown gelding, Billy Clough, owned by Peter T. Roche of Leominster, as runner-up. The pony and riding competition for Winchester children ranging from 10 to 16 years of age was keenly enjoyed by the crowd and drew a list of about 25 boys and girls, who showed remarkable proficiency in riding and driving.

The second division of riding competition for children of Winchester, 12 years old or under, was won by Genevieve Mullin, aged 11, riding the pony Piedmont. Her sister, Elizabeth Mullin, won second place with Lady Teazle. Allen McKinnon won the blue ribbon in the first division with Joey, while William Black's pony, Dixie, took the second ribbon.

Tristram McKinnon of Winchester, one of the cleverest boy riders in the riding ring in this section for some time, won the pony jumping contest with G. H. Lamson's Bay Boy. He also took second and third honors for Martin's Riding School riding Lady Betty and C. O. He rode five first ribbon winners.

Molly Tufts, riding Bonnie, won the blue ribbon and cup in the riding competition class for Winchester children 12 to 16 years of age. George B. Kimball's daughter, Elizabeth, won second honors in this class with Willow Shoals. Her sister, Margery P. Kimball, was third with Taxi Service.

Miss Evelyn Bryson of Newton captured first ribbon in the saddle pony class first division, riding Mrs. F. B. Hopewell's Cuddles. G. H. D. Lamson's Mighty Mite saddle pony captured the ribbon in the second division over Harry Good's Snap.

Tristram McKinnon of Winchester won the amateur jumping contest for children 16 or under. He rode Mr. Martin's Lady Betty, Frank S. Black's Polly was second.

Miss Alice Stuart's Pride of Kildare won first in the novice hunter class and third in the ladies' jumper class. Miss Stuart's Mountain Maid took second in the two saddle horse classes, while her bay mare, Our Bit, won the ladies' saddle horse blue ribbon. Our Bit also took the reserve honors in the saddle horse championship.

The riding of Miss Betty Du Maine of Concord won for that young horse-woman first and second place in the ladies' jumping class, with Pat Rooney and Glen Morris, first place in the jumping contest with the Rooney horse and third place in the middleweight hunter class with the same animal. Her bay gelding Glen Morris also took the championship cup for hunters.

George B. Kimball of Winchester won a half-dozen blue ribbons, four seconds and three third places with his horses, which were ridden either by himself or his daughters. Willow Shoals won the saddle horse class and the ladies' saddle horse blue ribbon, with Miss Elizabeth Kimball riding. Happy Boy and Plunkett won the ribbon in the hunters and jumper pairs class. Alice Kimball rode Jane Ford for first honors in the combination class, while Willow Shoals took second. Willow Shoals won first ribbon again with Miss Elizabeth Kimball in the riding competition. Plunkett and Happy Boy captured first and third ribbons respectively in the lightweight hunters class. Alice C. Kimball took first honors in the pair saddle horse with Willow Shoals and second ribbon in the best trained saddle horse class. Mr. Kimball's Happy Boy won third place in the other saddle horse class.

Mrs. Frank Hopewell's blue ribbon winners included Cuddles, which won the combination pony class blue ribbon, took first honors with Sun-

INDICTED IN BANK CASE

The federal grand jury returned indictments Friday charging former President Edward S. Foster, former Cashier Edward R. Grosvenor and Joseph Adams, son-in-law and secretary of Foster, with misapplication of not less than $100,000 of the funds of the Winchester National Bank.

The alleged misapplication of funds was made through overdrafts and false entries beginning on Dec. 31, 1921, and continuing to Feb. 2, 1922, according to the indictment. There are 12 separate counts.

Foster and Grosvenor are specifically charged with misapplying the bank's money, and with making false entries in the accounts. Adams is charged with aiding and abetting. The case was presented to the federal grand jury by Asst. U. S. Atty. Joseph W. Keith.

Atty. William A. Kneeland, counsel for the bank, has stated that an assessment of $34.50 per share of the bank's capital stock is due June 10. This assessment will net $34,500. It will be applied to cover losses sustained by the alleged misapplication of funds.

All the indicted officers were prominent socially, and their many friends were amazed when they were arrested early in February and arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes.

Following the exposure of the alleged irregularities in the Winchester National Bank accounts and the arrests and resignations of the president, cashier and president's secretary, Foster was arrested for non-payment of his state income tax. In May he was petitioned into bankruptcy. All three of those under indictment have had prosperous business careers apart from their banking activities, and their intimate friends and associates were bewildered by the allegations that they misappropriated funds. Such misappropriation was not necessitated by financial reverses, declare many Winchester men.

Bonds filed by the men under indictment, property owned by them and the assessment on stock have made good the losses which the bank sustained. It is said, and today the Winchester National Bank is reported to be in a position of great strength. The first count of the indictment charges that a check of the Crocker Pen Company was paid on Jan. 16 for $905.77, the account then being overdrawn $1255.

The second count charges that a check of Joseph Adams for $5000 was paid Jan. 4 from the account of 'Joseph Adams, special,' this account being then overdrawn $3014. Books of the bank show that Adams' 'special' account was opened with an overdraft of $1500.

The third count alleges that on Jan. 19 a check drawn on the account of 'Joseph Adams, agent,' for $600, was paid, the overdraft on this account at the time being $1338.

The fourth count alleges that on Jan. 21 a check of the Allen Spool & Wood Turning Company in the sum of $1343 was paid, that account being at the time overdrawn $7676.

The fifth count alleges that Jan. 24 a check of $3000 drawn by Joseph Adams was paid, his account being overdrawn at the time about $32,000.

The sixth count alleges that a check of Edward S. Foster of $577.52 was paid Jan. 27, his account then being overdrawn $6956.

WINCHESTER-WAKEFIELD GAME

The game at Wakefield last Monday ended in the last half of the ninth inning with the score 3 to 1 in favor of Winchester, when the umpire forfeited the game to Winchester. The argument arose over a question of ground rules. With a man on first base and none out, Talbot of Wakefield hit a long drive among the trees in right field. The umpire ruled that according to his understanding of the ground rules, the man was entitled to only two bases on the hit, the understanding being that any hit among the trees was good for only two bases because the trees interfered with the fielding and return of balls. The Wakefield team argued for over a half an hour on the question and then absolutely refused to play because of the above decision. The Winchester team was subjected to various forms of insult upon leaving the ball field.

At the annual meeting of the Girl Scout Council held Monday, June 5, the following officers for the ensuing year were elected.

Commissioner—Mrs. Joseph F. Ryan.
1st Vice Commissioner—Mrs. Maurice F. Brown.
2nd Vice Commissioner—Mrs. Henry Chapman.

Secretary—Miss Mary Lyons.
Treasurer—Mrs. William A. Lebrook Lowell, Mrs. Arthur T. Smith, Mrs. Newton Shultis.

Auditing Committee—Mrs. W. Hol-favour.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Dow of 319 Main street announce the engagement of their daughter Carolyn, to Mr. Guy Butman Howe son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Howe of 21 Bacon street. Miss Dow was educated at the Cathedral School for girls, Orlando, Florida, a graduate of Winchester High School Class of 1920, and of Miss Mason's School, the Castle, at Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mr. Howe attended the public schools of Winchester and is a graduate of Powder Point School at Duxbury.

THE SCHOOL SITUATION

Principal Thompson Given Hearing and Reasons For Removal Given Out

The School Committee announced last Friday night that it would give a hearing to Principal Edward E. Thompson, removed as head of that school at the close of this year. On Sunday, Boston papers published a list of eight reasons announced by the Committee as cause for his dismissal.

The School Committee, in its previous procedure in the matter, first discussed the situation with Principal Thompson, following this with a letter giving notice of its intentions to vote upon his dismissal on June 19th. The request for the reasons for its action resulted in the Committee's granting Monday night's hearing.

The Committee met on Monday night at the Prince School and Mr. Thompson requested that he be furnished with the specifications and allowed further time to meet them. The Committee voted to comply with Mr. Thompson's request, and accordingly, the hearing was continued to June 21 at 8 p. m. The Committee also voted, Mr. Thompson consenting, to continue the meeting at which the vote is to be taken upon his removal to June 21. The eight reasons and the communication of the School Committee was as follows:

"1—Because, in the opinion of the committee, you are not a capable executive with the committee."

"2—Because, in the opinion of the committee, you have not shown yourself to be qualified to act as the principal of a high school as large as that of Winchester."

"3—Because you have failed to bring the high school to the standard the committee requires, and have given no evidence that you will, in the future be able to do so."

"4—Because you have failed to co-operate with the committee."

"5—Because you have failed in many instances to carry out the directions of the committee."

"6—Because you have failed to remedy defects in the methods of teaching pointed out by the government survey."

"7—Because you have failed to exercise your authority as head of the high school."

"8—Because, in the opinion of the committee, you lack the requisite executive ability, and initiative essential to a successful administration of the high school."

"The foregoing relate to the reasons for your proposed dismissal as principal."

"The reason for your proposed dismissal as a teacher is your refusal to accept the offer made to you by the committee that you resume your position as a teacher of modern languages and become the head of the modern language department."

These reasons, it should be stated, are backed by specific charges supporting each one, the charges not being made public.

The citizens committee met in conference with the School Committee on Wednesday night to urge the retention of Mr. Thompson as Principal of the High School.

The Citizens Committee had compiled a mass of evidence, consisting in part of stenographic transcripts of interviews with various teachers of the High School, with reference to Mr. Thompson's executive ability, handling of school problems and improvements in the High School.

Only part of this evidence was presented, as the School Committee interrupted, stating that this would have little weight with them because they did not consider it first hand. The answers of the School Committee were so indefinite and evasive that the Citizens Committee was unable to ascertain what kind of evidence would have weight.

The Citizens Committee read letters received from Wellesley, Dartmouth and Technology, testifying to the high scholastic standing and excellence of preparation of the students coming from the Winchester High School in the past two or three years.

The School Committee doubted several times this Citizens Committee as being representative of the thought and opinion of the Town.

The Citizens Committee plan to report in detail to their constituency at a public meeting at an early date.

PRIVATE SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT

Last week Friday the pupils of Miss Emerson's School received and entertained their friends in the garden on the estate of Dr. Harold E. Gale. There were songs and poems presented by different classes. Some of them were acted by the little ones with delightful unconsciousness and naive charm; and the center of the program was a French play, wherein butterflies, roses, crickets, a snail, Katydids and ants sang in French, shadowing the excellent training which Mrs. Lazelle gives the children of this school. The stage was a fountain surrounded by iris, which was almost as tall as some of the little ones who danced around it. The 8th class appeared in the bright colored dresses which they themselves made.

Following is the cast of Characters in the French Play:

Rose ..... Mary Shreve
White Butterfly ..... Jane Hayes
Snail ..... Helen Sexton
Ants ..... Molly Wright and Violet Winn
Cricket ..... Lucie Colt
Katydids ..... Harriet Gregory
Bee ..... Betty Willett
Firefly ..... Marjorie Brown
Yellow Butterfly ..... Marjorie Brown

TRIP TO CHARLETON TOMORROW

Mystic Valley Lodge members and their families will motor tomorrow to the Masonic Home at Charlton, where a meeting will be held in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. Lunch will be eaten in Worcester. It is anticipated that there will be a large attendance on the trip.

Plans for our July 4th celebration are underway. Selectman Willey, after much work, secured a well known Junch and Judy show yesterday, and he states that he is assured that the fireworks will be the best in several years.

LORD-LANE

More than four hundred relatives and friends witnessed the marriage of Miss Mabelle Irene Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Lord, and Franklin Johnson Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lane at the home of the bride's parents on Pine street, Saturday evening, June third.

The Lord estate, one of the show places of Winchester, lent itself admirably as a setting for a wedding of such proportion. Original plans were carried out regardless the weather, signals and precisely at seven thirty to the accompaniment of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by an orchestra on the sun porch, the bride and groom walked from the house through a path lined either side with garlands of laurel to an arbor of evergreens and roses, where the ceremony was performed by the Reverend R. Perry Bush of Chelsea, Mass.

The double ring ceremony was used. The ring bearer, 3 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stone of Winchester, came directly behind the Reverend R. Perry Bush, the rings resting on a pillow made from the wedding gown of the brides mother. Next came the flower girl, little Jean Muxie of Malden, strewn rose petals along the way, then the best man, Mr. Jan. T. Fries of Cambridge, Mass., a classmate, escorting the bridegroom, and the ushers. Next in line was the matron of honor, Mrs. C. Frederic Eberle of Albany, N. Y., sister of the bride followed by the bridesmaids.

The bride made a beautiful picture approaching on the arm of her father by whom she was given in marriage. The impressive stillness was remarkable while the vow was taken, the replies being distinctly heard. Surely those assembled there felt the sacred meaning of being joined together under the heavens surrounded by nature.

The train bearer was Master Paul Gilpatrick son of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Gilpatrick of Medford, cousin of the bride.

The reception was in the spacious living room beneath a double arbor of asparagus fern and carnations, the bride couple being assisted by their parents Mr. and Mrs. James B. Lord and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lane.

One of the pretty incidents of the affair was the presence of the Sunday School class of the bride bearing a gift and letter wishing her all happiness.

The bride's gown was of white tulle with crystal and pearl beading, white satin train with tulle veil caught with orange blossoms.

The matron of honor was gowned in American beauty sequin over gold cloth with tulle train, she carried American beauty roses. The bridesmaids carried out the sunset colors, blue, pink, orchid, yellow, green and rose georgette over taffeta, wreaths of roses adorned their hair, and they carried shower bouquets of sunset sweet peas.

Mrs. Lord, mother of the bride, wore an imported gown of king's blue sequin, Mrs. Lane wore a beaded orchid georgette.

The house was artistically decorated in pink, white and red roses entwined with asparagus fern.

The bride is a graduate of the Winchester High School and of Smith College 1919, she is also a member of the En Ka Sorority. The bridegroom, is a graduate of Tufts College and served as an ensign overseas.

The bridesmaids were: Mrs. C. Frederic Eberle (Louise Lord) Albany, N. Y., who was matron of honor; Mrs. James Todd, Jr. (Betty Fiske) of Threshing, L. I.; Mrs. Harold Sprague, Malden Mass.; Mrs. Howell Sprague (Connie Park) Allston, Mass.; Mrs. Daniel Tyler, Jr. (Jean Kimball) bride's roommate at College, Brookline, Mass., formerly of Chicago; Miss Virginia Mosman, Winchester; Miss Constance Lane (sister of the groom), Winchester, Mass.

The ushers were: Mr. Ronald Lane, (brother of the groom) who was best man, of Providence, R. I.; Mr. C. Frederic Eberle, Albany, N. Y.; Mr. Philip Oodington, Everett, Mass.; Dr. Leighton Johnson, Norwood, Mass.; Mr. Roger Hunnewell, Somerville, Mass.; Mr. Harold Farnsworth, Winchester, Mass.

The couple left amid showers of rose petals for a motor trip through the Berkshires and will stop at Manchester, Vermont for Golf. They will make their home in Buffalo, N. Y.

Guests were present from Chicago, New York, Kennecub and Portland, Me., and Greater Boston. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

FLAG DAY EXERCISES WEDNESDAY

As announced last week, Winchester Lodge of Elks is to hold fitting exercises in the Town Hall on June 14th. The committee in charge has completed a most interesting program of a patriotic nature and invitations have been issued to all the patriotic bodies in town, and to the Selectmen.

The public is invited to attend. No admission will be charged. The program will open at 8 p. m.

The following program will be carried out:

The music will be by a Strachan's all-Elk orchestra and will be a feature of the exercises.

Miss Eva MacRae of Vine street graduated from the Waltham Training School for Nurses Friday night.

WILLIAM PARKMAN LODGE

William Parkman Lodge announces this week in its regular calendar a series of meetings through the next three weeks, together with a trip to the Masonic Home at Charlton.

The regular meeting of the lodge will be held on Tuesday evening, June 13th, this to be followed by special meetings on June 20th, 27th and 29th. A special church service is announced for Sunday, June 25th, at 10:30 a. m. at the Unitarian church.

The trip to Charlton will be held on Thursday, June 29th. Extensive arrangements have been made by the committee in charge and it is anticipated that there will be a large attendance. The trip will be by auto, the party leaving the corner of church and Cambridge streets at 8:30 a. m., going over the road in three divisions, red, white and blue. Each car will have a definite place in the line, and an emergency car will accompany the party. An estimate of the mileage places the trip at $25 miles.

The Masonic Home at Charlton is beautifully situated, with clear air and a magnificent view. The plan is for each car to carry a lodge banner and its designated number, groups of 15 cars forming a motor train. The members will be accompanied by their wives.

Each person will arrange for his own lunch, picnic style, and at the Home ice cream, tonic, etc., will be provided. The program includes a meeting and a program of various games and contests.

OTHER NEEDS FIRST!

To the Editor of the Star:
Talk about Winchester's schools! It's nothing, when you think to question our ideal Senator Henry Cabot Lodge giving twenty-five dollars to the "Hippo" fund. It seems to me it would have been better for him to give it to fifty hospitals or the starving children of Russia than to help finance a "Hippo" enterprise, that will eat more in one day than one hundred small children of the starving countries.

I have always been a strong admirer of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.
Respectfully,
Daniel Kelly,
4 Dix street.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Connie McIntosh is spending a few weeks at Hagerstown, Md.

Marriage intentions were filed with the town clerk this week by Michael F. Murphy of 20 Elmwood avenue and Miss Nora E. Cullen of Bruce road.

Among the weddings of the near future is that of Mr. Charles R. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Marshall of Cliff street, and Miss Marjorie L. Bond of Waban.

This week has broken several records for heat at this season of the year. Wednesday and Thursday reached a temperature seldom exceeded during a summer season. In our square the glass was over 100 during the middle of the day.

The work of replacing the old Bacon street bridge is progressing rapidly. The well known Boston firm of J. R. Worcester & Co., has been selected to handle the engineering part of the structure and Mr. Ralph S. Vinal of this town, who already has many creditable examples of his work and ability about Winchester, will take care of the landscape features. It is expected that the plans will be in shape to ask for bids in a week or ten days. In general the bridge will be built with concrete abutments and arch, and seamed face granite facing.

The children of St. Mary's Parochial School held a field day this week. The girls gave an exhibition of fancy and folk dances and marching, while the boys gave an exhibition of physical training and athletic work. The proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the school fund. Mrs. Margaret Callahan was chairman of the committee in charge of the refreshment booth at the affair, which was attended by Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt and Frs. Fitzgibbons and Quigley.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

June 5, 1922.
The Board met at 7:30 p. m., all present. Mr. Main was appointed temporary chairman until Mr. Willey's arrival later on in the evening.

The records of the meeting of May 29 were read and approved.

Schools: A letter was received from the Commissioner of Education of Massachusetts enclosing a copy of decisions affecting the administration of schools recently handed down by the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Same was ordered filed.

High St: A letter was received from Mr. Thomas M. Vinson commending the Board for discharging T. Parker Clarke as Superintendent of Streets, and also asking when High Street is going to be built. The Clerk was instructed to write Mr. Vinson that the Board has the matter of High street in hand and that it will be completed at as early a date as possible.

Street Lights 1922 (Elmwood avenue): Upon the recommendation of Mr. Main of the Street Light Committee, the Board voted to have the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston install one (1) 60 c. p. incandescent street light on Elmwood avenue, the exact location of this light to be given the Edison Company by the Town Engineer. The Town Engineer is also to consult with Mr. Main in regard to the location of the light. The meeting adjourned at 11 o'clock.

P. M.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The police department has received four riot guns.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cole and family have opened their summer home at Marblehead Neck.

Miss Eleanor Greco of Everett avenue was graduated this week from Miss Haskell's School at Cambridge.

It is reported that Mr. J. A. Laraway has purchased the residence on Main street formerly owned and occupied by Dr. I. T. Cutter. Mr. Laraway will occupy the estate.

Mr. Richard D. Lawler was elected one of the members of the Tower Cross Society, the honorary society of Tufts college for the year 1922, at the annual meeting, Tuesday.

Mrs. Frances G. Barnes who has just finished her course at Northfield Seminary is spending two weeks in Winchester after which she expects to return to Northfield for the summer.

On Sunday afternoon a Maxwell and a Ford car driven by Russo W. Packard of Somerville and Eugene F. Randall of Medford collided in the centre. One of the cars received a set of bent mudguards.

While practising Tuesday afternoon, Joe Mathews the excellent pitcher, received a bruised eye by a throw ball. First aid was rendered and he is resting comfortable while attending school.

At the Metropolitan Driving Club on the Speedway, there will be a big open air horse show on Saturday, June 10th. At 1:30 the regular matinee races will take place. There is a free parking space and the club house will be opened.

Monday was one of the hottest days of the year, a high temperature and extreme humidity making the day very uncomfortable. The swimming places and the beaches were crowded. One man was overcome in this town, a workman at Leonard Field at the Highlands succumbing to the heat.

Miss Dorothy Hill of this town, a Junior at the Boston University College of Secretarial Science, will sail for China on Aug. 15th, where she will start her duties as secretary to Sidney Gamble of the Princeton section of the Y. M. C. A. Miss Hill has accepted her position for three years, giving up her degree at the college.

The Blodgett house on Main street was entered by thieves, it was reported to the police Sunday by the executor of the estate, Mr. Kenneth Blodgett of Wollaston. Trunks in the upper rooms were broken open and articles stolen. This estate is reported as having been sold to Mr. C. P. Dow of Main street.

Monday afternoon a ford delivery truck of the Hutchinson Market, driven by Clarence Gray of Billerica, hit a telephone pole on High street near Arlington street, being badly wrecked. According to the driver, who was uninjured, the truck struck a rock in the street, and before he could straighten it out it hit the pole.

The Stoneham police reported that on Sunday night at 11:15 a Ford truck and a larger truck were in collision on Forest street near the Stoneham line. The smaller truck, which was badly damaged, was driven by John F. Lyons of Melrose and the larger truck was owned by the Blackstone Valley Commercial Works of New Bedford. No one was injured.

BOAT CLUB ACTIVITIES

The Winchester Boat Club season has opened with much added interest with the ladies serving on the House and Entertainment Committees.

Arrangements have been made for serving tea, luncheons and suppers. The large covered piazzas and assembly hall overlooking the lake afford an ideal arrangement for the purpose and the decorations recently put up have added to the appearance of the house.

Under the new House Rules members may have private parties in the afternoon or evening for entertaining their friends, an arrangement endorsed by all of the members. The Steward is prepared to serve meals and to put up lunches for the members at any time.

The program of dances for the season includes a greater number than last year, the ladies on the Entertainment Committee have arranged for two chaperons to be in attendance at each dance and the Stewardship on duty to help in any way.

The swimming float which proved to be so popular last year will again be anchored in deep water off the slip.

Canoe activities have started up with the arrival of boating weather and the Memorial Day Regatta was well attended, Winchester taking four and Medford three of the events in the races and water sports. Practice for the Tenny Cup War Canoe Race on June 17th, and the other contests, is going on regularly on Tuesday and Thursday evenings each week, with the Saturday afternoon Club Regatta events being keenly contested.

The Mystic Single Paddle Trophy, which has not been raced for recently, will be contested for over the half-mile course on July 4th, during the regular Inter-Club Regatta with the Medford Boat Club.

The interest in the water activities by the younger members has added considerable to the life at the Club.

The committees of the Club this year are as follows:

House Committee
Charles A. Gleason (Chairman)
Dr. Clarence Ordway Nathaniel G. Hill

Sub-Committee
Mrs. H. S. Underwood (Chairman)

WINCHESTER HAS A FINE MILE RUNNER IN JOE WATTERS

Editor of the Star:

In reading the various accounts of prominent athletes in the different towns surrounding Winchester I notice that the local paper never fails to boom the young man, and that young man when some fine performance is turned in. Now right here in Winchester we have a young man, John Watters a student at Exeter, and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Watters of Wildwood street, whose performances are attracting the attention of all the sport writers of the country and who if he continues in this game will probably prove one of the greatest American mile runners we have ever had.

In the Exeter and Andover games Saturday he not only won the mile run, but also beat the crack half-mile runner of Andover in the half-mile event. So all up for John Watters a Winchester boy and may he run many a mile run before he lays his spike shoes aside.

POEM PLAY AT ELDER ESTATE

A poem play entitled "The Lamp and the Bell," a drama dealing with the close friendship of two young women of the 16th century in Italy, was presented before an audience of about 200 at Grey Rocks, the Elder estate, on Myopia Hill Saturday evening. The production was given by the dramatic class of the Boston Girls' City Club.

The play was given just after sunset, the light effect being enhanced by a remarkably fine and artistic electrical effect arranged under the direction of Monroe Pevear, assisted by Miss Gladys Raynor, Miss Vivian Starratt had charge of the musical part of the program.

Miss Ruth Elder, who is instructor of the class, was hostess for the occasion, serving supper to the members of the class previous to the play.

PLAY OUT OF TOWN TOMORROW

The Winchester High School playing Arlington High on Manchester Field this Saturday afternoon, the town team will play out-of-town, taking on Melrose. Its next home game will be on the morning of June 17th, when it meets Medford in the morning.

Mark Kelley, who cracked out the nice two-bagger for Winchester last week, is now playing with the Londonderry, N. H. team. He has signed up there for the summer.

TWO ACCIDENTS ON HIGHLAND AVENUE

There were two accidents on Highland avenue over the week-end, both occurring at the northerly end of the road, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock a Ford car and a Studebaker car, driven by Arthur R. Donaghey of Glenwood avenue and Lawrence Winde of 19 Mt. Pleasant street were in a collision, both being badly damaged, and on Sunday evening at 5 a Ford runabout driven by Ray N. Groat of Worcester tipped over with himself, wife and child. No one was injured in either accident.

According to report of the Saturday evening accident Donaghey was driving down from Stoneham. He was not able to make the direct turn into Highland avenue owing to a party of women walking into the street, and was obliged to go around the triangle and enter the avenue from the west. Just as he turned onto the avenue he was struck by the Studebaker, which was travelling in the same direction.

The Ford was thrown against the curbing at the side of the street and went over the sidewalk into the Fallon property, while the Studebaker went across to the other side and hit a telephone pole. No one was injured.

What caused the second accident is not known, but the car ran into the fence protecting the deep ravine between Reservoir street and Fells road and broke it, turning over in the woods at the foot of the bank. It was a miracle that the three occupants escaped injury. The Ford was owned by the Smith-Green Co. of Worcester.

JOHNSON—COREY

Miss Hazel Ermine Corey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Edmond Corey of the Parkway, graduate of the Winchester High School and the Framingham Normal School, and a teacher of Domestic Science at the Canton High School, was married at the home of her parents on Saturday evening to Mr. Robert Johnson, a Boston attorney and the son of Judge and Mrs. John Warren Johnson of Woburn.

More than 250 guests from Winchester, Woburn, Newton, Worcester, New York, Fall River, Hopedale, Canton, and Northboro, attended the ceremony and following reception. The residence was very beautifully decorated for the affair with a profusion of pink roses and carnations combined with greenery, all of which was done by the girl friends of the bride under the supervision of Miss Abbie Currie.

Rev. D. Augustine Newton, pastor of the Reading Congregational Church, former pastor of the local Congregational Church, was the officiating clergyman, performing the ceremony at seven-thirty. Mr. Ralph Johnson, Harvard '12, brother of the groom, was best man, and the bridesmaids were Miss Pauline G. Corey, sister of the bride, and Norma M. Wood of Norton, Little Beatrice and Evelyn Corey, cousins of the bride, were ribbon bearers.

The bride wore an imported gown of beaded white crepe. The coronet of her veil was made from the wedding handkerchief of her mother, and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. She was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaids wore beaded jade cation crepe and georgette, and carried bouquets of pink roses.

The parents of the couple assisted in receiving at the following reception, the ushers being Messrs. Philip L. Brackett of Woburn, Carlton M. Dean, M. I. T. '17, of Woburn; Dr. W. Haven Sherburne, Harvard '16, of Woburn and Charles S. Bolster, Harvard '15, of Dorchester.

Mrs. Johnson, who is prominently known among Winchester's young people, was a teacher of Domestic Science at the Mt. Ida School for Girls before going to Canton. Mr. Johnson is a Harvard man, A. B. '16 and L.L.B. '20. He served in the 301st Field Artillery at Camp Devens and at Camp Taylor, Ky., where he was commissioned a second lieutenant. He is a member of the Towanda Club, the Kappa Sigma Fraternity and several Woburn organizations. The couple will make their home for a time in Winchester upon their return from a wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Livermore have gone to their villa at Lenox. Mrs. Livermore was Miss Elizabeth Turnure.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

WAKEFIELD GAME WON BY FORFEIT

Winchester High School won its second game from Wakefield High in the Mystic Valley League Monday at Wakefield by a forfeit, Wakefield losing the game by the umpire's decision to hold to ground rules agreed upon before the game.

According to report of the game, which had been postponed from Saturday by rain on the previous day, ground rules were agreed upon whereby a ball hit into or among the trees in right field was good only for two bases. Under this rule the game went to the last of the ninth inning, when with the score of 3 to 2 in Winchester's favor, and with Maroney of Wakefield on first, Talbot hit a liner among the trees. He went around the bases for a home run, and as Maroney also scored, this tied the game.

When the umpire ordered the runners back to third and second bases Wakefield protested. The umpire ruled that under the ground rules the men could not take but two bases, and Wakefield refused to continue the game. The umpire then gave the match to Winchester 3-0.

Wakefield had none out and had a good prospect of scoring the two runs, but intense feeling evidently overrode good judgment. Winchester spectators who attended the game were loud in their criticism of what took place, it being reported that in the ninth inning a party of Wakefield rooters walked straight across the diamond from first to third bases, holding up the game during their passage, and then camped directly on the base line.

Winchester had the best of the game up to the finish. Mathews only walking one man and striking out four.

WINCHESTER TOWN TEAM NOTES
Mr. James Hinds has been elected President of the Winchester Baseball Association, following the resignation of Mr. Wm. Priest, who could not remain on account of pressure of other business.

The Association has voted to allow The Winchester High School to have the use of Manchester Field on Saturday, June tenth, as they had a game scheduled for that date with Arlington early in the season.

Manager Hanlon will take his team to Melrose on that day, and will give Melrose a return game here on July first.

On the morning of June seventeenth, at ten-thirty, A. M., Medford A. A. will play the Town Team on Manchester Field. This team is meeting with good success this season and is playing a good brand of baseball. Davidson, who pitched for the Lowell K. of C. last season, will pitch for Winchester, as Joe Matthews will not be available for the Town Team until after June 17th, on which day the Winchester High School closes its season.

Manager Hanlon of Winchester and Manager McMahon of Woburn have both decided to have no game on the afternoon of June 17th, as a large number of fans are interested in the outcome of the High School game which will be played in Woburn on that afternoon; it being the deciding game in the Mystic Valley League.

HIGH SCHOOL INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET

The Boys' Athletic Association of the High School conducted an inter-class track meet on Tuesday afternoon. The Sophomore class won the meet with 43 points. The Seniors came second with 15 points, and the Juniors were a close third with 14 points.

The meet started at 3:15 and ended about 5:30. An interested group of spectators watched the boys compete in the various events. The meet was in charge of Edward Sexton, a member of the Boys' A. A., who handled the entries and placed the men in the events. He was assisted by members of the teaching staff of the High School and also by some of the alumni. Mr. James Pennington officiated as starter. Mr. King acted as clerk of the course. Judges at the finish were Mr. Benshimol, Evander French of Tufts College, and Richard Stevens of M. A. C. John Kenerson timed the events.

The results in the events were as follows:

50 Yards Dash	1st Arthur French	Sophomore
2nd Ralph Smith	Senior
3rd Harold Gray	Senior
100 Yards Dash	1st Arthur French	Sophomore
2nd Harold Gray	Senior

Troop 3

TROOP III STARTED ON A CAMPING TRIP BUT WENT SWIMMING INSTEAD

Last Friday afternoon twenty Troop III Scouts started for an overnight camping trip to the bank of the Concord River at Billerica. Through the courtesy of Messrs. Arthur Downer, Herbert Wadsworth and William Breen the Scouts were conveyed to the camping place in autos.

The Scouts arrived at camp and pitched the Troop's ten pup-tents about 5:30. After a real steak and onion camp supper, prepared by the Senior Patrol Leader, the Scouts went to a nearby store where they quenched their thirst with soft drinks. Mr. Butters entertained the crowd about the camp fire with a big fish (21) story. The Scouts turned in about 9:15 and the majority were asleep by 10 o'clock.

Did the weather look doubtful last Friday P. M.? If it didn't, it surely did about 2:45 Saturday A. M., and at 2:45 A. M., the Assistant Scout Master felt a drop of rain on the end of his big toe which had found its way outside of the tent. This was the beginning of the end of an otherwise perfect camping trip. There was no more sleeping after that. A little before daylight some of the energetic members of the party were out making a loan-to by the fire. About 5 A. M. breakfast was served and by 5:30 there was a game of catch in progress. This shows that it takes more than a little rain to dampen the spirits of Scouts. About 8 o'clock a few went for a swim in the river while three others went for a paddle, and the rest of us swam on land. Erskine's school barge arrived to take the party home at 9. It was a wet but cheerful crowd that landed in Winchester Center about 10 A. M.

"Can Now Eat Three Good Meals a Day"—Writes Mr. Lee J. Gill

"I had not partaken of solid food for over a year, but after taking three bottles of O'Brien's, I am enabled to eat three good meals a day. I consider this marvelous considering my stubborn case of indigestion."

"I can cheerfully recommend it to anyone suffering with indigestion."—Lee J. Gill, 18 W. Maple Ave., Merchantville, N. J.

Seldom do you read a testimonial from as prominent a man as Mr. Gill. A clubman of note, a man known in big business circles, he says: "I owe it to the other fellow to let him know how wonderful O'Brien's is."

And O'Brien's is wonderful—a doctor's prescription that has relieved thousands of indigestion, heartburn, pains in stomach and other digestive troubles. Contains only high-grade medicines—non-injurious, easy because it requires no denials. Get a bottle today.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A practical joke is much like an electric coupe, it goes all right if it doesn't try to go too far.

There are a great many men who holler if their wife isn't home when he gets there to supper and directly after supper
he goes out somewhere himself.

After all, times don't change much, the only difference is: Our fathers when coming home late night's pleaded Horse colic but now it is engine trouble.

Brotherly love and friendship finds strange interpretation these days. It seems more like get him where you want him and swat him.

Is it possible that we have any satisfactory or efficient town officials?
Perhaps it may be assumed that the small group whose cases have not yet been taken up may include some.

An interesting feature of the present school situation is the fact that the School Committee has yet to take a formal vote upon the dismissal of Principal Thompson of the High School.
Under the law it gave him a hearing and thirty day notice "that it would vote upon his dismissal."

It has remained for Mr. James Kenney, the enterprising manager of the West Side Filling Station, to install the first public comfort station in Winchester. Meanwhile, notwithstanding the complaint of years standing, our centre continues to cooperate with the Railroad station.
Still, our new school buildings are reported to be thoroughly sanitary in every way. One step in the right direction.

We have received this week a communication from a subscriber who signs himself "A Spectator," to the effect that "The citizens think that the town or the Board of Trade should provide a sunshade for the center all day, with the hot sun shining on him—no fun for any man."
The STAR agrees with the "Spectator" and the citizens. We have wondered more than once how the officer endures the heat, and have recommended the light uniform now in use, in other places for these officers during the summer weather. Perhaps our new Board of Selectmen may feel the summer heat more than their predecessors and take up the matter.

The School Committee announced its much discussed "reasons" for the proposed dismissal of Principal Thompson in Sunday's papers. Principal Thompson received these same "reasons" on Monday night, requesting at that time that he be furnished with the "charges" actuating these "reasons." The citizens continue to know just about as much of the case as they did several weeks ago. They have the same privilege Mr. Thompson had in making their deductions.
If the School Committee has decided to make public its "reasons," it should

A GENTLEMAN decided last December that he would increase his insurance in April.
He is a very busy man; twice when I telephoned him in April he put off the examination.
The third time he was quite sick and was later taken to the hospital for treatment.
If he recovers his health he will probably obtain a divorce from the "Put Off" family.

WILLIAM W. HILL, Agent

Insurance Company
79 MILK ST. Boston
Phone Main 5760 Winchester 418

continue a little further and add its "charges." The Town has taken up Mr. Thompson's case. If it is to decide anything at all in the matter, it has got to know all the facts. We fail to find any plank in this campaign to date.

Superintendent of Streets T.
Parker Clarke terminates his work with this town next week Saturday, having served beyond his time of resignation to the satisfaction of the Selectmen. Mr. Clarke has served this town for the past seven years. Whatever may have been his short-comings during that period, Winchester has had a system of streets which have been the admiration and envy of every town in this vicinity. A recent survey of his department by a State road official gave a very gratifying report of his work. A town official is always open to criticism—no one ever stops to commend. It took a small group of Winchester critics seven years to find Mr. Clarke's faults.
He now goes to an advanced position at an increased salary. The STAR wishes him success.

From reports of Wednesday night's meeting of the Citizens Committee and the School Committee, it would appear that the latter board is determined to stand behind its action in carrying out the dismissal of Principal Edward E. Thompson of the High School. Apparently evidence to the contrary is of no weight in this opinion. The School Committee is standing distinctly upon its legal rights in the matter. Feeling thusly, a strong minded committee and superintendent would see no alternative except to retire and turn its duties over to others more in accord with popular opinion.

We must admit that, from reading the eight "reasons" set forth by our School Committee as the foundation for determining its decision to dismiss Principal Edward E. Thompson of the High School, we fail to find the expected detailed information the whole town is waiting for. An opinion is simply an opinion. Your opinion and our opinion may differ.
Facts are what determine our standing at the bank and our bank is particular. Can we conscientiously base such an important action upon our individual opinion? Facts are what are needed and what we should have.

We now face another mass meeting of citizens over our school situation; this time to hear the findings of the appointed committee to investigate the dismissal of Principal Thompson of the High School. We shall doubtless hear a correct summary of one side of this question at least.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Sexton left this week for Clifton, Mass where they will remain for the summer.

THE SCHOOL MUDDLE

The school muddle grows worse. We had fondly hoped for some sort of compromise. Alas! We have hoped in vain. The STAR is now ready to speak its mind on this most important and ill-timed affair. The Citizens' Committee met the School Committee on last Wednesday evening. This Committee has worked long and hard.
They have ready a mass of detailed evidence. Enough to convince any fair-minded man or woman that our school officials have made a stupid blunder and are dead wrong in trying to discharge the principal of our High School. Much to the surprise of a thousand and one fair-minded men and women in this town, their representatives met with a very cool reception from the School Committee. They refused to consider any detailed evidence. A petition signed by 20 of our High School teachers vouching for Mr. Thompson's executive ability and to his skill and success as the principal of our High School was refused as "evidence." In vain the Citizens' Committee called for details to shed some light on the eight "reasons" for Mr. Thompson's discharge, which have been spread broadcast in the Boston daily papers. It was shown that one of the most bitter opponents of Mr. Thompson, and a member of the present School Board, had never been inside of the High School building. Say what you will, the usefulness of our School Committee is at an end so far as their official duties are concerned. They cannot hope to have the confidence of our people or render any substantial educational service in the future. The same is true of the superintendent of schools.

Now the question is what shall be done about it? The solution is as plain as the nose on your face. Any five-year-old "kid" can understand it.
The one solution is a compromise. Yes, simply a compromise. The School Committee has not formally voted to discharge Mr. Thompson. Their secretary has made no record of any such vote on the record book. Hence if a compromise is made the School Committee will not be obliged to eat crow.

Let the two committees get together and calmly and fearlessly work out a compromise. The dreadful Brewster murder, the recent illustration of high finance in a local bank, the hysterical wrangle over the school building affair have put this goodly town into the lime-light. We have had too much of this sort of thing. Let us all unite and put an end to it.

What is the matter in Winchester? "Are you all crazy out there?"
and a hundred other sarcastic questions are hurled at our people on the steam cars, at the State House, on the busy Boston streets and even at the movies. It is generally admitted that the present School Board is weak and not competent to manage our schools.
This is no reason why they should not come down from their high horse and act like real folks. If they ever had real experience in school matters they would not get themselves and our citizens into this scrape.

WHAT THE "SURVEY" THINKS ABOUT OUR HIGH SCHOOL

To the Editor of the Star:

The much advertised "Government Survey" of Winchester schools is quite a formidable document. It consists of 193 pages and about 333,- 000 words. Chapter V is devoted to "The Winchester High School" with its 55 pages and about 33,000 words.
Certainly, specialists and experts hired at great expense should be expected to say something in so much printed matter. The eight reasons given the School Committee to the public press why and wherefore they deemed it best to demote or dismiss Mr. Thompson, the Principal of our High School, prompted us to consult the chapter V and learn what the "Survey" has to say about the standing of our High School. These brief quotations tell their own story. Comment is unnecessary.

Quotation No. 1, Page 107

The fact that the Winchester High School, as to holding power, is thus seen to rank high among the best towns of approximately the same population as that of Winchester, and this is in a State that ranks second among all the States as to the proportion of all its school youth who are enrolled in high schools and colleges, should afford the people of the town some degree of satisfaction.

Quotation No. 2, Page 108

Turning from pupil statistics to the young people themselves, we find in the Winchester high school a body of healthy and normal boys and girls apparently with a somewhat higher average of intelligence and initiative, than student bodies in many cities of the size of Winchester the country over. In general we find their attitude toward their work and their teachers to be good, and their outlook on life to be sound and sensible. Their general information seems to be well up to the average or better, and their preparation for their lessons averaged well. Their success in the tests that were given was good. Their interest in problems and thought questions was particularly noticeable; and when given a chance in discussion they entered into it with zest and enthusiasm. Altogether they seemed to us a body of youth who presented a strong appeal and challenge to the best efforts of their teachers.

Quotation No. 3, Page 108

Opinions have reached the commission to the effect that the morale of the high school pupils has not been what it should be, and that the spirit of school patriotism which is so important for the success of every school as a socializing institution has been somewhat lacking. However this may have been in the past, there is no convincing evidence now that the students are deserving of such criticism.

Quotation No. 4, Page 113

The members of the survey commission can say without hesitation or reservations that the members of the high school faculty are ladies and gentlemen of character, culture, and refinement, with whom anyone may be proud to associate and to whose care he may commit his children with entire confidence.

Quotation No. 5, Page 115

Taking all these records into consideration, we judge that the rumors that have been current to the effect that the school has not prepared its pupils well for college is not proved.

Furthermore, the survey commission is convinced that recent changes that have been made in the organization of personnel and in the administration of the school have already resulted in improved teaching in some departments and give promise of eventuating in better work in all departments.

Quotation No. 6, Page 123

This school, therefore, is found to be well in advance, when compared with similar schools in the Middle West, with respect to the college training had by its teachers.

Quotation No. 7, Page 126

The table (page 125) shows that the situation is good in respect to the stability and solidarity of the school staff. It is always good for a school to hold its teachers for a long time, unless it is found that they have stopped growing professionally and are "going to seed." The latter is most emphatically not true of the teachers of long experience in this school. They are professionally open-minded, and listen readily to progressive suggestions.

Quotation No. 8, Page 143

Taken as a body, the members of the teaching staff are of unusually fine and forceful personality. Their attitude toward the school and their work are characterized by a fine spirit of service and loyalty. They are almost without exception in good rapport with their pupils. In general their classroom management and teaching tend to be quite conventional, but are characterized by conscientiousness and thoroughness.

Page 144

In general we may say that the routine side of the work in this school is better than the average in history, art, physics, Latin, stenography, typewriting, and bookkeeping; that it is about equal to the average in English, mathematics, chemistry, modern languages, and home economics.

Page 158

The school has been criticized locally because of the alleged failure of its graduates in colleges. Reports from the colleges indicate that there is little or no foundation in fact for this criticism.

Speaking of executive work and supervision of instruction the survey says:

Page 160

The executive work of the school and the general administrative leadership were being splendidly and efficiently carried on by the principal during the stay of the survey commission.

Page 152

With a secretary to take care of clerical details of the principal's office, it is the belief of the survey commission that the principal can and will give splendid leadership in such work, and that the teachers without exception will cooperate with him gladly and effectively.

The "Survey" people evidently gave their blessing to our High School and its teachers. The average citizen is now curious to know why such a sudden "explosion" took place within so short a time after the Survey was issued. The five members of the School Committee gave their solemn oath in

BUILDING COMMITTEE ACTIVE

Although the School Building Committee has not yet held formal meeting and effected organization, its members have already started activities in taking steps to erect our new school buildings. This Friday morning it will visit a number of recently erected buildings in various towns and cities.

Owing to the absence from town of Mrs. Stella R. Root, the committee has yet to effect its organization, but Mrs. Root returned this week and will be in today's party, and the organization will be immediately effected.

Mr. Edward A. Kenerson, who has had considerable experience in school matters of various sorts, and was away at the time the committee was appointed, is serving as a member, and will prove without doubt a capable assistant.

Among the important decisions the committee must meet in opening its work is the matter of whether the first building started will be a one or two story structure. The selection of an architect will, however, be taken up first.

Published by the
WINCHESTER BOARD OF HEALTH

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

INDICTED IN BANK CASE

The seventh, eighth and ninth counts charge that certificates of deposit totalling $13,000 were issued and that the bank received nothing for the certificates at the time they were issued. Two of the certificates were for $5000 and one was for $3000. The two $5000 certificates were signed by Grosvenor and issued to Foster. They were discounted by Foster later at the First People's Trust, Boston.

The 10th count charges that on Dec. 31 an entry was made in the cash book showing that $10,500 was deposited on that date at the National Shawmut Bank, Boston, to the credit of the Winchester National Bank. The records of the National Shawmut fail to show that any such deposit was made.

The 11th count charges that on Dec. 31 the account of Joseph Adams was credited with a deposit of $10,000. No such deposit is shown to have been made by Adams on that date. A deposit was made on Dec. 31 of $10,000 to be credited to the Carr Fastener Company account, and under direction of Foster and Grosvenor this deposit was credited to the account of Adams.

The 12th count alleges that the bank, on Dec. 31, was ordered by the comptroller of the currency to submit a statement of condition as of the close of business Dec. 31. The statement as forwarded to the comptroller from the bank shows an overdraft on that date of $1058.56. The report of the government auditor shows that the correct overdraft Dec. 31 was $62,877.

The Winchester National Bank was organized Nov. 28, 1917, with a capitalization of $100,000. At that time E. Arthur Tutin was elected president. He held office until January 10, 1922, when he resigned to care for other interests.

With the resignation of Mr. Tutin, Foster, being vice-president, was elected to office of president, which position he held until Feb. 2, 1922, when he was removed by the board of directors.

Grosvenor was elected cashier April 1, 1920, and held that office until Feb. 2, 1922, when he also was removed.

Foster was president of the Allen Spool & Wood Tuning Company of Mystic, Ct.; treasurer of the Crocker Pen Company of Everett and treasurer of the Carr Fastener Company of Cambridge.

Discovery of the activities of the accused men was made by Edward P. Parker, bank examiner, during an audit begun by him Jan. 27 last.

JUNE FESTIVAL

The year's manifold activities in aid of St. Mary's School will have a closing in and Blaze of Beauty and day of Festive Fun on Saturday, June 17th. For the past month three large committees, representing the three districts of the Parish have been lending every effort to surpass last year's banner success. From present indications this "June Festival," one week from tomorrow, bids fair to equal in beauty, features and enterprise the 1921 Garden Party.

The Reverend Pastor, Father Morrill, has charge of the Hillside District with Mrs. Reagan and Mrs. Haley as his aides. The East Side Section, lead by Father Fitzgibbons, has Winchester's noted successful chairman, Miss Nellie M. Sullivan, as director, with Mrs. Patrick Kennedy in charge of the Festival "Tea-Room." Father Quigley looking after the fortunes of the West Side tables has Miss Mary Kormby, last year's energetic leader again in charge and Mrs. Catherine Callahan taking care of the Palm Garden. A committee of one hundred men will assist the above named table directors in their sales and drawings for blankets, aluminum ware and $5. Arlington Hams and Baskets of Fruit.

WINCHESTER BOY WINS HIGHEST HONOR AT DARTMOUTH

Stephen W. Ryan of Winchester, Mass., has been elected president of the Green Key Society at Dartmouth College. This society is a novel idea in colleges. In addition to being an honorary body it is responsible for the entertainment of all visiting teams. This year it has set an enviable record for service, and has so favorably impressed its guests from other colleges that many of them have founded similar organizations. The membership of the society is composed of forty men picked at the end of the freshman year by the three upper classes for the all-round ability they have shown. These men then elect their own officers. The presidency of the Green Key is considered the greatest honor a man may attain at Dartmouth before reaching his senior year. Ryan starred on this year's unbeaten freshman football team, was a member of the track team, is chairman of the class committee, and a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

PROBATE AND OTHER COURT NEWS

Herbert J. Blodgett of Brookline has been appointed as administrator of the estate of his brother William K. Blodgett of Winchester who died April 5, by Judge Lawton of the probate court. He has given a bond of $1000. The estate is valued at $500, all in personal property.

The will of Irene B. Bedell of Winchester who died April 12 has been allowed by Judge Lawton of the probate court.

Delia Whitney of Winchester has been appointed as executrix and has given a bond of $2000. The estate is valued at $1000, all in personal property.

Venanzio Inannacci of Winchester has asked to be appointed as administrator of the estate of his son, Paride Inannacci of Winchester, who died December 28, 1921. No valuation of the estate was given.

PURRINGTON-MULLONEY

Miss Louise Mary Mulloney of 37 Child street, Jamaica Plain, daughter of Mrs. Martha T. Mulloney, and Mr. Newell Walter Purrington of this town, son of Mrs. Ida Purrington of 179 Cambridge street, were united in marriage on Wednesday evening by Rev. Fr. McNamara of St. Thomas Church, Jamaica Plain.

The couple were attended by Miss Gertrude Mulloney, sister of the bride, and Mr. Bartholomew Connelley of this town. The bride wore a wedding dress of white canton crepe and carried bride roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's dress was of orchid canton crepe and she carried pink roses.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, largely attended by friends of the couple.

Following a motor trip through the White Mountains, they will make their home in Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Nelson, former proprietors of the Food Shop on Mt. Vernon street, have opened a similar restaurant at Newton Corner.

BRILLIANT EVENT

beam in the pony saddle tandem class and led again in the saddle pony class. Sunbeam won the blue ribbon in the combination horse class, shown in harness, and in the saddle horse class with Miss Evelyn Bryson riding. Mrs. Hopewell's Radiant Nipper won the ribbon in the hackney harness pony class, and Sunbeam closed the program of the show by taking the saddle horse championship.

Lady Betty won the amateur jumping contest for Mr. Martin and third place in the saddle ponies class while Mr. Martin's I Am took second place in the saddle tandem ponies with Tris.

Thomas Quigley, Jr. of Winchester captured the ribbon for the single work horse class with Maud K., a black mare. The Middlesex Fells division of the Metropolitan District Commission bay gelding, Riley, won second ribbon. Maud K. and Dran, owned by Mr. Quigley, won the work horse pairs class blue ribbons, while the pair, Tom and Jerry, of the Winchester Highway Department took the red ribbon.

Aluminum, a gray gelding owned by the Weld stock farm, won the novice saddle blue ribbon, with William Norton riding. Red Wing of Martin's Riding School captured the polo ponies class ribbon.

Peter T. Roche's Monadnock took the blue ribbon for the middleweight hunters class up to 180 pounds, with Sydney A. Berge of Winchester riding the bay gelding Kilkee close behind in second place. Kilkee won the cup in the jumping contest with ease over Peter T. Roche's Utopian.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Annie Drohan of the senior class in Typewriting received this week a certificate from the Royal Typewriter Company for writing an average of 54 words for ten minutes with only five errors.

Monday morning in Assembly a cup was presented to Stephen Thompson, winner in the recent tennis tournament.

The cup to be presented by the Sons of Brown of Boston and vicinity to the winning team in the Mystic Valley Base ball League is now on exhibition at Randall's. To become the permanent possession of any school, this cup must be won three successive years. The prospect that it will be held this year by Winchester is certainly good.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

Your gas bills should be thrifty bills. Plan your cooking so as to make one burner or one oven cook more than one article of food at the same time.

While the meat is roasting in the oven, for example, you may not only bake other things, but use the floor space of the oven to boil vegetables.

Also give thought to the selection of proper utensils. You know how important it is not to have more heat applied to a utensil than it can absorb at once. Flat bottom utensils with a base broader than the gas flame are fuel savers.

If pots and pans discolor above the water mark on the inside, the reason is that you have tried to bring the water to a boil too quickly by using too large a burner or too much flame. Use the burner that is just a little smaller than the utensil so that the gas flame does not overlap the sides.

A Good Reputation plus a Better Price - $10.90

THE new low mark of $10.90 for the 30 x 3 1/2 size "Usco" created something of a sensation. Naturally, the first impulsive remark was on the "wonderful price."

Even more to the point are the comments of today.

People are getting more used to the $10.90 price—but the "Usco" value is still a cause for wonder.

With thousands of $10.90 "Uscos" running today, every locality has had a chance to check up on the surprising tire value.

Let all these "Usco" Tires now serving their owners so well remind you of this—

Whatever the price of "Usco," it has got to deliver big value because it has always done so.

It is reported unofficially that the Home is considering the purchase of the Sheehan estate adjoining its present property. In response to a request from the Town Treasurer and with the approval of the Auditor, the School Committee has voted to change the payment of janitors from a bi-monthly basis to a weekly basis. There will be no change in the amount of the yearly salary for any janitor. The amount of pay per week will be determined by dividing the total salary by 52, so each janitor will receive a payment each week for the fifty-two weeks of the year instead of as heretofore two payments each month.

FELL FROM TRAIN

Injuries Caused Howard Snelling's Death

Mr. Howard Snelling of Lakeview road, widely known through his twenty-five year's residence in Winchester, died at the Winchester Hospital Tuesday morning as the result of injuries received on Monday evening at the Wedgemere station.

Mr. Snelling arrived at Wedgemere on the 4:40 p. m. train from Boston accompanied by his mother. As the train pulled into the station he opened the platform gate on the left side of the train and either jumped or fell off. He landed heavily on the inward rails, fracturing his skull and breaking four ribs.

It is thought that Mr. Snelling was anxious to get to the station side of the train before an approaching express reached the platform. The train was slowing up for the stop, but was still traveling at good speed. Mrs. Snelling was on the steps behind her son, but did not jump. He lay on the inward tracks in front of the express, but the engineer had slowed his train in anticipation of the passing, and was able to stop before reaching him.

Passengers went to the stricken man's assistance and the police ambulance was summoned and he was taken to the Winchester Hospital. First reports stated serious but not fatal injury, but shortly after seven o'clock Tuesday morning he died.

Mr. Snelling had resided here for over 25 years. He was born in Boston and came here with his parents when they took up their residence on Lakeview road. He was 35 years of age and was a graduate of the class of 1905 of the Winchester High School. His parents were the late George E. and Emma (Cochran) Snelling. His father died in 1919.

Since leaving school he had been associated with the Snelling Hardware Co., of Boston, a business founded by his grandfather, and he was in charge of its affairs at the time of his death. He was engaged to Miss Edith Haley of Medford and the wedding had been set for the coming fall. He was a member and former treasurer of the Unitarian Church.

The funeral services were held at the Unitarian Church yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. William I. Lawrence of Auburndale, a former pastor, conducting the service. There was a large attendance of friends and business associates and many beautiful flowers. The interment was in the family lot at Forest Hills Cemetery.

TO BE MARRIED SATURDAY

Miss Georgiana Belle Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ellis Crawford of Wildwood street, is to be married on Saturday evening to Mr. Burdette Kerkhof Poland of Waltham. The wedding will be quiet, with only the members of the two families and a few intimate friends in attendance.

Mr. Poland is a former resident. He is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Orville Cram Poland, D. D., of the Asbury Temple M. E. Church of Waltham. His father, formerly pastor of the local Methodist church, will perform the ceremony, which takes place at eight.

The couple are to be attended by Mr. Orville S. Poland of New York, a brother of the groom, and by Miss Anna Christley of Butler, Pa., whose engagement to Mr. Thomas Ellwell Shepherd of Chestnut Hill was recently announced.

The wedding will be on the anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents. Miss Crawford will wear a gown of white georgette crepe with crystal beading. Her veil is to be of old Spanish lace with the coronet of duchess and rose point lace. Her maid of honor will wear a dress of orchid satin and crepe, crystal beaded, and the flowers will be a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white sweet peas, and lavender and pink sweet peas. The ceremony and reception will be at the home of the bride's parents, 7 Wildwood street.

The couple plan a honeymoon in Bermuda, after which they will make their home in Philadelphia, where Mr. Poland holds a responsible position in the branch office of the Bankers Electric Protective Association of Boston.

FORMER SELECTMEN REGRET DISMISSAL OF SUPERINTENDENT CLARKE

June 14, 1922.

To the Editor of the Star:

We, the undersigned, all former selectmen of Winchester, regret the dismissal of Mr. Clarke as Superintendent of Streets.

During our respective terms of office, we had charge of the Street Department and personally observed Mr. Clarke's work and his qualifications. For more than seven years he has honestly and efficiently served the town. He has made our streets and sidewalks a credit to the community.

We believe that the dismissal of Mr. Clarke is ill-advised and not for the good of Winchester. We think it is exceedingly unfortunate for the town that the repeated efforts of a few persons to remove him should have prevailed.

We wish to commend Messrs. Willey and Smalley for their refusal to vote against Mr. Clarke.

GOLDSMITH-STREET

Miss Frances Geraldine Street of Brookline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald G. E. Street, and Mr. Earle Brandon Goldsmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Goldsmith of this town, were married on Wednesday evening at Longwood at eight, by Rev. Henry K. Sherrill of the Church of Our Saviour.

Mr. Charles Christman of Brookline, N. Y., was best man and Miss Pauline Hatfield of Canton was maid of honor. The bridesmaids included Miss Elizabeth Newton of Brookline, Miss Eliza Short of Philadelphia, Miss Arta Holgate of Braintree and Miss Anna McKay of Arlington.

The bride wore a wedding dress of cloth of silver trimmed with duchess lace, her long court train being of silver cloth and her tulle veil being caught with duchess lace, orange blossoms and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride's roses.

The attendants were gowned in georgette crepe of pastel shades of orchid, peach, yellow and blue, with hats to match of horse hair crowns and loops of ribbons falling to the shoulders. They carried bouquets of sweet peas to match their gowns.

Little Jean Flanders, niece of the groom, was the ring bearer and the bride was given in marriage by her father. The residence was most attractively decorated for the affair with palms, potted plants and bouquets of roses.

A small reception followed the ceremony at the Hotel Victoria, the newly married couple being assisted in receiving by their parents. The ushers included Mr. John Salyer, Mr. Russell Symmes, Mr. Fred McCartney and Mr. Franklin Flanders of this town, Mr. Hollister Olmstead of Boston, Mr. Gerald King of Norwood, Francis Brown of Brookline, Mr. Roswald Fithian of Cambridge and Mr. George Street of Brookline, the bride's brother.

Following a motor trip through the Mountains to Canada and the Thousand Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith will take up their residence in Winchester.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES

The Class of 1922 held Class Day exercises Tuesday evening at the Country Club. The four most popular teachers and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were invited to attend. The program was somewhat different from those in previous years. It started at six o'clock with 15 minutes' informal dancing followed by a buffet supper. This was an unusual feature and was very much enjoyed by everyone. The dancing was resumed until eight o'clock when the president, Rudolf Mortensen, started the regular Class Day exercises. An oration was given by the class orator, Charles Bennett, which was followed by a few words from Mr. Thompson. The class history was then read by the historian, Ruth Matthews. Miss Palmer and Miss Parker both gave very interesting speeches. The statistics were read by John Drisko, after which Mr. Hall delivered his well-coached speech. Then came the presentation of the gifts. These provided a great deal of fun. A clever rhyme accompanied each gift. A speech by Miss Weeks and the reading of the class will by Ralph Smith brought the program to the last number which was the prophecy. Pearl Prime, dressed as a gypsy read the prophecies from cards. The entire program was well done. The rest of the evening was spent in dancing. A Paul Jones dance led by Mr. Hall added to the general good time. The orchestra consisted of Ben Priest, piano; Hall Gamage, drums; and Edgar Taylor, mandolin.

The committee in charge of the evening consisted of William Breen, Nellie Ralph, and Gervain Skilling. Special credit was given to the committee for arranging such an attractive evening in the short time they had.

SHORE DINNER AT MARBLEHEAD

The Men's Club of the First Baptist Church with their wives and friends to the number of 91 speeded to Marblehead last Friday evening for their second annual shore dinner.

Twenty automobiles conveyed the party to the Adams House and at seven o'clock they took possession of the dining room.

Mr. Clarence A. Warren acted as toastmaster and during the evening called on several of the men to speak. Mr. H. Earl Richardson recited an original poem. Mr. Arthur E. Gilmore responded with one of his clever after-dinner stories. Mr. Arthur E. Gates told us probably the biggest fish story we have heard so far. Mr. Harry Moulton explained to our entire satisfaction why there is salt in the water. Although, Frank W. McLean was manager of the party, he was not due for a speech, but nevertheless he insisted on saying a few words regarding the radio. Rev. Clifford H. Walcott then told us a real story with a real good moral to it.

The toastmaster then painted the hill adjoining the rocks, the ocean and the sunset in such wonderful colors that the entire party wended its way up on the hill by the fort where games were played and songs were sung until quite late.

All agreed that the second annual shore dinner was a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey L. Mitchell and family, together with Mr. Mitchell's father and sister, have been in town a few days visiting Mrs. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. George E. Henry of Highland avenue. The Mitchells are on their way from their home in Florida to their summer place at Christmas Cove, Me.

MASS MEETING

Report of Citizens' Committee Received and Final Appeal Made to School Committee

The second mass meeting of Winchester citizens in connection with the proposed dismissal of Principal Edward E. Thompson of the High School was held last evening in the Town Hall. While the attendance did not reach the capacity of the hall, there was a large and representative gathering present which well filled the large hall and galleries and overflowed into the small hall. Probably close to 800 were present, all of whom were adults, as everyone under 20 years of age was refused admittance by the police officer on duty at the door.

Mr. M. P. Stevens presided and following the opening of the meeting Mrs. Herbert T. Bond, chairman of the committee, read the report of the work and results of the group of men and women who have been giving their time in the matter. This report is printed in full on page six of this issue of the STAR.

In general, to sum up the action of the meeting, there was a unanimous (if four citizens may be excepted) opinion that the School Committee had not acted with the best judgment in its intention to dismiss Mr. Thompson. There was further shown a decided desire, likewise unanimous, to assure the School Committee of the respect of the citizens, but to again beg it and impress upon it the wisdom of its reconsidering its action.

To this end the Committee has been instructed to once again appear before the School Committee in an endeavor to convince it that the Town is unanimous in its opinion and to once again endeavor to convince it of its mistake.

Upon receipt of the committee's report the following resolution was voted:

Whereas the School Committee has announced that it proposes to vote upon the dismissal of Mr. Edward E. Thompson as principal of our High School on the 21st inst., therefore be it Resolved: that we, citizens of Winchester assembled in the Town Hall on the evening of June 15th, do hereby emphatically protest against Mr. Thompson's dismissal and beg that the School Committee reappoint him as principal for the year 1922-1923; and that it further be Resolved: that the clerk of this meeting is instructed to send promptly a copy of these resolutions to the School Committee.

This resolution was carried by a rising vote, of the vast audience only four persons voted in the negative. It was then voted to limit the period of discussion to three minutes, subject to the consent of the meeting for extended time.

Mr. E. C. Sanderson then offered the following motion:

Moved, That the Citizens' Committee is to interpret the third instruction voted at the meeting of May 20th as directing it to investigate the Superintendent's relation to the school system.

Mr. Tuck desired that the matter of Mr. Thompson's retention be placed upon a ballot and submitted to the people, stating that in his opinion if the School Committee was not willing to give in to the opinion of the people it should resign. Following his remarks the motion was passed.

The following motion was next passed:

Moved, That the Citizens' Committee already appointed be authorized to continue to act for and in behalf of this assembly in carrying out the instructions given it at the public meeting of May 20th, and that those instructions be hereby ratified and confirmed.

Mr. C. E. Hill then moved that the chairman be authorized to call another meeting at his discretion, which was voted.

Mr. Amasa Harrington then asked for remarks from any present who supported the attitude of the School Committee, and in endeavoring to bring out this side, Mr. Guild of the School Committee, who was present, was asked to state his side of the matter. He replied by saying that the circular issued during the afternoon covered the ground.

Mr. Hill stated that he thought that perhaps some of the people present were as able to judge Mr. Thompson as the School Committee. He thought Mr. Thompson fit to head any High School in the State. Parents he talked with thought there was no better principal ever in our school. Any boy or girl could prepare for college here if he was willing to work for it.

At this point a suggestion was made that the School Committee should remove from office unless it reversed its decision.

This led Mrs. Bond to express a wish that such action be not taken by the meeting at this time. She only regretted that the School Committee had refused to give out its charges before when they were asked for.

Mr. A. J. Boyden did not feel that the meeting had all read the School Committee's statement, and that the meeting was not acting with full information of their side of the matter. A rising information vote on this point was taken and it appeared that fully 5-6 of those present had read the statement.

Mrs. F. B. Reynolds asked why the report was not given before the late afternoon, so that the people could have sufficient time to read it. The question was put to Mr. Guild, who replied that it was not off the press until 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Reynolds desired to know why the report was not off the press before that hour, when it had been given such long consideration, to which again Mr. Guild answered that the School Committee had been working diligently upon it day and night (laughter).

Mr. Wray Rohrman asked the meeting to "lay-off" Mr. Guild, but Mr. T. H. Barrett saw no reason why it should, as he felt the committee did not "lay-off" the Citizens' Committee.

Mr. Sanderson then asked if Mr. Thompson had yet received a copy of the "charges" contained in the School Committee's report, as he had not received them at 3 o'clock. Mr. Guild stated that he had sent them to Mr. Thompson at the first opportunity, and asked Mr. N. M. Nichols, who had charge of the distribution of the report, if he had so delivered it. He replied that he had.

It was then asked at what hour Mr. Thompson received the report, to which Mr. Nichols replied that he had to use the pupils of the Wadleigh School to deliver it and could not do so until school was out at 3 o'clock. He thought Mr. Thompson received it at about 3 o'clock.

There then followed several speakers who paid high tribute to Mr. Guild as a citizen and for what he had already done personally for the schools. Mrs. Bond stating that when her committee first appeared before the School Committee the question was asked "are you of an open mind, or are you set?" to which but one member replied that he was undecided and would vote upon his opinion as formed when the vote was taken. She had since heard that Mr. Guild is of an open mind.

She expressed the opinion of the meeting when she said that no one had any intention of insulting our School Committee, but it did desire that Mr. Guild, who had attended only as a citizen with a desire to learn the opinion of the Town, should carry back to his committee the wish of the people to retain Mr. Thompson.

MARSHALL-BOND

Summer flowers, such as peonies, roses and larkspur, interspersed with palms and ferns, comprised the decorations of the interior of the Union Church in Waban, where on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock occurred the wedding of Miss Marjorie L. Bond and Charles Rhodes Marshall.

Miss Bond is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Bond of 1445 Beacon street, Waban, and attended school at Glen Eden Poughkeepsie, New York. Mr. Marshall, who graduated from Yale in 1916, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Marshall of 7 Cliff street, Winchester.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles H. Cutler, the pastor of the church. The bride was attended by her two sisters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Harriet Bond. The wedding gown of the bride was ivory satin crepe with court train, her tulle veil being held by a band of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses. A pearl necklace worn by the bride was a bridal gift to the grandmother of the groom, Mrs. William Colburn Marshall, and was worn by her at her wedding.

The bridesmaids gowns were of chiffon, Miss Elizabeth wearing yellow and Miss Harriet blue, both carried bouquets of blue larkspur and Ward roses.

Mr. M. Walker Jones attended the bridegroom and the ushers were Lieut. Commander George F. Neiley, Lowell R. Smith, and Geoffrey C. Neiley of Winchester, Frank J. Hartley, Jr., of Belmont, Lowell Bond of Waban and Aretas O. Barker of Brookline.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will be at home at 14 Park avenue, Winchester.

WINCHESTER NEW FOUR-BALL CHAMP

Winchester Country Club golfers became champions of the Boston Four Ball League Tuesday, winning handily from Commonwealth and thereby dashing from third place to the front of the procession, sneaking in on the pole while Albemarle and Woodland, last year's winner, were jockeying for the lead. The final spurt of the new champions was very fast, Commonwealth being overwhelmed by 11½ points to a half point. As Albemarle and Woodland, which were practically deadlocked at the top, divided their 12 points, Winchester more than wiped away its three-point deficit.

The final standing shows that Winchester won 50½ points of the 84 possible in the league round robin, while Albemarle, in second place, won 48, Woodland 47½, Weston 43, Wollaston 42, Chestnut Hill 40½, Oakley 39½ and Commonwealth 25. You cannot arrange eight teams that will wind up a season in closer order.

Weston jumped from sixth to fourth place, ahead of Wollaston, and Chestnut Hill vaulted from seventh to sixth place on the final day's play.

Winchester's big margin over Commonwealth was the day's big surprise. Another was the defeat of Wollaston on its own stamping ground by Chestnut Hill, 7 to 5. Weston beat Oakley, 9 to 3. Horton Pushee being the big noise done up in a small package. He had a 76 at Weston.

MISS EMERSON'S SCHOOL

The closing day exercises of Miss Emerson's School were held last week Thursday at Metcalf Hall. A class of seven girls was graduated, the Rev. George Hale Reed, of the Unitarian Church, making the address and presenting the diplomas.

The program opened with a French play, acted by the graduating class, assisted by other children. Mrs. Lazelle introduced it with explanations which connected it with the main body of the program, which was entitled "The Friendship of Nations," and centered in the Washington Conference for the Limitation of Armaments. In this part of the program the seven graduates represented each a different one of the nations concerned in the Conference and in the discussion of the Pacific questions. Each read as her graduating essay, a clear and intelligent account of her chosen nation's progress, its service to the world and its need of friendship. Piano selections and songs were given by Virginia Milbury.

Interspersed with these were folk songs and dances of various nations, illustrating local customs, and presented by the younger classes.

The reading of the graduates was clear and pleasing in manner, as well as worthy of the theme which has so interested all the world and has had the attention of all progressive schools. The folk songs and games included a little sketch called "Sunbonnet Babies" where the 1st and 2nd grade children were seen playing, dancing and singing in the amusing guise of "sunbonnet girls" and "overall boys." The audience was delighted with this offering and with the old English song, "My Man John" by the 6th class.

Miss Emerson explained the relation of the program to the work of the school, showing that even the youngest children are learning to think outside the narrow circle of their own interests. Mr. Reed's address took its note from a recitation by the graduating class "June," and the morning closed with "America" sung by all.

An exhibition of the school work in drawing, sewing, and other studies, filled tables in the hall. Especially interesting were the poems, selected from the work of all grades from the 3rd up, and the little newspaper of a single Christmas edition, in which all were represented.

In accordance with instructions received from the Secretary of the Navy, the commanding officer at the Charlestown Navy Yard refused early this week to surrender marine John D. Lawhorn to the civil authorities in connection with the murder of station agent Ralph Brewster at the Boston & Maine railroad station in April. The Navy Department is willing that Lawhorn be questioned by Dist. Attorney Saltonstall in the presence of the commanding officer or his representative, but not otherwise. Lawhorn is said to have been on duty at the Navy Yard on the night the murder was committed, the only way in which he could have been implicated being by deserting his post and getting another marine to serve for him. His connection in the affair comes through the alleged confession made by him to a Cambridge man now under arrest.

BANK OFFICERS HELD IN BAIL

Messrs. Edward S. Foster, former president, and Edward R. Grosvenor, former cashier, of the Winchester National Bank, pleaded not guilty last Friday when arraigned before the United States district court. Friday on an indictment charging them with misapplication of funds of the bank amounting approximately to $100,000. They were asked to furnish bail of $15,000 each, which they were unable to do at that time, and were granted until Wednesday to raise the amount, which they furnished on the date specified.

Mr. Joseph Adams, son-in-law of Mr. Foster, who was arraigned at the same time on the same charge, furnished bail when arraigned.

The indictment charges that Foster and Grosvenor, through false entries, misapplied funds of the bank. Adams is charged with aiding and abetting. The indictment contains 12 counts, in which accounts of Joseph Adams, as an individual, "agent" and "special" in the bank, figure prominently.

Since their arrest in February Foster and Adams have been petitioned into bankruptcy in the federal court.

WINCHESTER TOWN TEAM NOTES

The game to be played on the morning of June 17th, at Winchester Field will be called at 10:30 sharp. Medford A. A. will be the opposing team. This team played the Woburn Legion on May 30th, but lost by a close score. Medford will use Krog or Williams in the box with Pierce or Tufts, catching. The Town Team will have Davidson of Dorchester in the box, with Flaherty catching.

On Saturday, June 24, the Ausonia Council of Boston will be here, and on July first, the Melrose B. C. will be the attraction.

Owing to the condition of Manchester Field after the rain, the game scheduled at Melrose on Saturday last, was called off.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF STREETS

At Monday night's meeting of the Board of Selectmen, Mr. James Hinds was designated as acting Superintendent of Streets to succeed Mr. T. Parker Clarke who recently resigned. Mr. Clarke terminates his duties this Saturday.

Mr. Hinds is one of the Town's best known officials, having held the position of Town Engineer for many years and also being a member of the Board of Assessors, as well as serving on many important town committees.

BANQUET ON THE 20th

Winchester Lodge of Elks is planning a banner meeting for its regular gathering next Tuesday, June 20th, when the initiation work of the evening is to be done by a crack team from Woburn Lodge. The exercises are to open with a banquet at 6:30 sharp and the business of the evening will follow. Already sufficient members have taken tickets to ensure a capacity gathering and much interest is being manifested in the affair, the first of its kind to be held by our new lodge.

PATAGONIA: A "DESERT" THAT IS BLOSSOMING

Patagonia has long been ticked in many minds with Kamchatka and Timbaktu as representing the ends of the earth. Now it has its supposed strangeness further emphasized by the reported discovery there of a plesiosaurus, a huge lizard-like creature thought to have been extinct for many thousands of years. Something of this land which may harbor prehistoric monsters is told in a bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

If the ideas of Patagonia generally hold are a bit hazy, says the bulletin, there is good reason for it, for the region did not really begin to be well known until a generation ago, and even now there are sizable areas that have not been explored. The first fact that needs to be understood about Patagonia is that it is not an official division. Like "the Northwest Territory" of the early days of the United States, it has been carved up into states or provinces. But even if the name, Patagonia, has been pushed off many official papers, it has clung in popular usage and probably will remain for a long time.

Twice Area of California

The extreme southern tip of Argentina would probably be given as the off-hand location of Patagonia in a large number of cases. But the region given this designation really covers one-half the north-and-south extension of the Republic, stretching from central Argentina for more than 1000 miles south almost to the tip of the continent. Its width varies from about 150 miles in the south to 450 in the north, and its area is nearly twice that of California, our second largest State.

An idea of the physical condition and economic development of this vast area can be conveyed best perhaps by the statement that Patagonia is to Argentina what the great West and the Southwest were to the United States just after the Civil War. There was the myth of the "great American desert" then—a dry, cheerless country that could never be reclaimed. But with the extension of railroads, farms, ranches and irrigation systems this North American "desert" is disappearing.

Just so Patagonia was labeled a desert for many years; but farms and irrigation works have already rescued great enclaves from the region and millions of head of cattle and a score of million sheep are supported today on only portions of the area. After a few thousand more miles of railway shall have been constructed, a few hundred steam shovels shall have been set to work, and a few million yards of wire fencing shall have been stretched in place, the Patagonian "desert" will probably go the way of its North American precursor.

Darwin Gave Region Black Eye
It is an interesting fact that the statements of a careful scientist—Charles Darwin—did much to give Patagonia an undeservedly bad reputation before the world. Darwin studied chiefly the forbidding desert coast of the lower portion of the country, and his discouraging report was interpreted as applying to the entire country. For decades no one thought it worth while even to explore the hinterland.

It is westward beyond the semi-arid pampas or plains that the most interesting and least thoroughly known portions of Patagonia are found. Along the eastern slopes of the Andes and in some of the valleys between its parallel ranges is a scenic and climatic paradise. Grassly meadows and forest-clad slopes alternate with sheer cliffs and towering, snow-mantled peaks; and scattered everywhere are innumerable sparkling streams and sky-blue lakes. This is, in fact, one of the most extensive and most wonderful lake regions in the world. A number of these bodies of water are comparable in size to Lake Champlain. Only a relatively few of the smaller lakes have been named and some have been numbered. Many of them, however, have not been explored. It is in this intermountain lake region that scientific expeditions will search for the strange creatures reported to have been seen there.

An Argentine National Park
One of the best known of the Andean Lakes of Argentina is Nahuel Huapi. This lake is in the edge of Patagonia but is still nearly 1000 miles north of Cape Horn. The area of this many-branched body of water is probably in the neighborhood of 250 square miles. Its latitude in the southern hemisphere almost exactly corresponds to that in the northern hemisphere of the Rocky Mountain National Park, just north of Denver; and it is about 800 miles from Buenos Aires, the same distance as that which separates Denver from Chicago. Much territory about the lake has been set aside by the government, and the region will be made into one of Argentina's principal national playgrounds. It is planned to harness the outlet river and to build at the eastern margin of the lake, in a region of delightful climate, a great industrial city.

On Tuesday Dr. C. E. Ordway reported to the police that four men who were delivering samples of a breakfast food called at his front door. When his servant answered the bell the men went to the back door, which was open. It was later found that a fountain pen and a cigarette case were missing from the house. The police took the men into custody, but found nothing to indicate that they had taken the articles.

Mr. Walter Badger and Sergt. Thomas McCauley took to the police station a Ford runabout Tuesday night, found apparently abandoned on Cambridge street in the vicinity of the Country Club. The car, which bore Rhode Island numbers, was later claimed by James E. Lavell of Providence, R. I. As Mr. Lavell did not have any license the police refused to turn the car over to him until he produces it.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

June 12, 1922.

The Board met at 7:30 P. M., all present.
The records of the meeting of June 5 were read and approved.
Warrants were drawn for $3,803.91 and $374.49.

Licenses 1922 (Hawkers & Peddlers): Upon the approval of the Chief of Police the Board voted to grant James P. McCue, 16 Sheridan Circle, Winchester a license of this class. Same is effective until May 1, 1923 unless sooner revoked, and subject to the usual fee of $2.00.

Miscellaneous Inquiries: A letter was received from the Board of Selectmen of Hudson, Mass., asking for certain information regarding wages of Police Officers in the Town of Winchester, at the present time, and prior to the War. This letter was referred to the Chief of Police to answer.

Ex-Service Men: A letter was received from Leo A. Spillane, Department Adjutant, American Legion, Boston, Mass., calling the Board's attention to unemployed ex-service men who are soliciting aid in various ways in spite of the fact that they are receiving, in many cases, compensation from the United States Government. In his letter he also states that this practice ought to be stopped and asked that the Board cooperate in abolishing it. The letter was ordered filed.

Licenses 1922 (Common Victuallers): An application was received from C. H. Gust in asking for a common victuallers' license at 217 Cambridge street, Winchester. This matter was referred to the Chief of Police for report and his recommendation.

Licenses 1922 Garages: A petition was received from Thomas W. Conlon, 47 Russell Road for a permit for a garage at 972 Main street. The Board set a hearing to consider this matter for July 3, 1922 at 8 o'clock P. M. in the Selectmen's Room.

Licenses 1922 (Explosives and Inflammables): A petition was received from Edward J. Mitchell, 4 Cross street, asking for a permit to install a 500-gallon tank for the storage of gasoline also for permission to erect a sidewalk pump at 970 Main street. The Board set a hearing to take up the matter of the gasoline tank for July 3, 1922 at 8:15 p. m. in the Selectmen's Room.

Highway Dept. Supt. of Streets: The Board voted to designate Mr. James Hinds Town Engineer, Acting Superintendent of Streets beginning June 19, 1922.

Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co.: Bids were received from Gore Inc., Accord, Mass., G. Ferrullo Co., 12 North St., Boston, Mass., and Hugh Mawn Contracting Co., 82 Savin street, Roxbury, Mass., for paving the track of the Eastern Mass. Street Railway Co. on Main street, Winchester, Mass., from Winchester Centre to the Winchester-Woburn line. The Board voted to accept the bid (dated June 12, 1922) at unit prices, "Section No. 1 at $2.45 per sq. yd., "Section No. 2 at $1.70 per sq. yd., of G. Ferrullo Co. Inc., the work to be done in accordance with the specifications of the Town Engineer of Winchester and provided an acceptable contract is signed.

Licenses 1922 Explosives and Inflammables: Mr. C. H. Gustin appeared with a written request for a permit to keep, store and sell gasoline in an underground tank of a capacity not to exceed 1000 gallons at 217 Cambridge street, Winchester. The Board voted to set a hearing in regard to this matter in the Selectmen's Room at 8:30 P. M. on July 3.

Licenses 1922 (Explosives and Inflammables): A petition was received from Arthur H. Bryer for a 500 gallon gasoline storage station on his land at 432 Washington street. The Board voted to set a hearing in regard to this matter for June 26 in the Selectmen's Room at 8 o'clock P. M.

Compensation Agent's Dept. (Agent): A letter was received from the Compensation Agent, T. Parker Clarke, resigning as Compensation Agent, his resignation to take effect June 30. He calls the attention of the Board to the fact that the law requires that when an appointment is made to fill the position of compensation agent that the name and address of the appointee be filed with the Industrial Accident Board who has supervision over the Compensation Agent. The Board voted to accept Mr. Clarke's resignation as of June 30.

Sidewalks 1922 Granolithic (Norwood street and Cottage ave.): A petition was received from Mr. George B. Whitehome asking that a granolithic sidewalk and corner curb be laid in front of lot 5 at the corner of Norwood street and Cottage avenue. This matter was laid over pending the Board's final action in regard to sidewalk matters.

Sidewalks 1922 (Granolithic) Cabot St.: A letter was received from E. Abbot Bradlee asking that a granolithic sidewalk be constructed in front of his property on Cabot street when the sidewalk in front of Mr. Gillett's property on this street which he understands the Board is contemplating laying, is constructed.
The meeting adjourned at 12 p. m.

Licenses 1922 Common Victuallers: The Board revoked the following licenses: license granted to Robert Russell at 530 Main street and Rosa Rosatto at 114 Swanton street. Both these licenses were revoked upon the recommendation of the Chief of Police as the businesses at these locations have been transferred to other parties. Acting upon the approval and recommendation of the Chief of Police, the Board then granted a license of this class to Tony Panta at 114 Swanton street and to George A. Brannahan at 530 Main street. These licenses are effective until May 1, 1913 unless sooner revoked.

Independence Day: The Chairman signed a contract engaging the Malden Band of Malden for two concerts on Independence Day.

All matters pertaining to the celebration of Independence Day have been left to a sub-committee of the Board with power to act.

Road Tar and Asphalt. Mr. Main reported that he had talked with Mr.

Herbert L. Sherman of Skinner, Sherman & Esselen, Chemists and to the Board at its last meeting by a member of road building concerns that the proposal of the Standard Oil Co. be accepted, and also recommended that the American Tar Company's bid for coal refined tar for coal patching be accepted.

Mr. Main brought a letter from Mr. Sherman incorporating these recommendations. The Board then passed the following vote:

VOTED: That the bid of the Standard Oil Company of New York for five thousand gallons (5,000), more or less, of residual asphalt at eleven cents ($1.1) a gallon for item 1-B; for fifty thousand gallons (50,000) more or less, of 60% asphaltic road oil at six and one-tenths (.061) a gallon, for item 2-B and ten thousand gallons (10,000), more or less, of 45% asphaltic road oil at five and nine-tenths cents ($.59) a gallon for item 2-C be and is hereby accepted as provided for in the specifications dated May 20, 1922 calling for bids and provided that acceptable contracts be signed.

They also passed the following vote:

VOTED: That the bid of the American Tar Company for four thousand gallons (4,000) more or less, of cold refined tar for cold patching (item 3) at thirteen and one-half cents ($1.35) per gallon, delivered as directed in lots of five hundred or six hundred gallons be and is hereby accepted as provided for in the specifications dated May 20, 1922 calling for bids and provided that an acceptable contract be signed.

Sidewalks 1922 Cross St.: A report was received from the Town Engineer in regard to the request of numerous citizens of Cross street that a sidewalk on Cross street between the Highland Station and Loring avenue be built, and also that an ample and safe passage for pedestrians under the railroad bridge be constructed. The Town Engineer suggests that the space under the bridge be widened and estimates the cost of constructing the sidewalk requested at about $1500 to $1800. The matter of having the space under the bridge widened was left to the Highway Committee with power to act. They, however, are to have the work done at the least expense possible. The Board decided that they could take no action in regard to building a sidewalk as the funds in the Highway Account were insufficient to take care of this work. The Clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Walter F. Gurney one of the petitioners who had previously appeared before the Board with the petition, of this action, and position taken by the Board.

Sidewalks 1922 (Granolithic): The Town Engineer submitted an estimate of the cost of constructing several sidewalks for which petitions have been received by the Board and also submitted his recommendation in regard to what sidewalk work should be done this year to continue the work done in previous years. It was voted that the Highway Committee be requested to confer with the Town Engineer and Supt. of Streets to find out what the exact cost would be of laying the granolithic sidewalks suggested by the Town Engineer. This committee is to report back to the Board their findings.

Woodside Rd.: A letter was received from the Town Engineer relating to the gravel which Mr. Charles A. Gleason, one of the owners of land on Woodside Rd. has consented to give to the Town in connection with the construction of Woodside Road. As there is some question as to what material should be used the Town Engineer suggests that the Highway Committee view the conditions before the work of constructing Woodside Road has commenced. This matter was referred to the Highway Committee for investigation.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

WINCHESTER HIGH WINS

Winchester High won its game with Arlington High Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field 7 to 1, and as Wakefield High lost to Woburn, the local boys have a clear road to this year's Mystic Valley championship. Saturday's game was easy for Winchester, which turned in three runs the first inning, O'Neill, pitching for Arlington, not settling down to steady play until the second. Thereafter Winchester continued to hit him freely and there was little question of the outcome.

Arlington made one run on a fluke and came near scoring once again. Mathews pitching two men out with three on bases. Mathews pitched his usual good game, striking out 11 men and allowing only four hits. Winner made a home run in the sixth, but was called out for not touching second base when he went around the diamond. He hit the ball into the river near the band stand.

TEAM MATCH

Capt. Trafford Hicks' team won the event at the Winchester Country Club Saturday afternoon, defeating a team captained by A. P. Chase 9 to 7. The play was match play, three-quarters handicap. The losing team paid for a dinner given both teams at the club house following the match. It is reported that the two teams will meet again within a short time, the losers being confident that they can show a better account of themselves, as the victory for Capt. Hicks team was only settled after a play-off between R. B. Neiley and A. M. Bond, Neiley winning by 1 up.

LITHUANIA: WHERE AUTUMN-TIDE IS COURTING-TIME

Lithuania, the southernmost of the Baltic countries carved out of pre-war Russia, seated herself at the family table of world nations by accepting jurisdiction of the Permanent Court of International Justice, but has declined to join a conference of Baltic States to settle upon a policy at Genoa.

Though the United States has not recognized the Lithuanian Government, as have most of the nations of Europe, many of the principles of its republican government were borrowed from America. A recent incident in this connection was the presentation by Lithuanians in America of a "liberty bell" to the mother country in commemoration of the fourth anniversary of its independence. The bell is to be rung on all national holidays and days of important historical significance to the country, says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society issued from its Washington, D. C., headquarters.

Over the present country of Lithuania, once the largest state in Europe extending from the Black Sea to the Baltic, the armies of Germany and Russia crossed and recrossed during the World War. Germans often raided the country to capture cattle and the Russians counter-attacked to gain immediate results for the moral effect elsewhere.

Is Their Language the Oldest? These fair-haired and blue-eyed people, who claim that there are more than one million foreign-born Americans of Lithuanian extraction in our country, speak a language which is said by some philologists to be the oldest living language today. It resembles the primitive Sanskrit and is distinctly different from the Slavonic family, the Teutonic and the Latin. The conquering nations who ruled the territory from time to time have attempted to stamp out the native tongue by requiring the children to use text books and prayer-books written in the Cyrillic alphabet, but they have never been entirely successful.

The ancient capital of this area, which now is slightly in excess of the combined areas of New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, was Vilna, whose narrow and winding streets, stony pavements and horse-cars give it a quaint and almost medieval atmosphere. Though the seat of government now is Kovno many of the great events in Lithuanian history center around Vilna.

An Epic in Two Sentences

Vilna was founded at the junction of the Vilna and Vilyayka rivers by Gedimin in 1322, and is connected by railway lines with Petrograd and through Warsaw with most of the capitals of Europe. When Napoleon passed through the city in 1812 on his way to Moscow the Lithuanian nobles crowded around him, as it was believed he would restore the old Lithuanian state. Near the city today there stands a stone which tells the tragic story simply: On one side it bears the words, "Napoleon Bonaparte passed this way in 1812 with 400,000 men." On the other side there is engraved these words: "Napoleon Bonaparte passed this way in 1812 with 9,000 men."

The three former Russian provinces, Vilna, Kovno, and Suwalki out of which most of the present state has been formed are not very prosperous looking country, when compared with that in the neighboring German and Polish lands farther south. Much of it is marshy and covered with forests. Indeed the forests are so extensive that they constitute one of the country's greatest natural resources. Agriculture is the chief industry, and a surplus of some flax, ducts, such as timber, hides, and flax, that her neighbors need, is produced.

The swain in Lithuania, despite the tendencies which balmy spring is supposed to inspire, makes the fall of the year his courting season, because he must be married in the winter time. More than 90 per cent of Lithuanian weddings take place during the cold weather, for the wedding lasts for a week or more and time cannot be spared from the fields and farms when the planting and harvesting seasons come. Winter time is the time of festivities in this little country when Jack Frost turns every lake and marsh into a highway.

TIRANA: EUROPE'S REMOTEST CAPITAL

There comes a time in the affairs of very young republics when an inconspicuous, inaccessible capital is a governmental asset.

Hence Tegucigalpa, of the now uncertain Republic of Central America. Hence, also, Tirana, of Albania. Both are inland cities, without railroads," notes a bulletin of the National Geographic Society concerning the reported revolutionary attack upon Tirana.

Any city in Albania would serve as a capital were the absence of a railroad the only consideration. Durazzo, which has held that distinction most of the time since Albania became independent, in 1912, had no railroad, but it had a harbor. And a harbor in the Adriatic, as in the case of Fiume, may be a dangerous asset. Until the beginning of the World War Durazzo and Tirana were connected by a 20-mile stretch of the only well paved highway in Albania.

Is No Mean City

With your conception of Albania as a rugged and primitive land, whose people occasionally die from ordinary disease, but more often from differences of opinion, you might be prepared to find in Tirana a sort of frontier settlement with few municipal refinements. If you landed there in an airplane you would have few evidences that you were in the present storm center of the wildest country in Europe. You would see a rich bazaar, wide, paved streets, mosques of considerable beauty, many squares with fountains playing in them, residences that are truly palatial, and evidence that commerce and industry thrive.

You could acquire as souvenirs of your visit specimens of locally made brass work, distinctive and beautiful embroideries, done by the Tirana women and sold by them in the market places, and whether a smoker or not you would wish to take along one of the oddly and intricately carved pipes. The city covers a larger area than its 15,000 or so inhabitants would seem to need, judged by our standards. Yet you might have a difficult time convincing a Tiranian, with his cottage and garden, that a more horizontal mode of living, in crowded apartments, would be more civilized. Once Tirana, though, you would encounter mud houses, and the simple life to an extreme degree.

T. O'Loughlin is again in the shoe repairing business with A. Fox, Lyceum Building, next to the Ginter store. He will be pleased to meet his old customers. mh31-tf

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

The way some people hold on to their money one would think greenbacks were printed on fly paper.

Just as we are beginning to build up a marine, Hughes sinks the battleships and Volstead scuttles the schooners.

A man takes a woman for better or for worse, and then is surprised to find how many things there are in which she is one or the other.

A woman's silence often means more than her words.

We anticipate a quiet summer.

We now have the three charges back of the eight reasons.

Possibly our School Committee does hate to vote next Wednesday night. Why do it? It doesn't have to.

It may be safely predicted that the Town will take quite a little interest in the choice of the new member of the School Committee.

If they can pass the entrance examination requirements, our Wadleigh School pupils will make fine letter carriers. They certainly did a good job in distributing the committee's pamphlet yesterday afternoon.

Notwithstanding how we may decry public opinion, it has many times proven a stumbling block to personal and public ambitions, as witnessed by the living monument in Church street shading our Trust Company.

A few years ago, such a downpour of rain as we had on Sunday, would have washed and gullied our side-hill streets and have flooded our lowlands. Sunday's freshet left our streets almost universally in perfect condition. Do you know why? Because Winchester people have seen fit to carry on a progressive plan of surface drainage, costing many thousands of dollars; added to and enlarged year after year. Today we are reaping the benefit of this foresight and planning.

The School Committee appears a great stickler for professional etiquette. It gave its eight reasons to Principal Thompson for his dismissal from the High School two weeks ago, simultaneously furnishing them to Boston papers. At that time Principal Thompson requested the charges back of these reasons, which were given him yesterday afternoon, fifteen minutes before they were spread broadcast throughout the town. What is this stuff called professional etiquette anyway?

Another angle of our school muddle comes in the interest manifest in the member to be selected to replace Mrs. Charles Zueblin. This interest is premature. No vacancy exists on the School Board—or rather does not so far as the Town is concerned, and until our Town Clerk receives such resignation there will be no new appointment. The School Committee is an elective body and its office is covered by law, which states that a person may resign "a town office to which they have been elected by filing such resignation with the Town Clerk." It is presumed that Mrs. Zueblin has filed her resignation with the School Committee and not with the Town Clerk, as that officer is still in ignorance of any vacancy on the Board. When such a vacancy exists, it will be filled at a joint meeting of the Selectmen and the existing School Committee.

The summer season is with us. Now comes again Sandy Beach. Newspaper writers and sporting editors feel—quite rightly—that proper and adequate police protection should be provided. The Metropolitan Park Commission hardly sees how it can police for Winchester and leave the remainder of the beaches all along the river unprotected. The Town hardly sees why it should provide protection for Woburn, Medford, Arlington and other places. Just so. But why should we have drownings and other bad features at "Sandy" because the rest of the swimming places cannot have protection. Now Woburn furnishes the largest part of the beach patronage, the beach is in Winchester and other places help in filling it up on hot days. What is the matter with a split on the cost? Let the State pay 50 per cent, Winchester 25 per cent and Woburn 25 per cent. Put a life guard on the beach and a detective in the woods, and let the children swim in safety and without having their carefree stolen while they are doing it.

The School Building Committee are up against it all right. They are making haste slowly. They are keeping their weather eye on those 4500 or more voters. In due time we shall get several new school buildings, but not all of them this year. It is a patriotic, but a laborious duty to serve on this committee. It was said EDUCATION appears to be an absorbing subject of conversation today. In addition to thinking and talking, is it not true wisdom to financially guarantee such an inheritance to your children?

Next week we will tell you what one man has done in that line.

WILLIAM W. HILL, Agent
The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company
79 MILK ST. Boston
Phone Main 5760 Winchester 418

In every session of the town meeting that it was just as easy and simple a job to build four school buildings in one year as it was to build one each year for four successive years. Watch the game and see if it is.

More than 10 years ago some of our citizens tried in vain to have Winchester vote to increase the number of the school committee from three to five and have two women added to the board. At this time the late Professor Currier, one of the ablest and shrewdest educators than ever served this town, made a vigorous protest against what seemed to him a rash step. Three members were bad enough he claimed, but five would result in constant friction and perhaps an educational rumpus. Time may prove his prediction not far from the truth.

Several Winchester people will be interested to learn that the latest attempt to get a bill through the Legislature to provide protection for reputable and lawful auto drivers against the drunks and irresponsible persons who are daily figuring in the many accidents, has again failed. Last week the House again refused to reconsider its vote by which the bill establishing a system of compulsory liability insurance for automobile owners was refused a third reading. Two Representatives, Messrs. Hayes of Boston and Mitchell of Springfield, actually had the nerve to stand up and fight for the bill. To the hundreds of automobile owners in this State who have had the misfortune to figure in these accidents and have suffered accordingly, the bill appears to be one of the most important matters of legislation before the State. Commissioner Goodwin admits that he is powerless in the matter, but the people should continue the fight and see to it that their representatives stand up in their boots and give them protection. When a man can get drunk, smash up an automobile filled with women and children and escape with a five dollar fine, he has no occasion to fear any future consequences of his act. If our law-makers refuse to act in the matter, it will be wise to elect those who will.

THE PREVENTION OF RABIES

Because of outbreaks of rabies in the cities and towns adjacent to Boston, and the fact that since last July there have been reported to the Health Department of the city of Boston nine cases of rabies and approximately 200 cases of dog-bite, it is deemed expedient to solicit the aid and cooperation of the public to the extent of having all dog owners notified that for a period of 90 days no dog should be allowed at large unless leashed.

In the prevention of the spread of rabies we consider this method more humane to the animal and just as efficacious in its results.

In addition, dog owners should be acquainted with the symptoms of rabies, and this information may be obtained on the back of the dog license issued by the Police Department.

PROTEST AGAINST THE PROPOSED TOOTH BRUSH TARIFF

The New York City Department of Health has issued a copy of a letter to the chairman of the Finance Committee, United States Senate, protesting against the duty on tooth brushes. The statement follows that there are less than a dozen manufacturers of tooth brushes in this country, and that imported tooth brushes meet the needs of the vast majority of our citizens in quality and price. Further, that the cost of illness which would follow the omission of the use of the tooth brush would far outweigh any income from the proposed tariff. Such increase in cost would tend to nullify much work done by health departments all over the country, for a great deal of effort has been put forth in instructing people regarding the necessity of using the tooth brush.

WHY GET EXCITED IN HOT WEATHER?

Publicity is a mighty good thing in its way. But there is such a thing as getting an overdose of it. Sure enough we have had our stomachs full of this kind of diet in our school affairs during the last few months. Why get a "brain storm" this hot weather? A few days more and the call will be urgent for the mountains and the sea shore. Let us cut out any more "mass meetings" and any other things that serve to raise the blood pressure and excite the feverish pulse.

This school muddle has taught us one emphatic and suggestive lesson. "And this is, for all of us to take a more active and lively interest in selecting competent men and women to fill the vacancies on the school board. A word to the good natured, but careless, voter should be enough.

IF NOT, WHY NOT?

Why did not the chairman of the school committee or some other member of the school board, show up last evening at the mass meeting and make a speech? It would not have taken five minutes to tell an interested audience that the committee had made a stupid blunder and had seen the error of their ways; that they had junked their eight "reasons" carefully edited with legal help; that they had discovered new and unexpected "evidence" and finally that they had found out (without legal assistance), that no school committee in this Commonwealth is a law unto itself, but really each and every member is a servant of the people. Can you hear the applause that would have followed such a speech? Talk about the "glad hand" that our esteemed, but impetuous fellow citizen, Mr. Larraway, received when he hurled his bomb into a recent mass meeting! Even the small boy with his internal anatomy racked with eating green apples will swallow some gusto a dose of castor oil if carefully doctored with black coffee and lemon juice by his over-anxious mother.

CHARGES AGAINST PRINCIPAL THOMPSON OUT

Yesterday afternoon at three-thirty the work of distributing about town an eight-page pamphlet containing the charges against Principal Edward E. Thompson of the High School by the School Committee was started. Custodian of the Schools Nathaniel M. Nichols having the distribution in charge.

It had been rumored through the week that some sort of a statement was to be issued by the School Committee on Thursday before the citizens' mass meeting, but exact information regarding its contents was lacking.

The pamphlet, which was given to Principal Thompson at the time the distribution started, and which gave him his first notice of the specified charges which he requested some time ago, goes into the matter in a most exhaustive manner.

The original eight reasons given for his dismissal, published in Boston papers two weeks ago, have been reduced to three, these being taken up in order by specific charges.

The three reasons are as follows:

1. Failure to co-operate with the School Committee.
2. Failure to recognize and raise to a proper standard the college preparatory courses.
3. Failure to exercise all the duties of a principal.

Under No. 1 the School Committee claims that he failed to organize a Parent-Teacher Association in the High School as recommended. That he only partially carried out its instructions to group pupils in classes so that pupils of the same natural ability could be taught together. That he only took action after repeated requests for the better supervision of the High School Recorder to the end that it be put on a strictly business basis and that there be an accurate accounting of all moneys received and expended. That he has shown little interest in the plan of the Committee to have his teachers visit other classes in the High and Wadleigh Schools.

Under No. 2 the Committee cites a report given by Principal Thompson as to why various scholars failed in college entrance examinations in 1921 and in preliminary examinations, and states that the showing was distinctly bad. In a table covering the past four years, it shows that from 100 per cent passing the examinations in 1918, the record turned to 100 per cent failing in 1921.

The Committee regards a feature as "Mr. Thompson's patent effort to place the responsibility for the failures on the pupils alone," and states its convictions in the matter.

Under No. 3 the Committee states that Principal Thompson "has not a sufficiently firm grip on the principalship." It further says that he allows teachers to decide questions of policy, permits himself to be swayed by parents and allows others to usurp his authority.

COLLEGE ENTRANCE RECORDS

June 15, 1922

Editor of the Star:

May I ask the privilege of your columns once more to state a few facts which I have been able to get together since the statement of the School Committee of their reasons for the proposed dismissal of Mr. Thompson as Principal of the Winchester High School was distributed about town. I did not get home until late and, as I spent the major part of the evening at the Citizens' Mass Meeting, you can easily understand that I have not had time to prepare as full a statement as I would like to have done, but I was anxious to present to my fellow-townsmen certain facts which I believed they would be glad to have, when they were reading over the recent statement of the School Board.

The chief burden of the proof of the inefficiency of the Winchester High School as made in the statement from the School Committee was based upon the college entrance examination record. This should not be taken as the test of the standard of the school, since ordinarily not more than one fifth of the pupils plan to go to college. Manifestly the work of the other four fifths should not be measured by that test. However, granting for the sake of the argument that the college entrance examination record is a fair measure, let us examine the figures given in the statement of the School Board.

At the bottom of page 4 appear the following figures:

No. taking No. passing No. failing 1920 70 54 16
1921 65 48 17

I have selected these because they apply to the period of Mr. Thompson's principalship and it is a well-known fact that college candidates do most of their serious preparation in their junior and senior years. In connection with these figures should be quoted these words from pages 6 and 7: "The cost of running the School is too great to warrant continuing an administration which cannot pass one pupil in the College Entrance Board Examinations." The above 1921 figures and this statement would imply that no one passed Board examinations in 1921 and that, as a result, none of these pupils are now in college, in spite of the statements at the top of page 4 which show that three out of the four actually entered fully accredited Colleges.

Under the heading of "Preliminary Examinations" it will be seen that of the eight individuals mentioned (Mr. A. to Mr. H.) four passed a sufficient number of examinations to be accepted. You will note that on the next page of the School Board's statement, in paragraph A, the notation is made that "only three in all, apparently, passed in enough subjects to be accepted." This is evidently an incorrect statement, as the School Board shows that Mr. E. F. and G. were accepted and the word "accepted" should also have been placed against the name of Mr. D. as he is credited with having passed three out of four examinations, which means that he must have been accepted.

The chairman of the college preparatory committee of our High School, upon my request this evening, furnished me the following figures, drawn from questionnaires filled out by schools of various nearby residential towns. These figures show the number of subjects taken in examinations and the number passed and furnish the best means by which to compare results in other towns with our home town.

	Examinations 1920	Examinations 1921
Winchester	70 taken 54 passed	65 taken 48 passed
Wintthrop	53 taken 29 passed	120 taken 51 passed
Milton	not given	32
Malden	not given	26
Quincy	not given	54
Dedham	not given	58
Arlington	not given	44
Wellesley	66 21 35	160 38 99

I am willing to admit that the figures for 1921 are not as favorable as those of 1920, nor as those of other schools for 1921. On the other hand, a careful analysis of the figures which the towns in question furnished show that they were not as good in 1920 as they were in 1921. Furthermore it must be borne in mind that none of the Honor pupils of the class of 1921 of the Winchester High School took examinations in that year.

If the average of 1920 and 1921 are taken, we find the following results:

Winchester passed 60.7% of subjects
Wellesley passed 61.4% of subjects
Arlington passed 53.7% of subjects
Wintthrop passed 39.0% of subjects

From this it will be seen that Winchester and Wellesley stand almost together and well at the head of the list. I am sorry that the figures were not furnished completely by the other towns, so that we could make a full comparison.

Another point of much importance which has not been mentioned in the statement of the School Board, so far as I can find, is the satisfactory record of all six pupils, who entered college in September 1921, as reported at mid-years by Dartmouth and Tufts.

It is a strange fact that the records

MENDUM A CANDIDATE

Representative Samuel W. Mendum, of Woburn, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator from the Sixth Middlesex District, comprising Medford, Arlington, Stoneham, Wakefield, Winchester and Woburn.

Mr. Mendum has now completed his third legislative session as Representative from the 18th Middlesex District, comprising Woburn, Stoneham and Reading, and has been a member of the committees on legal affairs and education. He is a graduate of Tufts College, and since his admission to the Suffolk bar in 1905 has practised law in Boston and Woburn. In May, 1917, he enlisted in the Massachusetts State Guard and received his nomination for Representative while serving as first sergeant of Co. D of the Twelfth Regiment Infantry, M. S. G., in the Boston police strike emergency in Boston. He was renominated without opposition in 1920 for the biennial term, which he has now completed.

Do Not Reach for the Moon.

Psychological science apparently has exploded the good old notion that "babies will reach for the moon." Dr. John B. Watson states in the Scientific Monthly that when actually put to the test they will watch attentively anything they see moving, no matter what its distance, but that they will not reach for it until it is within 20 inches of them.

THE SNARES OF DEATH

[Written for the Winchester Star]

Death's thousand snares beset man's way.
Frail child of dust—O watch and pray!
Fond youth—as yet untouched by care,
Does thy young pulse beat high?
Do Hope's bright visions, bright and fair,
Dilate before thine eye?
Know these must change, and pass away.
Fond, trusting youth—O watch and pray.
Thou aged man—life's wintry storm
Hath scared thy vernal bloom,
With trembling step and halting form
Thou art tottering to the tomb;
And can vain hopes lead thee astray!
Watch, weary pilgrim watch and pray!
Ambition—stop thy panting breath;
Pride—sink thee lifted eye;
Behold the yawning gates of Death
Before thee open lie.
O, hear the counsel and obey—
Pride and ambition—watch and pray!
O watch and pray! the paths untread
Lead onward to the grave;
Go to the tombs, and ask the dead,
Ye on Life's stormy way
And they shall tell you—even they.

MASS MEETING

Report By Citizens' Committee

Mr. Chairman and Fellow Citizens:—The Citizens' Committee was elected by you on May 29th and was given three definite points upon which to work.

We have held six meetings at which every member has been present. The three points upon which we worked were as follows:—

1. The Committee is to devote its best efforts to secure the re-election of Mr. Thompson as Principal of the High School.

2. The Committee is to collect such facts as are available bearing upon the recent criticisms which have been made regarding the fitness of certain teachers to remain in the Winchester School System and to aid in as far as they may towards acquainting the members of the School Committee with the teachers point of view.

3. The Committee is authorized to take such steps as it deems best to assist in establishing relations of the utmost cordiality and confidence throughout the School System.

We shall report first on the second instruction by stating that the teachers under discussion have been re-assigned to former lines of work.

On the third instruction we report progress, feeling that we shall have succeeded on this point, upon the settlement of the first two points.

At the first meeting of the Citizens' Committee, possessing no previous knowledge of the reasons the School Committee had for dismissing Mr. Thompson, we worked somewhat in the dark. While awaiting for the School Committee to hand their reason to Mr. Thompson we divided ourselves into sub-committees to obtain as much information as possible in the following points:

1. How do the colleges regard the preparation of our High School Scholars?

2. What is the feeling toward Mr. Thompson in the High School?

3. What is the general attitude or moral of the teachers throughout our School System?

In answer to number one we received very commendatory letters from a Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Mount Holyoke, Wellesley and Dartmouth.

2. Mr. Rohman compiled a mass of evidence in the form of stenographic reports of interviews held with the teachers in the High School after School hours.

3. The general feeling of grade teachers seem to be one of nervous tension as to what will happen next.

More than one teacher said that she felt as if she was sitting on a volcano which was likely to erupt at any moment, and that it was impossible to put her best into her work under such circumstances.

Your Committee felt that the "8" reasons given by the School Committee was readily reduced to two.

1. Failure upon Mr. Thompson's part to co-operate with the School Committee.

2. Lack of administrative and executive ability, and it is to refute these two main reasons that your Committee has to sort to compile and to present facts in support of Mr. Thompson.

We have pursued our investigation along two lines.

a. What have been the opportunities for effective administrative work based upon essential conditions as outlined by accredited authorities and how do the actual results measure up?

b. What have been the net accomplishments and what has prevented greater progress.

Our investigations have clearly established in our minds the following:

1. That Mr. Thompson's administration has been sadly handicapped through lack of assistance which could come to him only by way of the School Committee.

2. That he has not been permitted to exercise many of the prerogatives that belong to him as Principal.

3. That in spite of these handicaps he has made notable achievements and to a degree to call forth the distinct commendation of the Commission of the Capital make the Government Survey of 1920.

4. That he has the respect and confidence of the High School Teachers who commend him for marked progress made in the School and urge that he be retained in his present position.

5. That he has many times gone far outside the confines of his position and shown a marked personal interest in his young people, winning back to the School several who by reason of discouragement or otherwise had determined to give up School, and has shown himself to be their helpful friend. As we have learned of his many kindly and tactful acts, quietly but effectively performed, we have come to understand in a measure why he is held in such esteem and affection by the pupils.

6. That our High School has not, as many seem to think, made such an unenviable record compared to other schools but that, on the other hand, we compare favorably with Schools of towns in our class as regards the fitness of scholars recommended for college entrance examinations. While ambitious to have our Schools stand at the very top, we do not find that the teaching or conduct of our School has been remiss.

7. That Mr. Thompson's administration has been and is of so high an order that it would be a great loss to our School System and to our Town to have him dismissed from the Principalship.

On Wednesday June 7th we met the School Committee for a conference. We indebted to present to the School Committee our data in support of these conclusions, but were only partially successful for reasons which will appear later.

We pointed out that Mr. Thompson's cooperation with the School Committee was necessarily at long range inasmuch as they have called him into conference but three times since he has been Principal. Once October 15, 1920 to discuss Football Coaching, again on May 6, 1921 to discuss a Junior High and a third meeting on October 7, 1921 when matters really pertaining to the administration of the High School were discussed.

These three conferences only have been held in spite of the fact that the Manual for High Schools being compiled by the State Department of Education clearly states that the Principal should be invited in whenever the School Committee is considering questions of importance to the High School. Again, that real cooperation has been impossible because of their acknowledged plan of procedure which constituted the Superintendent of Schools their one medium of communication with the Principal and Teachers and also as long as the Superintendent made the practice of going direct to the teachers thus ignoring the Principal to a large degree.

Further—the survey especially stressed that the School Committee should establish office hours for the Principal and aid him in adhering to them. This they have not done.

Again—the survey calls attention to the great need of an office Secretary. Mr. Thompson has been obliged personally to keep up the office records of pupils etc. Quoting from the Survey, page 150 especially is such a Secretary needed to assist the Principal in the tabulations and calculations connected with the use of modern educational tests and standards of measurement. She should also act as recorder and have complete charge, under the Principal, of all pupils' record cards and all other permanent records of the Schools. With these and many other burdens of a clerical nature lifted from his shoulders, the Principal would be left free for planning the administrative work, for perfecting the organization of the curriculum, the teaching staff and the pupils, for intimately supervising the class room work, for leaving the teachers in self-training in methods and for representing the schools, its needs and its achievements before the Community.

While financial shortage may account for not supplying this need, the fact remains that this severe handicap has existed. But we find even in spite of it that Mr. Thompson has maintained discussions with teachers in large and small groups to the extent that the good results of the "round table" have largely been realized.

Your Committee presented the following paper commending Mr. Thompson and urging his retention, this paper being signed by every teacher in the High School:

May 16, 1922.

"We the Teachers of the Winchester High School desire to put on record and expression of confidence in our Principal Edward Everett Thompson and in his administration. As recent evidence of the effectiveness of the last mentioned, we cite the quiet, steady carrying on of the School Program during the unrest of the past week, the suppression, out of the respect of Mr. Thompson's wishes, of a petition circulated among the pupils on their own initiative, and the conduct of orderly athletic rallies by the student body.

"We appreciate the attitude of our School Board in its endeavor to do by our Town the very best which can be done in matters educational, and because we believe in it as a body of fair minded citizens who desire to solve problems in the light of all conditions which help in solution, we offer a respectful request that, in the present situation, they proceed somewhat slowly, after having collected evidence up to date, before they make irrevocable decisions.

"We feel that the present year has been one of steady progress, that the High School stands today, better united for good work among teachers and pupils than has been the case for some years in its history and that, with our present staff, we could go on and make another year even more successful."

As I have said this communication was signed by every teacher in the High School and this testimony came unsolicited, and as you will note from the date, previous to the formation of the Citizens' Committee.

The School Committee refused to give it much weight saying that the teachers would naturally hang together.

Following are quotations from the High School faculty—bits of the evidence obtained in a compilation made by Mr. Rohman: One teacher said "Mr. Thompson is distinctively a gentleman sympathetically and perfectly just in all of his decisions. He accomplishes in a quiet way and without ostentation what another man might acquire, but who would do so with a blare of trumpets."

Another said, "The harmony and cooperation among the teachers has been better this year than it has since I have been a teacher in the High School. I cannot recall any time when there existed as good spirit and good feeling generally, as at present. There is very little question of discipline and I have been in the High School for a number of years."

Another teacher said, "I had occasion to go through the files and was simply amazed at the wonderful tact displayed by Mr. Thompson in writing to parents concerning their children; letters that were sympathetic and filled with a beautiful Christian spirit."

Another said, "We have never experienced a year in which so few pupils have left school. If they have, it is because their people have left town."

Still another said, "Is Mr. Thompson an executive? Do we really believe he possesses ordinary executive ability? Why, indeed, Mr. Rohman, Mr. Thompson's unusual superior executive ability is commented upon time and time again by the faculty of this High School."

When a Principal is admired equally by the teaching force and the scholars, when the moral of the School is on a higher plane than ever before, when the pupils love to have him come into the room during their study periods, when they listen to him with profound respect in the Assembly Hall, when they are treated with dignity the same as though they were students in a College and when the teachers are eager to carry out his suggestions and directions, doesn't this convince you of his wonderful executive ability.

Another teacher spoke as follows: "Mr. Thompson conducts the teachers' meetings in such a way that when the meeting is closed we feel that something has been accomplished. We have never had a Principal at a teachers' meeting whose decisions have been as practical as Mr. Thompson's. He is a better principal because he has been a teacher among us. In his consideration for the teachers lies a good deal of his strength. Fault has been found with him because he is not sufficiently autocratic, but the superb results that he retains could never be accomplished by an autocrat. Teachers of the High School feel perfectly free to go and discuss matters with Mr. Thompson after he has visited the class room. He has yet to exhibit the least sign of impatience."

We have a mass of evidence showing Mr. Thompson's influence upon the student body. Letters from parents expressing their appreciation of his interest in their children, particularly in the cases of certain students who were desirous of quitting school but who were persuaded to finish. We know there are many cases of this nature, especially where the students from the poorer families are concerned.

In one of your reasons you state that Mr. Thompson has failed to bring the High School up to the standard which the Committee requires and has given no evidence that he will be able to do so. After exhausted investigation we fail to discover a single instance in which the School Committee has vaguely intimated to Mr. Thompson what this standard is. You state that Mr. Thompson in many instances has failed to carry out the directions of the Committee. What were those directions?

How were they submitted to Mr. Thompson. Certainly not by written communication with Mr. Thompson nor through the medium of Mr. Faussey, the Superintendent.

It has been stated most emphatically in this article by those most capable of knowing, that Mr. Thompson has placed the High School upon an all-round higher plane than it ever was previous to his assuming the Principalship. Automatically he must have remedied any defects in the method of teaching.

The Manual for High Schools states that "Whenever a School Committee is to consider questions of importance of the High School the Principal should be invited to the meeting and be called upon to present the needs as he sees them." We think that we are well within the facts when we state that the Committee has failed woefully, because they have never invited Mr. Thompson to any meeting except those three already mentioned, or if they did through the medium of the School Superintendent, he, it would appear, failed to notify Mr. Thompson.

The Manual goes on to say that the Principal cannot be properly held responsible for the results to be secured by the High School unless he is given large freedom of action in choosing the personnel of the High School, in assigning duties to them and in adopting the means and methods whereby, in his judgment, results may be most effectively secured. Can the Committee on this say that Mr. Thompson has been given this large freedom of action?

We have failed to find a single act of insubordination on the part of Mr. Thompson.

Certainly he has had more to contend with than many of us realize and it is only through digging in that we learned some things truly amazing, and may we add, not one particle of it has come to us through conversations with Mr. Thompson, which, to our way of reasoning is commendable. We are led to believe that criticism of executive ability, lack of cooperation, proper qualifications to serve as an executive officer in a Town as large as Winchester, the maintenance of high standard moral in the High School, the proper exercise of full authority, the laying aside of puerile suspicions and petty jealousy, the lacking of the spirit of the Golden Rule, might not be amiss if directed elsewhere.

Mr. Rohman's compilation of evidence was presented only in part as the School Committee discredited it as not being First Hand evidence.

Your Committee attempted to present a statement of what had been accomplished during Mr. Thompson's administration as follows:—

The teachers have been assigned to special committees having supervision over extra curriculum activities.

As a result the Recorder will leave no deficit this year, besides paying the deficit of last year.

A careful supervision is maintained over the athletic associations, especially the financial side.

As a result the Recorder will have spirit, and the cooperations of the student teachers and coaches, it is expected that all bills will be met by the Boy's Athletic Association. This has not been the case for several years.

Scholarship has been stimulated by the formation of the Cum Laude Society, composed of pupils with an average of not less than 85%. The number has grown from 29 to 62 in the first year of its existence.

All social affairs are supervised by teachers and parents.

There has been a noticeable improvement in the conduct of the pupils at the school rallies.

Pupils are not allowed to hold two major offices at the same time. The purpose is to distribute school offices as widely as possible, develop the ability in the pupils and increase their interest in the schools.

All class elections are supervised by a faculty Committee and conducted strictly in accordance with Law. We have nomination papers, ballots and voting booths.

Increased attention has been paid to securing information about social and economic conditions in factories, special schools etc. The seniors have been sent to various institutions such as schools for the blind and for defectives, and to factories.

An exhibition of work done in dressmaking and millinery classes has been held. A Committee appointed to collect data on project-problem work will have an interesting report to make at the end of the year.

A special Committee has been at work in college preparation. In connection with this work, group conferences have been held with parents of the college preparatory pupils.

A weekly report of High School activities has been sent to the local paper. In many cases the reports have been written by the pupils.

A visiting week was instituted this year. Invitations were sent to all parents to see the school in actual operation. The idea received most favorable comment and there was a gratifying response to the invitations.

A placement bureau has been organized in the Commercial Department, letters have been sent to business men residing in the town and already two positions have been secured for Winchester High School graduates.

A substantial decrease has been made in the number of pupils who are absent, tardy or excused before the close of the session. This has been accomplished by steady persistent following up of habitual offenders.

This is a banner year for retaining pupils in the school. The number who have left for any other cause than removing from town is phenomenally small.

Only two items had been read when a member of the School Committee interrupted to suggest that all these ideas which had worked improvement had been suggested by either the School Committee or the Superintendent of Schools.

Incidentally, how is it that they can charge lack of co-operation and failure to carry out directions if THEY initiated all the good things which were listed and Mr. Thompson carried them to successful conclusion?

As much as the School needs to impart knowledge, it needs even more to build character. Place as high a value as we will upon Mr. Thompson's contribution to the educational scheme of our High School, his value as a character builder of our youth is even greater. He is the friend and inspirer of the High School pupils and as we have learned of his many kindly and tactful acts, quietly but effectively performed, we have come to understand to a degree why he is held in so high esteem by the pupils and teachers of our High School. To lose such a man as he is would be a calamity to our School System and to our Town.

The School Committee doubted that your Citizens' Committee represented any large body of citizenship, or that the assembly electing us was representative of the best thought and judgment in the Town.

The School Committee considers that a duly called Town meeting is the only expression of its citizens, other than the polls, but even then they are not in any manner subject to the control of the will of the Town after they have once been elected, and we have been informed that the School Committee once elected, becomes a part of the State Educational System and our only recourse from their decisions is the polls.

Gas Man

No matter how much gas you burn, you cannot raise the temperature of water on your gas range above 212 degrees Fahrenheit or boiling point. Therefore, once the pot starts to boil on the range, reduce the flame. This effects a saving.

Also remember that it takes no more gas to cook twelve potatoes than it does to cook six. Plan to have whole boiled or mashed potatoes the first day and creamed potatoes the second. Creamed potatoes are made from left-over cold boiled potatoes cut into cubes and reheated in a white sauce.

Again, plan your baking so as to get the most possible use out of the oven. When roasting a piece of meat, scrub, wipe dry and grease some potatoes. Place these in the oven on a pan and bake. When done cut them in half lengthwise, scoop out the white portion and mix it with milk, butter and seasoning. Then pack it back into the shells, place in the broiler and toast until browned.

FIRST PRIZE FOR THE SCHOOL

"Rah! Rah! Rah!"
"Harvey! Harvey! Harvey!"
"Team!"
"Oakall's got this game, 6 to 3 and the seventh inning."
Jack Weld was at the bat. There were two men out and men on second and third. Suddenly he heard this remark, "For his school."
Jack resolved that he would "Hit or die." The next ball was just where he wanted it. Far out over the centerfielder's head it sailed. The man on third was already home and the man from second had just reached third when the fielder threw. Amid the dust came the umpire's decision "Safe."
"And Jack's going to third."
Jack reached that bag.
Dick Jones was up next. The pitcher had lost his control and Dick reached second safely. The score was 6 to 6.
Jack's brother, Fred, bunted. The third baseman instead of keeping the ball threw over the first baseman's head. The score was 7 to 6! But the next man struck out.
Oakall was unable to score again. Jack was borne off the field.
"How did you do it?" asked one.
"I heard someone say 'For his school' so I did it for my school."
The baseball game was part of a mixed track and baseball meet. Although Oakall may have been poor in baseball, he was a wonder on the track. The score was 39 to 31 in her favor.
The last event, the relay race, was about to start. The winning team would get 10 points. This was the line-up.

HARVEY
Dick Jones
Fred Weld
John Wheeler
Jack Weld
OAKALL
James Strong
Edward Hindes
William Carr
Howard Taylor

Dick and Fred piled up a lead of seven yards for their team. John had almost arrived when he slipped and twisted his ankle. The Oakall man passed him, and was five yards ahead when he limped in!
Jack was off. It seemed like a hopeless race, but he would try. For his school! The thought made him go faster.
Where was the Oakall man? There was a white rag ahead. He would try to catch it. But it would stay ahead of him.
In this way the last lap came. The rag was a little in front. No it wasn't. Where was it? What was that wire across the track for? What was all the noise about?
Jack came flying down the track side by side with the Oakall man. Suddenly he gave a spurt. Taylor, the Oakall man tried to respond, but could not. Jack crossed the line a foot ahead of him and fell exhausted by the track.

"That was an awful race."
"Harvey wins, 41 to 39."
"Three cheers for Harvey."
"Why did you sprint like that?"
"For my school," said Jack.

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsy sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

FIRST PRIZE STORY

THE LAST GIRDER

The foreman raised and lowered his arm once. The gang of fifteen structural steel workers on the light wooden scaffolding looked down. Two puffs of white smoke and a faint toot! signified that the engineer, fifteen stories below the expectant men, understood the foreman's signal and the massive beam lying upon the ground ascended slowly into the air.

Upon the faces of the men above was an impatient look, for the girder completed the frame work of the fifteen story office building in lower New York, and the "human monkeys" as they are called, were anxious to get home to a warm supper and a good night's rest.

The beam was now directly opposite and about one hundred feet out from the light scaffolding upon which the men were standing. The heavy mass of steel moved rapidly toward the building.

Suddenly the boom of the derrick stopped with a jerk. The jerk snapped the heavy steel guys which held the girder steady. It began to swing from side to side and every swing brought it closer to the building. The gang turned and scrambled for a safe place. When they reached it, they breathed a sigh of relief and turned to watch the heavy beam.

A gasp of horror escaped their lips. The foreman had tripped over a riveter and while falling, hit his head against the framework and fallen unconscious! The boom kept swinging nearer and nearer the scaffolding. If it once hit the framework, the foreman would fall fifteen stories to death. The gang remained spellbound, paralyzed with fear—all except one, a mere boy about twenty years old and a little over five feet tall. His hair was dark and he wore blue overalls, flannel shirt, slouch hat, and leather gloves typical of the steel worker. He sprang upon the platform, snatched up a coil of rope, gauged the swing of the beam, and sprang!

His clawing hands grasped the girder in one of its slow but resistless swings through the air, pulled himself upon it, grasped the girder securely with one hand, and with the other threw the coil of rope that was in his hand. The others, awakening from their stupor, tied the rope to one of the girders already in place while the boy tied his end around the swinging beam. And as the beam swung in, the men on the building tightened up the rope. The big beam was halted at the apex of its swing, and the foreman, the friend of them all, was saved.

SHEP

Shep was just a tiny collie about six weeks old when he was given to me. He was the dearest little brown and white ball of fur and of mischief that I have ever seen.

He had a little kennel, which he slept in, out of doors. This was one arrangement that he did not like.

When I came home from school, Shep was always waiting in the yard to greet me. He would jump up on me with a soft little bark, and try to lick my face. Then I would pet and fondle him to his heart's content.

One day, however, when I came home from school, Shep was not in the yard to greet me as usual. I went into the house and said anxiously to Mother, "Where's Shep, Mother?"

"Isn't he in the yard, or in his house?" she inquired.

"No, he isn't," I replied. "Oh, I do hope that he isn't lost."
"Of course he isn't. Most likely he has just strayed from the yard. He'll be back soon. I wouldn't worry, honey," she said kindly, for she knew how fond I was of my little play fellow.

But I did worry. Night time came, but it didn't bring Shep. I went to the door and whistled for him. There was no answer. (Shep always answered my whistle with a little bark.) Then I called him, "Shep, Shep." Still no Shep came. Then, "He's lost," I sobbed and went upstairs.

Just as I turned on the light in my room, I heard a queer noise. It seemed to come from the third floor, where I had my play-room. I went up stairs slowly, softly, half fearfully, although I don't know why I turned the light on in the hall, and looked into the play-room through the half-open door. Then I heard a soft patter of feet, and a sharp little bark. Something jumped up on me, and licked my face.

"Shep," I cried, (for it was he) "you dear, darling, naughty little puppy. How could you frighten me so? I was afraid you were lost, dear."

He gave a soft little bark, as though asking to be forgiven. Of course he was. Then I took him downstairs and gave him something to eat. That night, instead of sleeping out in his kennel, Shep slept on a soft pillow at the foot of my bed.

A RUBY RING

It was a chilly evening in early spring. A bright fire was burning in the grate by which sat Mr. Montgomery and his little daughter dreamily watching the flames.

"What were you planning to give me this year for my birthday, Papa," asked Annabelle, suddenly waking from her dream.

"Why dear, I hadn't decided yet. What would you like?"

"A ruby ring. I looked into the flames a moment ago thinking how lovely they were, when I remembered the beautiful ruby ring I saw in the jewelry shop the other day. A good many years ago Mother told me what a beautiful stone a ruby was," her words softened him for her mother had long been in heaven.

"We'll see, dear," Mr. Montgomery was a kind man and paid a good deal of attention to his little daughter. He felt it his duty to please his little daughter because he realized that she had not what many girls had, a kind and loving mother. When Mr. Montgomery said, "We'll see dear," he usually meant yes. He did this time also, for when Annabelle came down to breakfast the morning of her birthday she found a small white box side her plate. Inside was a lovely ruby ring. "Oh Papa," she cried throwing her arms around his neck. "I never can thank you enough!"

Annabelle's friend came over in the morning to wish to her a happy birthday with a small silver jewelry box, with tiny roses carved on it.

"Oh," gasped Annabelle, "How lovely. Thank you, Virginia, ever so much. This is such a happy birthday. Let's go and play in the hay now. I will put my ring in your lovely gift and hide it in the hole in the apple tree."

In a short while it began to rain. Virginia ran home before the storm was on and Annabelle ran hastily into the house.

The next morning when the storm had ceased, Annabelle ran out of doors to find her jewelry box. When she reached the apple tree she found it had blown over during the storm. She hunted through the entwinement of branches but nothing could she find. Hopes are soon lost in years and I wonder if Annabelle thought of it again.

We see Annabelle's house some years later. Nothing is changed except the fact that a small dingy apartment house is situated where the garden used to be. Annabelle still lives in the house to be sure, but alone now. Years have changed Annabelle, now called Miss Montgomery, to a pleasant old lady.

In the apartment lives a little girl named Nancy. She has no father or mother. The keeper of the apartment had told her that if she would work for her she would not have to be sent to the Children's Home. Nancy works hard and is very grateful but gets lonesome for friends.

One afternoon she was walking on the walk at the back of the house trying to find a place to make a garden. When she had chosen a spot she began to dig with her little spade. After a short time she struck some thing hard. At first she thought it was a rock but after she had dug it out and had brushed the dirt from it she found it was a box. It was very much tarnished but one could see it had been beautiful in its day.

"I wonder where it came from," she gasped. A sudden thought came into her mind.

"I wonder if there is any thing inside." She fairly broke the cover off and gasped for joy when she saw what was inside. There neither hurt nor touched was a ruby ring. She gazed at it with astonishment when she suddenly remembered that this land had once belonged to Miss Montgomery that lived next door. She quickly ran to the house and rang the door bell. Miss Montgomery opened the door. She smiled pleasantly, and asked, "And what does this little girl want?"

"Please Miss," Nancy gasped, "Pleased Miss have you lost a ruby ring?"

"No, not recently. Why dear, have you found a ring? Come in and tell me all about it."

Nancy told her the whole story. "I lost that ring when I was a child," she said after Nancy showed it to her. "Keep it to remember me by."

I need not tell you the rest. You know as well as any one that Nancy lives with Miss Montgomery. Let us leave them with the ending so familiar in fairy stories. "To live happily ever after."

PROBATE AND OTHER COURT NEWS

Raffaele Colucci of Winchester was asked to be appointed as administrator of the estate of his son Michael Colucci of Winchester who died October 25, 1921. No valuation of the estate was filed.

The will of Charles W. Hinman of Winchester who died May 26 has been filed. It is dated January 23 and names Nathaniel C. Nash, Jr., of Cambridge as executor. The estate is valued at $38,000; $8000 in real estate and $30,000 in personal property.

Howard S. Cosgrove of Winchester has asked to be appointed as administrator of the estate of his uncle James S. Cosgrove of East Lexington who died May 15. No valuation of the estate was filed.

The will of Mrs. Ellen M. King of Winchester who died May 12 has been filed. It is dated May 1 and names Michael J. Dennen of Winchester as executor. The estate is valued at $3925 all in real estate.

Elizabeth A. Sullivan of Cambridge has been appointed as guardian of Joseph King, aged six months, of Winchester, by Judge Lawton of the probate court. She has given a bond of $4500. The ward's property is valued at $2000, all in real estate.

The Crescent Leather company of Boston has been sued for $7500 in an action of tort by Dorothy E. Osborne of Winchester, a minor who sues through her father, Norman V. Osborne. She alleges that on December 13, 1921 while walking on Washington street Winchester, she was struck by the defendant's auto truck and was severely injured. Norman V. Osborne, her father, sues the company for $2000 for the loss of his daughter's services and medical expenses.

Khaki uniforms for Brookline traffic policemen, as well as lighter materials for summer uniforms for police officers otherwise engaged, was discussed by the Brookline Selectmen at their meeting this week. The matter was referred to the sub-committee on police. This is a matter which is being taken up seriously by all towns and cities. The increasing need of placing officers in the hot streets and the sun for long periods makes new rulings very advisable. In some instances a relief system, whereby the officers are relieved at certain hours, is being tried out.

Copy of Letter Sent to the Children
We thank you for sending your drawing. You have helped make a most interesting exhibition.

We wanted to hang every picture sent. We did hang six hundred—that was as many as could be shown. The drawings were surprisingly good—lots of imagination—lots of good ideas—lots of good color and design. You all put over the thought you had.

It is fine to have a way to express your thoughts—it is fun for you and gives your friends pleasure. We hope you will keep on painting.

Very truly yours,
Committee on Art
The Boston Art Club
Boston, May 1, 1922.

The Boston Art Club has reserved four drawings to be exhibited in Philadelphia and Berkeley, California. These four drawings were made by John Eastwick, Bruce Whitney, Marguerite Jones and Rose Battista.

With these four exceptions the drawings will be exhibited at the Prince School from June 19 to June 23.

HEAVY STORM SUNDAY

Following the extreme heat of last week, the weather broke on Sunday with a series of the most violent showers since last summer. Winchester was particularly fortunate in that it escaped the full force of all of these tornadoes, although other places suffered severely. A shower Sunday forenoon was followed by very sultry weather with a rapidly increasing temperature, and although the skies cleared, it was not for long. During the afternoon a series of three or four very heavy showers visited the town, with high winds and heavy rain until after seven o'clock.

The morning rain had wet down the streets, so that the heavy rain of the afternoon did little damage through the washouts. For a time we had some hail, but nothing very alarming and with no sizeable hailstones such as two or three inches in diameter which fell elsewhere.

The lightning struck a big elm tree on the Parkway in front of the High School, stripping the bark off one side from top to bottom, and also struck the stable of the Kelley & Hawes Co., on Railroad avenue, where it did no damage whatever, being carried off by the lightning rods.

Market gardeners suffered severely, although the Winchester farms escaped with lighter damage than surrounding places. Woburn had one fire resulting from lightning and some greenhouses there lost considerable glass from the hail.

Two auto accidents occurred in town on Sunday. Early in the day a Ford coupe owned by Dennis J. Collins was in collision with a Ford touring car of Hugh Marshall of Woburn at the corner of Clark and Main streets, and although no one was injured the cars were somewhat smashed. In the afternoon a new Ford touring car owned by Alfred Knight of Wakefield and driven by his wife had trouble getting around the corner of Forest and Washington streets. Mrs. Knight claiming that she was crowded by two cars passing her. The Ford struck the curb stone on Washington street and hit a telegraph pole, then running off the road into a tree. With the Knights were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Harrison of Wakefield, and all of the party were badly cut and bruised by the accident, they being taken to the Hospital and treated by Dr. Sheehy. The Ford was a total wreck.

WADLEIGH-PRINCE TRACK MEET

Monday afternoon the annual track meet of the Wadleigh and Prince schools was held on Manchester field. The events were started promptly at 3:45 and ended about six. The competition was between the Red team and the Blue team. The Red team included rooms 1, 2, 7 and 8 of the Wadleigh School and Room 1 of the Prince School. The Blue team consisted of Rooms 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the Wadleigh School and rooms 2 and 3 of the Prince School.

In scoring the events five points were given for first place in each event, three points for second place, and one point for third. For the relays the same point value for first, second and third places was used.

The result of the competition was: Blues 109 points, Reds 106 points. The winners of the various events are as follows:

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Following the usual custom, the June meeting of the Winchester Union will take the form of an outing on June 23 the place to be the grounds surrounding the homes of Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Blood on Vine street, bordering on the lake. As special guests for the day Dr. Louise N. Rand, of West Newton, will bring a group of members of the North End Y. P. B. which has its headquarters on Sheafe street, Boston the members being all of Italian extraction. They have been doing a notable work under the direction of Dr. Rand, and the Winchester Union has been much interested in its development. Dr. Rand, who is also State Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics, will speak following the brief business session which will be presided over by Mrs. J. C. Adams, the president.

Reports of the recent County convention held at Melrose will also be given, together with accounts of the progress of the membership campaign. As the latter is part of a nation-wide movement it is of value to compare the success of the various states in securing their quotas. The attacks upon prohibition by the liquor element has had its effect in inspiring the W. C. T. U. to renewed effort.

Readers of the daily and weekly press may easily keep themselves informed as to the real progress of the temperance cause. The Family Welfare Society, than which no organization is better fitted to know something of the results of prohibition, reports that intemperance as a factor in the demands made for help is already almost negligible. People formerly able to get an abundance of women helpers are now unable to find them, because their husbands no longer spend their money on liquor. The drunken men who once lined the path of the traveler from the North Station up-town have practically disappeared. But—and this is the sad thing—the drinking habits of the so-called smart set have not improved. The good people shake their heads and say "Prohibition is a failure," and do nothing to counteract it. It is time we awoke to the situation and put ourselves on record for the enforcement of the law even at some personal inconvenience. It is being enforced elsewhere, why not in Massachusetts?

FARMER WHIST AND RUBE DANCE

A farmer whist and rube dance was held last week at Winchester Council, K. of C. Hall, Vine street, in aid of the West End table of St. Mary's parish summer festival on June 17. Over 400 were present at the affair, included among the guests being Rev. Fr. Nathaniel P. Merritt, pastor and Rev. Fr. Joseph M. Fitzgibbon, and Rev. Fr. Joseph H. Quigley, assistants at St. Mary's Church and Rev. Fr. Joseph Morrissey, a newly ordained priest of St. Ann's parish, Somerville.

The farmer costume prize winners included John Mawn and Mrs. John Hanlon, who received bags of flour, Daniel Kean, who received a smoking set, and Regent Mrs. P. J. Kenneally of the Winchester Branch of the Massachusetts Catholic Women's Guild, who received a cut glass set.

The whist winners included Mrs. C. H. Keefe, Miss Dorothy Kean, J. N. Bennett, Miss Theresa Sullivan, Mrs. Annie Murphy, James Callahan, Frank L. Humphrey, Mrs. Sarah Davis, Mrs. Leo Hertly, Mrs. Joseph Kean, M. J. Grant, Mrs. Mary Waters, Miss Marie White and Miss Isabelle Curran. The matrons for the dancing were Mrs. John Cullen, Mrs. Edward P. McKenzie, Mrs. Annie Connelly of Woburn and Mrs. Timothy Callahan.

MISS CAROLYN DOW ENGAGED

Miss Constance Dow gave a party last Thursday evening at her home on Main street announcing the engagement of her cousin, Carolyn Dow, to Mr. Guy Butman Howe.

The party was given in the form of a bridge. After a pleasant evening was spent playing cards, refreshments were served.

Those present were the Misses Georgiana Watters, Beulah Foss, Gertrude Felber, Mabel Blackler, Frances Boone, Marian and Carolyn Dow, Helen Bowe, Kay Hunt, Maude Crowley, Phyllis Fitch, Charlene Dean, Dorothy Reynolds, Katherine Howard, Mrs. Robert Reynolds, Annette Mason, Brenda Bond, Susie Guernsey, Lorna Bugbee, Mrs. Burnham Preston, Hester Bradford, Miss Edna Sherman and Miss Elizabeth Moore of Medford.

Prizes were won by Lorna Bugbee, Phyllis Fitch and Susie Guernsey.

Miss Dow is well known in the younger set and has been prominently active in school athletics, as she has been in those of the Cathedral Episcopal School for Girls, at Orlando, Fla., and at Miss Mason's School, "The Castle," at Tarrytown, N. Y. Mr. Howe prepared for college at Powder Point School in Duxbury. He enlisted in war service and was commissioned in Army Aviation. He is an enthusiastic golfer and yachtsman. The wedding is to take place next spring.

PERMANENT WAVE

This is the time to have your thoughts turn to the Permanent Wave. Just think of the comfort of being able to go to the seashore and have your hair curl and not be compelled to sleep on curlers.

The new method Permoil Permanent Wave, is all done in oil, therefore non-injurious. Hair is soft and fluffy not kinky. Elizabeth F. Hassenberg, Hair and Skin Specialist, 80 Boylston street, Little Bldg., Boston, Mass., will give any information on the subject. No shock, no fright, no harm to your hair. Better sign up for an appointment early and save disappointment.

ST. MARY'S FESTIVAL

Tomorrow the "June Festival" in aid of St. Mary's School takes place on the Rectory grounds from 3 till 11:30 P. M. Much has been heard of the wonderful preparation made for this feature event of St. Mary's Parish social season and more will be seen, heard, bought and enjoyed than even the most sanguine ever imagined. Travelling bags and Beacon Indian Blankets, Base Ball paraphernalia, jewelry, aluminum ware, clocks, electric lamps, flowering baskets, candy, fruit baskets and five dollar Arlington hams will be allotted the fortunate and wise. Perry's seven piece orchestra will furnish music throughout the day and also for dancing from 7 till 11:30 o'clock. Old folks dancing will also attract as will the clown and games for the children. Suitable prizes have been set aside for the boys and girls best in running and jumping. The races begin promptly at 3:30. Added to all this the Festival will be made complete with three exquisitely decked booths with a hundred and one different articles for sale. The "Tea Room" and "Palm Garden" will satisfy the tastes of the most fastidious. General admission 25 cents. The Committees and Directors follow:

NEW SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEMBER

Much interest has been created through the recently announced resignation of Mrs. Charles Zueblin from the School Committee, and a number of names have been brought forth as being under consideration for the place.

As a matter of fact it appears that until Mrs. Zueblin's letter of resignation is received from England, where she now is, nothing may be done in the matter. While Mrs. Zueblin has undoubtedly tendered her resignation to the School Committee, she evidently neglected to file a similar paper with the Town Clerk as provided by law.

Among the names which have been mentioned for the vacancy on the Board are Mrs. Joseph F. Ryan, Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside, Mrs. James W. Russell, Jr., Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth and Mrs. W. Holbrook Lowell.

When the vacancy is filled it will be at a joint session of the Selectmen and the School Committee.

The auto trip to Charlton, to have been made by the members of Mystic Valley Lodge Saturday to visit the Masonic Home, has been postponed until Fall. Owing to the illness of Supt. Blake of the Home, the trip could not be held Saturday.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Why should any Winchesterite express surprise that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle draws crowds and holds his place on the front page? Leaving out his cleverness as a novelist, he has other claims on his generation. In youth he began a course of excellent reading, his taste broadened, his judgment sharpened, and he has condensed the results in that delightful little volume "Through the Magic Door" (the door of the library). Any mature Winchesterite who reads that charming book will see that Doyle prepared himself by travel, by reading, by conversation, by reflecting on what he had read to say what he had to say in a striking manner. But it takes more than a trained style to solve the mystery of in what widely different ways mortals meet death. Sir Arthur is credited with saying that the act of dying is joyful, even blissful; but those who reflect on the vast variety of temperament, of belief, of mental and moral conditions will pause before making any statement. It would seem more reasonable to say that there may be almost as much difference in death as there is in life. It is probable that no novelist, however emotional, went beyond the actual rapture of some who looked toward eternal happiness or the remorse that has marked some last hours. But the transports and the terrors are certainly less numerous than speakers who dwell in vivid contrasts might suppose. The observation of physicians, nurses, and hospital chaplains goes to show that many persons gradually became less and less conscious of surrounding objects, and rather dream their lives away than manifest any strong feeling of desire or dread. In the next newspaper we open there may be evidence that a man so loathed this life that he swallowed poison to escape it, that another so clung to it that he bore repeated operations to prolong it, that another cared so little about it as to walk on the tracks of the main line, that a fourth bet that he could swallow a quart of moonshine. The young mother's desperate struggle to live for the sake of her child, is a fact in life. So is the quiet look toward the other world of aged persons whose activities are past and whose bereavements have been many. Is it not a logical impossibility that those to whom death means the sundering of a hundred ties and those to whom it holds out the hope of reunion can have the same feeling about it? Faith in the resurrection may be strong at 18 and at 80, but from the junior's circle death has only taken a few, in the senior's there are scarcely any left. In poetic language never to be surpassed the writer of Ecclesiastes describes the general decay of the human frame, the failing of the powers before the silver cord is loosed and the golden soul broken. But the writers of Scripture do not enter into discussions of how men and women, different in mental and moral composition, meet that which comes to all.

According to a Winchester gentleman who knows what he is talking about, money in the bank is influential as long as it stays there.

Malayan ingenuity long ago contrived or concocted drinks for sailors who always paid and might not die until after the ship sailed. These beverages were not often imbibed by the native, but if he did indulge the obsequies were apt to follow within a brief period, hence the name which may be translated "coffin nail." Several visitors to a community less than an hour's ride from Winchester, now in durance, ascribe their trouble to draughts of "Lay me by the hillside."

The Spectator.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Erskine announced last Saturday the marriage of their daughter, Margaret E., and Mr. John Bell of Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. The wedding took place May 6th. At present the couple are on their wedding trip, and they will spend the summer at Rockport.

CHOW TIME—AT THE ZOO

Housekeepers who are weary of hunting turnips and fresh spring onions to tempt the palates of winter-worn families may find comfort in the troubles of a caterer who goes marketing of a morning for ten pounds of hay and four quarts of grain to feed his baby buffalo.

This is just one of the minor items on the daily menu that the superintendent of one famous zoological garden must provide for his polyglot family, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

A chimpanzee must have two oranges, a cup of boiled rice and two eggs beaten in a glass and a half of milk for his breakfast; a half dozen bananas and some warm milk at noon; and a slice of rye bread, two oranges and two glasses of milk for his dinner. To add to the keeper's woes and quite a bit to his amusement a baby monkey has to be fed occasionally from a bottle and later with a spoon—for he must get his table manners early in life.

When "Hippo" Rings the Breakfast Bell

And how is the hippo fed? He knows the hour and the man and when both approach he opens the enormous cavity between his jaws and awaits the shoveling in of three and a half quarts of rolled oats, three and a half quarts of bran, the four heads of cabbage, the half basket of potatoes, and the five pounds of hay that make his meal.

The elephant goes him one better on the hay. He needs 75 pounds for his morning meal and his eight quarts of bran in the afternoon.

The poor pater familias at the National Zoological Park in Washington, D. C., must provide for the queer members of his household about 300 pounds of horse meat to satisfy the hunger pangs of his lions, tigers, wolves, foxes and leopards, one lion alone requiring twelve pounds to turn his attention from his secret desire for a tempting portion of the anatomy of his keeper.

Ostrich Likes His Alfalfa Chopped

The horse meat is merely a small item on the order for the day at this zoo. There are also 120 pounds of fish for the sea lions and seals, the fish-duck, and other fish-eating birds; and for some of the connoisseurs a long list from the vegetable kingdom—carrots, both kinds of potatoes, beets, spinach, cabbage and turnips; and quantities of eggs and milk for the babies. These creatures are fastidious. The ostrich must have his two quarts of alfalfa chopped, and his quart of corn cracked, and the other constituents of his dietary—bran, carrots, beets, and bread—must be properly balanced. The giraffe is sometimes temperamental and when he takes a notion that he won't bend his head for his food, there is nothing for his keeper to do but climb a fence or get a long step ladder.

Snakes are partial to eggs. They also like rats, birds and small mammals. The boa wraps himself around his dinner, squeezes it and swallows it whole. If he has two animals to manage at the same time, he ties one up in a knot at the end of his tail while he sticks his long teeth into the other. Nor does it bother him if the animal he has to swallow is larger than his head. His jaws are loose and elastic. He opens them both vertically and horizontally as he gently urges down his prey, and the course it takes down his body is perfectly evident.

Some Animals Require Imported Dainties

One zoo owned until recently a koala, or Australian bear, for whom eucalyptus leaves from California had to be provided. The Prince of Wales also owns one of these animals. The reindeer and caribou must have their moss imported from Canada, and any zoo fortunate enough to own an apteryx must dig earth worms to soothe his hunger pangs.

The yearly table of one such zoo averages between $36,000 and $40,000. But cities consider the investment pays ample dividends in stimulating nature study, in inculcating love of living things, and in adding to the lure of outdoors for city dwellers.

The visitors to the National Zoological Park, adjoining Washington's beautiful Rock Creek Park, numbered 2,270,000 during the year ending June 30, 1920.

Mirth and the Maiden.

"He was a mirth-loving man, and perhaps that accounted not a little for his successful amours; since women, for the most part frivolous creatures, are excessively bored by the seriousness with which men treat them, and they can seldom resist the buffoon who makes them laugh. Their sense of humor is crude. Diana of Ephesus is always prepared to fling prudence to the winds for the red-nosed comedian who sits on his hat."—From "The Trembling of a Leaf," by Somerset Maugham.

Causes of Insomnia.

When a person is asleep far less blood flows through the brain than while he is awake. Anything that makes a large quantity of blood flow through the brain will make the mind active and prevent sleep. For this reason working or playing hard just before going to bed is often the cause of wakefulness. Some persons do not sleep well because their muscles are tired, others because they eat just before retiring, and then again some because they sleep in rooms not properly ventilated.

Little Manufacture in Santo Domingo.

The Dominican republic is primarily and naturally an agricultural country, and manufacturing is carried on only on a most limited scale; in fact, the total motive power employed in the various manufacturing industries in Santo Domingo, the capital and largest city of the republic, is less than 250 horsepower.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by William C. Welch to Freeland E. Hovey, dated July 14, 1920, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4376, Page 544, for the breach of conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Monday, July 3, 1922 at four o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein substantially described as follows, viz:

"A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Winchester, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner of Washington street and Nelson street; thence running Northwesterly on said Nelson street, sixty-five and 20-100 (65.20) feet to land now or formerly of Loudigan; thence turning and running Northerly by said land now or formerly of Loudigan fifty (50) feet to land now or formerly of the mortgagee; thence turning and running Southeasterly by said land now or formerly of the mortgagee, sixty-five and 20-100 (65.20) feet to said Washington street; thence running Southeasterly on said Washington street, forty-eight (48) feet to the point of beginning. Being shown on plan entitled 'Land in Winchester, Mass., April 1920, Parker, Holbrook, Engineer, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4376, Page 544.' Containing according to said plan thirty-two hundred six (3206) feet of land. Said premises are conveyed subject to a mortgage originally written for $2000, given by said Welch to the West Somerville Cooperative Bank, dated May 13, 1920, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4351, Page 201."

Said premises will be sold subject to said mortgage, all unpaid taxes, tax titles, assessments or other municipal liens, $100.00 in cash will be required to be paid at the time of sale and the balance to be paid within ten (10) days from the date of sale at Room 229, 18 Front street, Boston, Mass. Other particulars made known at time of sale.

MINISTER'S CHRONIC INDIGESTION HELPED

Advises Stomach Sufferers to Use Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules

Rev. J. H. Watrous, Baptist pastor of Jamestown, N. Y., knows what it is to suffer the pains of chronic indigestion. He speaks from experience when he recommends to other stomach sufferers the sure means of relief which he found so helpful.

In an open letter addressed to "Fellow Sufferers from Indigestion" he writes: "I would advise and urge that any person suffering from the many sorts of indigestion proceed at once to give Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules a fair, thorough trial. I have had much personal and painful experience with what has come to be Chronic Gastric Indigestion. Very naturally have tried many different remedies. Am now using above named remedy with very pleasing results. Give them a trial." Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules are quick, sure relief for indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, heartburn, gas and constipation. There is no fuss or bother. Simply take one or two capsules and a swallow of water and get prompt relief. They are sold under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

Physicians who have been told the formula for making Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules agree that the ingredients are of excellent medical value in relieving indigestion and dyspepsia. These capsules are superior to pills and tablets which often become hard and pass solidly through the digestive tract. Their pure gelatin covering dissolves within one or two minutes after entering the stomach, releasing the ingredients to begin their pain easing relief quickly. Try them if you have indigestion, dyspepsia, flatulence, catarrh of the stomach, dizziness after eating, gas or heartburn.

On sale at Allen's Pharmacy, Winchester, Mass., or 60 cents by mail postpaid for large package from Jaques Capsule Co., Plattsburg, N. Y.

Sunday night shortly after nine o'clock as a fast freight was passing north through the centre, a part of the brake fell from one of the cars, making a crash which alarmed bystanders. Investigation revealed that some of the iron brake shoe and the end of the brake rod was thrown off on the crossing. Almost immediately after an inbound express struck another large piece of iron off the car which had evidently been left on the track. The noise of this impact was so great that some bystanders near the crossing made a hasty retreat across the centre, fearing a repetition of the recent freight wreck. After the express had passed investigation revealed that a hunk of iron, about three feet long and weighing probably 100 pounds had been wedged into the frog of the switch at the junction of the Woburn loop. That the express was not derailed and wrecked was a miracle in view of the size of the obstruction and the force of the impact. It was necessary to have the wrecking train from Boston to remove the iron, so solidly was it wedged between the rails.

COMMITTEE DID NOT VOTE

School Board Acts on Mr. Thompson Tonight

The scheduled meeting to the School Committee, called for Wednesday night to act upon the proposed dismissal of Principal Edward E. Thompson of the High School, was not held. Owing to the illness of Chairman Robert F. Guild of the committee the meeting was postponed.

Principal Thompson was present at the school, ready for the meeting. He was asked to allow the committee to postpone the date, and was told that he could leave his reply to the committee's charges or hold it and present it at the postponed meeting. He chose to leave his reply.

The committee arranged to meet this Friday night, at which time a formal vote will be taken on the matter.

SUP'T. OF STREETS APPOINTED

At Monday night's meeting of the Board of Selectmen Town Engineer and Assessor James Hinds was appointed Superintendent of Streets. He will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of former superintendent T. Parker Clarke.

It was reported that at this meeting of the board arrangements were made for the employment of an additional assistant Town Engineer at a salary of $1900, and that the new man has been engaged.

It is said that present assistant Town Engineer Parker Holbrook was raised in salary $250 and that assistant Lawson received a $50 raise.

WADLEIGH GRADUATION

List of Pupils Graduating From Grammar School

The graduation exercises of the Wadleigh grammar school will be held in the Town Hall this Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It is anticipated that the usual large attendance will be experienced, as a large class will graduate, and the admission, up to the time of opening the program, will be by ticket only.

The program, printed in last week's STAR, will include music by the school under the direction of instructor Richard W. Grant and an address by Mr. Joseph A. Ewart, Superintendent of Schools of Milton. The invocation will be offered by Rev. Alliston B. Gifford of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The second part of the program, which is to be held on the lawn in front of the Wadleigh school, will include a physical education drill by the scholars, the distribution of promotion certificates and an exhibition of the school work of every child in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades of the school.

The pupils who will receive certificates are as follows, any children whose work is near enough to passing to entitle them to attend the summer session at the Prince school, being recommended. Permittion certificates of such children however, will not be eventually given until successful completion of the summer school work. Such children, as usual, will receive blank certificates during the exercises.

JULY 4th CELEBRATION

Plans Underway For Fine Observance In Winchester

Plans underway and rapidly coming to a head, provide for one of the best celebrations of the 4th of July this town has had yet. Chairman George E. Willey of the Selectmen has given his personal attention to many of the details, especially the fireworks display, and he is confident that our celebration will prove satisfactory to all.

The program for the day has been outlined as follows:

Ringling of Town Hall and Church bells at sunrise, noon and sunset.

10 a. m. Children's entertainment in Town Hall with Punch and Judy show, juggler and magician. Following this entertainment patriotic favors will be given to the children and each child will have given it a ticket for an ice cream cone.

2:30 p. m. Base ball on Manchester Field. The Town Team will play a team to be announced next week.

3-5 p. m. Band concert on Manchester Field. Music by the Malcom Band. 7:30-9 p. m. Band concert on Manchester Field.

Fireworks at the close of the concert.

The fireworks this year have been especially selected and prepared. The display gives promise of being one of the best we have ever had, including as it will all the new novelties, patriotic specialties and the famous salute to the flag.

The fireworks program will be as follows:

Opening Salute of (7) Pain's Heavy Aerial Guns.

Creating terrific explosions with startling effects, as they burst forth into the heavens; the roar of the guns can be heard for miles.

Fairland Illumination of the Grounds.

Produced by (25) Pain's Powerful Colored Fires of large calibre, lighting up the surroundings in a vivid but beautiful manner, with their rich glowing tints which constantly change.

Flight of (20) 3 and 4 lb. National Streamer Rockets.

Forming a canopy of Red, White and Blue stars, which will grace the heavens with dazzling brilliancy.

Discharge of (5) Oriental Bombettes.

Opening in a shower of green stars changing to amber, and finishing with purple, forming a lattice work in the air.

Princess Mary's Floating Necklace.

Of diamonds and amethysts, fired from heavy rockets or bombs, 1922 Novelty.

Device—Wreath.

In large block letters in bright 1922 colors, artistically blended.

Volley of (5) 12 inch Pain's Searchlight Shells.

Lighting flash and thunderbolt, interspersed with silver rays that streak the heavens in a blaze of fire.

The Electric Sunburst.

Radiant, terminating in a melange of glittering gems, which emerge from huge bombs high in the air.

Flight of (6) 3 lb. Interchangeable Rockets.

Showing Shooting Star Up and Down, Sunray and Essence of Moonlight effects, 1922 Combinations.

Discharge of (4) 15 inch Rainbow Shells.

This mysterious heavenly symbol sends out marvelous colors showing Sapphire, Turquoise and Emerald reflections.

Pain's 1922 Novelty, The Whirling Dervishes.

The most astounding gyrating wonder of the year, a marvel of pyrotechnic genius.

A Scene of Oriental Flowers.

Produced by (5) Repeating Shells, dropping bouquets of assorted flowers of Crimson and Sea Green.

Flight of 3-18 inch Three Break Telescope Shells.

Releasing at different heights a succession of individual shells, each repeating on themselves, 1922 designs.

Poppies in the Cornfield.

Displaying an acre of golden Wheat Sheaves, interspersed with Poppies, produced by a volley of (10) Pain's Shell of Shells.

Exhibit of (50) Pain's Whistling Sirens.

Pain's Patented "Rocket Bombs," bursting forth into Silver Sheen, and emitting sounds which resemble the gruesome call of the Ocean Siren.

Salvo of 5-15 inch "Jupiter" Bombshells.

A liquid Cardinal Red, terminating with vivid rays of forked and radiating lightning.

A 1922 Surprise Novelty, "The Flapper Mine."

Music and noise, a screaming hit.

Ascension of (5) 3 lb. Pain's Trailing Star Rockets.

Bright scintillating strings of brilliant emeralds, gleaming through the mists of golden spray, 1922 Novelty.

Battery of (50) Yankee Doodle Dandy Aerial Comets.

The National colors accompanied by loud reports and whistling effects.

Volley of (6) 3 lb. Pain's "Manhattan Beach" Rockets.

Showing the world famous "PAIN" tints, combined with the 1922 colors of a very artistic selection.

Ascend of (10) Mammoth Prismatic Whirlwinds.

Ascending and descending like huge umbrellas of fire, throwing out gold and silver sea foam in their spiral formation.

Volley of (4) 18 inch Fire Spider Bombs.

Depicting a scene of mighty colossal spiders creeping across the sky in a web of silver fire.

Discharge of (5) 15 inch Flowering Pampas Shells.

Waving grasses displayed on high with glowing tints of variegated stars.

Aerial Novelty, The American Flying Eagles.

Revolving on circles, they soar to a great height, then descend, reascending, when suddenly they swoop down with fiery cascades.

Second Magical Illumination of the Grounds.

With Pain's (U. S. Model) Position Lights of 25,000 candle power. The entire surroundings converted into a veritable daylight scene of startling brilliancy.

Exhibit of (10) Hindoo Jugglery Mines.

Mystic in their undertaking, A 1922 Novelty.

Bouquet of (5) 4 lb. Pain's Floral Rockets.

Green and Blue, representing Wistaria in bloom, with a gorgeous background.

Volley of (5) 12 inch Radio-Electric Shells.

Carrying large searchlights of intense brilliancy, which flash their silver rays across the sky for a great distance. (Pain's own conception and 1922 effect.)

Flight of (8) 6 lb. Pain's "Patented" Rocket Bombs.

Rose, Magenta, Ivory, Pink and Sea Green tints, forming a canopy of studded jewelled clouds.

The Patriotic Cannonade.

Imitating the sound of rapid fire guns in action, succeeded by a mitralleuse of colored bullets with plenty of noise caused by terrific explosions.

Display of (100) Triple Star Aerial Candles.

Exhibiting cometic stars displaying white globules.

Pain's 1922 Feature Novelty, A Salvo of Washington Conference Bombs.

With stars of dazzling white light, changing to red, white and blue streamers.

Flight of (6) 3 lb. Weeping Willow Rockets.

Long graceful trailing branches, which seem to reach aloft to the ground.

Discharge of (4) 15 inch Radium Shower Bombs.

An Aurora Borealis of electric jewels, with ruby and emerald reflections, gracefully descending to the ground. Pain's 1922 Novelty.

Comic 1922 Feature, The Australian Boomerang Geysers.

"Hard to keep track of." Performing the movements of this singular missile used by the natives of Australia.

Special!! Pain's Crescendo Repeating Bomb Display.

First bomb opens once.

Second bomb opens twice.

Third bomb opens three times.

Fourth bomb opens four times.

Fifth bomb opens five times.

(A continuous discharge of loud and rapid reports, each break showing different colors and effects with 1922 surprises. This idea first conceived and introduced by Henry J. Pain.)

Pain's 1922 Novelty, A Flight of Pain's Whistling Coon Rockets.

A realistic musical marvel, something new in pyrotechny.

The Polychromatic Canopy.

Produced by (10) Pain's "Wonder" shells, containing electrical effects, enveloping the sky with all the colors of the spectrum in a mad tumble of picturesque confusion. (A 1922 Novelty.)

Pain's Twentieth Century 1922 Bouquet.

Forming a hot pour of (50) Aerial Novelties, including the famous "Passion Flower" and "DeLuxe" effects.

Flight of 2-24 inch Pain's Birds of Paradise Shells.

Illuminating the heavens with Purple, Canary, Azure Blue and Prismatic sprays.

Battery of (50) Monster Glow Worms.

Squirming, writhing figures with bright glittering eyes in a fiery contortion.

The Chromatic Shell of Shells Display. (2) 30 inch Bombs.

A continuous burst of bombs breaking four times, showing Golden Rain, Changing Cloud, Meteoric and Chromatic Star combinations.

The Grove of Jewelled Palms.

Flashing jewels and revolving golden palm-trees, creating the impression of a forest of golden palms.

Special Firing of (5) 4 lb. Cleopatra's Jewel Rockets.

Long hanging chains of the rarest gems embellished with Jade, Topaz, Emerald, and Sapphire clusters. A 1922 Surprise Novelty.

Volley of (4) 15 inch Pain's Two Shot Shells.

Lilac and Laburnum blossoms and Primroses, changing to Violets and Daisies. (Large steel mortars used.)

Salvo of (3) 18 inch Pain's Combination Shells.

Fiery and Will-o-the-Wisp.

Flight of (5) 4 lb. Pain's Surprise Rockets.

Opening with pale blue, changing into amber, high in the air.

Eruption of (10) Popocastepell Volcanoes.

A beautiful massing of colored lights with flowing lava, ending in loud explosions through high in the air.

Pain's 1922 Novelty, A Discharge of Pain's (New) Radium Bombs.

Containing fifty flashes and loud reports.

Flight of (4) 15 inch Pain's Flipflap Shells.

A comic aerial novelty and Pain's 1922 Patent Mystic stars tumbling through the air, shrieking and whistling, and ending with a fascinating report.

Ascension of (4) 4 lb. Pain's Moonbeam Rockets.

Molten gold falling from the clouds, forming into glittering dewdrops, 1922 Novelty.

Display of (4) 6 lb. Pain's "MARS" Rockets.

On reaching their altitude, they release other rockets which in turn release more rockets, and so on, with bright signal flashes. A skit on the famous "Rocket to Mars" to be discharged again this season, owing to its popularity in the 1921 displays.

Exhibit of (6) Golden Spray Fountains.

Huge sprays of silver fire, rising to a great height, with showers of sparkling rain.

Aerial Battery of Pain's "Jupiter" Stars.

Covering the sky in a blaze of pyrotechnic grandeur.

The Battle in the Clouds.

Representing an aerial battle between rival aeroplanes, bombing each other and terminating in a fusillade of fiery projectiles through high in the air.

Cloudburst of (50) Gigantic Comets.

Produced by the electrical discharge of (4) Pain's Halley Comet Shells, fired from large cometary mortars.

Fairland in the Firmament.

Produced by (7) Pain's "Garden of Allah" rockets, displaying floral baskets of tinted roses. A 1922 Surprise Feature.

Grand Concluding Device.

Pain's Niagara Falls by Moonlight.

Huge volumes of white moulten lava falling from a great height with a terrific roar like the mighty cataract in a misty blue radiance, with its flowing current of fire emitting sparkling rays and bright flashes. (100 feet long.)

Final Flight of (75) Pain's Exhibition Rockets.

Fired simultaneously from two positions, and forming a double comet in the heavens, the "FOURTH OF JULY" bouquet.

Closing Motto Device, Good Night.

Blazing forth in large block letters in bright 1922 colors.

"GRAND FEU DE JOIE!!"

"Saluting the Flag"

(As given by command of the United States Government in welcoming home President Wilson, General Pershing, the Atlantic Fleet, at U. S. Training Camps, and at special City Celebrations the world over.)

Huge bombs, containing large silk paper American Flags, attached to tri-colored parachutes, are sent one thousand feet into the sky, and on the unfurling of the colors a SALUTE of 21 ARMY GUNS is fired, so that while the flags are floating along through space, they are bombarded by this stupendous Salute.

TO BE INTERVIEWED IN BREWSTER MURDER

Dist-Atty. Endicott P. Saltonstall of Middlesex county will question Priv. John D. Lawhorn of the marine corps tomorrow morning in the local navy yard regarding the murder of Ralph W. Brewster at the Winchester railroad station, on the night of April 20. The examination will be conducted in the office of Col. Arthur T. Marx, marine corps commander, and under the navy department ruling there will be no marine corps or navy officers present.

Final arrangements for the examination of Lawhorn were completed yesterday between Dist-Atty Saltonstall and Col. Marx. The marine will be brought under guard from the navy yard brig, where he has been detained for the last three weeks and, in the

RAIN MARRED HOLIDAY

The rainy weather proved a disappointing factor in the sports over the holiday. Friday was not a particularly bright day, but Saturday opened with rain and drizzle, continuing throughout the day. The base ball game of the Town Team scheduled for the morning, was called off owing to the rain, and the weather kept many out of the play at the Winchester Country Club. At the Winchester Boat Club the water sports were held, but with a smaller attendance than usual. The High School base ball game with Woburn was finally played, after the players had waited around in the rain for half an hour after the scheduled starting time.

The annual summer festival of St. Mary's Church was held despite the rain, but the weather had a dampening effect on the affair. The gathering throughout the day included over 1000 however.

There were several dances in the evening, and these were the only really enjoyable affairs of the holiday, being under cover and protected from the rain and mist.

The rain continued through Sunday with occasional heavy showers and almost continued fine mist, making the day most disagreeable and sticky. During Sunday night several heavy showers visited from the rain falling in torrents and the lightning and thunder being plentiful. The bad weather continued until into Tuesday.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT FOR THE LATE MISS ALICE F. SYMMES

At the annual meeting of the Unitarian Sunday School Society, held in Boston on May 25, 1922, the following resolution was offered by Reverend Charles P. Wellman. It was unanimously adopted, the audience standing for a moment in respect for Miss Symmes' memory and reciting together her statement of OUR TRUST, a form now used in many schools in the United States and Canada.

Resolved: That at this meeting of the Unitarian Sunday School Society we place on the records of the Society the name of Alice F. Symmes, of Winchester, Mass., in grateful recognition of her constant and devoted work in the religious nurture of children, of her very great interest in affairs of this Society and of her own life of love, trust and service. As those who still "carry on" we hold her in grateful memory.

Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Calendar of the Winchester Unitarian Society and to the Winchester Star.

MISS KATHRYN A. DOYLE BRIDE OF JOHN D. O'HARA

Miss Kathryn A. Doyle, daughter of Mrs. Mary Doyle, the well-known woman contractor of 22 Weld avenue, Roxbury, was married Saturday morning at 9:30 in St. Mary of the Angels' Church, Roxbury, to John D. O'Hara of 20 Mystic avenue, Winchester. Rev. Richard J. Keegan, C. SS. R., a cousin of the bride, performed the marriage ceremony and celebrated nuptial mass. Several hundred relatives and friends of the couple attended.

Miss Agnes T. Doyle, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Edmund Dunn of Philadelphia best man. Prof. Lourie Lewis presided at the organ and the singers were Mrs. Garibaldi and Edward J. Downey. The ushers were Raymond, Alphonsus and John J. Doyle, brothers of the bride, and Dr. Hugh C. Maguire.

The bride was gowned in ivory satin and overlace, trimmed with pearl beads, wore a tulle veil trimmed with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. After a reception at the Hotel Somerset, the couple left on a honeymoon trip to New York, Atlantic City and Washington. They will make their home in Winchester on their return.

The bride is a graduate of Roxbury High School. The groom is the son of Francis J. O'Hara, prominent business man of the Commonwealth Fish Pier. He was graduated from Winchester High School and later attended Harvard.

THANKS FROM MRS. DODSON

Winchester, Mass.,
June 17, 1922.

Dear Mr. Wilson:
It is with much gratitude that I am writing you to thank you for allowing me through the medium of your valuable paper to express my sentiments and apprehensions as regards the school question concerning a street in which some of my friends now possess a home. Whether they bore any weight or not I am not yet aware of. However through your kindness in publishing my letter I was in a measure enabled to assure my friends of the interest I have in race welfare, being a member of several race organizations. I am always on the alert to further the bettering of conditions of my people by word or deed, hence my desire to see those who have acquired any possessions whatever to be able to keep them and to add more to them if it is possible. Trusting this great question may eventually be settled amicably for all concerned.

I am,
Yours most gratefully,
Lettie Hall Dodson,
99 Harvard street.

THROUGH THE EYES OF YOUTH

(By Thomas Dreier in The Vagabond)

Howard J. Chidley is pastor of the Congregational church just across the lake from our house, whose spire is to us a constant inspiration. Snug and I have gone to Mr. Chidley's church but unfortunately we happened to go on Sundays when he was not present and, as a consequence, I have not met him personally. In The Congregationalist recently he had an article which makes me more eager than ever to know him intimately. In this article he said that if he were a bishop he should require his clergy to read three books each year in order to quicken their imagination, give them an understanding of childhood and serve as an antidote to theological pursuits. These books are Kenneth Grahame's The Golden Age, Dream Days and The Wind in the Willows. To all this I say "Amen," and to my readers I say read those three books this summer and once more you will enjoy the adventure of looking out upon the world through the eyes of joyous youth.

Grade IV of the Gifford School has held the best record for attendance in the school during the past school year.

MUCH RAIN

From Friday to yesterday Winchester, in common with other places in New England, suffered an unprecedented downpour of rain. Much damage was occasioned elsewhere, but our town escaped with comparatively little inconvenience. Almost everyone had more or less water in their cellar or a leak in their roof, and one and all suffered from the depressing days and the damp, wet weather. The river reached freshet height, rising higher than at any time in the spring. Through Winchester the water flowed high on the banks and it made a fine sight going over the Main street dam. Market gardeners suffered from much damage, many of their low fields being under several feet of water. Truck underground, it is said, will mostly be ruined, but such as had attained any growth and escaped being washed out, will not suffer.

The rain was about the heaviest ever experienced here. From Friday to yesterday 6.85 inches was recorded at the North reservoir, 1.95 falling through Wednesday alone.

REPLIES TO SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The Citizens' Committee issued yesterday a six page circular in reply to the pamphlet sent about town last week Thursday in connection with the dismissal of Principal Edward E. Thompson of the High School.

The circular was addressed to the School Committee and took up the specific charges which the committee used for its grounds in its action. In it, each statement of the committee is cited and questioned, there being given either a statement of facts in opposition or an analysis of the charges showing a difference in opinion. These circulars were distributed to all parts of the town.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Many a man gets the reputation of being a good fellow, when he is going to the bad.

The father of a new baby is soon convinced that it is a yell spring of joy.

Even if people could live life over they wouldn't live it over well.

I am learning that sawing wood and cutting the lawn are home industries.

When a man makes a fool of himself he gets an awful jolt—but I observe they get over it quickly.

Fair college days—

Rain, rain, rain—and more rain.

And the tree still stands in Church street. Why this lack of progress?

Is it possible that all "unbeknownst" to ourselves we are drifting into a town manager system of government? Or has Mr. Laraway, who has thus far successfully defended his title of "Mayor," chosen to bestow his crown elsewhere?

Did the Citizens' Committee send its "official messenger" to deliver the first copy of its circular to the School Committee Wednesday? Mr. Thompson got his answer from the School Committee in the receipt of the first copy distributed of their pamphlets. We fail to see any reason back of that act. Surely there was a carbon copy on file before they were sent over town—or even started on the press.

According to Secretary Pattee of the New England Milk Producers' Association, the slight advance in the wholesale price of milk, which will be effective on July 1, is just the customary advance which is made annually at this time because of the dry summer months and consequent poor pasturage to follow; also because of the great increase in the demand. Of course, milk at retail will be advanced in proportion.

The School Committee has an opportunity of a life-time. The four men and one woman on that board will never have a better opportunity to square themselves before Winchester citizens. If they come out with a simple announcement stating that in the light of public opinion they have determined to reappoint Principal Thompson for another year, notwithstanding their opinion in the matter to the contrary, and would give their support for that period, after which the Town could judge for itself whether a mistake had been made or not, they will be as popular as fair weather in June. The shoe will be put on the other foot with neatness and dispatch. Everyone will be ready to climb into the car for a summer at the beach, with nothing to disturb a tranquil mind set for favorable reports of the new school houses.

The STAR has communications sent from time to time to the editor's desk for publication which are not signed and are unaccompanied by any mark of the author's identity. It does not follow that such communications are of an objectionable nature because of their failure to appear in the paper, but it is a rule of this office that all unsigned communications must be accompanied by the writer's name or else his identity shall be made known. If this is done, and the communication is not of an objectionable nature, it will be printed in our columns. It so happens that two lengthy letters on our much discussed school situation have been received this week, both anonymous and unaccompanied by any mark of the writers' identity. Neither of them are printed. We differ from the opinion of our School Committee, but in one instance the letter of criticism would not appear in our columns either signed or unsigned; in the other case we have reason to doubt the good faith of the unknown writer and his criticisms. We always hesitate in publicly announcing our inability to print communications, holding the thought that this may cause some correspondents to imagine that any and all letters are unwelcome. Such is not the case. We are always glad to print in our columns letters from Winchester people, only requiring that they be in keeping with the policy maintained by this paper.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

A Winchester medical man points out that contrary to general belief, likes and dislikes in the matter of food depend more upon mental than upon physical conditions. The palate is influenced by the temperament, not the temperament by the palate, and to the doctor a knowledge of his patients' favorite dishes is a sure index of their mental and emotional state. Certain temperaments create cravings for certain forms of diet, and one need not be a doctor to gauge the mentality of the man whose favorite foods are roast beef, potatoes and suet puddings. He would naturally be credited with a less sensitive palate than the man to whom poached eggs are the most attractive dish. But the difference is really a difference of temperament. If the beef-eater despises the epicure for his fastidious taste, he is actually despising him for possessing a more delicately sensitive mentality; and the epicure who accuses the beef-eater of being a temperamentally coarser creature than himself has science on his side. Because a certain form of diet is most appetizing to the palate it does not follow that it is the one best suited to the requirements of the body. Anyone, for instance, susceptible to great mental or emotional changes naturally craves for a stimulating diet—the very diet to be avoided. The temperament which impels a Winchesterite towards the cultivation of psychic powers invariably produces a craving for fruits but it is quite possible that such a diet might be totally unsuitable. The palate rarely undergoes any radical change. What appeals to it in childhood usually appeals to it in later life. A man may not perhaps, take the same delight in sucking sweets at forty as he did at the age of ten, but he probably takes his sugar in the form of soft drinks. There is a broadening of taste to correspond with a broadening of the mind, but only a radical change of temperament could produce any great variation in the likes and dislikes of the palate. Sudden changes in the palate are the common result of sudden changes of environment, and under the influence of emotions people will often develop a craving for foods which under normal conditions they cannot touch.

Wide is the area of possibilities. A Winchesterite who seeks hard enough may find a plesiosaur; maybe there is in some lone isle a dodo; possibly the last Irish Elk may stalk into view—but the married man who thinks that he can put an end to gossip about a girl running away with her has no prospects of success. Of all excuses ever given, this is probably the widest of the mark.

Every time we hear a Winchesterite complaining because of this or that thing we feel like urging upon him or her the necessity of having a definite purpose in life. No matter how heavy the blow may fall, no matter whether the last shred of faith seems gone, every individual's life is wonderfully enriched by the burdens endured and the broad minded man and woman will see the purpose of God in the long years that have gone down into history. As Edgar A. Guest, that sweet American poet sings:

"We live our lives by one day counted, that black day had taken all.
For the dreams which we had cherished in disaster seemed to fall.
But the days of men are many and the passing of the years
May be needed ere the purpose of a better life appears."

Not today we see the wisdom of the hurt which we must bear:
Now the way seems dark and dreary, and no light is shining there,
But God's purpose glows beneath it, in a way

you cannot know—
When the years have soothed your sorrow, you shall learn it's better so."

Dancing, according to an expert, is a fine exercise, for everything but the head. And a Winchester gentleman who has made a study of dancing functions avers that what so many dancers seem to need more than anything else is a little head exercise.

Every business man in and out of Winchester knows that there is at least one very serious danger against which he must guard: underrating the intelligence of his rivals. Discussing this danger of undervaluations W. L. George, the distinguished Novelist, writes:

"Every woman ought to know how much risk lies within the common feminine habit of underrating men. Many women have a way of summing up men as unobservant, lacking in intuition, lazy, etc., all of which is true in part, but only in part. Men are not as dull as they seem, and the wise woman reminds herself that though a particular man may seem stupid, he cannot by means of mere stupidity have attained the good position he holds.

The woman who thinks men stupid delivers herself into their hands. I do not mean that they will make her suffer, for most men mean well by most women, but the human animal follows the easiest way, if it can avoid taking pains to please, it will do so; we are mentally lazy, nearly all of us, and if our laziness stays unexposed we indulge in it. The wise woman will realize that man is not stupid, that he observes much more than he seems to, but says nothing; that he knows half a dozen of her methods for managing him, even if he chooses to smile at them. It is true that women consider men much more closely than men consider women, but all the same women play their part in men's lives; their peculiarities may be kindly noted, but they are noted; many a woman who complains that her husband understands too little may find that he understands too much."

This world in the final analysis, is a garden, and it is from the garden that we get our wheat and water and all the things we civilized people must have to exist at all. Ever since the beginning of the world masses of its inhabitants have been gardeners and farmers. "I love the smell of the earth, it strengthens me," said a Winchester gentleman not long ago. He is right. Every Winchesterite who puts in his garden gets something stimulating from out doors, from helping things to grow, from watching them develop. Every normal Winchesterite likes the garden for putting rather than an ill-smelling garage. He likes the garden; it gives him healthful exercise and brings him near to God—whether he realizes it or not. So every Winchesterite who puts in his garden belongs to a noble line of earth's beautifiers.

SCHOOLHOUSE MEMORIAL PLANNED AT CANTIGNY

A modern prototype of America's "little red schoolhouse" will crown the hill at Cantigny, France, where American soldiers first entered the Western front as a fighting unit.

The National Geographic Society will erect at the tiny village of Cantigny a schoolhouse as a memorial to the American soldiers who fought there and as a further emblem of America's historic friendship for France.

In announcing the action of the Society's Board of Trustees Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society, stated that the selection of the town was determined upon recommendation of General Pershing.

During the war members of the National Geographic Society contributed $20,000 to be expended for the establishment and equipment of wards at American Military Hospital No. 1, at Neuilly, France. When the armistice was signed only $10,000 of the fund had been expended. A committee of the Society considered carefully the most fitting and useful expenditure of the remaining $10,000 of this fund and, after consultation with General Pershing, it was determined that the spot where Europe first saw the valor of America's youth would be an appropriate site for the building of America's characteristic institution of peace.

At Cantigny the First American Division first went over the top and began to share in Foch's sturdy resistance which held the Germans back, then defeated them, and won the war. It will be recalled that the German General Staff had ordered that the heart be taken out of the Americans at any cost when they first showed up as a unit along the fighting front. Therefore, when orders came for the Americans to iron out the salient at Cantigny what might have been a skirmish turned into a terrific struggle during which the Germans rallied thousands of men and threw 19,000 shells into the town. Even after the Americans took the town they had to hold it against six counter attacks by the exasperated Germans.

General Pershing, in his official report of the engagement at Cantigny, called it "a brilliant action" and said that "it demonstrated our fighting qualities under extreme battle conditions." The French communiqué gave high praise to American courage, valor, and soldierly qualities. The German War Office merely referred to the Americans as "the enemy."

The London Times "History of the War" has this to say of the Americans at Cantigny:

"The 1st Division, fresh from the Toul training sector, had relieved the 45th French African Division from north of Mesnil St. Georges to just north of Cantigny in that sector, facing Montdidier and south of Amiens, where the undulating country broken here and there with sparse woods afforded the opportunity for a fierce defence after the open vastness of the Somme valley. They had, after the Amiens drive settled down into the game of exchanging shells across the green, stood up to a daily bombardment of every kind of cannon. At last the chance, welcome after much sitting in trenches. Cantigny, small but proud on its green eminence, overlooking with a mouth of fire the whole countryside, was to be taken. Never did men rise so eagerly out of trenches to go forward than those Americans. Through gas, through a cloud of machine-gun bullets, following close behind their barrage they steadily ascended the slopes of the village and sheltered themselves in the cemetery when the village was theirs. Cantigny was a small isolated action with little immediate significance. But the village was the first ever captured by American troops in Europe, and the lesson that the Germans learned was the first they had received from the youth of America."

THE BLESSINGS OF HOME

(Written for the Winchester Star.)

Home—home, 'tis a bright and magical name,
We love its sweet lessons—its ministries claim,
In seasons of glow it dispels the dark cloud—
And whispers men peace, when the storm is abroad,
And though it reveals a beauty that dies,
It sweetly precludes a rest in the skies,
The friends of our youth! how dear to our heart
Their remembrance we cherish: it ne'er can depart.
Though Death hath chosen the brightest and best,
And borne them away to his dreamless rest,
Yet in moments of weariness, sad and alone,
Their memory shall blend with that of sweet home.
When Earth is passing like a faded dream
From human eyes away: O gently speak
Of Heaven's own home, in accents meek,
So shall the free spirit pass away
Blessing thee, in its lingering stay.
—Eugene Bertram Willard.

Safety First.

Johnny, only three years old, was being entertained with some music on the phonograph. He was told by his aunt that he would soon hear a bear growl. Johnny looked very much frightened, and then whispered: "Oh, Aunt, don't open dose doors on de Wicktowla or bear might tum out."

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsy sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

SAFETY

This co-operative bank invests its funds only in first mortgages on improved real estate. Furthermore, we maintain a reserve to cover all possible losses.

We operate under State Regulations and Inspection,—conducted for the protection of shareholders.

A savings account in the form of shares in this bank is eminently safe,—and the interest paid is greater than in most other types of savings institutions.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The last assembly for the school year was held Friday morning, and proved to be chiefly an assembly of awards both for scholarship and skill in athletics.

The most important award and the one in which the school feels most pride was that of the Washington and Franklin prize from the Sons of the American Revolution to the high school senior who by his year's work and a special examination shows greater understanding and ability in American history. This prize, a bronze medal, was won by William Garbino of the class of 1922.

A certificate was awarded to Michael Connolly of typewriting II for writing an average of thirty words for fifteen minutes.

Athletic Awards

SELECTMEN'S MEETING
June 19, 1922.

The Board met at 7:30 p. m., all present.

The records of the meeting of June 12 were read and approved.
Jurors 1922 (List): The Board prepared the list of Jurors in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 234 of the General Laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Measurers of Leather: Under suspension of its Rule 4 the Board appointed the following persons Measurers of Leather for the year ending June 30, 1923: Andrew J. Lynch, 9 Grove Place, Frank G. H. Finnimore, 1 Verplast avenue and Thomas H. Matthew, 12 Sheridan Circle. The above persons petitioned for reappointment as Measurers of Leather and the Sealer of Weights and Measures states that he could see no reason why they should not be reappointed.

Eastern Mass. Street Ry. Co. (Car Tracks): The Board signed the contract for paying the car tracks of the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co. on Main street, which they awarded last week to G. Ferullo Company, Inc. Highway Dept. (Supt. of Streets): The Board appointed Mr. James Hinds, Supt. of Streets of the Town of Winchester, for the year ending April 1, 1923.

Compensation Agent's Dept. (Agent): The Board appointed Mr. James Hinds, Compensation Agent, his appointment to date from June 30, 1922 and his salary to be at the rate of One Hundred Dollars ($100) a year. The Clerk was instructed to notify the Industrial Accident Board of this appointment.
Licenses 1922 (Explosives and In-flammables): An application was received from John Lynch, 132 Swanton street for a license to store gasoline in a tank (298 gallon capacity). A hearing was set for July 10, 1922 at 8 p. m. in the Selectmen's Room to consider this matter.

Main St: The Board voted to lay a granolithic sidewalk on Main street abutting the High School Lot.
The meeting adjourned at 10 p. m.
George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

Mr. N. G. Hill and wife who have been abroad seven weeks, returned Thursday of last week on the Electric liner Pittsburg.

Chats With YOUR
Gas Man

Many of the accidents attending the use of gas-heating appliances reported each winter are due to cheap, unfit tubing. This is sold, for the most part, by persons whose intentions may be honorable but who have no special knowledge of the requirements of gas tubing.

Cheap tubing is a false and dangerous economy. To save a few pennies, the careless purchaser deliberately forfeits the protection of all those safeguards in the use of gas which have taken years of study and experiment to perfect.

Unfortunately, we cannot control the sale of such tubing, but we do warn you most emphatically of the danger attending its use.

The safest rule to follow is: Purchase your tubing from us and you will not only get the best tubing that it is possible to buy but you will secure the guarantee of service that goes with it.

The Race Victory at INDIANAPOLIS The Road Victory at WICHITA Help You Choose Tires

500 miles at 94.48 miles an hour—a relentless grind over a rough-finished, sun-baked concrete and brick pavement at record-breaking speed—that is the gruelling test Oldfield Cord Tires underwent successfully at Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. They were on the winner's car for the third successive year and on eight of the ten finishing in the money, upholding the confidence successful race drivers have in the trustworthiness and ability of these tires to meet the greatest demands of speed, endurance and safety. Their records in every other important race have been equally as good.

Consider this achievement along with another test of Oldfield quality made at Wichita, Kansas, this past winter and early spring.

34,525 miles on rutted, icy Kansas roads, running day and night on a Studebaker stock car without a single tire change. This test was made by a group of Wichita automotive dealers in a tire, oil and gasoline economy run. Mayor Kemp of Wichita was official observer and made affidavit to the mileage and service given by Oldfield tires.

You may never subject your tires to the gruelling experience of Indianapolis nor the steady grind of bad winter roads, but it is good to know you can get such safety and mileage economy by buying Oldfield tires. Ask your nearest dealer.

165% Increased Business
The buying public is the surest barometer of the value of any article. Their approval of Oldfield value has been demonstrated by the increase of 165% in business for the first five months of 1922 over the corresponding period of 1921.

Agents Everywhere
Oldfield Tires are distributed through 73 branches and distributing warehouses in all parts of the United States. More dealers are constantly becoming Oldfield agencies and Oldfield Tires are now available in your community.

WHEN you look at a 30 x 3 1/2 USCO at $10.90 think back for a minute as far as you can remember USCO.

The truth is that men have always found USCO an outstanding money's worth no matter what its price.

Today at $10.90 USCO maintains its established standard of quality.

And because of the new price, it sets a new index of tire value.

Men who have used USCO have never been inclined to measure its value by the general run of tires.

Class Ode
Here in our life's first dawning
We look with fearless eyes
Toward our still misty longings
Like mountain peaks that rise
The sun at noon may find them
Overtopped or distant still:
Yet stalwart on our journey
We'll climb with steadfast will.
Time, as it flows e'er onward,
Will leave each later year
A fund more sweet and precious
Of wisdom calm and clear.
The hopes we've loved and cherished
Will ever spur us on,
And mark with golden mile-stones
The way that we have gone.

Classmates all, sing together
For our own twenty-two,
Naught can our friendships sever;
To each we're staunch and true.
Our colors black and golden
We bear with fondest pride;
And strong, dear Alma Mater,
Our love for thee will bide.

HIGH SCHOOL ORGANIZATION

The Cum Laude Society is something entirely new in the Winchester High School.

It is composed of those pupils having an average of 85% or more. By this society the steady improvement in the marks can readily be seen, as the number of members has risen in a half year from 29 to 63.

The handsome bronze medals for the society were furnished through the generosity of Mr. Royal Sumner Carl.

The 1922 Orchestra has done splendid work this year. In fact, it has been the best since this organization was founded. There are several very good players who have done creditable work. Besides its regular rehearsals the orchestra has played before the Parent-Teachers' Association, the Mothers' Club, the Teachers' Club and several times in the High School.

This year the Orchestra is composed of six first violins, four second violins, one cello, two cornets, and piano.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Friday evening, the 16th, part of the Council of the Boy Scouts, together with numerous parents, were the guests of twenty-three scouts at Camp Gleason for an out door supper. Persons who have ever had occasion to enjoy out door life and eating around camp fires would certainly have been jealous of the good fortune of the fourteen men who were the guests of these boys.

After part of the guests had arrived all the scouts started their fires at the same time and it was very interesting to watch the progress made by the boys in maintaining the hot, brisk fire without smoke that is so necessary for cooking a good out door meal.

The variety of the menu which was offered to the men was most amazing. There was the proverbial bacon and eggs, which is always good out doors, roasted frankfurts, fried potatoes, fried onions, corned-beef hash, steak of all kinds and description, with and without bone, ham, and lamb chops. There were side dishes of spaghetti and tomato sauce, stewed corn and stewed tomatoes. For drinks they had tea, coffee and good spring water. After partaking of this repast, including all the good cookies and doughnuts that had been brought from home, most of the men had to be assisted to their feet to enable them to go down into the open field and play ball.

Before leaving for the ball game Donald Hight was accredited with having maintained the best fire and it became his privilege to have charge of the big camp fire which was to be built after the game. All the boys foraged for wood for the fire so that in short order an abundance was on hand. The ball game which lasted three quarters of an hour was something to be remembered, especially the decisions made by Councillor Fay, the umpire.

Returning to the camp at dusk, the boys found a fine fire in progress that had been built by Scout Hight, and after gathering around in good comfortable positions experiences of some of the men on camping trips were told to the boys. Mr. Henry Hight gave the boys a very interesting description of a four days canoeing and camping trip to Mt. Katahdin, Maine. This was followed by some good singing by Troop I and experiences told to the boys by other members of the Council of Trips up Mt. Kearsarge, New Hampshire, and also ranch life which some of the men had experienced in Montana.

At 9:30 camp was broken and before starting for home all the scouts standing at attention under the leadership of Scout Patrol Leader, Alden Reed, repeated the scout oath. It was certainly an inspiring sight to see these vigorous young men, at attention around the camp fire, repeating the solemn obligation which each scout has taken.

During the summer for those boys who are still in Winchester, good times of this nature at Camp Gleason are planned, and any of the parents of the boys and Council leaders will certainly enjoy a most profitable evening to be with the scouts at one of these outings.

SCOUT FIELD DAY

Manchester Field June 24, 1922.

The combined four Troops of Boy Scouts of Winchester will hold their annual field day and contests on Manchester Field, Saturday, June 24th, from 1 to 3:30 p. m.

The events will consist of contests among the Troops, showing their ability as runners, jumpers and other athletic feats in which the boys have been trained.

There will be a demonstration of wall scaling and a contest among the Troops in wall scaling, the boys having a 15 ft. wall to climb. There will be fire making contests, also rescue from drowning in the Aberjona River and resuscitating, as well as a log chopping contest among the boys and other events that will be of particular interest to Winchester people.

Parents and townspeople are urged to come to the field as early as possible and have an opportunity to see first hand the prowess of our local scouts.

The events will terminate in time so as not to interfere with the ball game to be held during the afternoon.

The following Winchester people attended the outing of D Co., of the 101st Welfars Association on Wednesday at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fisher at Norwood. Mrs. Harold Woodbury, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Messenger, Mrs. Elizabeth Davies, Mrs. William McIntosh, Mrs. W. V. Fletcher and Mrs. E. K. Wilson. Although outside was a very dreary day, inside was very cheerful and happy. The company enjoyed dancing, music and singing and many inspected the spacious greenhouses on the estate. About 40 attended.

Selectman George E. Willey held a particularly pleasant gathering at his home on Wildwood street last evening when he surprised his parents on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary by giving a dinner in their honor to 20 relatives. Mr. Willey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Willey, are well known Chelsea residents. Mr. Willey recently resigned as city auditor after a service of 20 years. He is 85 and Mrs. Willey 83 years of age. The dinner was followed by an informal reception and proved a most enjoyable occasion.

An automobile driven by Michael J. Duggan of Cambridge struck a hydrant on Church street near the electric car turnout Monday, skidding off and barking three trees. Duggan got away after the smash, but was caught at the Woburn line and arrested for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. In the Woburn court Judge Nash fined him $50.

Approximately two thousand Hi-bernians and Ladies' Auxiliaries from dozens of cities and towns of Middlesex County will convene next Sunday afternoon, at the Working Boys' Home, Newton Highlands. Many members of the Organizations from this town will be present with their friends. A fine musical program will be rendered by artists and a general outing will be enjoyed by all.

At the regular Wednesday meeting of the Boston Rotary Club at the City Club the orchestra of the Winchester Laundries, Inc., rendered a special musical program. This is the 2nd time which this orchestra has appeared at the Boston Rotary Club and the enthusiasm among the members was greatly manifested. Mr. T. Parker Clarke, Conductor, was given a most cordial reception and was not permitted to close the program until he had rendered a vocal solo followed by hearty encores.

In order to avoid hitting a pedestrian who was crossing at Prospect and Cambridge streets, Cambridge, Francis C. White, Woburn, drove his car up on the sidewalk, Monday. The machine, skidded and struck a telegraph pole. White was thrown out and seriously injured. Two children in the car escaped injury. Also in the car were John Janussi, fifty-eight; his daughter, Mary, six; his wife, Connetta, thirty-five, and Vito and Camilla Parfio, both thirty years old, all of Spruce street, who were cut about the face and hands and taken to the Cambridge Municipal Hospital.

BOWEL INDIGESTION RELIEVED QUICKLY

New York Woman Warmly Praises
Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules

"I have taken your Little Wonder Capsules and want to express my appreciation to you for the wonderful results that I have so far obtained. I have been suffering from indigestion of the bowels for a long time. Since taking these wonderful capsules, my appetite has increased and assimilation of the food that I take seems to be perfect."

This is an exact copy of a letter written by Miss Louise M. Bruning, of 255 W. 52d St., New York City, praising Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules.

Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules contain a number of standard medicines acknowledged to be correctives in treating certain gastric and intestinal disturbances. A single capsule goes direct to the spot and gives prompt and beneficial results in mild and acute cases of indigestion, dyspepsia and constipation.

On sale at Allen's Pharmacy, Winchester, Mass., or 60 cents by mail postpaid for large package from Jaques Capsule Co., Plattsburg, N. Y.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by William C. Welch to Freland E. Hovey, dated July 14, 1920, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4374, Page 544, for the breach of conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Monday, July 3, 1922, at four o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein substantially described as follows, viz:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Winchester, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner of Washington street and Nelson street, thence running North westerly on said Nelson street, sixty-five and 50-100 (65.50) feet to land now or formerly of Loudian; thence turning and running Northwesterly said land now or formerly of Loudian fifty (50) feet to land now or formerly of the mortgagee; thence turning and running Southeasterly by said land now or formerly of the mortgagee, sixty-five and 45-100 (65.45) feet to said Washington street; thence turning and running Southeasterly on said Washington street, forty-eight (48) feet to the point of beginning. Being shown on plan entitled "Land in Winchester, Mass., April 1920, Parker Hollbrook, Engineer, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4374, Page 544, containing three hundred and six (326) feet of land. Said premises are conveyed subject to a mortgage originally written for $2000, given by said Welch to the West Somerville Cooperative Bank, dated May 13, 1920, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4351, Page 293.

Said premises will be sold subject to said prior mortgage, all unpaid taxes, tax titles, assessments or other municipal liens.

100.00 in cash will be required to be paid at the time of sale and the balance to be paid within ten (10) days from the date of sale at Room 329, 18 Tremont street, Boston, Mass. Other particulars made known at time of sale.

WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, JUNE 30, 1922

PRICE SEVEN CENTS

EDWARD EVERETT THOMPSON

Mr. Thompson graduated from Brown University in 1899. He taught at the Mitchell Military School at Billerica, was four years Principal of the Montpelier, Vt., High School, studied abroad one year and came to Winchester in 1909 as teacher of modern languages in our High School. In September 1920, he was appointed Principal. Last week he received his dismissal, not coming up to the high ideals required in the Winchester High School.

MR. THOMPSON DISMISSED

Principal of High School Ousted in Face of Public Opinion

Although Mr. Edward E. Thompson's office as Principal of the High School expired with the close of school and he had not been reappointed, he was "dismissed as Principal" last Friday night by the School Committee.

This was in accordance with a note left under his front door during the evening and found by him Saturday morning informing him that "the Committee at its meeting held to-night, voted to dismiss you as principal and teacher of the High School as of July first, next, without prejudice to your right to payments still due you."

The committee announced its action in Boston papers of Saturday morning, it being given out that William A. Barber, Dunbar F. Carpenter, Mrs. Stella R. Root and Stillman P. Williams voted for dismissal, while Chairman Robert F. Guild opposed dismissal. Mr. Guild is stated to have said that while he originally favored dismissal, after reading the reply recently filed by the Principal and giving the matter further consideration, he could not conscientiously vote to discharge him.

JULY 4TH CELEBRATION

The Town celebration on the 4th will be one of the best in years. Last week we published the list of fireworks which will be given at the evening display, and this alone signifies the extent of the affair. Everything else is in keeping. The Punch and Judy show in the Town Hall is to be extra good and Randall will undoubtedly make an especially fine lot of ice cream for the day in order that the cones which will be distributed to the children may have an especial flavor. The baseball game is to be the very best the managers can arrange for. The music is to be by the Malcom Band, and that announcement in itself is all that is needed to prove how fine the two concerts—afternoon and evening—will be. The program of the day is printed elsewhere.

The following program will be given at the afternoon band concert:

Afternoon Program
March—Selected
Overture—Orpheus ..... Offenbach
Nocturne—Shadowland ..... Gilbert
Brass Quartet—Selected
Selection—Faust ..... Gounod
Nocturne—Lost Happiness ..... Ellengren
Dance Suite—Antony and Cleopatra ..... Greenwald Selection—The Magic Melody ..... Romberg
Patrol—American ..... Marcham
March—Star Spangled Banner

The following program will be given at the evening band concert:

Evening Program
March—Selected
Overture—Lohengrin ..... Tobani-Wagner
Brass Quartet—Selected
Idyll—Mill in the Forest ..... Ellengren
Dance Suite—Egyptian Ballet ..... Louigini
Nocturne—Glow Worm ..... Lincke
Selection—Bohemian Girl ..... Balfe
March—Stars and Stripes Forever ..... Sousa Selection—Katinka ..... Sousa
March—Star Spangled Banner

ARMSTRONG—RICHARDSON

The wedding took place last Saturday evening at Philadelphia, of Mr. Ferdinand Douglas Armstrong and Miss Eleanor K. Richardson of that city. It was a very pretty home wedding. The bride was dressed in white satin with veil and carried lilies of the valley and orchids. She was given in marriage by her father. A reception was held after the ceremony and the receiving party included the bride's parents and mother of the groom. After an auto tour, a few weeks will be spent at Friendship, Me. Later they will make their home at Beach Bluff.

A STATEMENT FROM MR. THOMPSON

To the Editor of the Star:
I would greatly appreciate the privilege of the use of the columns of your paper to state to the people of Winchester that I believe that my retention in or dismissal from the High School has not been the main issue in the struggle of the past weeks. The great question involved is whether any elected body can commit an act of flagrant injustice in the face of incontrovertible evidence without vigorous protest from the citizens. The people of Winchester have demonstrated beyond a doubt that this cannot be done and they have thereby established within the teaching force a feeling of confidence in this community.

I have refrained from making any public statement, but I feel now that it is only just to those who have so loyally supported my administration that they should know my defense against the charges of the School Committee circulated in pamphlet form throughout the town on June 15. I submit this to you, Mr. Editor, and will be grateful for the privilege of its publication in full or in part.

Very truly yours,
Edward E. Thompson.

June 21, 1922.

To the Winchester School Committee, Winchester, Mass.:

It gives me great satisfaction at this time to present to you my final statement in answer to the general reasons for my proposed dismissal, and to the somewhat more specific ones in your communication of June 15.

I would like to refer, first to my request for specifications. In this, you will recall, I asked definite questions, some of which are still unanswered. I, therefore, infer that the committee has been unable to find answers for them, since in the opening sentence of your document distributed through the town on last Thursday, you say, "The time has now come when it is proper to make a full statement of their reasons for the proposed dismissal of the present principal of the High School."

I asked with reference to reasons 1 and 2, and their repetition in reason 8, "In what ways have I shown myself incapable as an executive, and not qualified to act as principal of so large a school? What specific instances can you give me upon which you base your reasons?" As you have given some specific instances in your attempt to uphold others of your eight reasons, I conclude that you can find no instances to uphold these.

In the introductory remarks of the specifications, the Survey is mentioned. I appreciate the Committee's sense of justice in not holding me responsible for the defects pointed in the Survey, two months after I began my work as principal, and assuredly, I do not desire credit for the Survey's words of commendation of the school.

I would like, however, to call the attention of the Committee to a certain personal statement made on page 150. "The executive work of the school and the general administrative leadership were being splendidly and efficiently carried on by the principal during the stay of the survey commission." This was the judgment of an expert who lived in constant touch with my executive work in the school for two weeks. Might not such judgment be of as much value in estimating my ability as an executive as your own observation, made in very infrequent visits to the High School, or as the judgment of parents who, as you say, have complained to you? If the judgment of parents is to be one criterion of measurement of my work, would it be unjust to ask that there be considered some of the commendation of parents as well as the complaints?

The Survey says again, "There is great need of two additions to the administrative staff, a competent stenographer-secretary for the principal and a librarian." In speaking of the supervising of the work of teachers and of educational leadership by the principal, it says, "It can never be done adequately unless the principal be supplied with a secretary and given freedom for it." My experience has proved this true. I have been unable to visit class rooms as often as I should, to keep in close touch with the work of individual teachers, to do much else in the way of better supervision and educational leadership, because this need, considered so imperative by the Survey, has not been met.

In the summary of facts upon which the proposed action of the Committee is based, I read—

—Failure to Co-operate With the School Committee

You say that at the conference of last October, the committee could not ascertain that I had a program for the improvement of the school. At that meeting I had no idea that the Committee held in question either my policy, or my purpose to bring the High School up to the highest standards of educational efficiency. Had I known that you distrusted me, I could have taken that opportunity to state the goal towards which I have been working in these two and a half years. I trusted you, I supposed you trusted me. You say that at that meeting I had no suggestions to make with reference to improvement of the school. I remember two definite things, already planned, to which I made reference; namely, better methods of class elections and more business-like management of the Recorder, both under supervision of faculty committees. My memory fails to serve me as to the improvements you mentioned. In fact, I recall but few definite suggestions which you made

WILLIAM PARKMAN PILGRIMAGE

Yesterday, Thursday, June 29, William Parkman Lodge, A. F. and A. M., made their annual pilgrimage to Charlton. This trip was declared a success by all. Weather, roads and participants in the pilgrimage were of the best.

Starting from Winchester with the head of the column on Church street at Cambridge street, the motor train got away at eight-forty-five. At eleven-fifty they had completed unloading at the "Home." During the trip the service car following the procession rendered valuable aid in repairing two blowouts and a gasoline line. The service car was furnished by Brother Downer of the Winchester Laundry and operated under the direction of Brother Dodge, manager of the garage. In the service car were repair parts for roadside work valued at over five hundred dollars.

Basket lunches were opened and enjoyed on the veranda of the Home. During the luncheon hour an orchestra played many of the old time airs so much enjoyed by the older members of the fraternity who are at the "Home."

Inspection of "Overlook" (the name of the "Home") gave ample time for the harmonious digestion of the food. From all directions the hills and vales stretch out in unending billows of velvet green, making a pleasing panorama for the tired city eyes. Climbing to the tower the distance of the view is increased. Here many of the pilgrims tarried and were lost to the rest of the program.

Athletics followed this enjoyment of sylvan scenes. During a grueling game of ball the "Lee Meadows" of Winchester Masonic baseball fame, "Don" Heath starred. For eighteen innings the struggle swayed back and forth. "Johnny" Walker the opposing pitcher never passed a man. Every man up got a home run. Ernest Eustis was the slugging demon. Every time a man dropped a bat the "Bambino" claimed his turn at bat. During the slugging match George Hamilton used his "Scottish" right to cut 'em off at the plate from deep centerfield. The contest raged until the end when the game closed with the score forty to forty.

During the ball game the dames of the outfit played clock golf. They dropped the pill with the expert hand of Lydia Pinkham. This putting match was won by Mrs. Leon Small with Mrs. Harry "Ed" Winn a close second. A. E. Smalley ticked them off to a win among the men. John Blank was the star. Prizes were issued for the globular contest, the ladies walking away with Tiffany gold pencils and the men collecting umbrellas of the finest silk.

Heavers of quilts surged back and forth across their playing field to no decision. Quilts with which they started the game wore out. Investigation at Worcester revealed the fact that the nearest factory for the iron doughnuts was near Boston. The game was abandoned with "Lief the Lucky" Hakanson in the lead but not with enough points to be declared the winner.

When the sun sank in the west, a glorious red, the weary pilgrims turned their cars homeward. "Overlook" had given to them a newer, stronger meaning of masonry. Joyful, yet more thoughtful, they enjoyed their return trip. Dramas of the past floated before their mental retina. Stories of the brethren of old were refreshed for the ground on which the returning pilgrims rolled was ground over which their ancient brethren toiled and fought, that those who followed might enjoy freedom. Leaving Worcester the train followed the road which Paul Revere took on his way to and from Philadelphia carrying the messages from one patriot committee to the other. General George Washington, brother and worshipful master, followed this route during his last trip to New England. Brother Lafayette stopped along this road to refresh himself at the taverns while he journeyed to Boston in 1825 to aid in laying the corner stone of Bunker Hill monument where our Past Grand Master Joseph Warren fell in line of duty. Jerusalem was famous for the crusades. Knights of old guarded the approaches to make the way safe for pilgrims. During the revolution these ancient brethren fought that this country might be safe. They made the road safe for our annual pilgrimage which is in commemoration of those older pilgrimages to King Solomon's temple.

STATEMENT FROM CITIZENS' COMMITTEE

To the Citizens of Winchester:
Owing to the fact that the vacation period and hot weather are upon us, and because so many persons are away, it seems advisable to report in part to the citizens through the columns of the Star in place of calling a Mass Meeting.

We regret that all the strenuous efforts of your Citizens' Committee have resulted in apparent failure inasmuch as the School Committee adhered to its determination to dismiss Mr. Thompson regardless of what evidence might be submitted for their consideration.

When our Committee was to hold a conference with the School Committee a statement appeared in the Boston Post stating that the School Committee had been quoted by its Chairman as having ordered Mr. Thompson's dismissal, and that nothing which we might submit would in any way change the decision of the School Committee.

When Mr. Thompson presented his defense, the Chairman of the School Committee was ill and unable to be present.

After Mr. Thompson had finished reading his defense before the School Committee, the acting Chairman, Mr. Carpenter, asked if any member of the Committee wished to make any remarks or ask Mr. Thompson any question.

Not a question was asked nor any remark made, and the Citizens' Committee is convinced that the School Committee barring its Chairman Mr. Robert Guild, was of a determined purpose from the start to dismiss Mr. Thompson and that Mr. Guild was the only member who was honestly of an open mind.

The arbitrary attitude of the School Committee is again shown in the fact that Mr. Thompson never received any reply to his request for definite dates and incidents upon which the School Committee based its charges and reasons for his dismissal.

When the Thompsons opened the front door of their home last Saturday morning they found inside the screen door an envelope containing the formal notice of Mr. Thompson's dismissal.

Is this informal manner of delivering so formal a document characteristic of the high standard of excellence so much talked of by the School Committee?

We believe that the Town resents this lack of ordinary courtesy in the treatment of so fine and much beloved a gentleman as Mr. Thompson.

Your Citizens' Committee has accumulated quantities of interesting evidence along certain lines which it seems futile to present to the arbitrary attitude of the School Committee and it would only serve to arouse ill-feeling which is not the motive of this Committee. We have attempted to work along constructive lines only. As it has been so well pointed out by the School Committee that our only recourse is the polls, the Citizens' Committee would recommend that the citizens keep a very close watch over the appointment of a person to fill the unexpired term on the School Committee, and also see that persons be elected next spring who will have an open mind and hold a cordial attitude toward the desires of the citizens of the town.

This can be done in the first instance by conveying your wishes to the Selectmen who are empowered to appoint a member to fill the vacancy occasioned when Mrs. Zueblin's resignation shall have been handed to the Town Clerk.

The new appointee should not be the wife or relative of any one engaged in the business of selling school books or school supplies.

The School Committee pointed out in its statement that an amiable personality is not alone a sufficient requirement in a Principal, and our investigations have convinced us that if the present head of our School Administration exercised more amiability and tact instead of mere academics and professional knowledge, the present muddle and all round dissatisfaction would not exist, and the morale in our schools would be much improved.

Definite lines of work have been laid out by your Citizens' Committee to promote more cordial conditions in the school system, which we shall be able to report upon at a future meeting.

Respectfully submitted,
LORA A. BOND, Chairman.
MARIE COMINS

POST OFFICE NOTES

If you have occasion to make complaint to the Postoffice department of delayed delivery or wrong delivery, or of damage to contents, in order to have intelligent and satisfactory treatment, the wrapper of parcel or envelope of letter, must in all cases, accompany such complaint.

The United States Treasury Department is issuing Treasury Savings Certificates to care for the 1918 issue of War Savings Stamps which mature January 1, 1923, of which there are about $600,000,000 still outstanding.

There are three denominations. Note the attractive prices: $25 for $20; $100 for $80; $1000 for $800. The annual individual investment limit has been raised from $1000 to $5000 and each member in a family may hold the maximum amount.

They mature five years from date of issue. At the above prices the interest yield is equal to 4½ per cent compounded semi-annually if held until maturity. If redeemed before maturity they pay 3½ per cent compounded semi-annually.

They are practically tax exempt and, being registered with the U. S. Treasury Dept., they are loss-proof.

THIRD ANNUAL OUTING OF THE WINCHESTER LAUNDRIES, INC.

A fleet of 20 trucks, and 6 private cars carried the employees of The Winchester Laundries, Inc., on their third annual outing to Salem Willows last Saturday. They were favored with perfect weather, Saturday being the only day of the week that it did not rain.

There were two baseball games and other field events. The game between the two picked nines for men ended with a tie 2 to 2 at 6 innings. This game is to be played off in the near future in Winchester. The girls' game was won by the Winchester Branch 5 to 1 in 4 innings.

The list of sports with winners of prizes follows:

Four-Legged Race (two girls and one man)—Helen Lynch, Grace Ross, William Humphrey, first; Helen Farrell, Catherine Riley and Joe Lazzeroni, second.
Tug of War for Men—Won by mechanics.
Fifty-Yard Dash for Girls—Sadie Deenan, first; Helen Lynch, second.
Hundred-Yard Dash for Men—A. J. Johnson, first; J. G. Cummings, second.
Ball Throwing Contest for Girls—Mrs. Kitty Gordon, first; Miss Katherine Riley, second.
Tadpole Race for Girls—Katherine Riley, first; Helen Lynch, second.

Dancing was enjoyed at the dance hall at the Willows and excursions were made to Marblehead, Baker's Island, etc. An excellent dinner was partaken, which was much enjoyed.

The party left Salem Willows at 7:15, arriving in Winchester at 8:45, with everybody reporting a good time.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

FIELD DAY OF WINCHESTER BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scouts of Winchester held a field day on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon June 24 under the direction of Scout Executive Butters and Scout Commissioner Smith. The event created a lot of interest among the boys. Troop One won first place with 68 points, Troop Four won second with 28 points and Troop Three came third with 26 points. Harold Johnson of Troop Four was high winner with 20½ points. A. Horn, a junior of Troop One was second with 12 points.

Those who assisted in judging were Deputy Scout Commissioner Cummings of Quincy, Asst. Scoutmaster Bennett, and Scoutmaster Green. Henry Knowlton and Frank Kelley gave an exhibition of life-saving in the river and then demonstrated the method of resuscitation.

R. Woodbury and Fred Alexander gave an exhibition of Morse signal.

The most noteworthy events were Woodbury's work in fire-building, he working most of the time with a cut hand and finishing second in spite of that handicap, the work of Troop Three, with only five men competing, in the Wall Scaling, the all around work of the boys in Troop One, especially Henry Knowlton and the individual work of Harold Johnson of Troop Four.

The results of the events were as follows:

Stretcher Relay
1st R. Smith and Rezar Nichols, Troop 1 7
2nd J. Kelley and R. Woodbury, Troop 1 5
3rd Angelow Cuneo and H. Johnson, Troop 4 3
4th L. Stewart and R. Larabee, Troop 3 1

Wood Chopping Contest
1st Henry Knowlton, Troop 1 7
2nd L. Stewart, Troop 3 5
3rd R. Woodbury, Troop 1 3
4th A. Amico, Troop 1 1

Fire Lighting Contest
1st H. Johnson, Troop 4 7
2nd R. Woodbury, Troop 1 5
3rd K. Nichols, Troop 1 3
4th H. Ross, Troop 3 1

Wall Scaling
Troop 1, Time 62 seconds, J. Kelley, A. Horn, R. Dow, H. Knowlton, J. Murray, J. McCormick, R. Livingston, K. Nichols, S. Roberts, H. Smith, R. Smith, H. O'Melia.
Troop 3, 1 minute, 55 seconds.

Junior 50 Yard Dash
1st H. O'Melia, Troop 1 7
2nd A. Horn, Troop 1 5
3rd R. Livingston, Troop 1 3
4th H. Ross, Troop 3 1

Senior 50 Yard Dash
1st R. Larabee, Troop 3 7
2nd H. Johnson, Troop 4 5
3rd J. Murray, Troop 1 3
4th L. Stewart, Troop 3 1

Junior 40 Yds. Hurdles
1st A. Horn, Troop 1 7
2nd R. Whitney, Troop 4 5
3rd R. Smith, Troop 1 3

2nd R. Larabee, Troop 3 5
3rd R. Dow, Troop 1 3

CANDIDATE A MAN OF ENERGY

Last week we referred to the probability of Representative Samuel W. Mendum of Woburn being a candidate for re-election. He is, instead, to go for the State Senate. Senator Lewis Parkhurst of Winchester is to retire. We believe the Representative certainly as good a man as could be selected and the district is fortunate in talent of an exceptional order. Mr. Mendum is a man of energy and ability, and his heart and mind are right, which in these days is quite a recommendation. We believe a big mistake will be made if his legislative career is not continued.—[Reading Chronicle.]

Winchester has three ball players on the Saxony Worstend Team of Newton this season. Joe Mathews was in the box for this team on Wednesday night and Rufus Bond, the High School coach, is catching for them. The third Winchester man on the team is Harold Gray.

OUTDOOR PLAY AT "GREY ROCKS" FOR VASSAR ENDOWMENT FUND

"The Lamp and The Bell," a play by Edna St. Vincent Millay, will be presented at "Grey Rocks" the home of the Misses Elder on Myopia Hill, by the Dramatic Class of the Girls' City Club of Boston, on Friday July 7th at 8:30 P. M. (In case of rain it will be given on July 8th.)

The play was given at the Elder Estate four weeks ago, but was for members of the Girls City Club exclusively. However so many requests have come to have the play repeated, that Miss Ruth Elder, who is in charge of the production, has consented to do so, and the proceeds are to be given to the Vassar Endowment Fund. Miss Elder has been instructor in dramatics at the Girls City Club during the past year.

The play is laid in Italy, in the 15th century, and the plot centers around the life-long friendship of two young Princesses. Of the various parts of the production the lighting is perhaps the most picturesque. The lighting is done by Munro Pevear, who did the lighting for the Plymouth Pageant. The varied effects of light on the many colored costumes of that period, as they are silhouetted against the background of dark green trees, make a picture of lasting beauty. And these trees with the terraced rock in the foreground form a natural and charming out-door stage.

The Winchester public is cordially invited to see the play, and tickets may be had at the Star office, and at the Winchester Exchange, also by telephoning to Winchester 71. The price is $1.50 each, box seats $2.00 each. Automobiles may be parked at the Country Club as no cars can be admitted to the grounds except by special permit.

Electric cars leave Winchester center at 7:40 and 8:10. The audience may be seated at seven forty-five.

The report is circulated about town that Winchester is contemplating again opening a swimming place in Wedge Pond, this time at the shore back of the Congregational Church and the Calumet Club. It is said that there is a good bottom there and that bath houses, which would be excluded from public or private interests could be readily erected.

Reo is not a Wall Street automobile. For eighteen years the same seven factory executives have directed its policy of making money by making a good car. Not QUANTITY but QUALITY is the source of Reo success.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only? At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

TOWN TEAM WON

The Winchester Town Team played its second game of the season Saturday afternoon after missing three games owing to rain. It took on the strong Ausonia Council, K. of C., which it defeated by a score of 2 to 0. The visitors played a strong game and showed a decided disposition to claim everything in sight that they thought they could get away with, but the local boys outplayed them and went through an excellent game without an error.

Joe Matthews was in the box for Winchester and pitched a fine game, allowing but one hit and striking out six. A feature of the game was a pretty double play by the visitors and "Charlie" Flaherty's steal to third.

WINCHESTER TOWN TEAM NOTES

Joe Matthews blanked the Ausonia Council at Manchester Field on last Saturday by a score of 2 to 0, holding them to one safe hit and fanning six. He was in rare form and received excellent support from the rest of the team, who played without an error.

On Saturday, July 1st, Melrose B. C. will be here, with Wholley pitching and Ross, formerly of Dartmouth College, catching. Winchester will be represented by practically the same lineup as it had on last Saturday, with the exception of Joe Tansy, who will play centerfield instead of McKenzie, who will be away for two weeks.

On Tuesday, July 4th, the Fittion Athletic Club of East Boston, one of the fastest semi-pro teams in the State, will be the attraction here. The game will start at 3:15 sharp. Tommy Ring, the former pitcher for the High School of Commerce, and all-scholastic pitcher of 1920, will be in the box. Bagley, former catcher of the Boston English High School, will catch; Billy O'Leary, formerly of the Pere Marquette will cover shortstop; Frank Silva, formerly of the Beacon Oil and Polano of the Lowell K. of C., are a few of their lineup. Among the teams they have defeated this season are Saxony Mills, Winthrop Legion and Brookline Town Team.

Winchester will have Christoforo in their lineup that day and there should be a good lively battle.

On July 15, Winchester will start their series with the Woburn Legion.

COUNTRY CLUB PLAY

Saturday's event at the Winchester Country Club was a four-ball medal play, one-fourth added handicap, the net score going to E. J. MacDonald and H. T. Bond with 73 on a gross of 82.

The results:
E. J. MacDonald and H. T. Bond 82 9 73
R. T. Damon and J. E. Byron 85 13 98
W. H. McGill and L. W. Bartia 86 10 96

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Wednesday was a banner day for auto accidents in town. During the forenoon a Reo truck owned by Frank J. Cole of Somerville and operated by his son, James J. Cole, hit the Ford sedan of the Highway Department and a touring car of Mrs. Gertrude Davis of Hemingway street. The accident occurred on Main street near the ice bridge, where the new electric car tracks are being laid. The Highway car was operated by Parker Holbrook, and both cars were somewhat damaged, although no one was hurt.

About noon a Pierce-Arrow truck driven by Milton H. Smith of Harvard street and owned by Adeline Smith of the same place, struck a sedan owned by Rev. William Lyons of Oak street. The sedan was standing in Converse place and the truck was proceeding along Mt. Vernon street. According to Smith one of his springs slipped, letting his truck turn into the side street. The sedan was somewhat damaged.

On Tuesday as Edward F. Welsh of Arlington was driving his Columbia roadster around Knight's corner he collided with the White truck of the Kelley & Hawes Co. The truck was not injured but the roadster received a pair of bent fenders.

President Frederick S. Snyder of the Boston Chamber of Commerce started the new Chamber of Commerce Building Saturday by hacking a hole through the roof of the present building at 86 Federal street. This building is to be removed for the erection of the fine seven-story home of the Chamber. Mr. Snyder used two adzs, one of which he retains as a memento of the occasion and the other which will be retained by the Chamber as a souvenir, to be hung up in the trophy room. Before beginning the work Mr. Snyder dressed in overalls, and he cut a good sized hole in the roof before he turned over the remainder of the work to the men in charge.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Flowers of 17 Holland street Saturday.

WINCHESTER TEACHER MARRIED

The Congregational Church at Franklin was completely filled Saturday evening at the time of the wedding of Miss Jeannie Warren Tweedie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tweedie of this place, and Leslie Townsend Gleason of Medford. The officiating clergyman was Dr. Inman L. Wilcox, pastor. The bride entered to the strains of the "Lohengrin" wedding march, escorted by her father, meeting the groom at the altar, where the ceremony was performed, the double-ring service being used.

The bride was attended by Miss Martha A. Whiting of Brookline as maid of honor, the bridesmaids being Miss Lillian Cooksey of Jamaica Plain, Miss Josephine Heartz of Jamaica Plain, Miss Marjorie Abbott of Franklin and Dr. Anna E. Steffen of Boston. The groom was attended by William B. Burbank of Cambridge, and the ushers were Ralph Gleason of Holliston, John Conner of Marlboro, William B. Kelliher of Lowell and Arthur J. Tweedie of Franklin.

The flower girl was little Phyllis Smille of Somerville, and the ring bearer was Master Alden Tweedie, brother of the bride. The bride was gown in Spanish lace over white georgette, with shower bouquet of white roses, and the maid of honor was gown in green Spanish lace and georgette, with bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaids were dressed in orchid georgette, with orange roses and frontal circlets. The flower girl was dressed in pink georgette and carried a basket of sweetheart roses. The church was tastefully decorated with palms and orange-colored hydrangeas.

The recessional was the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Mrs. Grant of Somerville. At the reception, immediately following in the Sunday school room, Mrs. Kelley of Boston, violinist, and Mrs. Kittredge, also of Boston, pianist, furnished music. This room was decorated with rambler roses. In the receiving line were the bride couple and the parents of both. Refreshments were served.

The bridal party left by auto for a trip through Northern New England. The bridegroom is a music teacher in Boston, and the bride is a teacher in the Wadleigh School. They will make their home in Medford.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL GRADUATION AND NOVENA

Much joy and blessings were brought to St. Mary's Parish last week. The graduation exercises of the Parochial grammar school took place in the church with solemn services at 8 p. m. on Sunday, and the compelling exercises, in the form of a triduum, in honor of Christ's Sacred Heart continued until Friday night.

The Rev. Doctor Murphy, professor of sacred scriptures at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, delivered the address to the graduates, and Rev. N. J. Merritt, pastor, presented the diplomas, assisted by Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons and Rev. Joseph H. Quigley. On Wednesday night, the opening of the triduum, Father Murphy preached on the "Symbol of the Sacred Heart." Father Quigley gave the "Life of St. Margaret Mary" on Thursday, and at the closing of the devotion on Friday night, Father Fitzgibbons talked on "The Feast of the Sacred Heart and Its League."

An exquisitely pretty procession of 300 school children preceded the sermon and a huge statue of the Sacred Heart, bedecked with crimson roses was borne around the church. The honored bearers of the statue were four members of St. Mary's Catholic Society: Frank Leonard, President; Edward Danahey, and Winchester High School's noted all-round athletes and stars of St. Mary's basketball champions, Joseph Matthews and Joseph Tansey.

At the end of the exercises solemn benediction of the most blessed sacrament was given by the pastor, Fr. Merritt, assisted by Fr. Fitzgibbons and Fr. Quigley.

EDISON EMPLOYEES' OUTING

Men and women and children, more than 7000 of them, wearing holiday smiles betook themselves to the big field-outing-recreation day of the Edison Illuminating Company at the plant, 1165 Massachusetts avenue, Dorchester, Saturday.

Among the prominent men connected with the company present were: Pres. Charles L. Edgar, Gen. Supt. W. H. Atkins, Asst. Supt. L. L. Edgar, Treas. T. K. Cummins, A. C. Havlin, Robert Seaver Hale, C. E. Greenwood, L. R. Wallace, A. S. Knight, L. L. Elden, H. P. Hood, L. D. Gibbs, A. H. Sweetnam, W. H. Francis, G. H. Guilford, J. E. Larrett, Charles Hatch and E. C. Mansfield.

Among the elder people the interest of the day centered on the competition among the various departments in the sports and games. Supply, according to the latest results, clinched first place by rolling up 67 points and gains a leg on the silver cup. Street trailed along a poor second with a scant 38. The other departments finished as follows: Transportation 37, maintenance of lines 26, generating 24, general service 22, standardizing and testing 19, billing 5, installation 4, counting 3, executive 1.

The large white tent held one attraction that most everyone could not resist, in the form of chicken and lobster salads, rolls, coffee and punch, ice cream and cake. Lunch was served from 11 until 3 under the direction of Oswald W. Labdon of the refreshment committee, to more than 7000 of the Edison employees, their families and friends.

After luncheon the 101st Infantry Band led the baseball teams on the field to celebrate the flag raising. The games were staged between the four leading nins in the Department League that has just started its season.

INTEREST IN COMMITTEE MEMBER

Much interest is evidenced about town in the matter of the selection of the new member of the School Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Charles Zueblin. At present it is denied that there is any vacancy, as Mrs. Zueblin failed to send her resignation to the Town Clerk, but sent it to the chairman of the School Committee. The Committee forwarded the notice to the Town Clerk, but as it was addressed to the Chairman and not to the Town, it was not filed. It was suggested that the Town Clerk draw up a form of resignation, which could be sent to Mrs. Zueblin in England, but whether this is done or not, her official resignation will be received within a few weeks.

Comparatively few names have been put forth for the vacancy, that of Mrs. Harriet C. Hildreth, suggested in our columns, meeting with much favor all over town. Mrs. Hildreth has been active in numerous organizations and enjoys a wide acquaintance.

Another name suggested by many people is that of Mrs. Lora A. Bond, who is strongly supported by a large number of residents interested in the matter.

The vacancy will be filled at a joint meeting of the School Committee and the Board of Selectmen.

SCHOOL ARCHITECTS SELECTED

The Committee on the new school buildings have spent the last four weeks visiting many of the new schools, and conferring with a large number of architects, not only those of our town, but those who have either applied to the Committee, or to whom it has been referred on account of special work which they have done.

Following out the vote of the Town, first attention has been given to the Chapin School, and after careful and long deliberation, the Committee voted on Monday evening to engage the firm of Ritchie, Parsons & Taylor to prepare plans and specifications for a new building to be erected on the site designated in the vote passed at the Town meeting held April 3rd.

Messrs. Ritchie, Parsons & Taylor have just been awarded the contract for the new Somerville Junior High School, and have under construction at the present time the Everett High School, the corner stone of which was laid last week, and the H. L. Higginson School in the Lewis District of Roxbury. In addition to the work which is now under construction, they were architects for the Norwood High School, buildings at Dean Academy, nearly all of the buildings of the New Hampshire Agricultural College, and since 1908 they have been architects for the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst.

It is hoped that actual work on the building will begin not later than October 1st.

REP. C. C. WARREN TO RUN FOR STATE SENATOR

Through the Boston Herald the first of the week, Representative Charles C. Warren announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Senator in the 6th Middlesex District, succeeding Senator Lewis Parkhurst of Winchester, who will not be a candidate for re-election. The district includes the towns of Winchester, Stoneham and Wakefield with Arlington and the cities of Woburn and Medford.

Mr. Warren resides at 15 Maple street, Arlington. Ever since coming to the town, which is some 20 years ago, he has taken an active interest in all that pertained to its best welfare. He has been chairman of the Republican Town Committee where his work was recognized as efficient and telling. For one term he represented the Senatorial district on the State committee. In the town he has served on the school committee.

Mr. Warren has represented the district in the House for three years and during all that time he has been a member of the Ways and Means Committees, the last two years, serving as its clerk.

CO-OPERATION Gas Company and Plumbers

ARTICLE NO. 1

To Our Customers:

THERE has always been a great deal of gas piping done by plumbers. They have also installed in the past many gas appliances. There has not always been the closest co-operation between the Gas Company and the plumbers. Both have done things which were wrong.

Realizing this and with a view to creating a better understanding between this company and the plumbers in our territory as well as to spread information concerning the correct methods for installing gas piping and gas appliances, we came to the conclusion that our customers would be better served: the plumbers would gain, and that we would benefit if harmony existed between this company and all the plumbers in our territory.

Read What Harry W. Roselle, Professor of Dancing, Thinks of O'Brien's:

Ever popular Harry Roselle (one of the best-known dancing masters in the country) is dieting no longer. His letter about O'Brien's explains it:

"I am for the first time in over two years, eating everything and anything put on the table. Before taking O'Brien's, I was suffering from intestinal trouble of an aggravated form—was treated by specialists—operation was advised—lived on milk for months—soon as I ate solid foods, back would come the trouble.

"The first dose of O'Brien's gave me instant relief, I have continued it and am now eating three man-sized meals daily with no discomfort whatever." Harry W. Roselle, Morgan's Hall, Camden, N. J.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Much better a strong prejudice than a weak conviction.

A fussy man is like a camel, always with his back up.

Some people fail to win because others do not lose.

Most of us know a good thing when we see it, but some other fellow saw it first.

Every cloud may have a silver lining, but its always on the other side.

If the family skeleton would only stay in the closet, how much better some people would feel.

The first dose of the heralded fundamental "pep" has been administered by our School Committee, and to the town at large the new medicine seems as unnecessary as it is severe. Many people doubt whether this newest and lauded remedy will mix in every civic ill which springs up. It is more in the nature of the "quicksilver kill or cure."

But having thrust this modern cure for ills imaginary or otherwise upon us, can our doctors gather together sufficient skill to save the school from the devastating consequences? Can they find another candidate as trusting and as willing to face the operating table? Can they find any such candidate combining the needed qualifications? Can they satisfy themselves and our town that such qualifications exist even? Can they ever again organize their forces to carry on a successful cure? We doubt it. Once is enough for Fido!

In fact we have already had a sample of its bad effect in town matters. An attempt was made not a great while ago to administer it to our fire department under much similar circumstances as it has now been given our High School. Fortunately in that instance the patient promptly expelled the dose and the physicians admitted the over-strength of the prescription. The sickness appeared to be about as severe, and the cure-all about as much needed, as our present High School. Left alone, and rid of the threat of the nauseous dose, the fire department has had no difficulty in functioning to the satisfaction of all.

It takes an old and experienced physician to handle this explosive cure of modern business and civic ills. Like the present day "hooch," it is admittedly rapid in producing results, but the results are more than often as unexpected as they are rapid. A wise physician is careful to verify his diagnosis before prescribing and sure of his medicine before administering. What effects a cure in one case is rank poison in another. Our latest experiment bids fair to resemble the plain undiluted draught undorned even by coloring, and the patient appears to have needed the treatment about as much as the well-known and ancient man "wanted to see about a dog."

Suspicion will immediately attach itself to any candidate willing to face such a drastic dose as has killed his predecessor. Suspicion will watch carefully that the physicians do not dilute the dose of this fundamental "pep." Such of our teachers as remain to face the possibility of swallowing a dose themselves will undoubtedly be willing that the new candidate shall take his medicine undiluted by any voluntary sympathy. The parents will not lose sight of any indicative symptoms needing treatment, and the doctors themselves, must in supporting their treatment and their position, take active part in watching and prompting the patient, that he may be always fit and in a condition to preclude the necessity of doctoring with another failure to cure.

And what is the good of it all; has this upsetting and upheaving experiment even the slightest resemblance to an imaginary cure of an imaginative ill? None whatever. It is a plain case of a cure so drastic and so unnecessary that the imaginary cause appears lost before it was ever found, and there is nothing left for the family but to mourn the departed and store up wrath over the results of the unwise and unnecessary action in attempting to cure a convalescing patient by inoculation with a germ which has spread through town and school to the impairment of good will and good knowledge for many a day to come.

THE FRUITS OF WISDOM

King Solomon was a wise old gentleman in his day. Human nature has not changed much since this man of many wives remarked that "pride goeth before destruction." And then Ruskin, another wise man, said quite truthfully that "pride is at the bottom of all great mistakes."

Our school officials would do well to take internally and digest this

HOW one man has ensured his children's education. He has made money, and has a good income. His wife is well off in her own right. A part of his Life Insurance is so arranged that in event of his death the proceeds will be held intact by the Company which is paying a good rate of interest.

At age sixteen and on every anniversary, a liberal sum may be drawn for each child, until age twenty-four is reached.

In this way their lives will be enriched in a most practical way.

WILLIAM W. HILL, Agent
The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company

79 MILK ST. Boston
Phone Main 5760 Winchester 418

little bit of wisdom. As the good old hymn tells us "while the lamp holds out to burn, etc."

We have not heard that any member of the School committee, or any official connected with the school department, has planned to experiment with miraculous glands for the restoration or preservation of their brain tissues. Advocates of this latest morbid fad do not claim that it ensures more common sense, tactfulness or prevents school officials from making stupid blunders.

We are taking time by the forelock with a vengeance. Certain enthusiastic supporters of the School Committee are planning to give a public reception to Mr. Thompson's successor. September fifth is said to be the date. This unfortunate young man will certainly get a warm reception from our people. There is no truth in the gossip that the Woburn Brass Band has been hired to furnish music for this gala occasion. Some wag has suggested that the overture should be that popular but ancient piece, "There will be a hot time in the old town tonight."

WE KNEW IT

The School Committee have done their worst. They have done what everyone supposed they would do. A weak and stubborn committee, hypnotized by the superintendent of schools, were likely to run amuck and act to the limit in defiance of public opinion. Emerson in one of his essays speaks of a "temperamental man who loves a fight, does not feel himself except in a quarrel, as one sees in wasps or cats."

After many meetings and much wrangling, this committee succeeded in getting the four votes needed to dismiss Mr. Thompson. It is to the credit of the chairman of the committee, Mr. Guild, that he did not vote in favor of taking this drastic action.

The whole campaign against Mr. Thompson began several months ago. One town official and several women, we are sorry to say, moved by a spirit of bitterness and jealousy, began the campaign last winter. Candidates for the prospective vacancy were "approached" by correspondence and otherwise. All this material is on file and ready to be given at the proper time to the Citizens' Committee.

The reason why and wherefore certain parties have resorted to such unwise and unjust measures, so detrimental to the educational interests of our goodly town, we do not propose to give in detail at this time. We really ought to speak right out in meeting and print names. The time does not seem ripe to do so. We may do so later.

Of course the committee acted strictly within their legal rights. So would a man have a legal right to parade to church in his khaki trousers, crack a joke at a funeral, or tell a story in prayer meeting about his mother-in-law. Still a poor, foolish simp would hesitate before he would thus dare to run amuck against public opinion.

It is too bad that the Star has been forced to take a decided stand against six respectable men and women duly elected to their high office by their fellow citizens. A solar plexus blow has been dealt against our High School, its teachers and its pupils. The effect on the educational morale of the town speaks for itself. A successful and beloved principal of the most expensive piece of town property has been kicked out of his high position by a gross act of injustice. Not one scintilla of evidence against Mr. Thompson has ever been given out. And yet a fine tooth comb has been used to find something. The search has been in vain.

From start to finish it has been a strictly personal campaign marked by bitter jealousy and feeling. The Star is glad to lend a hand to uphold and maintain the best interests of our public schools.

Special officer Edward F. Shea of the Water Department arrived just in time at the Middle Reservoir Wednesday to rescue from the water a small boy who was in a fair way to drown. According to reports of the accident the boy's little sister, who was with him picking berries, had fallen in the water. In rescuing her the boy himself got in difficulties and the timely arrival of officer Shea just saved him.

SAFETY COUNCIL OFFERS SUGGESTIONS FOR THE FOURTH

Drowning and automobile fatalities, rather than explosives, are the accident hazards to be guarded against over the Fourth of July holidays this year, according to a statement issued by the Massachusetts Safety Council today. Third and fourth on the list, it places fires caused by the careless use of firecrackers and sparklers, and explosives in the hands of children. The statement continues: Drownings are placed at the head of the list because they cost 13 lives in Massachusetts during July 3 and 4 of last year. Automobiles during the same period killed four and injured many more. There is now almost no danger in handling, with proper care, such explosives as can legally be sold in the state.

In the opinion of both the Massachusetts Safety Council and the State Department of Public Safety, there will be many fatalities in the first two groups during the holidays unless the widest public cooperation is secured to prevent them. This statement is based on the record of drownings in the state during the recent hot spell and upon the trend of motor vehicle accidents during the past two weeks.

Drownings can be reduced to a minimum if (a) boats are not overcrowded, (b) if they are rented only to parties containing a majority of swimmers, (c) if children are kept away from unsafe swimming places, (d) and if when a body is recovered from the water a few moments after going down, the prone pressure method of resuscitation is applied immediately, on the bank of the lake or river.

Holiday automobile accidents are in large measure due to excessive speed and careless driving. We are approaching the season's peak for highway travel, in which an equal burden of responsibility rests upon the operator of the car and the pedestrian, especially the child.

In the group of explosives, the sparkler has become dangerous because it is commonly supposed to be safe even in the hands of young children. It is composed of nitrate of barium, aluminum and steel dust. Oxygen has an intense affinity for

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsy sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

Properly to Fit the Crime.

When Herbert and Fenton came strolling in a half hour after dinner was over, their father decreed they should each have a sandwich, and a glass of water and be put straight to bed, a just punishment for bad boys. ## A STATEMENT FROM MR. THOMPSON at that conference, and these, in my judgment, have been carried out. If upon consulting your records of that meeting, you find suggestions which I have forgotten, I should be glad to be reminded of them.

In this connection you speak of the Cum Laude Society as "only partially fulfilling the purpose you had in mind, that is, the raising the standard of scholarship throughout the school." I want to take this opportunity to assure the Committee that has never been your purpose alone. From the first day that I took the principalship, it has been my purpose. I supposed that there was so little doubt of its being my purpose that such a statement on my part would be absurd. It seems absurd, also, that this Committee should infer that the Cum Laude Society is the only thing which has been done to raise the standard of scholarship. I have mentioned the Cum Laude Society on former occasions, because its results could be to a degree measured by its growth in membership. I feel that scholarship can be stimulated, effectively, only by inspiring pupils with a desire to excel. It cannot be forced. That the efforts of the principal and teachers to stimulate such a desire have not been without returns, is evidenced not only by the tripled membership of the Cum Laude Society, but by the fact that students are voluntarily taking advantage of the afternoon sessions, not simply that they may "get by," but that they may raise an already passing grade to an honor grade. It is also evidenced by the testimony of some pupils and parents that the pupils are beginning to realize that they must work to attain. You condemn the group meetings as unsatisfactory because of criticisms of parents concerning the manner in which they were conducted. Yet, I have received commendation from parents with respect to this matter.

In reference to the "other suggestions" made by the Committee which I have "entirely neglected, or else tardily carried out," the Committee appears to give the impression that they have made many suggestions to me. If that be so, they have been conveyed to me in such a manner that I have failed to recognize them as suggestions from the Committee. Paragraph (a) in your Statement will serve to illustrate this. As far as I can recall, this which you consider a suggestion of the Committee, was never mentioned to me by the Committee or by any member of it, except as a passing remark, one evening, at the close of a social function at the High School. I would like to state that the group meetings were intended to take the place of a Parent-Teachers' Association, this year, and to take form, on the initiative of parents, as an Association next year. A statement to this effect was made in the High School notes in the "Star" at the close of the series of group meetings.

(b) The "grouping of pupils in classes so that the pupils of the same natural ability could be taught together" has been carried out as far as present class room accommodations and our present teaching force permit.

(c) I should have been much gratified, if, in connection with the matter of "reported requests" for supervision of the Recorder, the Committee had seen fit to answer two of my questions respecting Reason 5. "When were these requests made? How were they conveyed to me?" I cannot recall such repeated requests.

(d) I took certain steps to bring about visits of teachers between the High and the Wadleigh Schools. I regret, however, that in the opinion of the Committee, the interest I have shown has been "too little."

II—Failure to Organize and Raise to a Proper Standard the College Preparatory Courses

The Committee, of course, is aware that it has based its judgment upon one and a half years' work of my administration. If this seems just in face of the fact that our college preparatory covers four years, this is but another instance of difference of opinion. I feel that is distinctly unjust. Furthermore, I feel that the result of the examinations of one year, or even two years, is most emphatically not a fair estimate of any school's ability to fit for college.

As to the deductions made by the Committee from my detailed report which has so disturbed them, I would say with regard to (a) that however desirable it might be from an educational standpoint to place all possible responsibility upon the pupils, it could not be done in this instance. The College Board asks with respect to every pupil who takes examinations, "Can his High School accept the responsibility for having fitted this person in this subject? Does it, or does it not recommend him?" The school is in honor bound to answer Yes or No. The school is not free then to accept, or to reject the responsibility. On page 5 of the Statement of the Committee, four instead of three pupils, should be reckoned as accepted in preliminaries. Mr. D. has the best record of any preliminary student so that there was no point in placing the word "accepted" after his name.

I most heartily agree with the Committee in its statement that "If a school had to deal only with good students, it would not be much of a problem to manage it." One of our greatest problems is that of the backward and inattentive pupils their great concern. In repeated instances I have given definite instruction and have taught classes in order to illustrate my point. Such pupils and ways and means of aiding them have been the subjects of frequent discussions in faculty meetings and in conferences. Last year we had a regular period from two until three o'clock for them. This year, these pupils have been assigned to individual teachers, certain afternoons each week for special work. Parents are notified if their children are falling below grade. Has the Committee read the report which I gave the Superintendent some months ago, which explains the special work being done with backward pupils in the Freshman classes?

To say in your second deduction that as a result of the lesson learned from the examinations of last June "the reorganization and strengthening of the college course" should at once have engaged the attention of an alert principal, is folly. I would refer you to pages 107 and 108 of the Survey for confirmation of this statement. Under present conditions here in New England, it is impossible to re-organize, strengthen, or even change the college course. Such a course is made by the colleges themselves, and the fixity of their standard is one of the big problems of the secondary schools. This fact should be in the possession of the least experienced educators. The only thing that could be done was to attempt to meet more efficiently the demands of these courses required by the colleges. The statement that the principal made no attempt to translate his regret at the failure of pupils into action is false. If the Committee really thinks this, it is because they have not taken the trouble to learn the facts of the case. A College Preparatory committee including all teachers fitting pupils for college entrance examinations was appointed by the principal. Mr. Hall was made chairman. As chairman of that committee, as well as a teacher delegated by the School Committee "to assume the task of co-ordinating, supervising and strengthening" the college preparatory courses, Mr. Hall has worked most faithfully. He has not done this alone, for we have spent hours in conference upon this subject, and no plan has been attempted by him which is not the result of conference and mutual suggestion.

There is absolutely no reason to infer that if the work done by the college pupils does not stand up under test, that the work of other departments is not up to standard. The teachers of these departments resent this statement, and I resent it most strongly, because it is so absolutely unjust to judge the work of any department, manned by an entirely different corps of teachers, by the work of another.

III—Failure to Exercise All the Duties of a Principal

Because of the generality of statements concerning this charge, I can do little more than make counter statements. You say I allow teachers to decide questions of policy. I say I do not, but I have always made it a practice to confer with teachers concerning matters of policy which directly affected them. I believe this is the only fair method of any school administration. You say I permit myself to be swayed by parents in matters which I alone should determine. I say I do not, but it is my custom, as far as circumstances permit to attempt to ascertain the parents' point of view, and having gained it, act with justice to all concerned. I believe that by so doing a stronger bond between home and school can be established. You say that I am not master of the school. I say that I am—that the conduct of the school during the past two months would prove it, even if there were not other convincing evidence.

You say I have not remedied certain defects pointed out by the Survey. I have no means of knowing which defects you mean, but I would once more call your attention to the fact so emphatically pointed out by the same authority that the most essential work of the principal can never be adequately done unless he is supplied with a secretary and given freedom for such work. You say, in this connection, that "Teaching in some subjects, criticised by the Survey as routine and undistinguished has remained undisturbed." Again, I do not know what subjects. A study of pages 144-147 of the Survey shows that the subjects most severely criticised by the Survey are biology, general science and civics. The teachers of these subjects have all been changed; consequently, methods in the teaching of those subjects have changed. The frequent use of the so-called recitation, instances of problem-project teaching, evidences of motivation, and of pupil research and experimentation all go to show that teaching has not remained undisturbed.

In this same paragraph you say that methods of marking children are not uniform. This again, has been a matter of discussion in teachers' meetings and conferences. Marks can not be absolutely uniform unless they are given by a corps of teachers of absolutely uniform judgment. A serious attempt is being made to eliminate erratic and unskillful marking.

Again, you say "The school is in a rut." Again, I say "It is not." Facts which I have already given show that such is not the case.

In closing, I want to state that the High School has changed old methods for new as fast as we have new methods which we have felt would fit the conditions under which we work and the pupils which we have under our instruction. We have avoided a general upheaval of any kind. We firmly believe that all education growth which is abiding, is "first the blade, then the ear, after that, the full corn in the ear."

Respectfully submitted,
Edward E. Thompson, Principal.

The death occurred Tuesday of Mrs. Catherine, wife of John Reardon. Mrs. Reardon had been in failing health for several months and the end was not unexpected. The funeral will take place Saturday from her late home on Clark street, with solemn high mass of requiem at St. Mary's Church at 9:30.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

June 26, 1922.

The Board met at 7:30 p. m., all present.

The records of the meeting of June 19 were read and approved.

Insurance: Mr. Bateman reported that representatives of Cowick and Flanders and Field and Cowles, insurance brokers, were appraising the contents value of certain buildings of the Town and that he would have a more complete report to make at the next meeting of the Board.

A letter was received from Russell and Fairfield notifying the Board of the expiration of the insurance on the Cutting property, American Legion Headquarters on July 1st. The Board voted to renew this insurance amounting to $3,000 with the same company.

Town Meetings (State Election Nov. 7, 1922): A notice was received from the County Commissioners calling attention to a vacancy which has occurred in the office of the County Treasurer for the County of Middlesex, and directing the Board to call a meeting of the legal voters of Winchester to be held on the next State Election, to wit: on Tuesday the 7th day of November next, to elect a County Treasurer to fill the vacancy in the unexpired term ending the first day of January 1925. The letter was ordered filed.

A letter was received from the County Commissioners stating that they approve in a general way the proposed plan for the bridge at Bacon street, Winchester over the Abenon River, as shown on the plan submitted, made by J. R. Worcester and Co., Engineers and Ralph S. Vinal, Architect, dated June 1922. When detail plans are ready the County Commissioners want to have a copy for further examination. Letter was ordered filed. Mr. Main stated that the detail drawings were being made now.

Workmen's Compensation Agent's Dept. (Agent): A letter was received from the Department of Industrial Accidents of the State acknowledging the Board's notice of Mr. James Hinds' appointment as Compensation Agent for the Town of Winchester.

Sidewalks 1922 (Granolithic): An application was received from Edith M. Tutin and presented by Mr. Tutin for a granolithic sidewalk in front of her residence at 53 Wildwood street to extend from the present sidewalk to the end of the graded lawn. This matter was referred to the Town Engineer for an estimate and his recommendation.

The meeting adjourned at 9:20 p. m.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

DESIRE ANOTHER INSTRUCTOR

To the Chairman and members of the Park Board:

We, the undersigned, request that you consider Mr. Clarence W. Buckmaster as Instructor at the Leonard Field, for the coming season. We are personally acquainted with Mr. Buckmaster, and feel that his training in athletics, his knowledge of constructive games and interest in clean sport qualify him for the position. He has had the additional advantage of sixteen months training in the Army, and the broadening experience of twelve months in France. We believe that with his training, experience and character, he is the man for the position.

P. S. This petition is being circulated without the applicant's knowledge. It came out in a conversation that he is a candidate.

Trusting that you will give this communication your earnest consideration, we are,

Respectfully yours,

PLAYGROUNDS OPEN TOMORROW

The two Winchester Playgrounds, Manchester Field and Augustus P. Leonard Field, will open for the season tomorrow, Saturday. The hours of the two playgrounds will be the same this year as in the past—from 9 to 12 in the mornings and 2 to 4:30 in the afternoons. On Monday forenoons of each week the two playgrounds will not be open.

Mr. Thomas F. Flaherty, who had charge last year, will again supervise Manchester Field, he being assisted by Miss Marion Bowman. Joe Mathews' this year's pitcher on the High School nine, will have charge of the Augustus P. Leonard field and will be assisted by Miss Mildred Bartlett. Leonard Field has had numerous improvements made upon it during the spring, a new walk being laid out and shrubs planted. It is reported that the field is to be dedicated with a bronze tablet and suitable ceremonies on Columbus Day.

It took Winchester quite a time to establish a really first-class restaurant, but now that it has the "Splendid," the new cafeteria on Main street, it has a real place to eat. This new restaurant is giving genuine satisfaction and is receiving a fine patronage.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

June is the month of roses, but alas! this year it is also the month of showers, and the day of the annual lawn party or outing of the local Union was no exception to the rule. Last Friday was the day and the two hostesses, Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Henry Blood, had arranged an attractive outdoor program which was cut short by the heavy fall of rain in the afternoon although it allowed the members and guests to have a basket lunch al fresco.

Dr. N. Louise Rand was the speaker of the afternoon and she brought with her several of the members of the Italian Y. P. B., from the settlement at 33 Sheafe street, in the North End of Boston. Dr. Rand told of the good work being done and especially the flying squadron which goes about to various sections to stimulate interest in temperance and especially in the enforcement of the prohibitory law.

Mrs. J. C. Adams presided at the brief business session. Mrs. Mary Winn conducted the devotional exercises and also read a letter from her daughter, Miss Margaret Winn, who is in China as a missionary. Her descriptions of scenes and matters in the great republic over seas were most interesting.

Work for the membership campaign was strongly urged and the members were also advised to use all means to strengthen the enforcement laws, notably in the selection of candidates for various offices.

Members who have not yet paid their dues are asked to give or send

Chats With YOUR
Gas Man

All types of gas hot water heaters have one requirement in common: they must be kept clean. Of course a hot water heater will keep on supplying you with hot water month after month without any attention whatever, but it will use less gas if you keep it clean.

Here are some general hints which will be found useful:
Keep the copper coils bright and clean.

Use a brush or cloth for this purpose once a week or so.
See that door fits closely when closed.

The gas flame should be blue. A yellow flame indicates that the burner is not getting enough air or the flame has "back-fired" into the air mixer.

If the gas flame pops when you turn it off, your burner is not regulated properly.

Do not heat more water than you need.

Do not neglect to turn off the gas the instant you have enough hot water.

While painting the flag pole on the Foster estate on Grove street Saturday, Arthur O'Brien of Thompson street, employed by David A. Carluce, fell and broke his arm in two places and also fractured his ankle. He was taken to his home.

Policeman James P. Donaghey, day traffic officer in the centre, is enjoying his vacation. It is reported that he will look over the system used in Philadelphia in handling traffic before his return.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Mildred Katharine Harrold to Frank Thomas Hobley, July 12th, at St. Mary's Church at 9 a. m. A wedding breakfast will follow at the home of the bride, 211 Washington street.

There was a general departure of Winchester's fine saddle horses yesterday. Harry Good left with 14 of his horses for the Sargent Camps at Peterboro, sending 14 others to the Marine Felt at Chesham, N. H. He leaves this year a string of only six horses in town. Mr. A. L. Danforth took three of his horses with him to Kennebunk, Me., for the summer, and Messrs. Arthur Black and Arthur A. Kidder each took three of their horses to Freedom, Me., where they will pass the summer.

Houses in Winchester were violently shaken and many people awakened and alarmed early Sunday morning when the shock of the exploding powder mills at Acton reached here. The explosion occurred at about 6 o'clock, three distant shocks being felt, which rocked many dwellings in an alarming manner. The powder mills were set off by a bolt of lightning, more than 10,000 pounds of gunpowder going off and seven mills being destroyed with a loss of more than $20,000. The entire plant of the American Powder Mills will be crippled for nearly six months. No one was injured, but much glass was broken in Acton, Concord, Maynard and other nearer places.
